

TWO NOTED SPEAKERS BEFORE CHAUTAUQUA

DR. WILLIAMS AND BISHOP McDOWELL APPEAR ON SUNDAY PROGRAMS.

LECTURES FEATURES OF THE ASSEMBLY

Dr. Williams, Apostle of Sunshine, is Afternoon Speaker—Bishop McDowell in the Evening—Royal Italian Guards' Band and Walter Eccles, Humorist, Saturday.

TODAY'S FEATURES.

- Afternoon, 2:30—Recital by A. Ruthven MacDonald, Canadian baritone; 3:15—Lecture by Henry T. Rainey, democratic congressman from Illinois. Evening, 7:30—Second Recital by A. Ruthven MacDonald, followed by "The Story Beautiful," by Rev. Father MacCorrey, beautifully illustrated.

TUESDAY'S PROGRAM.

- Afternoon, 2:30—Concert by the Music Makers; 3:15—Lecture by Francis Lybarger, a Philadelphia attorney. Evening, 7:30—Concert by Music Makers; 8:15—Lecture, "Ticks and Trickle," Strickland W. Gilliland.

Interest in the chautauqua is materially increasing, as evinced by the larger attendance at the sessions Saturday and Sunday.

Two splendid speakers appeared before the chautauqua audiences Sunday. Dr. A. A. Williams, dean of America's platform, the 59 years of age, and best beloved of all his stars, and Dr. William F. McDowell, the distinguished and widely known bishop in the Methodist church.

"Sunshine" in Afternoon.

Dr. Williams' lecture, "Sunshine," was given in the afternoon, and proved that Williams is well named, the apostle of sunshine. In his talk he repeatedly drew the attention of his hearers to what they enjoy in things they have always about them, the blessings which reach, if not actually in the possession, of all humanity. Dr. Williams has a simple, conversational style of speaking, expressing thoughts that have come to him because he feels with his fellow men. He deplored the rarity of sensible and thoughtful souls, and scored the commercialistic spirit which seems to rule this age. "Don't complain," is his slogan, and in closing he said that the last and best secret of a happy life is this: "Live to make others happy."

Dr. Williams is as vigorous and forceful in his speech as a man of much younger years. He considers the chautauqua and its high ideals to be the greatest movement of the twentieth century, and gave up a $5,000 pastorate to go on the chautauqua platform. He has sixty-six speaking engagements in many different places this summer, and announced that he was about a third of the way thru.

"Life and the Bible." Dr. McDowell was the evening speaker and proved a strong attraction. His promotion in educational and religious circles has been noteworthy. He has been chancellor of the University of Denver; secretary of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal churches; preacher for Harvard University; president of the board of trustees of Northwestern University; and is now a bishop of all the Methodist Episcopal churches. The bishop is a great traveler, and immediately after his chautauqua engagements, to which he is giving two weeks of his vacation for the purpose he said, of trying to see the scripture on the basis of absolute reality, he said for India, China and Japan.

Dr. McDowell paid a touching tribute to Dr. Williams, and in beginning his lecture on "Life and the Bible," spoke of the very potent influence of Phillips Brooks upon his own life. The lecture really consisted of an answer to the question, "How did they come to be a bible and why?" The speaker said that in answering it, he would not simply fling the word "inspiration" in the questioner's face. He proceeded to show that just as back of English literature lies English history and character, as indeed, history and character are the basis of any nation's literature, so it would violate all the laws of literature and life if there had been such a character as Christ and the four gospels had not been written, or if the gospels had been written without the reality of such a character as Christ. The song "The Road to Reality in Life," just as Alfred Tennyson must sing under the charge of the Light Brigade, so somebody must break out after the passage of the Red Sea. Dr. McDowell said: "There will never be a better bible until a better life than Christ's has been lived, and in answer to the frequently heard statement that the bible is worn out, cited this as a guarantee of its eternal perpetuity."

Lady Entertainers' Quartet.

The musical features of Sunday's programs were given by the Lady Entertainers' Quartet, presiding lectures. In keeping with the day, their numbers were mostly sacred songs, which proved very pleasing. They consisted of quartet numbers, solos, and duets, a trio, in the evening, was especially enjoyed.

Fest of Music Saturday.

A full matinee was given Saturday afternoon by the Royal Italian Guards' band, directed by Signor Pasquale Ferrante, a bandmaster of renown. This band, of thirty members, only one of whom speaks English, is the highest paid musical organization appearing on the course here, and furnished afternoon and evening programs of exceptional merit. To the delight of all good music lovers present, and they were many, their programs consisted largely of grand opera selections, "Poet and Peasant," "Il Trovatore," "The Absconder," "Martha," "William Tell,"

"Carmen," "Lucia di Lammermoor"—the famous sextet being especially fine; "Faust," "Oberon" and a number of others. Several popular airs were also given, and a selection called "Western Beauty," composed by Signor Ferrante, was received with hearty applause.

Walter Eccles, Humorist. The band's evening program was interspersed with impersonations by Walter Eccles, the humorist, who travels with the band. His remarkable facial expressions are one of his best assets, and with his witty Irish stories and his impersonations, especially those of Ezra Kendall and Edmund Vance Cook, he made a decided hit.

Children's Work Organized.

Under the direction of the princess, Miss Arbuthnot, of Des Moines, King Arthur's court was organized Saturday with about twenty-five children enrolled. It is hoped that this number may be largely increased. The children are assembled and enrolled each morning at the chautauqua enclosure, after which they are taken to the soldiers' home, where the various games and knightly sports are enjoyed. No small feature of the enjoyment is the making of their own costumes, the princess telling them what materials to get and furnishing them patterns.

Morning Hour Work.

The second of Dr. George's splendid lectures was given this morning before a fair-sized audience. His subject this morning was, "Among the Temples and Tombs of Egypt."

OFFICER HANSON'S FUNERAL.

Hanson, the senior member of the police force who died Thursday afternoon of paralysis, was largely attended Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Swedish Lutheran church. Mr. Samuelson, the student-pastor of the church, had the services in charge. The members of the North Star lodge and the A. O. U. W. attended the funeral in a body, and formed an escort to Riverside in company with the police and fire departments. Aside from the beautiful flowers sent by neighbors and friends there were pieces from the police department, the fire department, the city council and city employees, and the North Star, A. O. U. W. and K. O. T. The flower bearers were Misses Emma and Mabel Fredlund and Nannie Philgren. The pall bearers were Messrs. RACE HORSES; INJURED.

Buggy Collides With Telephone Pole, Hurting Fred Neiderhauser. Fred Neiderhauser, a young man about 22 years old, brother of Jacob Neiderhauser, and employed at the Neiderhauser dairy, was injured at about 11 o'clock Saturday night when a buggy in which Neiderhauser was riding with friends collided with a telephone pole.

The buggy was the property of Henry Malloy, and with Malloy and Neiderhauser was Floyd Mooney. One of the Meech boys drove along on South Center street aside the Malloy rig, and a race was suggested. The two horses were sent on a spurt and at May street the Malloy rig hit the telephone pole. Neiderhauser was thrown out and sustained a bad gash on the forehead, over the left eye, which required five stitches to close. Neiderhauser's face was badly bruised, and the blow struck the young man for some time. It was not until he had realized what had happened. The other two occupants of the buggy were not injured. The buggy was quite badly demolished as a result of the collision.

PLAN BIG TIME FOR LABOR DAY

TRADES AND LABOR ASSEMBLY TO MAKE OBSERVANCE BIGGEST IN HISTORY.

MAY OPERATE RAILROAD TRAIN OVER CAR TRACKS

Iowa Central Boys Planning to Display Their Work by Running Engine and Car Thru Streets—Business Men and Manufacturers to Present Floats in Big Parade.

The biggest labor demonstration in the history of the city is promised for Monday, Sept. 5, when the Marshalltown Trades and Labor Assembly will observe the national holiday for toilers. The committee on arrangements has secured the fair grounds for the all-day picnic which will follow the demonstration down town in the forenoon.

The parade of different labor organizations will prove the big feature of the forenoon, and it is being planned to make the parade the most gigantic and comprehensive labor demonstration ever given in Marshalltown. Practically all labor unions of the city have already taken steps to join in the parade, and an effort will be made to secure as near a full membership of the different unions as possible.

Business Men to Participate.

Business men and manufacturing institutions will participate in the parade, and be represented by floats showing their different lines of business. One of the most unique floats being planned for the parade will be that of the Iowa Central machine shops force, which intends if arrangements can be made, to run a small locomotive and car over the street car tracks.

Urick For Principal Address.

Mr. A. I. Urick, of Des Moines, president of the Iowa Federation of Labor, has been secured for the principal address of the day, and will speak at the fair grounds in the afternoon. Mr. Urick has been heard here before, and is a good speaker.

The general committee on arrangements has already named its sub-committees, as heretofore given in these columns. The privileges committee will secure bids from those who wish to have the different privileges for the picnic. J. E. Briney, 604 East Main street, is chairman of the privileges committee.

DEATH AT VANCLEVE.

Mrs. J. W. Kiser, Old Resident of County, Succumbs to Rheumatism. Mrs. Sarah J. Kiser, wife of J. W. Kiser, an old resident of the county and especially well known in the State Center, Melbourne, and Vanclave neighborhoods, died Sunday morning at 9:40 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. J. Nason, at Vanclave.

Mrs. Kiser had been a sufferer with rheumatism for nine years, and had been bedfast for the past several months. Mrs. Kiser was born Sarah J. Hancock, Oct. 2, 1837, in Harrison county, Ohio. She became the wife of Mr. Kiser on July 26, 1857, in Bureau county, Ill. The family came to Iowa in September, 1854, settling in Jasper county. For seventeen years Mr. Kiser was the T-R man for the State Center, and for thirteen years near Melbourne. Four years were spent near Maxwell, in Story county.

Aside from her husband Mrs. Kiser is survived by eight of her nine children. They are Mrs. Ella V. Pett, of State Center; Mrs. C. M. Winkler, of State Center, Idaho; F. A. Kiser, of Delhart, Tex.; Mrs. T. W. Emery, of West Bend; Mrs. Keith Vawter, of Cedar Rapids; Mrs. L. J. Nason, of Vanclave; Mrs. A. F. Wallace, of Winterset; and Mrs. Theodore Pull, of Melbourne. A son, W. S. Kiser, died at Melbourne fourteen years ago. All of the children, with the exception of Mrs. Winkler and F. A. Kiser, were at the Nason home when Mrs. Kiser died, as was also Mrs. Rena Kiser, widow of W. S. Kiser, whose home is at Whittemore. F. A. Kiser was on his way north in response to a telegram announcing his mother's serious condition, but did not reach Vanclave until after Mrs. Kiser's death. Mrs. Kiser and her husband were old members of the Christian church, in which both had been active workers until their age prevented.

Mrs. Vawter, one of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Kiser, is the wife of the manager of the Redpath-Vawter chautauqua system, which is promoting the present assembly in this city. Mrs. Kiser's funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the Nason home. Interment following in Maple Grove cemetery.

BURGLARS AT STATE CENTER.

Night Prowlers Active, But Are Frightened Away. Burglars became active at State Center Sunday night but were frightened away before their operations realized the possession of valuables. At about 12:30 this morning Miss Alma Uhde, employed at the James Allison home, returned to find the back door unlocked. Miss Uhde tried to lock the door and when she found that she could not she went up stairs and awakened her sister Minnie. The latter arose and accompanied her sister down stairs and when she too was unable to lock the door, the two girls started for the front door, with the intention of going around the house and locking the rear door from the outside. At the front door the girls were surprised by a man, who had probably heard the noise and was trying to get in. Miss Minnie Uhde was so frightened that she fainted. Miss Alma awakened Mr. Allison, who was sleeping in a tent in the yard, but before Mr. Allison could get to the house the prowler had gone. No valuables were missed upon a search of the house today.

About the same time or possibly a little later the home of Mrs. B. S. West was entered. One of Mrs. West's daughters heard the noise and screamed. The neighborhood was aroused and a shotgun squad was formed rapidly. The burglar got away, however.

CHICKEN CROP BIG.

Unusual Response to An Advertisement Would Indicate a Plentiful. A Marshalltown man who has been in the habit of buying spring chickens to feed for his own use has been fairly overwhelmed by the offerings made in response to his advertisement this year. A small ad published two days has located over 2,000 spring chickens for sale. Either the crop this year is enormous or the T-R man never did get where and will do anything even unto raising chickens.

Sues For Stock Shipment. Albert Hink, a farmer living near Newburg, has filed suit in the district court against the Iowa Central and Milwaukee railroads, by which he seeks a judgment of $226.95 for the alleged delay in a shipment of two cars of cattle from Newburg to Chicago, which, it is claimed, caused a large shrinkage in weight and caused the owner to sell on a declining market.

The petition says the shipment was loaded at Newburg on Dec. 23, but that the cars did not reach the Union Stock Yards until the afternoon of Dec. 30.

Entertainment at State Center.

As a benefit for St. Joseph's Catholic church, of State Center, a pleasing entertainment was given at the opera house Saturday night by the Hughes trio, of Chicago. The young women, Margaret, Mary, and Elizabeth, are daughters of Mrs. Lois Pfantz Hughes, a former well-known resident of State Center, and daughter of Mrs. Margaret Pfantz. Mrs. Hughes and her daughters are at State Center visiting at the Pfantz home. The Misses Hughes are gifted musically, and their program was a decided treat. The program consisted of solos, duets and trios, together with readings.
