Poslam contains nothing which can in any way injure the most delicate skin and may unhesitatingly be used in all cases. "My little boy had eczema on his head in the most dreadful form for three summers. We spent dollars on various medicines to no effect. In a letter to the Times-Republican Mr. Welp says: "The Pacific coast is an ideal place for the tourist, but we are now ready to go back to our old home and think it is as good as any place we have seen. California raises fine fruit, and Colorado has the mines, but Iowa has the corn and hogs."

Man Whose Parents Are Said to Live Here Meets Death Under Wheels at Deadwood, S. D.—Police Unable to Locate Relatives. The Chicago & Northwestern was advised from Deadwood, S. D., this afternoon that a man named S. J. Smythe, whose parents are said to live in this city, had been killed by a Northwestern train. According to the advices at hand Smythe had been employed by the Yankee Robinson circus, but had been discharged. The man was struck by a train and killed instantly, and the authorities at Deadwood are trying to locate his relatives. The Northwestern reported the case to Chief of Police Nicholson, but the chief is unable to find out anything about Smythe's parents. Inquiry by the Times-Republican in the limited time afforded this afternoon failed to develop the desired information. There are no Smythes at the soldiers' home, nor does the city directory for several years back give such a family. As far as can be learned there are no Smythes who get their mail thru the local postoffice. Any one who may know of such a family should hasten to get the information to the chief of police, that he may communicate with Deadwood. WEDS IN DES MOINES. Miss Edith Brush Becomes Bride of C. L. Fisher in Capital City. At Des Moines Tuesday Miss Edith Emma Brush, daughter of Mrs. Dolly Brush, 311 North Ninth avenue, became the bride of Mr. Charles Lee Fisher, of Des Moines. Mrs. Fisher returned from Des Moines this morning and will be at her mother's home for about a week, when her husband will join her. After a brief visit with relatives and friends at Cedar Falls Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will go to Cedar Rapids. FOUR CARRIERS RAISED. Four Senior City Postmen Get Advance to Maximum Salary. On the recommendation of Postmaster C. H. Smith, the postoffice department has allowed increases in salaries to the four senior city carriers. The men who receive the raise in wages, which is from $1,100 to $1,200, are W. T. Boardman, Stewart Eason, J. N. Garwood and Charles Haas. The increases begin with the pay for this month. Because of the amount of the appropriation for this purpose, which was made by the last congress, the postoffice department would advance to the maximum only 50 per cent of the employees who were eligible to receive it. As a result increases to but four of the eight recommended by Postmaster Smith were allowed. SUSPECT TO BE RELEASED. Man Held Here For Vagrancy Not Northwestern Depot Thief. James Kroilan, alias Charles Miller, the man who was arrested by Officer Frank Haas last week on suspicion that he might be the man who was wanted by the Northwestern for robbing its

station at Watertown, Wis., is not the man wanted. Chief of Police W. E. Nicholson has received information from A. F. McCarthy, special agent for the Northwestern, who says that while Kroilan very much resembles the wanted man, and while the tattooed designs he carries are also very similar, the identification is not positive. Kroilan was sent to jail for thirty days on a charge of vagrancy. He will probably be released soon. Insurance. W. B. Elliott has added the Indiana & Ohio Livestock Insurance Co. to his fire insurance agency. This company insures horses, mules and cattle against death from any cause. A vast bulk of decorating material is stored in the building, and is being made into pennants, banners and other forms by employes of the company. The Death-Dealing House-Fly. The common house fly is coming to be known as the "typhoid fly," and when the term becomes universal greater care will be exercised in protecting the house from his presence. Flies swallow the germs of typhoid in countless millions while feeding on excreta. They spread a thousand times more typhoid germs in their excreta than on their feet. As soon as the fly comes out of his shell he is full grown and starts out in the world to make a living, and if your home is not clean, he knows it; for the fly can discern an unclean odor for miles. A pleasant-smelling substance—the fragrance of flowers, geraniums, mignonette, lavender, or any perfume—will drive them away. The fly lays her eggs in the manure pile or some other filthy place. All the germs—all the microbes—fasten themselves on the spongy feet. The fly brings them into the house and wipes them off. The fly that you see walking over your food is covered with fifth and germs. If there is any dirt in your house, or about your premises, or those of your neighbors, he has just come from it. Watch him, as he stands on the sugar, industriously wiping his feet. He is getting rid of disease germs, rubbing them on the sugar that you are going to eat, leaving the poison for you to swallow. This does more to spread typhoid fever, cholera infantum and other intestinal diseases than any other cause. Don't allow flies in your house. Don't buy foodstuffs where flies are tolerated. Don't allow your fruits and confections to be exposed to the swarms of flies. Don't let flies crawl over the baby's mouth and swarm upon the nipple of its nursing bottle. Dispose of waste materials in such a way that the house fly can not propagate, for flies breed in horse manure, decaying vegetables, dead animals, and all kinds of filth. Look after the garbage can, see that it is cleaned, sprinkled with lime or kerosene oil, and closely covered. Screen all windows and doors and insist that your grocer, butcher, baker, and every one from whom you buy foodstuffs does the same. Remember that a large percentage of flies breed in the stable. There is more health in a well screened house than in many a doctor's visit.—R. M. Clinebinst, in The Christian Herald.
