TWO ARE HURT IN LUCKY AUTO SPILL

G. H. BEEBE CAR OVERTURNS IN TO DITCH WHEN COLT BLOCKS HIGHWAY.

MRS. BEEBE THROWN OUT AND HAS SHOULDER BRUISED

Two Others Are Pinioned Under the Car, But None Was More Than Slightly Bruised—Spill Causes Farmer's Team to Run Away, Throwing the Driver Out and Breaking a Rib.

A bad automobile accident and runaway, caused by a colt on a public highway four miles east of Nevada Sunday morning at 10:30, caused two to be injured, while six others narrowly escaped, when the automobile driven by George H. Beebe, of this city, ran into a ditch and overturned, and a team driven by Mr. Schaller, living near Colo, ran away, spilling the occupants of the carriage, members of Mr. Schaller's family.

The car, Mr. Beebe was driving turned completely over, pinioning some of the occupants under the seats, but they fell in such a manner that they were not more than slightly hurt. With Mrs. A. J. Eldridge in the car were Mrs. A. J. Eldridge and daughter, Edna, and Harry O. Eldridge, of Clomons. They were on their way to Ames to spend the day.

Colt Gets in the Way. Just ahead of the Beebe car was another automobile, and when the two cars approached a narrow place in the road, which was crossed by a culvert, both cars slowed up to a very moderate speed. Just beyond the culvert were teams, which drew partly out of the road to let the autos cross before they came ahead.

Turning Out, Goes into Ditch. Bringing his team into a standstill, Beebe turned out to get past the colt, and in doing so, his front wheel ran just off the road and down the side of a thirty-inch embankment. By that time it had been stopped, and before the passengers could get out, it toppled completely over. Mrs. Beebe was thrown clear out of the vehicle, striking a small boulder with her right shoulder. Mr. Beebe was caught under the front seat. Harry O. Eldridge was caught under the rear seat and Mrs. Eldridge and her daughter were thrown into the bottom of the car.

People who were in the leading auto and some of the horse vehicles hurried to the overturned car and lifted it. The car was damaged, but not badly, and was able later to come here with its own power.

Farmer's Team Runs Away. Mr. Schaller, his wife and one child, were in one of the vehicles which waited for the automobiles to pass. When the Beebe car overturned, the team became frightened and, whirling into the ditch, partly overturned the carriage and threw Mrs. Schaller out. The team then ran away, and in doing so, righted the buggy, in which Mr. Schaller and child hung fast. After running a distance the team broke loose, and Mr. Schaller was thrown out, fracturing one rib. The other two had lucky escapes, neither of them being more than badly shaken up.

Mrs. Beebe and Mr. Schaller and other members of the party went to Nevada where a physician cared for the injured. All but the men of the Beebe party returned to this city on the train, but Beebe and Mr. Eldridge returned to the scene of the accident and drove the car back.

This morning Mrs. Beebe was able to be up and eat breakfast, but the family is expected that she will be entirely recovered of her injury in a few days.

COLLIDES WITH AUTO; HURT. Clayton Shockley Injured When He Tries to Dodge Motor Car.

When Clayton Shockley, aged 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Shockley, 810 West Nevada street, tried to dodge an eastbound automobile at the corner of First avenue and State street at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, he ran his bicycle into the G. W. Shick car, headed for the west, but not under power at the time of the collision.

Young Shockley was riding north on First avenue and a Ford machine was coming from the west. The Shick car was standing at the corner, having been stopped because of the other car and the boy. Shockley turned out to avoid the Ford, and ran directly into the Shick machine with force sufficient to break off one of the auto lamps. The lad fell across the radiator of the car, and sustained severe bruises about the chest. He was taken home and a doctor, who was called, was unable to find that there were symptoms of any serious injury.

HORSE IS BURNED. Animal Losses Life in Fire That Destroyed Shed in Cherynk Junk Yard.

Fire at 6:36 Sunday evening destroyed a small shed belonging to the Great Western railway, which stands in the N. H. Cherynk junk yard, 810 South First avenue, and burned a horse and harness belonging to Cherynk. Cherynk says his loss is about $20, as he estimates the horse to be worth $125.

It is now known how the fire started. When it was discovered the little building was enveloped in flames. The building itself was of small value. Cherynk's loss is covered by insurance.

M'MURRAY UP FOR DRINKING. Judge Parker Suspends Sentence on Promise to Quit.

Charles M. McMurray, a painter, living at 212 North Eighth avenue, was arrested Saturday evening by Sheriff A. A. Nicholson, and this morning was arraigned before Judge Parker on a charge of inebriety, filed by his wife, Mrs. Effie McMurray. McMurray was sentenced to three years in the state hospital at Keosauqua, but the sentence was suspended on McMurray's promise that he would quit drinking. The sheriff was instructed to take McMurray to Knoxville the first time he was known to be drunk.

THE SMITH FUNERAL.

Services For Liscomb Man Are Largely Attended Sunday Afternoon. The funeral of Chester Smith, the young man from Liscomb who was killed by a train last Wednesday at Deadwood, S. D., was largely attended Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the H. Smith home at Liscomb. Rev. Mr. Boomershome and Rev. Mr. Paris had charge of the brief service. Aside from many pretty flowers sent by relatives and friends of the young man and his family there was a most beautiful piece from the employees of the Yazoo River iron circuit and other friends of the young man with whom he had been associated while with the circus. The tribute was in the shape of a large tent done in white flowers, with the opening set out in purple.

Mrs. George Biersborn and Lowell Bixby furnished the music for the Liscomb service, and the pall bearers were Messrs. Henry Biersborn, Will Meyers, Martin Updike, Elmer Biersborn, Emmet Smith, and Neil Merson, the latter of this city. Interment was in the Liscomb cemetery.

In attendance at the funeral from a distance were Mrs. Marian Callahan, Hesper, an aunt of Mr. Smith; Mrs. Abi Elliott, of Round Lake, Minn.; Mr. Smith's grandmother; Mrs. Emily Frazier, of Union, an aunt, and her daughter, Miss Estella Frazier, of this city; Milo L. Smith, a brother, of Deer River, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coram, the latter a cousin of this city; Mrs. Julia Tuttle, of this city, an aunt, and her son, Otto Tuttle, and wife; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nold, of Union, and Mrs. Clara Probst and daughter Alice, of this city.

Mr. Smith was a member of the Forty-ninth Iowa band during the Spanish-American war and was a member of the Eagles' lodge, of Oklahoma City, Okla.

CRUSHED IN ELEVATOR

Lyle Croover, Aged 18, Caught in Pilgrim Hotel Shaft and Receives Injuries That May Yet Prove Dangerous—Believed, However, That Boy Is Not Seriously Hurt.

When Lyle Croover, aged 18, a bell-boy, employed at the Pilgrim hotel, tried to start the passenger elevator at 10 o'clock Sunday morning without getting into the car, he pulled the lever too far, sent the car downward with a jerk, and was caught between the car and the shaft, crushing him about the chest. While no bones were broken there is an injury internally to the lungs and pleura, but it is believed that the young man will not suffer any serious consequences from his experience.

Young Croover is a son of James Croover and wife, former residents of this city, but now of Haxtum, Colo., where they moved two years ago. The young man returned to this city early last week, and went to work at the Pilgrim as a bell-boy. Sunday morning he had occasion to go to one of the upper floors and the elevator boy was not in the car, which stood about two and one-half feet up from the first floor. Instead of getting into the car to start it, Croover reached up and released the lever, and pulled it too far. The car went down with a sudden jerk, and Croover was caught underneath it, the weight resting over his chest. Landlord Coleman tried to release the car, but could not without getting inside, and as soon as he could sent the car upward, taking the weight off Croover's prostrate form. An ambulance was summoned, and Croover was removed to St. Thomas hospital.

Dr. A. B. Conaway was called and a consultation of physicians was held Sunday afternoon. Dr. Conaway said this morning that his patient's condition had improved greatly since the accident, and he was in hopes that there would be no serious result. The young man suffered somewhat from hemorrhage of the lungs immediately following the accident, but the hemorrhages have ceased, and the patient's respiration was much better this morning. Dr. Conaway said that it would require thirty-six to forty-eight hours to determine just what the effects of the accident might be, as congestion is to be feared as a result of the damage done to the lungs.

SUES FOR LIFE INSURANCE.

Relatives of John A. Heether Bring Suits Against Travelers' Company. Three suits on life insurance policies aggregating $5,000, which were carried by John A. Heether, were begun in the district court this morning against the Travelers' Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., by relatives and friends. Three suits were filed. In one of these C. J. McCombs is the plaintiff for $3,000 of insurance. In another H. F. McCombs is the plaintiff for $1,000, and in a third Mrs. Jennie M. McCombs is the plaintiff. This latter suit is also for $1,000. Mrs. Ann R. Heether, Mr. Heether's widow, is the beneficiary named in all of the policies.

PAPA FOILS WEDDING; BRIDE GROOM ONLY 15

GEORGE MEECH, JR., CLAIMING TO HAVE MOTHER'S CONSENT, STRIKES SNAG.

FATHER APPEARS AS SON WAS SEEKING A LICENSE

Parent Positively Refuses to Give His Consent, and Plans Are Postponed—Meech, Sr., in Role of Detective—Surmised Wedding When Son Wanted $8.

George Meech, Jr., son of a well-known Timber Creek township farmer, wanted the worst way to lead 19-year-old Ella Quillin to the altar Saturday night, and had his plans all made, including a loan of $8 from his father. The lack of finances, however, and the fact that young Meech went to his father to borrow the money, proved his undoing matrimonially for father "smelled a mouse" and turned a little detective stunt on his own hook. The result was that papa came upon the young Lothario and his blushing bride-to-be-if-all-went-well, as the couple was trying to get a license. The license, however, was not obtainable on the showing made by Meech, Jr., as to his age.

With his intended clinging to his arm, and accompanied by the young woman's father, William Quillin, a farmer living seven miles northwest of the city, young Meech went to the court house shortly before closing time Saturday evening. The young man presented a crudely written note to Deputy Clerk of Courts Rellly, signed "Mrs. George," without the "Meech," in which Mrs. Meech was purported to give her consent to her son's marriage, and stating that he was 19.

Cruel Papa Balks Game. Then rejecting the note, he put butt in young Meech that, under the circumstances, and the apparent lack of genuineness of his mother's consent to wed, that he could not grant a license. Rellly advised the young man that he would have to furnish a little clearer indication that he was 19, and that his parents were willing.

Just then in stepped George Meech, Sr., and wanted to know what was up. The situation was explained by the deputy clerk, who asked Mr. Meech if he would give his consent to his son's marriage. The elder Meech announced that his son was only 15, and that he wouldn't give his consent if he was 20.

Two Fathers Talk It Over. The young people went their way, far from rejoicing, and two fathers held a conference on the court house lawn. It was the first time the heads of the two families that were in prospect of being united had ever seen each other.

Mr. Quillin explained that young Meech had always said he was 19, the same age as his daughter. That being the case, and the young people wanting to be married, Mr. Quillin had registered no objection.

Mr. Meech said that he had suspected some such game, which he had come to learn Saturday afternoon and wanted to borrow $8 until Monday morning, saying that he was going to work for $10 per week at Sundell's restaurant on Monday. Meech let his son have the money, after questioning him as to what he wanted it for, and not getting a very satisfactory explanation.

Mr. Quillin said that the young people had known each other about two years, having met when his daughter was working for Homer Harrison, who lives neighbor to the Meechs. George Meech said that if his son would return home and go to work he might consent to his marriage in another year. Young Meech, however, according to his father, declared after the elder Meech's refusal to consent to the wedding, that he would never return home.

NEW CAR SHOP HEAD

W. E. Looney, of Muskogee, Okla., is Made General Car Foreman in Charge of Car Department of Iowa Central—Appointment Becomes Effective at Once.

W. E. Looney, of Muskogee, Okla., was today appointed general car foreman in charge of the entire Iowa Central line. He will have headquarters in this city. The appointment became effective at once and Mr. Looney began his duties today.

The office of general car foreman has been created for Mr. Looney. He will take part of the duties of W. H. Samuels, who has been car foreman, with headquarters here. The work of the department was too heavy for one man, so it has been divided, with Mr. Looney in charge. Mr. Samuels will be retained in a capacity similar to what he already occupies.

Mr. Looney has been general car foreman in the shops of the M. K. & T. at Muskogee for several years. He was formerly an eastern man. The appointment was made by Master Mechanic C. E. Gossett, to whom Mr. Looney will report.

BEGIN FEEDING CATTLE.

Western Grocer Company Mills to Fatten Feeders on Corn Stalks. Extensive cattle feeding operations, which will continue until midwinter on the various farms that the Western Grocer Company Mills has leased, were begun Sunday with the receipt of the first shipment of cattle. The company got three cars of feeders from the Kansas City market yesterday and put them on feed at once. This consignment consisted of sixty head, and is to be followed by others until the total reaches not less than 300, and perhaps as many as 500. The animals are to be divided into lots and placed on the company's farms, where they will be fed sweet corn fodder. The company will have 900 acres of fodder to feed, and it is planned to make ensilage of it. The cattle will probably be marketed during the winter months.

TENNIS TOURNAY ON

Twelve Pairs Enter in Y. M. C. A. Championship For Doubles, Which Begins Tonight—Tournament Lasts Until Sept. 19.

With twelve pairs entered the tournament for the doubles championship of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. Tennis Club begins this evening on the courts at the corner of Third avenue and Main street, and Sixth and Nevada streets. Nine games will be played each week, and the tournament will not come to a close until Sept. 19. Three games, each the best two sets out of three, will be played on each Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening.

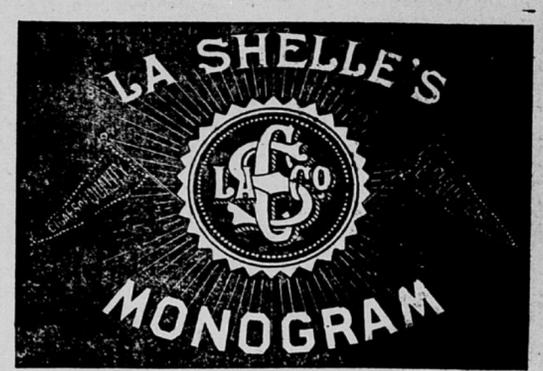

The plan of the tournament is not by elimination, as is usually adopted, but is to be based on the percentage of games won. Each team plays eleven games, the one having the highest percentage on Sept. 19 winning the championship and silver pins, which are the prizes.

The following are the teams that have entered: Ray Doolittle and H. E. Wilson, Ray Scott and Harry Kissinger, Howard Wilbur and Fred Gilchrist, Harry Ritter and Charles Trunkey, R. W. McCreey and William Barrie, H. C. Cox and Warren Stevens, E. Lindstedt and George Olson, W. T. Smith and Charles Perrin, Ralph Van Horn and Bernard English, G. F. Gilbert and Karl Scott, A. Lindstedt and Gerald Matson, and Miller White and Morris Bernstein.
