MARSHALL COUNTY NEWS OF INTEREST

T. R. CORRESPONDENTS TELL OF HAPPENINGS IN COUNTY TOWNS.

NEW LISCOMB CHURCH NEARING COMPLETION

Work On Reformed Church Delayed Owing to Lack of Finished Lumber, But Expected That Dedication Can Take Place in September—Good Wheat and Oats Yields in Taylor.

Times-Republican county correspondents furnish this week an abundance of news of their different communities that will prove of interest to former residents of friends of Marshall county people.

At Liscomb work has been delayed on the new Grace Reformed church owing to the inability to secure finishing lumber. It is expected, however, that the church will be ready for dedication in September.

In Taylor township threshers on Mrs. R. M. Ward's farm showed an average of thirty-two bushels of winter wheat to the acre and from thirty to fifty bushels of oats.

News of the county, classified by towns, is as follows:

LISCOMB.

Aug. 11.—The reception held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Mershan Tuesday evening in honor of Rev. T. F. Paris and family, who have moved here from Des Moines, was largely attended by the people of the community. A very pleasant time socially was enjoyed by members from the local churches—uniting and extending a warm welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Paris and children to the charge which has grown and prospered most satisfactorily under the ministrations of Mr. Paris during his year of labor recently closed.

Mrs. Maude Early Nix visited friends in Liscomb Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Nix are making preparations to move to Tampa, Fla., in a short time where Mr. Nix will have business connections with a large wholesale fruit company. Mr. and Mrs. Nix spent the last winter in Tampa and found the climate and genial surroundings very beneficial to the former's health, so they are returning for a protracted stay.

Word from Peoria, Ill., tells of the arrival of a severe cold at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Snook, on Aug. 1. Mr. Snook was principal of the Liscomb school for two years. Mrs. Snook was formerly Miss Hazel Adams. A force of men working for the Bell Telephone Company are making repairs and improvements in this vicinity this week.

Max McFee is recovering from a severe case of the measles. J. G. Scott, Mrs. Mary Scott and Roy LeFever are in South Dakota visiting friends in Custer and attending to business transactions.

A son is reported at the Lloyd Trimble home, north of town. Miss Roxie Buehly is home from Des Moines for a two weeks' vacation.

James Gould arrived home from a business trip to Rockwell Saturday. The ladies of the C. W. B. M. opened their birthday boxes at the home of the president, Mrs. Rhoda Green, Friday afternoon. A program and light refreshments added to the good time.

Miss Etta Early, of Marshalltown, is visiting at the Mathias Hauser home for a week. Mrs. Frank McAfee and daughter were up from Marshalltown this week visiting the Phillip Heffner family.
