BLAME BUFFALO GNAT
COUNCIL BLUFFS PHYSICIANS DISCOVER ALLEGED CAUSE OF PARALYSIS.

BITE OF MINUTE INSECT SPREADS INFANTILE DISEASE
Works Like Yellow Fever Mosquito—Expert Frost to Report That Disease is Easily Diagnosed and After-Effects Therefore Preventable—Holds to Dust Theory of Transmission.

Council Bluffs, Aug. 17.—Physicians here are thoroughly convinced that they have discovered the origin and cause of infantile paralysis that has reached the contagion stage in so many localities and so frequently resulting in death. Now, feeling that they have gained an important point, they will search for a remedy to eliminate the disease.

After laboring for weeks, they unite in announcing that in their opinion, infantile paralysis, that not only attacks children, but adults, is produced by a small flying insect, known throughout the west as the buffalo gnat that makes its appearance during June and disappears with the coming of the first frost in autumn.

Corresponds to Mosquito. The physicians here state in their report that they will file with the Iowa state board of health that the buffalo gnat has an equipment of appendages corresponding almost identically to those of the mosquito that has been charged with and convicted of carrying the germs of yellow fever. It is a blood sucker and they say it is absolutely the only winged insect that will regularly crawl under the covers of the couch of its sleeping victim, or into the skin of a person in daylight by creeping under the clothing. It is as persistent as its voracious, and it is almost impossible to keep it out of the sleeping room.

Nature, the physicians here say, has built the buffalo gnat on the plan of the house fly, so familiar in punctation. It has a hump on its shoulders that it would seem would keep it out of a well-screened apartment, but it will easily force itself through wire meshes that are large enough to permit the insertion of an ordinary pin, as there is a hollow under the hump that permits of the contracting of the body when it is crawling itself through a small hole.

How Victim is Incubated. The buffalo gnat, the physicians say, has the short antennae of hairs characteristic of the yellow fever mosquito and when placed under a powerful lens, show a long, slender, two-edged lance, a small saw and the base of the disease breeding mosquito. It carries a set of muscles that compress the glands and squeeze from a small sack in the head the paralysis germs, injecting them into the system of its victim when it withdraws its sucking apparatus.

FROST HOLDS TO DUST THEORY.
Government Expert Believes After-Effects Are Preventable. Special to Times-Republican. Mason City, Aug. 17.—Dr. Wade H. Frost, representing the government in his research work regarding infantile paralysis, has gone to Des Moines, where he will make a report to the state board of health. He expects to return to this city the latter part of the week to complete some unfinished work.

It is said that Dr. Frost will be more emphatic than he has ever been in his findings that the disease is contagious and it needs to be treated as other contagious diseases are. In the report that he will submit it is stated that the larger part of the trouble in Mason City came from the central school building. He has been able to trace possibly eight cases from this source. And to further emphasize this fact is the one that he will offer that in several instances all the children in the family are afflicted with the disease. The Spaulding family had two cases, the Plaster three and the Anderson three. There are other cases where more than one was afflicted. It is not so contagious as scarlet fever. As Dr. Frost puts it out of a hundred exposures in the family paralytic attack would take it. In several fever out of one hundred thirty would take it. And he further reasons that the physicians believe that it is transmitted thru the dust, where does the dust get it if not from some of the specimens of a human being afflicted with the disease.

The local condition is greatly improved there being now only three or four active cases. The disease in the country is much more severe than in the heart of the city. Over the state it seems to have drifted from populated centers into rural communities. The most important discovery yet made during a period of study here by Dr. Frost is that it may be diagnosed before paralysis occurs. This will be the feature of Dr. Frost's report which he expects to make to the state board of health today. While the substance of the report will emanate from the state board first, some things have been given out here concerning what the report will contain.

The new feature regarding diagnosis is an important one, so say physicians, for they may then begin the treatment required, which, it is hoped, will result in preventing paralysis of the patient. As to the cause of the spread of the disease, Dr. Frost is able to throw no new light. That it is contagious he is sure, so many local physicians differ with him.

Of the sixty cases that have been here the past four months, seven have proved fatal, thirty probably are more or less paralyzed, some of whom may recover and perhaps a dozen may be permanently paralyzed. The disease was more fatal among males than females and got more of its victims between the ages of 18 and 30 years than any other period of life. Very few girls have the disease in acute forms and few show signs of paralysis.

Diagnosed as Paralysis. Special to Times-Republican. Tipton, Ia. 17.— Floyd Morton of Tipton, Ia. of acute infantile paralysis here, the university surgeons having completed their diagnosis this morning. His condition is critical.

CAN FIND NO KIN.
Fruitless Efforts to Locate Relations of Old Man Dead at Waterloo.

Waterloo, Aug. 17.—Superintendent of the Poor J. A. Klingman has been unsuccessful in his attempt to locate any relatives of C. R. Meldon, the old man who died at the home of William Wagner, of this city. A letter from New York states that no such name appears on the state register of soldiers and if the old man was a member of a New York company he failed to give his right name to Mr. Klingman before his death. Every effort to find definite information concerning him has failed, although enough is known to arouse interest in the case.

In Waterloo Meldon was employed at different times by the Kelly Manufacturing Company, the Iowa Dairy Company and lately canvassed for different patent medicines. Eugene Carey, a local blacksmith for whom the old man worked at one time believes that he was once taken to Mr. Klingman talked about having $30,000 and a string of race horses. Meldon also told Carey that he formerly owned a store in southern Iowa.

Promoter Plans Stations in Twenty-One Cities of State. Des Moines, Aug. 17.—Before Jan. 1, 1911, Des Moines will be in touch with twenty-one principal points in Iowa by means of the most up-to-date method of communication according to the statement of G. An expenditure of $15,000, averaging between $800 and $700 to a station, will be involved in the proposition. According to the plans, the following cities in Iowa will be included in the system: Sioux City, Council Bluffs, Adair, Albia, Ankeny, Ames, Boone, Dodge, Boone, Des Moines, Oskaloosa, Ottumwa, Keokuk, Ft. Madison, Burlington, Muscatine, Iowa City, Davenport, Cedar Rapids, Clinton, Marshalltown, Waterloo, and Dubuque. A station also will be established at Omaha.

Local Weather Prophet of Ft. Dodge Gives Assurance to Farmers. Special to Times-Republican. Fort Dodge, Aug. 17.—Eugene Dunning, a local weatherman who has won considerable local fame as a weather prophet in his forty years of residence in this section of the state, declares the farmers have nothing to fear from frost before Sept. 15, but that on that date they will have a cold snap and possibly frost. However, Mr. Dunning asserts that should frost not appear on Sept. 15 there will be no damage this season to even the most belated corn. In past years Mr. Dunning has predicted frost with almost untailing accuracy.

Big Shipment of Silk.
Special to Times-Republican. Mason City, Aug. 17.—There passed thru this city yesterday, over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, two refrigerator cars loaded with silk. Dubuque.
Louis Feldstein, who drives an ice cream wagon about the streets of the city, was severely injured in a very peculiar manner Sunday afternoon. A large rock was hurled thru a window of the wagon in which the boy was driving near the corner of South Locust and Jones streets. FREE OF SWINE PLAGUE
IOWA HERDS HAVE PASSED EARLY SUMMER WITHOUT USUAL EPIDEMIC.

Government Inspection of Swine For Tuberculosis Traces Disease Back to Place of Origin—Always Indicates Tuberculosis in Cattle Which They Followed.

Special to Times-Republican. Des Moines, Aug. 17.—During the past summer the state of Iowa has been practically free from the swine plague, and the hogs marketed from Iowa have been exceptionally good. There has not been much complaint from the packers about tuberculosis in the Iowa herds. It may not be generally known but it is true that under the federal inspection system traces of tuberculosis in hogs inspected after killing at the packing houses are followed back to the farms so that farmers may know where to look for danger. The trace of tuberculosis in the hog is taken to indicate infection in cattle. These reports go to the state veterinary department, which makes investigation.

Some notoriety has lately been given to a scheme urged by one Professor Rogers of having all hogs from the state tagged and numbered so that the exact place of origin may be known, and if tuberculosis is found it may be stamped out. Mr. Rogers used to be an inspector in Des Moines and later in Cedar Rapids and Ottumwa, but is out of the government service now. The plan is one which was seriously considered some years ago in Iowa. Governor Cummins directed an investigation to see if it could be made to work. It was found that the tagging alone would cost about $125,000 a year.

The state veterinary department reports that the chief trouble is not in failure to locate tuberculosis but to know what to do after it is located. A vast amount of tuberculosis is found concerning which the department is helpless. It has not money with which to compensate owners of stock ordered killed. To enter upon that kind of a policy would be immensely expensive.

While the state has been free from the swine plague during the past hot and dry summer it is expected that as soon as the green feed is used there will be trouble, especially if the autumn remains hot. The state will be ready very soon to supply cholera serum to farmers who desire to make their herds immune. The state has fitted up a laboratory where this material is made and it will soon be ready for use.

Surveying Boone River.
Webster City, Aug. 17.—L. V. Hites, of Des Moines, secretary of the Iowa state drainage, waterways and conservation commission, arrived in the city yesterday for the purpose of going further into the work of surveying the Boone river, to find out what water power it can develop, making profile maps, etc.

The work was begun last April by Mr. Dobson, who has since resigned as secretary of the commission. Mr. Hites, his successor, will make full and detailed surveys of Boone river from a point several miles north of this city to its junction with the Des Moines. He now has a force of men at work on the Des Moines river, making levels, making topographical maps staging of a satisfactory fall entertainment, and for the further reason that the new organization purposes building a new grand stand and making other improvements so that when the grounds are opened for a fair, everything will be in condition for success.

Forest City.
Herbert Halvorson, three miles north of town, marketed the first No. 1 hard wheat sold here in ten years. His yield was thirty-one bushels to the acre. Thirty acres netted $31 an acre. R. E. Burman holds the banner for the finest barley seen hereabouts for many a season. His grain is of the ideal color and up to the top notch in quality, with a yield of thirty bushels to the acre.

Cedar Falls.
An information was filed in Judge Cummins' court by Mrs. Fred Robinson, who resides near Jewsville, charging Ben T. Mages, that place, with the crime of rape upon the person of her 13-year-old daughter. The crime is alleged to have been committed on July 2 while the little girl was at home alone, the parents having gone to town. Mages, who is charged with the crime, is a man nearly 60 years old. A warrant was placed in the sheriff's hands for the arrest of Mages, who was supposed to be in Ready, Bremer county.

Cedar Falls.

The game attracted a large crowd. The forenoon feature was the address of E. G. Dunn, of Mason City, who pleased the people as he always does. The Dougherty Concert band furnished the music. The street sports program was carried out to the letter. The rain in the morning retarded the coming of a few people but the day was one of pure enjoyment.

SCOURING YOUR SCALP.
Will Remove the Loose Dandruff Scales But It Won't Cure Dandruff. If your hair is brittle and thinning, you have dandruff. The mere scouring of the scalp of the loose scales, won't cure dandruff; because dandruff is nothing but scales of scalp being thrown up by a pestiferous little germ in burrowing its way to the root of the hair, where it seeps the filth, causing falling hair and, in time, baldness. Now you can't stop dandruff nor falling hair, nor prevent baldness unless you destroy that germ; and the only preparation that can do it is the new scientific discovery, Newbro's Herpicide. In fact no other hair preparation claims to kill the dandruff germ—all of them will clean the scalp; soap and water will do that, but only Newbro's Herpicide gets at the root of the germ. Marshalltown's Big Factory

225 Men Now Employed
Making Furnaces and Stoves
for Lennox Furnace Company.

What is it that has made the LENNOX FURNACE COMPANY'S factory the largest employing institution in the city next to the Iowa Central Railway? What is it but the LENNOX FURNACE itself? People way back in Pittsburg, down in Oklahoma and Kansas, way out in Denver, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Tacoma and Spokane, in Winnipeg, British Columbia, and even in some cities of Prussia would not use LENNOX FURNACES unless those furnaces were better than other furnaces which they could buy. And yet the factory at Marshalltown ships in car load lots to every one of these cities.

LENNOX FURNACES have points of individual merit about them. For instance they are powerful heaters; they must be or they would never stand up in such climates as North Dakota and western Canada. It is their quick radiating quality of steel and the long smoke travel thru the indirect radiator that makes them do the work so efficiently.

Then, being riveted and corked absolutely gas tight they do away with all of the gas and dust which gave the old fashioned furnace of cast iron sections its bad name for being dirty. The cast iron sections would expand when heated and crack the asbestos cement permitting gas and coal dust to escape into the air chamber and into the living rooms. A LENNOX STEEL FURNACE is gas and dust tight.

It has large double doors, too, to make the firing of the furnace as easy as that of any base burner or kitchen range. The fire pot linings and grates which are always the first part of a furnace to wear out are easily replaced in sections thru the fuel doors without tearing down the casing or pipes. The upright construction with up and down smoke travel prevents the accumulation of soot and ashes to retard radiation. LENNOX FURNACES will always heat the moment a fire is kindled.

In this respect they far surpass a steam or hot water plant for one does not have to wait until the middle of the forenoon to be comfortable when his house is heated by a LENNOX FURNACE. Then, if one wants hot water radiation in any front room, bath room, or room remote from the furnace it is a matter of very small extra expense to add water radiation to a LENNOX FURNACE and have a hot air furnace and hot water plant all in one. In this way can a house be perfectly and sanitarily ventilated by the circulation of hot and cold air and still have the even powerful heating qualities of a hot water plant.

LENNOX FURNACES so please the world that the business grows and grows and grows. They are worth inquiring about at home.
