DID DOG CURE ASTHMA

AMES BOY'S LIFE SAID TO HAVE BEEN SAVED BY SLEEPING WITH PET ANIMAL.

TREATMENT HARD ON DOG, WHICH CONTRACTS DISEASE.

Andy Anderson Tries Novel Treatment Suggested by Eastern Friends and Says It Is a Success—Fox Terrier Secured as the Means of Curing Human Ailment—Dog Now Suffering.

Ames, Sept. 17.—Mr. Andy Anderson, living at 421 Boone street, is firmly of the opinion that a dog has saved the life of his young son, Orrie.

The boy has suffered for years with the asthma and a change of climate seemed to only intensify the suffering. From east to west the family traveled with him and then came back to Ames to give him the best home care possible. A friend wrote of the cure used in some places in the east. This cure was the securing of a good, clean dog as a bed fellow which it allowed to sleep on the pillow would in a short time take the disease away. The Andersons thought they would try it. A nice fox terrier was secured and was given a place to bunk with the young man. After a day or two the dog commenced to object but Mr. Anderson compelled submission and he was kept close to the boy's head. In a short time the asthma commenced to leave the boy but it went to the dog which has become a wheezing canine, sneezing and coughing as the afflicted with tuberculosis. Orrie has so far recovered that he hardly notices the trouble even at this time of the year when such afflictions drive the patients to distraction. This has brought up a general discussion of such cures. In the Anderson neighborhood it is claimed that a dog if allowed to sleep with a rheumatic person will contract the disease and take it away from the sufferer.

HEROIC FIRE FIGHTER.

Steve Marquette, of Independence, Saves Others in the Forest Fires.

Special to Times-Republican.

Manchester, Sept. 17.—Steve R. Marquette, of Independence, was one of the heroic fire fighters under Ranger Bell, while miles of solid flame were devastating vast tracts of timber in Idaho. In fighting the fires in the Couer d'Alenes with a party of twenty-six other men under the forest ranger leader the Iowan was permed in a shallow pool when caught by the flames and the members of the party expected to remain for three months, and from the missives received from them up to Wednesday, they were having a happy time. Mr. Miller's death was caused by heart failure, living only two hours after being stricken. Mr. Miller was born in Switzerland about seventy years ago. In the prime of life he came to this country and for a great many years past he has been a resident of this county. The deceased was undoubtedly one of the most widely known and most highly esteemed men in the entire countryside, having been the head of a large family of children, every one of whom was reared to become a deep credit to the parents.

Waterloo.

William Leard, shortstop for the Waterloo baseball team, assaulted Ben Buntion at the game. Leard pulled a gun on Buntion, who was arrested for fighting, after a hearing, was released without a fine. The bleacher fan had been roasting Leard, but it had not been shown at the trial that Buntion had made any remarks personally to the player.

Webster City.

L. M. Gunstead, who has been section foreman for the Illinois Central Railway Company at this place for the past several years, has received a demerit and promotion of more trust and importance, carrying with it a corresponding increase in salary. He has received the appointment to the position of road supervisor on the Cherokee division. His duties include the superintending of the work on the road over an entire division.

Mapleton.

In view of the hay shortage in this part of the country many farmers are starting to cut their corn for roughness this winter, and it is thought that more corn will be cut this year than heretofore for a number of years. Hay at the present time is very high in price and scarce, there being less than half a crop hereabouts. Old settlers say that the corn crop will be the best in many years and the old corn on hand is being moved as fast as possible.

Waterloo.

The 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ladd, 320 Dunham Place, was severely injured in an accident with a buggy this evening. The boy was riding with the father in a buggy and in attempting to get out fell under the wheels. One wheel passed over his breast, fracturing two ribs. Another passed over the boy's face cutting a gash several inches long and breaking the right cheek bone. The father took the case to a local doctor and a physician was summoned to dress the wounds.

Dubuque.

John Dennison, of Dubuque, the democratic candidate for United States representative from the Third congressional district has issued a challenge to Congressman Charles Pickett, of Waterloo, the republican candidate, for a joint debate to be held in each of the nine counties constituting the district during the coming campaign on the question of the tariff. It is expected that Pickett will accept the challenge and the debates will be held in the various counties according to an agreement to be made later.

Fort Dodge.

The local high school is making arrangements with the West Waterloo and Marshalltown for a triangular debate to be held some time before Christmas. No definite agreement has as yet been arrived at but it is probable that the question will be the same as that of the state league for this year—that of the income tax. The debate will be conducted similar to that in which West Waterloo, Council Bluffs and Story City participated last year. Both Waterloo and Marshalltown have the reputation of having good teams and the contest will undoubtedly be an interesting one.

Dubuque.

A telegram has been received here announcing the death on Wednesday of Los Angeles of Mr. Jacob R. Miller, one of the very best known residents of Dubuque county. Mr. and Mrs. Miller lived in the west on a pleasure trip, and as no prior news of his illness had been received by relatives here, the word of his death after the horrifying shock. The Miller homestead lies just beyond Center Grove and is known as Fairview Farm. Two weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Miller were on their way to the city expecting to remain for three months, and from the missives received from them up to Wednesday, they were having a happy time. Mr. Miller's death was caused by heart failure, living only two hours after being stricken. Mr. Miller was born in Switzerland about seventy years ago. In the prime of life he came to this country and for a great many years past he has been a resident of this county. The deceased was undoubtedly one of the most widely known and most highly esteemed men in the entire countryside, having been the head of a large family of children, every one of whom was reared to become a deep credit to the parents.

Fort Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Miller received a telegram Monday from their son, stating that their daughter, Mrs. Louisa Dargard, had been fatally burned, but giving none of the particulars of the accident, and Mrs. Miller and daughter, Mrs. Nels Schmidt, left at once for the Illinois city. Wednesday morning a second telegram was received at the home announcing the death of Mrs. Dargard. Mrs. Dargard was about 29 years of age and was reared at Dayton and Fort Dodge. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband and baby son, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Miller, of Fort Dodge, and four sisters and one brother, all residents of that city.

Lake City.

Ten years ago Mrs. Emma Goodrich who owns a forty-acre farm on Coon river west of here, gave a rough looking tramp a hearty meal and all of the good clothing which belonged to her dead husband. The tramp was extraordinarily gratified by the treatment he received and went away pleased. Mrs. Goodrich forgot the incident until a few days ago a fine looking man drove up in a massive automobile and purchased the forty-acre tract of run down land for enough to provide for the rest of his life. The man explained he was Edgar Royer, of Seattle, Wash., and that he was the tramp the woman had fed and clothed ten years ago. He had made a fortune in Oregon and California and the one desire of his life was to repay the kindness of the woman. Mrs. Goodrich will soon move to Liddendale to reside near the home of her son-in-law. It is said that the deal was turned over to the stranger for $10,000, or more than $200 an acre for the hillside farm. When Royer left he was crowded with the other folks as soon as the deal was completed.

Sioux City.

Tony La Vertes, assistant to a snake charmer, died of the virulent bite of one of the reptiles with which he had been playing, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, just one hour after he had been placed in the hospital. La Vertes was bitten while the "freak" show with which he had been working was in Osmond, Neb., Wednesday. He was not brought to Sioux City until 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. He died at St. Vincent's hospital. Mrs. Lee Doyle was the "charmer" attraction. She often had admonished La Vertes to stay out of the cage. He laughed at her fears. The woman was permitting the snakes to coil around her body. The little ton was crowded with the curious spectators. The man picked up one of the big rattlesnakes, but it slipped out of his hands. When it struck the floor, it swung around and sunk its fangs into the right arm of the assistant, catching him just below the elbow. The snake that bit La Vertes had been sick for a week and its mouth was a mass of sores that were driving it mad. When an undertaker took charge of the body of the reptile's victim at the hospital, the tongue was flying in and out of the mouth after the horrifying fashion of a snake's tongue.

BIG BRIGADE REUNION

Crocker's Iowa Brigade Adjourned Friday After a Very Successful Reunion at Washington—Next Biennial Meeting Will Be Held at Sigourney in 1911—Officers Elected.

Washington, Iowa, Sept. 17.—The fifteenth biennial reunion of Crocker's Iowa brigade has passed into history, and all the members of the brigade state that it was one of the best ever enjoyed by that military organization. In point of attendance it was the best there being nearly 300 members of the old soldiers brought their wives or some member of their families to Washington to enjoy the reunion.

The campfire Thursday evening was attended even better than the one the evening previous. The opera house was filled with a mass of humanity. Alex Miles, editor of the Democrat here, made the principal address of the occasion. Brief talks were made by Capt. J. T. Parker of the Thirtieth Iowa, and J. W. Cheney, of the Fifteenth Iowa. The program of the evening was interspersed with musical, vocal and instrumental selections. The opera house was decorated profusely with the national colors, and the stage was a mass of potted plants.

Thursday night at the campfire Robert G. Consls delivered his lecture on Lincoln. Fred E. White has been chosen for orator for next year.

The feature of the campfire was an oration by Carl Ellis, 11-year-old grandson of a member of the Crocker brigade.

The main feature of the last day's program was the automobile parade, which was postponed from the morning on account of the unfavorable weather. There were forty-two automobiles in line and these took the members of the brigade on a tour of inspection of the city. After one set of soldiers were taken over the route they were exchanged for another lot. The place of meeting for another lot was the place of the birth of the brigade and preparations will be made for the greatest reunion in the history of the organization. The brigade resolved invitations from Des Moines, Chariton, Clarinda and Sigourney. Sigourney was decided upon because the brigade society had its inception there. The Guido used in this reunion are the gifts of L. S. Tyler, of Keokuk.

Following are the officers of the brigade elected Thursday afternoon: President—Col. H. H. Road, Mt. Vernon. Vice Presidents—Eleventh, Capt. T. McKinzie, Afton; Thirtieth, Capt. J. T. Parker, Sigourney; Fifteenth, Capt. C. E. Eastrom, Gallesburg, Ill.; Sixteenth, Capt. C. W. Fracker, Des Moines. Recording Secretary—Capt. C. W. Kepler, Mt. Vernon. Corresponding Secretary—D. W. Bushnell, Council Bluffs. Treasurer—J. W. Check, Des Moines.
