CITY AFTER BIG GAME

DES MOINES TO SEEK HONOR OF ENTERTAINING NATIONAL G. A. R. MEETING IN 1913.

LOCATION PRACTICALLY FIXED FOR NEXT TWO YEARS

Des Moines to Get an Early Bid for Honor Three Years Hence—Des Moines Expects to Grow to Proportions Sufficient to Take Good Care of Veterans—Attendance May Be Decreased.

Special to Times-Republican.

Des Moines, Oct. 5.—It is probable that Des Moines will go after the national encampment of the G. A. R. in 1913. Des Moines expects to be large enough to entertain the convention then, and it has dunned upon the Iowa G. A. R. leaders that the encampment should be spoken for ahead of time if it is to be secured.

In 1913 the encampment will not be as large as this year for the reason that it is that year that the Grand Army boys will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Gettysburg and it is planned to have a reunion on the Gettysburg battlefield the greatest since the war.

The Iowa delegation at Atlantic City was a good one. There were 168 Iowa people represented at the headquarters. Iowa had twenty-three votes in the encampment. The Iowa delegation lined up for John Gilman, of Boston, for commander-in-chief. The location of the next encampment was already fixed, but Iowa voted for Los Angeles, Oregon, Idaho and other western states failed to support Los Angeles because Portland wants it the next year.

Department Commander Dyer states that the Iowa people were very well pleased with the Atlantic City encampment.

HAS CHANGE OF HEART.

Mason City's Mayor Now Ardent Advocate of Commission Plan.

Special to Times-Republican.

Mason City, Oct. 5.—Mayor Fred A. Kirschman, who has never looked upon the commission form of government with a great deal of favor, has had a change of heart.

"Do you know," said he, "that it is the hardest thing in the world to get councilmen enough together at the business sessions to transact business? You have got to keep pounding all the time and then when they do come they are more interested in crowing the work thru to an adjournment than anything else."

The proper care of the hair does not require a woman to scour her scalp with soap and drench her hair with water until a shampoo, including drying the hair, takes the better part of the day.

In fact, authorities say that the less soap and water used on the hair the better, as the alkali and moisture tend to make the hair coarse, dull and brittle.

You want to keep the scalp clean and the hair light and fluffy, try dry shampooing. Put in a quart jar, or any other handy container, four ounces of powdered orris root and four ounces of starch. Stir and shake until thoroughly mixed.

A beautiful cleansing powder with a delicate perfume will be the result.

Sprinkle a tablespoonful of this mixture on the head then brush it well thru the hair. This brings out the natural color of the hair, makes it soft and glossy, and if continued regularly tends to make the hair long and abundant, for it is a natural hair styler.

Columbus Junction.

What was apparently an incendiary effort to destroy the New Salem church near here and the old structure, from which the congregation had recently moved, which stood by its side, resulted in the destruction by fire of the old building, the new church being saved only by the desperate efforts of the volunteer fire fighters. The discovery of a spot where oil had been poured on the side of the new church and also of a quantity of burned matches, is the basis of the incendiary theory. No explanation of a possible motive is given.
