UNEARTH MANY THEFTS

OFFICERS AT WATERLOO PROBING WHOLESALE STEALING FROM ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

CHIEF SPECIAL AGENT OF RAILWAY ON THE SCENE

Thefts Occurred From Baggage Cars of Passenger Trains—Four Homes Searched and Many Articles Recovered—More Arrests to Follow Those of Conductors and Brakemen.

Waterloo, Oct. 27.—What appears to be an extensive theft of merchandise and baggage from the Illinois Central railroad is being gradually unearthed by special officers and the sheriff's office. Chief Special Agent Kelleher, of Chicago, and District Agents Ward and Healy are here probing into the vast loss of property entrusted to the care of the company. It is said these thefts have been going on for some time, but it was only recently that Special Agent George S. Ward, whose headquarters are in Waterloo and who has been here only since last spring, has been able to get positive evidence against certain individual trainmen. Before the detectives complete their work it is expected there will be sensational disclosures involving other employees of the company. For several months the railroad had been making good the loss of property entrusted to it. One Waterloo girl lost property in transit worth $100, which the company made good. Last Sunday, it will be remembered, Conductor Ernest May and Brakeman A. D. Williams were arrested on a charge of larceny. That particular offense was alleged to be the theft of a suit case and valuable contents belonging to Mrs. W. T. Evans, of Parkersburg. Williams is still in jail, unable to furnish $1,000 bonds for appearance before the grand jury. May was released when he furnished bonds of $500.

Search Warrants Secured. Yesterday afternoon Special Agents Ward and Healy, Sheriff Shores and his deputy, Al Raymond, and four constables, armed with search warrants, simultaneously swooped down upon a number of Waterloo homes. At four places goods thought to have been stolen from the Illinois Central were located and brought to the sheriff's office. At one place the officers found three suit cases and two quart whiskey bottles, one partially full. At the other places were found two pairs of men's new socks, a new skirt, a bolt of cloth, a box of new four-in-hand ties and a new fur overcoat. A slightly worn overcoat was found in one of the suit cases.

Other search warrants will probably be served today, and the officers are hopeful of locating much other property supposed to have been stolen from merchandise cars.

At a given signal yesterday the officers visited all the places at the same time.

Thefts Said to Be Enormous. It has been learned that for a long time the company has been missing merchandise and baggage, thus necessitating the outlay of considerable money to make the losses good to the shippers and the passengers.

Some time ago a well-known Waterloo young lady, while making a journey to a distant point, lost a piece of baggage that contained valuables to the amount of $100. The company made an earnest effort to locate the lost property, but it was without avail and the loss was made good by the company's paying the passenger the amount claimed.

Much baggage, it is said, has been missing for a long time either from depots or from trucks that awaited the arrival of trains or from baggage cars. In one instance at least a suit case was stolen from a baggage car by trainmen when the baggage man's attention was momentarily diverted. The baggage man, both agents and passengers, have not watched the trainmen as closely as they would have watched strangers, and it is said that many of the losses occurred because of trainmen turning thieves.

But the biggest losses of all have come from the merchandise cars while in transit. Hundreds of dollars worth of property have been missed from this source, and the special agents have gone on the theory that outsiders would not be apt to rob the cars.

Jurisdiction is Bothersome. The special agents have been working on the threads of evidence gathered by the officers, and the question of jurisdiction has arisen. If the freight cars were robbed at portions of their contents the offense might have been committed in any of the counties thru which the railroad passes. In order to fix a definite charge against a person accused of larceny, the information must state in what county the crime was committed. The officers today faced some difficulty in this respect when it was proposed to prefer definite charges against two trainmen.

More Arrests Made. Following closely upon the arrest of Brakeman A. B. Williams for the theft of a suit case from an Illinois Central baggage car, and Conductor May for complicity, Special Agent George S. Ward Wednesday arrested Brakeman H. S. Jones for breaking into an Illinois Central car in transit and stealing a case of whisky. Dan Killian, a freight conductor, was also taken into custody on a charge of petit larceny. Both cases are distinct.

WHITWASH FOR COAL.

Illinois Central to Guard Against Theft From Cars.

Fort Dodge, Oct. 27.—The eastern roads have a novel way of determining if any coal has been taken from the cars, and if any has been taken where it was taken at. The top layer of every car of coal is completely covered with whitewash, and agents along the line are required to make a report as to whether or not the top layer was covered when the car was at their station. The same custom is to be followed by the Illinois Central in the future, and from the reports made it will be possible to determine when and where the coal was taken. This will be of great benefit in finding the coal thieves.

The railroads have lost considerable money in the past on coal that was not used by them and it is hoped that by this method they can do away with considerable of the coal stealing.

HEREFORDS SELL POORLY

Big Sale in Northern Iowa Falls to Net Promoters Best Prices—Herefords Better Adapted to Southern Section of State.

Special to Times-Republican. Masor, City, Oct. 27.—It was clearly demonstrated here yesterday that this latitude is a little too far north for the raising of Hereford cattle to demand the best prices at great sales. Forty-five of the choicest of this breed were in the auction block here yesterday. Some choice animals from the herds of Van Note Brothers and Gorman & Cahill. Three of these animals sold at $100 each and these were the top-notchers. Two animals sold for $32.50. These were young calves. The average price the stock sold at was $65. The grand total of the sale amounted to $2,934.50. William Colby, of this city, was the heaviest purchaser, buying fifteen head as the nucleus of a herd of Herefords. He will put on his Rockwell farm, M. G. Bell, of Nora Springs, bought fourteen head.

The cream of the herd were bought by John Schmoll, of Keosauqua, who paid $100 each for the two animals he bought. W. D. Hurd, of Clear Lake, also purchased two. The following were individual purchasers: S. R. Huff, Mason City; B. Dougherty, Dougherty; Henry Diercks, Mason City; C. L. Hurd, Clear Lake; J. E. Foss, Keosauqua; J. Dougherty, Dougherty; John Vech, Dougherty; J. C. Bitterman, Nora Springs; H. P. Jensen, Mason City; J. A. Jones, Ackley. Colonel George P. Bellows and O. L. Mossman were the auctioneers. This immediate vicinity is a great dairy section and cattle bred for beef are not in such active demand as the milk bred cattle are. The auctioneers said that the same class of cattle as was sold here yesterday if they had been in southern Iowa or in Missouri would have sold on an average of $100.

Northern Iowa Items

Dysart. Michael Kennedy died at his home in Dysart Monday last after a prolonged illness. He was one of the early settlers of north Tama, having located on a farm between Traer and Dysart thirty years ago. The past fifteen years he has lived in Dysart.

Boxholm. The new Farmers' State Bank, fully equipped was opened for business here Monday morning. There will be a public opening Saturday. This bank is a farmers' institution in fact as well as in name, for of the sixty stockholders three-fourths are farmers.

Monticello. The saloon keepers of Jones county held a meet in this city to discuss plans for the circulating of a petition to secure 25 per cent of the voters of Jones county so that saloons can be conducted under the mulct law when the present petition of consent expires, July 1, 1911. Representatives from a number of breweries, distilleries and wholesale liquor houses were present.

Mason City. Dwight Brown, a resident of this section of Iowa for forty-five years, and for many years a well-known bonanza farmer, in which wheat was his principal crop, died in his chair while being his bid at noon Monday, aged 85 years. He was born in Vermont and when a young man came to Dane county, Wis., where he lived for ten years, then came to Iowa.

Waterloo. North Waterloo is now fully assured of a fine, large city park, a tract of sixteen acres of land lying west of Fourth street, formerly a part of the Benson estate. The estate some time ago made the park commissioners a very generous offer of purchase, and that offer has now been accepted and approved by the park board. The price was $45,000, with a gift of 200 trees. The board of the estate, making the net price $36,000.

Waterloo. Many surprises were experienced by purchasers of packages at the sale held here by the Wells-Fargo Express Company. When a man bid 99 cents and found himself the owner of a package that contained an old pair of overalls and work jacket, he decided that he had been "stung" good and plenty. Later, when he made a search of the pockets and exhumed a roll of crisp new greenbacks, his sadness turned to joy. The roll contained $75 in coin cash.

Newell. Ernest Dale, who has just returned from a trip to Wyoming, is there and over when it comes to telling snake stories, and he's got the goods to back up his yarn. In a bottle of alcohol he carries a freak rattlesnake. It is eleven and three quarters inches long and has two heads and a double tail. He killed the "hydra-headed monster" about twenty-five miles southeast of Casper. He kept alive for days on milk. Mr. Dale says no one to whom he has shown the snake ever has seen or heard of one like it.

Sioux City. The management of the West hotel would like to know the whereabouts of Dr. A. L. Moore, graduate at Yale University and prospective hotel purchaser. The hotel has received notice that a $200 check it cashed for Dr. Moore on the day he left Sioux City two weeks ago can not be cashed at

MANY QUESTIONS UP

STORY COUNTY VOTERS TO DETERMINE FOUR MATTERS OF PUBLIC CONCERN.

COUNTY HOSPITAL AT AMES HAS SOME OPPOSITION

Purchase of Fair Grounds, Erection of New County Farm Buildings, and Transfer of Present County Farm and Purchase of Another Site Combine to Overshadow Candidates.

Special to Times-Republican. Nevada, Oct. 27.—The principal matter of interest so far as the coming election is concerned, in Story county, appears to be centered upon the four different special questions submitted to the voters. All of them are the subject of more or less discussion and two of them have been before the people at least once before and been defeated.

The people of Ames and vicinity are back of a proposition for the county to erect a new hospital in that city at a cost of $50,000, for which a mill tax will be levied providing the question carries. The Story County Hospital Club has been organized in that city, a campaign fund raised and the county is being thoroughly canvassed in favor of the proposition. Speeches are being made in different parts of the county, newspaper space is being purchased liberally and a concerted effort is being made to get the matter thru.

The Nevada Commercial Club has favored the proposition for the county purchasing the county fair grounds, located near this city, and will make an aggressive campaign among the farmers and stockmen of the county. Under a new law it is made possible for the fair grounds to be the property of the county and a stock society organized and carry on the fairs and livestock shows.

The board of supervisors is particularly interested in the next proposition, that of bonding the county for $200,000 with which to erect suitable buildings on the county farm. The present buildings are unsafe and should be condemned. They are wholly inadequate for the use to which they are put and new buildings of some sort are absolutely necessary very soon. The question was voted upon a year ago and was defeated. The members of the board are greatly interested in the fate of this one question.

There is one faction in the county advocating the defeat of the hospital proposition, the sale of the half section farm owned and operated by the county and the purchase of the thirty acres of fair grounds land to be built upon and improved to make a county home for the poor and infirm. The fourth special proposition to be voted upon is that of the constitutional convention and the third party prohibitionists and temperance forces have that question at heart.

STRIKEN IN OFFICE. Hampton mourns Sudden Death of County Auditor Lane. Special to Times-Republican. Hampton, Oct. 27.—To be at his usual work during the day, associating with acquaintances and attending to business matters, and to be stricken down in death before 6 o'clock p. m. of the same day, is a pretty sudden taking off, yet that, in brief, is the story of the last few hours of Mr. Will Lane, recorder of this county for the past four years.

Monday afternoon he returned to the office after an errand on the street, dropped into a chair and complained to his son that he was not feeling as well as usual and that the thought he would go home. Scarcely had he uttered the words when his head fell over to one side as he he was asleep. His attitude attracted the attention of his son, Bert, who attempted to arouse him but to no effect. He immediately stepped to the telephone and summoned Dr. L. E. Haacker. After a hasty examination the doctor requested that other physicians be summoned for a council, as Mr. Lane had suffered a severe stroke of paralysis. Drs. A. J. and Carl Johnson were sent for and the three physicians did all that medical skill could do, but the patient passed away without regaining consciousness.

Mr. Lane was born in Ohio, Aug. 2, 1854. Soon afterwards his parents moved to Treport, Ill., and in the spring of 1870 came to this county and located in Mott township, on what is known as the Patton farm, four miles north of Hampton. He assisted his father, the late L. D. Lane, in improving and caring for the place for several years. The farm was sold in 1880 and the family came here and the deceased was associated with his father in a book store for several years, and later operated a store by himself.

Mr. Lane was married in August 1880 to Miss Minnie Cummings, and to the union were born two sons, Bert Lane, of this city, and Charles Lane, of Caillien, Tex. Besides his wife and these sons, he is survived by a sister, Miss Flora Lane, also of Caillien.

Funeral services will be held at the M. E. church, Friday, October 28, 1910, at 2:30, conducted by Rev. DeWitt Clinton.

ROBBED ON TRAIN.

M. B. A. Representative Touched for $35 Between Iowa City and Davenport. Special to Times-Republican. Iowa City, Oct. 27.—C. T. Kline, representing the Modern Brotherhood of America, alleged that the Iowa City police had robbed $35 in bills, while on a Rock Island train between Davenport and Iowa City. He dozed off in a smoker, and when he reached here his purse had been extracted from his hip pocket, stripped of its contents, and replaced empty. He discovered his loss when he started to pay a hotel man. Some silver, in another pocket, was left untouched by the pickpocket.

Fall From Viaduct Fatal. Davenport, Oct. 27.—Charles Malone, aged 77, fell from the Rock Island viaduct at about 4:30 p. m., sustaining injuries that caused his death in Mercy hospital an hour and a half later. He was taking a short cut and crossing the viaduct when it is thought his foot slipped on one of the ties and he fell, and rolled off the edge of the viaduct to the street below. It was a distance of about twenty feet, and he received severe internal injuries and was rendered unconscious.
