TWO SALOONS CLOSE; INJUNCTION READY

COURT TO ENJOIN JOHN ZUNDT AND BOTH BARS UNDER HIS NAME ARE SHUT UP.

PLACES CLOSED ON SOUTH THIRD AVENUE, NORTH CENTER

Are Supposed to Be Owned by Bernstein Bros.—Injunction Prepared and Ready for Filing Now in Judge Parker's Hands—Is Against Zundt and South Third Avenue Place.

The city today has but ten open saloons instead of twelve. Two, the John Zundt saloons, one on South Third avenue, near the Linn creek bridge, and the other at 23 North Center street, operated under the name of John Zundt, but supposed to be owned by Bernstein Bros., were closed late Saturday afternoon. The saloons were closed because the owners were advised that judgment against John Zundt had been entered in the district court by Judge Parker, and that an injunction against Zundt and the South Third avenue place would be issued.

Injunction to Be Filed Soon. Such an injunction against Zundt, the two employees, the owner of the property, and the property itself, is now in Judge Parker's hands. It will probably be filed within a day or two. But whether the injunction will run against Mrs. Mary Bowman, the owner of the property, Judge Parker is yet to determine. It will, however, run against the others and the property.

Also the North Center street saloon is not directly involved in the South Third avenue John Zundt saloon case, in which this injunction is to be issued, the former saloon is operated in the name of Zundt, and an injunction against him in the South Third avenue place affects his operation of the North Center street bar. The North Center street saloon will undoubtedly be opened again as soon as the city council consent to a transfer of the ownership can be secured.

Those Who Will Be Enjoined. The injunction, when filed, will run against John Zundt, the so-called owner of the place, Leo McNamara and Albert Schmitz, the two bartenders employed in the place, and the property. The injunction as it stands at present makes the judgment entered by Judge Parker late Saturday afternoon a lien against the property.

Verbal notice of appeal was served on County Attorney J. H. Eggenberger late Saturday, and whether or not the saloon is opened, depends probably on whether or not a staying order is issued by the supreme court pending the hearing on the appeal.

First of Five Cases Tried. The Zundt case was the only one of five that were assigned for hearing that was tried early in October, before Judge Parker. The chief issue on which the county attorney and the anti-saloon league contended that an injunction should issue was the fact that Weger an employee was employed in the place for several weeks before he was listed with the county auditor as an employee of the place. Another contention was that an unlisted employee helped in the saloon to fill the register with beer still and the issue was that a minor, employed by the Marshall Ice Company, was allowed in the place while bringing in ice.

The injunction was not made to run against any of the former employees, only those who were working in the place at the time the case was begun come under the court's ban. The injunction, as prepared, as received the "O. K." of the saloon's attorney.

FIRE AND BRIMSTONE.

Evangelist Beades Preaches Old Fashioned Hell in Old Fashioned Way.

It was a vast throng that filled the Methodist church last night to hear Evangelist Beades. The church was packed to the limit, and the lecture room and galleries all being crowded. Chairs were carried in and placed in the small class rooms in the rear. This was the great night of the revival so far. The sermon was on "The Second Death." Mr. Beades, however, practically in hell, a bottomless pit of fire and brimstone. He thinks one of the curses of our day is ministers prophesying smooth things to the people. A genuine revival of the ten commandments is the high sounding terms. Hell is not made a millionth of a degree cooler by calling it "Sheol"; it is still an awful place of torment. His dramatic and vivid description of all the lewd, lustful, drinking, lying, stealing, people of a city like Chicago being gathered together in a part of the city and made to live there, was so intense that the audience seemed breathless. The speaker literally took the lid off as he described the abode of the rich man who refused Lazarus help. One young man responded to the appeal to come to Christ.

Tonight Mr. Beades speaks on "Some of the Devil's Tricks Exposed by One Who Used to Run With Him." Miss Rita Lewis will give a violin solo. Mr. Wilson will sing, and the male chorus will add a number. Tomorrow Mr. Beades begins four afternoon sermons at 2:30 on "The Office and Work of the Holy Spirit."

MOON IN ECLIPSE WEDNESDAY.

Luna Will Pass Completely into Earth's Shadow.

A total eclipse of the moon is to occur on Wednesday evening, when our familiar satellite and nearest celestial neighbor will pass thru the earth's shadow and will produce a spectacle that will be visible in Africa, Europe, western Asia, South America and the eastern part of the North American continent.

According to data compiled and predictions made by Prof. D. W. Morehouse of the department of astronomy of Yale University, the moon will rise for Des Moines partly eclipsed at 5:55 Wednesday afternoon and will be fully eclipsed at 6:47 and will leave the shadow at 7:58.

The eclipse beginning at a convenient hour in the evening it will occur under the most favorable conditions for observation should the weather be pleasant, and hence to the recent appearance of Halley's comet, it will be the most popular celestial event of the year. When the moon is immersed in the earth's shadow her disk will appear dimmed as if covered with a dark veil, and her unusual faintness at the time of her "full" can not fail to attract attention if clouds do not obscure the view. As the moon will be perigee, or nearest to the earth, her disk will appear somewhat larger than usual and the magnitude of the eclipse, that is, the extent of the shadow compared with the moon, will be 1.131, the moon's diameter being unity.

To see the face of the moon dimmed and almost wholly obscured, when it should be shining in its greatest brilliancy and splendor, will be a spectacle on Wednesday evening that can not fail to excite awe and wonder even in this enlightened age when the causes of the eclipse are so well understood. The first and most obvious fact to be learned from such an eclipse as the moon will be seen on Wednesday evening is that the earth is round, say the scientists, as its shadow when seen on the moon's disk be large or small.

PLEASED WITH AUTOMATIC.

President Wheeler, of New Phone Company, Inspects New System. President F. M. Wheeler, of the Merchants' Mechanics' and Farmers' Telephone Company, arrived home Saturday evening from Chicago, South Bend, Ind., and Decatur, Ill., where he had been to inspect automatic telephone systems.

The new company here is contemplating putting in a new automatic system, and the president of the company wanted to see the lines in operation, and talk personally with subscribers. Mr. Wheeler said that he found the service of the automatic phone to be very satisfactory, and at Decatur only two out of twenty-five subscribers seen said that they would as soon give the old manual system as the automatic. The others were greatly in favor of the automatic.

BOWEN'S MADE GOOD

Wooster, O., Daily News Praises History of County Issued By B. F. Bowen Company, Who Are Getting Out History of Marshall County.

Wooster Daily News. The History of Wayne County, in two volumes illustrated, and published by the B. F. Bowen Company, is now being distributed, the shipment of books having reached Wooster Saturday morning. Mr. Bowen is here to take personal charge of distributing the books.

The history is without a doubt more than was claimed for it by the publishers. It is complete in every detail and is a credit not only to the publishers, but to the Wooster and Wayne county people whose efforts made its publication possible.

The volumes are bound in half leather, with leather backs. The coloring of the binding is beautiful but this does not diminish it substantially. The type is clear and legible. The letters are of a size that do not strain the eyes and yet they are not so large as to appear cumbersome. The illustrations, engravings of Wooster and Wayne county people are perhaps the best set of reproduced photographs ever published in the county. Each one of them are clear and perfect life-like.

The two volumes of this history mark the culmination of a vast amount of work. The sons and daughters of this generation can read in it the deeds of their ancestors, the sturdy pioneers who developed Wayne county from a wilderness to the richest agricultural county in Ohio. Their trials and tribulations in a new country are recorded as they actually occurred and the history will be even more valuable fifty years in the future than it is today.

MAY BRING POULTRY SHOW TO THIS CITY

ASSOCIATION OF LEGRAND WILL HOLD ANNUAL EXHIBIT HERE IF ENCOURAGED.

WANT LOCAL FANCIERS TO PROMOTE EXHIBIT

LeGrand Association Desires to Unite With Local Poultry Owners and Promote Show Here This Winter Instead of in LeGrand—F. H. Houghton Asked to Stir Up Interest.

If the LeGrand Poultry Association, which has promoted very successful poultry shows in LeGrand for the past few years, receives encouragement and help, it will bring its next annual show to this city this winter. What the LeGrand association wants is an organization, or group of local individuals, to take hold of the proposition and promote the show. If such encouragement is given the LeGrand poultry men practically promise to bring their birds here and show them instead of in LeGrand. At a recent meeting of the LeGrand Poultry Association steps were taken to interest local men in this movement to transfer the annual show to this city, because LeGrand has no suitable place to hold the show, and also because it could be made much larger, assuming that the many local poultry fanciers would enter birds if the exhibition were brought to this city.

F. H. Houghton, of this city, who attended the meeting, was asked to make an effort to interest poultry owners of this city in the project. The LeGrand Poultry Association has been very successful, attracting birds of total number of 400 to 600 each year. A few of the Marshalltown poultry fanciers have exhibited at the LeGrand show. The officers are Dr. M. M. Evans, president; and L. C. Knudson, secretary.

DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID

Mrs. Samuel Ebery, 606 West Railroad, Has Close Call When She Swallows Poison Sunday Evening—Claimed That She Got Wrong Bottle By Mistake.

Mrs. Emma Ebery, aged 28, wife of Samuel Ebery, a laborer living at 606 West Railroad street, had a close call from death at 5 o'clock Sunday evening, when she swallowed a quantity of carbolic acid. Three physicians were summoned hurriedly, and Dr. Charles Patton, who was first to arrive, administered hot lard as an emetic. In a few hours Mrs. Ebery was declared out of danger.

Mrs. H. F. Plander, mother of Mrs. Ebery, informed the doctor that her daughter had taken the poison accidentally, mistaking the carbolic acid for medicine that she was taking for catarrh. Dr. Patton asked for the carbolic acid bottle, to ascertain about how much of the poison the woman had taken, and was informed that Mrs. Ebery's sister had thrown the bottle in the stove before the doctor arrived. Mrs. Ebery's mouth and throat were badly burned. Unless some complications arise Dr. Patton said this afternoon that he thought no ill results would follow.

Facts About Mahogany

Mahogany is the oldest and most popular wood in the making of furniture.

Generally known as the King of Woods because of the beautiful grain, the fine finish it takes and keeps and the fact that it is one of the most durable woods in furniture construction. On account of its popularity in high grade furniture we have numerous imitations in both birch and gum but to any one who knows, these are easy to tell from the real article.

The beautiful red color harmonizes with nearly any color scheme in the room and combines well with leather green plush upholstery.

On account of the expense of this wood only the finest designs are made up in it and the finest cabinet work used in the construction.

With the increase in the cost of the more used lumber in the last few years the cost of mahogany has practically remained the same and we are able to offer you furniture in solid mahogany at a very low figure.
