AWAY WITH FACTIONISM SENATORIAL CAMPAIGN MARKED BY DISAPPEARANCE OF PERSONAL PREJUDICE.

FACTIONAL LINES DISAPPEAR IN AID OF FAVORITE SONS

Many Deserving and Acceptable Republicans Promised Support Regardless of Location and Previous Color of Tag Worn—Constitutional Convention Plan is Defeated.

Special to Times-Republican. Des Moines, Nov. 30.—The most noticeable feature of the campaign for United States senator, if what is going on may be called a campaign, is the disappearance of factional lines and the disposition on the part of those who are giving the matter some attention to have the legislature elect a republican, the very best republican, without any regard for factional advantage or because of any pre-emption of the place.

It can hardly be said there are more than two or three actual candidates for United States senator, as an advanced candidate for continuance in the place, it is believed Lieutenant Governor George W. Clarke is a candidate, as members up-state report having received letters from him. Speaker Boyd of Waterloo is a candidate and has written members to that effect. Carl Franke has made public announcement of his candidacy and is engaged, presumably, in garnering support. But the public insists upon regarding a number of other candidates as on a footing with those named, who or they make any announcement or not.

Senator Young has been personally highly complimented by the republican press of the state regardless of faction. Governor Clarke was brought out by his home newspaper, which is viciously stamp and irreconcilable. Senator Berry, of Warren county, has been endorsed by the standard Indiana paper though he is a progressive. Attorney General Byers has received the endorsement of his home paper which is stamp and viciously stamp and irreconcilable.

In fact, the situation makes it difficult to determine which of these men is big enough and broad enough to have friends and followers everywhere in the party, that the consensus of opinion is that they are all republicans, all on an equal footing, and all in the same boat.

The contest, so far as it has developed at all, is a friendly one between desiring and accepting, regarding the republican disposed to call in question the republican nor the ability of the other, not one having any advantage over the other in respect to party standing. If the contest goes on to a finish in this amiable way it is certain that the outcome will leave no feelings. The belief prevails that the legislature will be able to work out the problem by selecting the republican who is deemed best fitted for the place regardless of the wishes of candidates or outsiders.

The factional lines are not being considered very far. Despite the active and earnest campaign conducted to secure a big vote for the proposal for a constitutional convention in Iowa the total vote cast fell short of 44,000 of being as great as that for the same proposal ten years ago. The majority of 32,189 against the convention at this time does not make a very good showing, from the standpoint of the advocates of the putting prohibition into the constitution, with the petty majority of 555 by which the same thing was done the last time it was before the people. The vote ten years ago was 176,892 against and 176,327 for the convention. This year it was 131,836 for and 164,055 against. The vote for the prohibition party ticket is also somewhat discouraging to the third parties. For secretary of state it was 10,192 for auditor 8,596 and for treasurer 8,634. This represents the normal vote for the ticket as a whole. The chairman of the third party confidently expected a vote of 50,000 for the ticket.

An amended petition on behalf of residents of towns along the line of the Newt and Northwestern, will be filed today with Judge McPherson by George Coston, special counsel for the state, asking for some sort of an order or permit for the operation of the road and compelling the company to operate the same. The company is really desirous of abandoning that part of the road running from Newton to the junction near Ames. A great many interesting questions arise in connection with the scheme. Suppose the court orders the company to operate the line and the company can not borrow money on which to do so, or what would happen if the forced operation of the road were to bankrupt the company into bankruptcy. The attorneys and the court are much puzzled to know what to do in the case and it is very likely that the line will in the end be abandoned.

FOR FORENSIC CONTEST. S. U. I. Team Being Coached For Debate With Minnesota. Special to Times-Republican. Iowa City, Nov. 30.—Minnesota and Iowa will clash in the field of interest in the university debate Friday evening, Dec. 2, when the first battle of the 1910 forensic war will be waged by the Hawkeyes and Gophers on the former's arena.

E. C. Robbins, of Cedar Rapids, a former Iowa star debater, is coaching the local trio, and they are in fine form for the big contest with the northern team. Iowa's representatives will be Glenn Cunningham (law, 1910) of Allerton, Iowa; Raphael P. Cough, Everyly, Iowa (law, 1913); and Karl Louis, Iowa City, (liberal arts, 1912).

The question in each instance involves the "open shop" problem. KILLED IN VINTON YARDS Walter Frense, Rock Island Freight Agent, Ground to Pieces by Cars at Early Morning Hour—Domestic Cloud Developed in Case. Special to Times-Republican. Vinton, Nov. 30.—The mangled body of Walter Frense, Rock Island freight agent here, was found in the local freight yards about 7 o'clock a. m. by the section men. How he came to his death under the cars is not known at this time and the coroner's jury have continued their hearing over until other witnesses can be secured.

When the body was found it was some time before any one recognized whose it was, because of being in such a mangled condition. Frense had been in the employ of the railroad here for about two months and prior to his residence here he worked at Waterloo in the same office.

It was learned today that he did not go home Monday night after supper and that he was last seen at the passenger station about 2 o'clock next morning. The watch found upon his person was stopped at seven minutes to 4 and as there was a car registered at that time it is thought that he came to his death at that time, although no reason can be given for his being in the yards so early in the morning.

AMES STEER IS KING SHAMROCK II CARRIES OFF HONORS AT INTERNATIONAL LIVESTOCK SHOW.

GRADE ANGUS DEFEATS ALL IN COMPETITION

Iowa State College Establishes New Record By Third Winning in Eleven Years—Shamrock a Gift to College in an Unusual Manner—Beats Some Great Ones—Ames Men Jubilant.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Shamrock II is king of the eleventh International Live Stock Show. It is a great victory for the Iowa State College herd, their hopes rising and sinking as the great bunch of fifteen that they had sent to Chicago won or lost in the great classes of competitors that they encountered.

This grade calf that won the premier crown, for which hundreds of the most ardent admirers of the show struggled, is an Angus grade, weighing 1,100 pounds, and was adopted Jan. 8, 1910. His sire was Mark Woodman, a purebred Aberdeen-Angus, his dam was a grade.

Shamrock II. Was a Gift. There is an interesting bit of history connected with the purchase of the calf that beat the world. The late W. J. J. Donohue, late spring to buy a yearling to fit for this show he was about to leave because the price Mr. Donohue asked for the yearling was considered a trifle too high by the professor. Mr. Donohue then offered to throw in any two grade calves that he might pick if he bought the yearling, and the Ames expert picked the calf that was given the big prize yesterday afternoon.

The calf was taken to the college farm, where he received no particular attention, not being considered extra among the great steers that they were raising in the stock pen. Professor Kennedy says he never lost confidence in him. He had one nurse cow until Sept. 1, when he was given two, and has taken the milk of both since that time.

Fed Practical Ration. The menu of the new king follows: Four parts corn, three parts oats, one part oilmeal, plenty of good pasture and the milk of two nurse cows. John Brown is the feeder who fitted the bunch of fifteen that the college brought here this fall. The herdman's medical treatment was given rapidly and the feeder, the Ames expert, picked the calf that was given the big prize yesterday afternoon.

Best Steer of Any Age. "He is the best steer of any age or any breed ever shown at any show on either side of the water." Standing on one side, in his own light-colored coat, and with a head of red and experts handled the grand champion steer of the eleventh International and showed the Iowa College men with congratulations. Richard G. Carden, the Irish judge, who had been brought over to Chicago to be the chief judge of the show, told why he had chosen the Ames calf.

With this victory the Aberdeen-Angus cattle won their seventh grand championship of the International out of eleven that have been held. "Weight For Age is Unbeatable." In this calf is represented the acme of scientific feeding for beef purposes. He would be champion in ninety-nine out of 100 shows of the world. I could not conceive that such a beast exists. It is the foreign judge continued in speaking of the points that decided between the two.

Shamrock Beats Some Great Ones. His final line-up for the grand championship there was the Kansas State Agricultural College's Purity, champion 2-year-old, and James Leask's Roan James, champion yearling besides the Iowa calf that was the winner. Charles Gray, secretary of the Aberdeen-Angus Association, said of the result: "It merely demonstrates what Mr. Carden has said. The Angus calf has the greater weight for age." The ability of the Angus to make big beef is certainly brought out in this animal here.

Contenders Had Followers. All the contenders at the final had their followers for the choice, and when the Ames calf took the honor it was something of a surprise, as many followers of the show rings thought the contest was between the two. The winner had a shade on this point.

S.S.S. CURES CATARRH

The diagnosis of disease is the first and really most important step in the successful treatment of any trouble. In other words, first find the source or cause, and then use the remedy most naturally and scientifically suited to the condition.

We do not believe there is any disease in which improper treatment is more often used than in Catarrh. So many persons treat the symptoms without giving thought to the causes which produce these symptoms, and the result is that Catarrh is considered incurable by a great many, simply because local treatment has failed to accomplish the desired result.

Every symptom of Catarrh points to impure blood; we are sure a short analysis of the disease and its symptoms will convince any one that this statement is true. First we have irritated and inflamed mucous membranes of the head, nose, and throat, from which there is a constant and copious discharge of watery matter. This comes from inflammation of these mucous surfaces and is caused by catarrhal matters and impurities in the circulation. Nature intends that these membranes shall all be nourished by the blood, and so long as this vital fluid is pure it satisfactorily performs this necessary work, but waste matters and impurities deposited into these delicate parts sets up inflammation, and the discharge is a natural result. When this secretion begins to dry it assumes thicker proportions and becomes sticky; then it adheres to the throat and upper back portion of the mouth, causing the "hawking" and straining so troublesome to Catarrh sufferers.

Other ordinary symptoms of the disease are headaches, pains above the cheek bones, roaring sounds in the ears, etc. These symptoms too point directly to diseased blood, and are caused by congestion of the circulation. The impurities and catarrhal matters in the blood stream interfere with its easy and natural flow, and it becomes feverish and thus affects the delicate fibres and membranes of the throat and head.

S.S.S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter, and at the same time building up the system by its unequalled tonic effects. It goes down into the circulation, and removes every trace of impurity or foreign matter. In other words S.S.S. cures Catarrh by purifying the blood so that the mucous surfaces and linings of the body are supplied with healthy blood instead of being constantly irritated and diseased from the saturation of catarrhal impurities. Then the inflamed membranes heal, the discharge is checked, the head noises all cease, the stomach is toned up, the throat is no longer clogged with phlegm, but every annoying symptom of Catarrh is corrected. There is but one way to cure Catarrh—purify the blood, and there is but one absolutely safe and sure blood purifier—S.S.S. We have a special book on Catarrh; we will send this book, and also any medical advice desired free to all who write.

The Famous Rayo

Does Not Strain the Eyes Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does. It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

HORSE TANGLED IN LADDER. Animal Becomes Fast and Kills Itself in Struggles.

Gravely, Nov. 30.—A valuable horse belonging to Jay Brown, a farmer living two miles north of here, was killed Monday in a curious way. Mr. Brown had been painting the barn and left the ladder he was using against the barn door when he went to supper. The mare is supposed to have come into the barn yard from the adjoining stalk field and commenced nosing round, when in some way she got her head between the rounds of the ladder. Becoming frightened she started for the stalk field with the ladder around her neck.

When the mare was found she was lying dead in the corn field a short distance from the house with one front leg broken and a broken neck. The ladder was lying unbroken on the ground near the dead animal. It is believed that the dead mare was found showed evidence of a struggle, and it is thought that she became entangled in the ladder while running with it around her neck and was thrown and killed by her efforts to extricate herself from the annoying incumbrance. The loss is quite a severe one as the mare was valued at not less than $150.

RECOVERY IS SLOW. Professor Dietrichson of Logan Schools Still Suffering From Assault. Special to Times-Republican. Logan, Nov. 30.—Altho Professor Dietrichson had recovered sufficiently from the effects of the unprovoked assault at the hands of Mayor C. A. Bolter of Logan to venture to the school building Monday to fill out the grades of pupils coming under his instruction, yet the effort proved so great an undertaking that it will not be repeated until he has made greater improvement.

Professor Dietrichson still bears the marks of violence on his head and body and it is evident to those who are his friends here that it will require some time before he will be able to fully resume his school work.

Monday. The body was brought to this place for burial. Mrs. H. VonLoh, who had been suffering with tuberculosis for several months, died at Humboldt Monday. She moved to Humboldt only a few weeks ago. Her husband died from the same disease a few years ago. Several little children are left orphans. Burial will be in the West Bend cemetery.

Mrs. Yackley, who was so severely burned on Thanksgiving day, is still alive, but can not recover.

He was found after being in the cellar nine hours. He had crawled away from the bottom of the shaft and had propped his head against a barrel. Several bones were broken and his exposure threatens pneumonia.
