

THE whole doctrine of Devco Lead and Zinc Paint turns to these three points:

- 1. It is all paint and true paint.
2. It is strongest, and goes farthest paint.
3. It is full measure.

Because these three things are true, Devco Lead and Zinc Paint takes least gallons for the job; looks best all the time; lasts longer.

There is no such argument for any other paint; there is no other such paint; the man who uses Devco gets the best he can get, in paint.

COUNTY CONVENTION CALL.

Republicans of County Will Meet Saturday, June 29. The call for the republican county convention, for next Saturday, June 29, has been issued. Because of errors made in certifying the list of delegates from the county auditor's office to the county chairman, a few changes will be shown from the list as printed originally. These changes affect more noticeably the First ward. The call follows: To the Republican Voters of Marshall County: By direction of the republican state central committee of Iowa, a delegate convention of the republicans of Iowa will be held in the city of Des Moines on Wednesday, July 26, at 11 o'clock a. m. The duties of this convention will be to formulate and adopt a state platform for the guidance of the party, to nominate candidates for the party for any state office to be filled by the voters of the state when no candidate for such office has been nominated at the preceding primary election, as shown by the canvass of the returns of the said primary; to nominate two candidates for the office of judge of the supreme court, to elect a state central committee, and to transact such other business as may properly be brought before it. At 10 o'clock a. m. of the day of the convention the delegates from the several congressional districts shall meet in caucus to transact such business as may properly come before them, and select the usual committees of the state convention.

In pursuance of the call for the state convention, the republicans of Marshall county are hereby notified to meet in convention as provided by section 1057-A25 of the supplement to the code, which provides: "That the county convention shall be held on the fourth Saturday following the June primary," which fixes the date for Saturday, June 29, at 11 a. m. The county convention shall be composed of delegates elected at the primary held June 3, and the business of the convention shall be to elect eleven delegates to the state convention, one member of the congressional and one member of the judicial district committees, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention. The primary law further provides that the county central committee, which is composed of the precinct committeemen, who were elected at the primary on June 3, shall organize on the day of the convention, immediately following the adjournment, by electing a chairman, and filling any vacancies in such committee. I append a list of the delegates and committeemen who were elected for two years at the primary of June 3, as certified by the county auditor. A Few of the Advantages of Studying in a School of Fine Arts. Certainly the advantages to be gained from studying in a good school are many and obvious.

In an institution of this kind, the pupil is sure of thoroughly competent instructors. His association with them and his contact with other pupils has a broadening influence.

This influence is especially felt in free class work which is offered by the Marshalltown School of Fine Arts. It is of great value to the student, giving him work along lines impossible to present in the private lesson. The musical atmosphere of a good school can not fail to leave its mark of culture upon every pupil who participates in it.

The public recitals which are given by the pupils every week in the new Recital Hall enable them to appear before an audience in a pleasing manner. These public appearances help the pupils to overcome embarrassment and nervousness, and are the best possible preparation for future recital work or teaching.

Then, too, the Diploma, or Certificate of Graduation, to which each pupil is entitled upon completing any course, will receive recognition in other institutions. A diploma is invaluable to any one who expects to teach.
