CONGRESS OVERRIDES LIQUOR BILL VETO

HOUSE FOLLOWS SENATE IN HASTILY REPASSING WEBB-KENYON MEASURE.

DECISIVE VICTORY FOR PEOPLE OF "DRY" STATES

By Overturning Veto Bill Now Comes Law—Vote in Both House and Senate Vigorous Protest of President's Disapproval—Second Time in Fifteen Years Veto Has Been Overridden.

Washington, March 1.—By a vote of 244 to 95 the house today repassed over President Taft's veto the Webb bill prohibiting shipments of intoxicating liquors into "dry" states. The senate repassed it over the veto last night and the bill now becomes a law.

Only one other time in the last fifteen years has congress overridden a president's veto. That was when the Rainey river dam bill was passed over President Roosevelt's disapproval.

When the house met today leaders favoring the Webb bill prepared for an effort to pass it over President Taft's veto of yesterday. The senate had repassed the bill by a wide margin over the necessary two-thirds. Representatives Clayton and Webb, leading supporters of the measure, declared their belief in its constitutionality, prepared to urge its repassage.

The move to override the president's veto was brought up in the house almost immediately following the reading of the message Chairman Clayton of the judiciary committee, moved to reconsider the Webb bill and pass it over the president's veto. General debate followed.

Why It Was Voted.

President Taft based his veto almost entirely upon the ground that the bill unconstitutional in that it virtually delegates to the states control of interstate traffic in liquor when he held that control was vested solely in congress. Attorney General Wickersham had given his opinion also holding the bill unconstitutional, and that the president forwarded to the senate yesterday with his veto message.

Supporters of the bill say it will make effective the prohibition laws of "dry" states which they say are now violated because intoxicants are shipped in by private individuals and have the effect of nullifying the local laws.

Washington, March 1.—By the overwhelming vote of 63 to 21 the senate yesterday passed the Webb-anti-liquor bill, akin to the Kenyon bill, over President Taft's veto. Senators Kenyon and Cummins voted to pass the bill over the veto.

Senator Kenyon was responsible for pushing the matter to an immediate vote. When the veto message was read, efforts were made to defer consideration until tomorrow. Senator Kern, of Indiana, moved to let the matter go over until tomorrow. To this Senator Kenyon objected. He pointed out that the president had delayed sending in the veto until the last moment, thus making the time in which congress had to act extremely short. If the matter went over until today, he said, it would be almost impossible to get a vote on overriding the veto in both houses.

Senator Kenyon demanded a roll call on the motion of Kern to put the matter over. On the roll call the Kern motion was hopelessly beaten. Then the vote was taken on the question of passing over the veto, with the result indicated.

The lower house is expected to take similar action. Senator Kenyon was pleased with the outcome in the senate. He said he believed the supreme court would hold the measure constitutional.

"The opinion of the supreme court last Monday in the white slave case tends strongly to sustain the constitutionality of the measure," said he. "President Taft could not have had that opinion."

The feeling was pronounced in senate circles that President Taft purposely held the veto back to the last day of the ten days given him to act in order that it might be more difficult to override the veto.

William A. Brady strongly urged congress to pass the bill over the veto and to give it the effect of a law. He said he had no doubt that it would become a law.

HOUSE AND SENATE BATTLE.

Contact Over One or Two New Battleships Waxes Warm.

Washington, March 1.—The two-battleship men and the one-battleship men in the house prepared today for the fight on the naval bill. The senate last night restored many of the original provisions struck out by the house and when the bill came back to the speaker's desk today it provided for two battleships, six destroyers, four submarines, one transport and one supply ship.

The plan of the house leaders in charge of the bill was to disagree to the senate amendments and send the bill to further conference, but some of the two-battleship men in the house planned to make a fight to concure with the senate amendments. With these battle lines drawn Representative Peagott, of Tennessee, chairman of the naval committee, was ready to ask either for a suspension of the rules to get quick action on sending the bill to conference or to resort to a special rule from the rules committee.

A number of American physicians will be invited to attend the clinic to assist in diagnosing the cases and to watch them and learn Dr. Friedmann's methods. He claims that within a week the beneficial effects of the serum will be apparent.

U. S. HONORS ROSTON

President Taft Presents Medal Voted by Congress to Sailor Who Rescued Survivors of Titanic Disaster—Many Notables Present.

Washington, March 1.—Capt. A. H. Roston, commander of the steamship Carpathia when she rescued the survivors of the Titanic, was here today to receive from President Taft the medal of honor awarded by congress, the highest gift it can bestow on a civilian. Ambassador Bryce, members of the president's cabinet, the senate committee which investigated the disaster, the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries, and their wives, were invited to witness the ceremony in the east room.

The president made a brief speech, quoting the report of the senate investigating committee to show the bravery, the painstaking care and the kindness exhibited by Captain Roston. It was a record, he said, worthy of the best traditions of England's seafarers. Captain Roston in reply thanked the president, congress and the American people. Ambassador Bryce thanked the president on behalf of the English people. Mrs. Lucien Smith, a daughter of former Representative Hughes, of West Virginia, a Titanic survivor, whose husband was lost, and the son of John D. Thayer, of Philadelphia, were among those present.

ANTI-DOPE BILL PASSED.

Indiana Adopts Stringent Measure Barring Dangerous Drugs.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 1.—The senate passed the Keagan anti-cocaine bill by a vote of 41 to 0. No amendments were inserted in the measure and it will go to the governor for his signature as soon as it is enrolled. The bill was drafted under the supervision of the state board of pharmacy, and a good deal of bitter feeling was evident in the early stages of its consideration. Later a compromise was effected whereby the physicians of the state were satisfied with a positive provision of the bill declaring that nothing in the measure should be interpreted as preventing a physician from administering these drugs in his legitimate practice.

The bill makes it unlawful for any person, except a registered pharmacist, to retail, sell, or give away any cocaine, alpha or beta eucaine, opium, morphine or heroin, cannabis indica, or any salt or compound or derivative of any of the foregoing substances, or any preparation or compound containing any of the foregoing substances. The pharmacist is entitled to dispense the drugs only upon the written prescription of a duly registered physician, licensed veterinarian, or licensed dentist.

Sends Word to Detroit Women He'd Retire at South Pole.

Detroit, Mich., March 1.—Capt. Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole, positively refused to participate in a series of ceremonies planned in his honor here yesterday. He barricaded himself in his room when he was informed a party of suffragists, bivouaced on the parlor floor of the hotel, were awaiting an interview.

At 3 o'clock the explorer sent a message by his manager declaring himself strong for woman suffrage—according to the American plan—but that he preferred a ten weeks' stay at the south pole, than face ten suffragists.

CAPITAL READY FOR WILSON INAUGURAL

WASHINGTON DRAPED FOR FIRST DEMOCRATIC INAUGURATION IN TWENTY YEARS.

EARLY ARRIVALS TODAY CROWD WASHINGTON STREETS

Cadets from Indiana and Georgia Race for Honor of Arriving First—Marshall Welcomes Culver Academy Boys—President-Elect to Reach City Monday Afternoon.

Washington, March 1.—Ready to welcome a new president next Monday and to inaugurate him the following day, Washington was draped today in all its patriotic finery and every incoming train poured in crowds of the visiting advance guard.

Cadets from the Georgia Military Academy, and Culver Military Academy of Indiana, raced into the city at an early hour for the honor of being first to arrive among organizations that are to march in the inaugural parade. The boys from the south and west arrived about the same time and paraded the streets throught the day.

Vice President-Elect Marshall welcomed the Culver cadets in front of his hotel. The boys from his own state are to act as his official body guard during the inauguration ceremonies. After saluting the future vice president the cadets, followed by the boys from Georgia, marched thru the court of honor in front of the White House and then thru the corridors of the treasury building.

Rush of Arrivals for Inaugural.

Before noon the expected rush of arrivals for the first democratic inauguration in twenty years was on in earnest and the streets of the city were filled with the van guard. The new vice president, who had his official day of welcome yesterday, was a visitor at the capitol today and looked in on the quarters he is to occupy within a few days as president of the senate. Mr. Marshall was greeted in the marble room of the senate wing by democratic and republican senators alike and spent an hour in formally receiving congratulations.

Wilson to Arrive Monday.

Final arrangements were made for the welcome of President-Elect Woodrow Wilson Monday. Mr. Wilson will reach the union station at 3:45 in the afternoon. After a short reception in the presidential room in the station they will be driven to their hotel escorted by the Essex troops of New Jersey and Princeton students who accompany him on a special train. In the early evening the Wilson family will have a strictly private dinner at the hotel. John A. Wilson, of Franklin, Pa., a cousin of the president-elect, is here making plans for the comfort of the family party. Monday night President-Elect Wilson will be the guest of the Princeton alumni at a smoker.

Wilson Now Private Citizen.

Trenton, N. J., March 1.—Woodrow Wilson ceased to be governor of New Jersey today. Until next Tuesday, when he becomes president, he will be a private citizen. Mr. Wilson filed his resignation to take effect at noon today. He planned to be on hand for the ceremonies at which Senator James Fielder, president of the state senate, becomes acting governor.

This is in accordance with the provisions for succession in the state constitution, there being no lieutenant governor in New Jersey. Mr. Wilson leaves the governorship after an activity of two years devoted chiefly to the accomplishment of a far reaching program of reform set forth in his inaugural address when he took office in January, 1911.

Most of the reforms which Mr. Wilson has advocated he has accomplished, notably the revision of the state laws governing corporations and monopolies, workmen's compensation act, a radical extension of the powers of the public utilities commission, a state wide primary law, extending the system to all elective officers, including congressmen, United States senators and the governor, and the enactment of a stringent corrupt primaries act.

Fights For Jury Commission.

The chief reforms which Mr. Wilson proposed but did not obtain at the present session of the legislature include a bill providing for jury commissions and an amendment to the primary laws known as the Wisconsin system of second choice voting, and the endorsement of the amendment for direct election of United States senators. Mr. Wilson hopes that this program will be completed before the legislature adjourns. He has announced that as president of the United States he will continue to fight if necessary for the enactment of the jury commission bill around which bitter opposition has centered. The other measures it is believed will become law without much difficulty as the democratic majority of the legislature in a recent conference with the governor agreed to pass them.

To Be Ruled by Conscience.

Mr. Wilson formally turned over at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon the office of governor of New Jersey to Senator James F. Fielder, president of the state senate. "The people of this country are going to be served by conscience and not by expediency," was the assurance which Mr. Wilson gave in an impromptu speech of farewell. The president-elect was cheered by a big crowd as he came into the assembly chamber followed closely by Mr. Fielder. After the latter took the oath of office the president-elect was invited to address the joint session of the legislature and deliver the seal of state to his successor. His speech was brief but impressive. He spoke in measured tones and with apparent emotion. It was his farewell to the state.

TAFT HEARS BOTH SIDES.

Customs Reorganization Bill May Receive Executive Approval.

Washington, March 1.—President Taft held a hearing in the east room of the White House today on the treasury department's customs reorganization plan authorized by congress. Attorney General Wickersham, Secretary MacFosh and Assistant Secretary Curtis appeared in its defense. Under the act of authorization the plan would save the government about $700,000 a year—decrease the number of customs districts from 165 to less than fifty, and give employees not now protected the cover of the classified service. It has been attacked from many angles but it was believed that with two members of the cabinet in its favor President Taft would be inclined to approve it.

COLOMBIA MAKES DEMAND

Republic Wants Reparation for Loss of Panama—Demands $10,000,000 and Special Privileges in Use of Canal—Officials Refrain From Discussing Proposals.

Washington, March 1.—Owing to the unfinished state of negotiations, officials of the state department maintain an attitude of reserve in regard to the publication by the Colombian government yesterday of various propositions for the settlement of the dispute over the separation of Panama.

It was stated today, however, that the publication was quite accurate in describing the propositions, involving the payment of $10,000,000 for coaling stations and canal rights, the allowance of special privileges to Colombia in the use of the Panama canal in a legal adjustment of the Colombian claims to the receipts for the Panama railroad and the settlement of the outstanding boundary dispute between Colombia and Panama, and were entirely informal.

In fact it is intimated that these were discussed by American officials in Bogotá with the Colombian foreign office with the single purpose of defining the nature and extent of the Colombian demands. The minister was not authorized to commit the state department to any special propositions without further instructions. It is quite beyond the power of the executive to make such concessions as those referred to except upon congressional approval.

GLUCOSE TRUST SUED

GOVERNMENT BEGINS ACTION TO DISSOLVE CORN PRODUCTS CONCERN.

RESTRAINT OF TRADE AND CONSPIRACIES ALLEGED

Efforts to Destroy Competition by Cutting Prices on Cheap Grades of Syrups and on Candies in Suit Filed in New York—Injunction Also Sought—Other News.

New York, March 1.—Dissolution of the Corn Products Refining Company—an alleged starch, glucose and syrup "trust"—is sought by the federal government in a civil anti-trust suit filed here today charging the $80,000,000 combination with entering conspiracies and contracts to destroy competition in violation of the Sherman law. It is alleged to have kept the prices of corn products at unreasonably low figures in order to harass and discourage independent manufacturers.

Controlling 61 per cent of the entire American production of starch and glucose and 80 per cent of the interstate trade in mixed syrups, the alleged trust is charged with fixing resale prices; with manufacturing a cheap grade of candy at unreasonably low prices in retaliation against confectioners who buy starch and glucose from independents; with practically suppressing the private brands of mixed syrups of grocers by quoting low prices on its own syrups, and with unlawful threats and contracts to destroy competition.

Aside from dissolution the government asks for an injunction prohibiting the alleged restraint of trade. The suit recalls the long-drawn-out fight between the department of agriculture and the Corn Products Refining Company over the branding of its corn syrup.

ALL-NIGHT EFFORTS REWARDED BY FINDING OF ONLY ONE ADDITIONAL DEAD.

SCORE OR BELIEVED UNDER WRECKAGE

Force of Men Working in Search of Hotel at Omaha—Searcher Charred Body of Mrs. Bone Harlan Resident May Be Among Victims.

Omaha, March 1.—An all-night vigil during which an extra squad of police, fire companies and a thousand morbid curiosity seekers were present, brought to light the body of but one victim of the fire of the Dewey hotel. Altogether it is believed a score lost their lives only four thus far are accounted for. Three of these lost their lives attempting to escape and one was taken from the ruins occurring the night. The one body thus far recovered was that of a woman believed to be Miss Alice Bonnevill, sister of the wife of the hotel proprietor. The body was taken from the ruins early this morning, burned beyond recognition. An ear-ring with a ruby setting was the only identifying mark. The face was burned beyond recognition. Both lower limbs were burned off. One arm also was gone. The body was found head downward, face upward. The hair, dark in color, still retained its color, and indicated that the victim had gone to her death when the floors fell in, with her back downward the head apparently had been buried with a mass of debris and preserved the luxurious locks, although the face was burned.

The searchers continued their work with 100 men working with picks and shovels to uncover the remaining bodies, many of which were believed to be buried yet in the ruins.

A letter addressed to Miss Flora E. Wilcox was found near the body recovered. It was dated Harlan, Iowa, and a return notice on the envelope gave the name of Herbert McConnell, 47 Main street, Harlan, Iowa. It was signed "Lovingly, Mama."

Identification Positive.
