MAUL MAKES DEBUT AND ANSONIANS WIN

NEW HURLER PITCHES GREAT GAME AND MATES ARE SUCCESSFUL IN BUNCHING HITS.

TEN BLOWS SECURED OFF MELLINGER'S DELIVERY

Hill's Star Defeated in Final Game of Series, 5 to 2—Seibert and Taylor Lead in Hitting, With Three Blows Each—Visitors Score Brace in Final Frame When Maul Lets Down.

With Pitcher Maul, recently landed from Racine, Wis., working heroically in the box, and the wrecking crew drawing their safe blows in bunches, the Ansons were enabled Wednesday to take the third and last game from Bunnies, by a score of 5 to 2. Maul, who reached the city the night before, was a life saver, and but for his timely appearance Manager Richards would have been compelled to call upon one of his over-worked pitchers for the final game. Maul's arrival, however, put new life into the home team, and as a result the game was an exceptionally good one. Despite the one-sided score of the preceding day, the fans were not in the least discouraged, and more than 500 paid to witness the last tie-up with the Bunnies.

Hill chose to send his star left-hander, Mellinger, into the box, and he of the no-hit record was pounded hard in bunches. Maul, big, strong, and youthful, had things his own way for eight innings, allowing but three safe hits in that time. He let down slightly in the ninth, when the visitors secured two runs, on as many hits.

Taylor and Seibert Lead.
The return of the Ansons to batting form was the most hopeful part of the entire performance. Taylor and Seibert proved to be the hitting klds, each securing three blows. Seibert included one three-bagger in his total for the day.

A base on balls to Foster in the fourth frame paved the way for the Ansons' first run. Taylor followed Sam and hit to short, but Fulton dropped the throw and both runners were safe. Harvey advanced both with a sacrifice. Seibert broke in at this point with his first hit, sending Foster in for the run. Andreen hit into a double play to retire the side.

The Ansons made another hit in the sixth, when Foster and Taylor hit in turn, but Foster was out on a close decision at third, spoiling the chances of forcing a run across.

Ansons Get to Mellinger.
It was concert hitting in the eighth, when four blows produced as many runs. Bromley led with a drive to Wambagans, but the ball was caught from the Dutchman. He was advanced on Richards' sacrifice bunt. Foster singled, scoring Bromley. Taylor hit safely, but Foster, trying to take advantage of Lund's misjudgment of the drive, was caught at the plate. Harvey waited on the pitcher and walked, and Seibert delivered the needed hit, a three-base drive to the fence, counting Taylor and Harvey. Andreen hit a vicious bouncer to Wambagans, and as he set himself to take the ball, the pellet took a bad bound and struck him squarely in the eye, the hit coming for two bases. Seibert scored on the blow. Maul ended the round, being retired at first.

Wambagans was forced to retire from the game. Ward being shifted to short and Radebaugh replaced Ward at third.

Bunnies Break In With Two.
The Bunnies reserved their effort until the ninth, when Coleman's long drive opened the way to two scores. Lund led off with a lucky single and Coleman scored him with his three-base drive to the right field fence. Radebaugh fouled out to Andreen. Coleman counted when Ward hit Taylor for an out at first. Fulton was out Harvey to Foster.

Delaney was again compelled to remain out of the game because of his injury, and Taylor was moving around the third sack in substitution of Manager Richards, who was filling De- Delaney's place at second. Taylor not only played a good game at third, but kept up the batting streak which has made his work highly satisfactory of late. Seibert, who has been unlucky in his hitting in recent games, however, that his lapse of hitting was but temporary, and his recovery to form is the source of much gratification. The score:

NEW SOUTHPAW SIGNED.

Lentz, Wisconsin-Illinois League Twirler, Joins Ansons.
The Ansons left this morning on a twelve-day jaunt that will take them to Clinton, Cedar Rapids, Muscatine, and Rock Island.

At Clinton today a new southpaw joined the team. He is A. Lentz, from the Wisconsin-Illinois league, in which Maul, the new pitcher who worked yesterday, has been playing. With the taking on of Lentz, Shook, the second catcher who came from Racine, was released this morning. Delaney, who suffered a hernia a few weeks ago, and has been compelled to be out of the game part of the time, accompanied the team and will play if he is able. If not Taylor will occupy the relief position at third, with Manager Richards at second.

STILL UP IN THE AIR.

Rock Island Franchise Still Said to Be in Doubt for Station.

A press dispatch from Rock Island says that Rock Island played her last game in the Central association Wednesday. President Justice having been notified by Secretary Farrell, of the National Association of Minor Leagues, that the team must be moved from Rock Island immediately because of the five mile limit rule and the consequent infringement upon Three-I league territory.

Temperature Equals Heat Record of Summer—Hotter Today.
The mercury climbed to 101 late on Wednesday afternoon, according to the government thermometer and equalled the heat record for the summer. No hope was held out for any cooler weather today, as this forenoon the hot wave gave promise of being more intense than Wednesday.

WILL MARK PARKING SPACE.

Councilman Claims to Have Thought of Idea Suggested by Hovey.
It is very probable that the city will soon have the parking space for automobiles between the electric lines in South First avenue. The plan was suggested by W. M. Hovey recently in a letter to the T.-R. Councilman Nicholson, however, claims to have thought of the idea last fall, before the council that time to carry it out, but the street department did not get to it.

Change of Bill at Orpheum.

Gangler's five canine wonders, including the only dog in the world that plays the piano and sings at the same time, and Beauty, the famed educated dog, will be the feature attraction at the Orpheum Theater for the last half of the week, opening this evening. The Gangler dogs have reached the point of perfection which places them above all other dogs before the public, and their education has been acquired only after years of patience training by two of the best known animal instructors in the world.

Peters and Styler, presenting a comedy singing and talking act, open the new bill, and their appearance here will be a most welcome one. This is another of the big teams which is playing western territory during the summer months of inactivity in the cities.

Jack Taylor, "the talkative trickster," a show in himself, commences the bill. Taylor comes from the big time and his act is a most worthy one, Orpheum.

Curses: Is Fined $10.

M. C. Schroyer, known as "Kate," pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and sentenced to jail before the court Wednesday afternoon for cursing C. H. E. Boardman when the Boardman automobile and Schroyer on horseback met in a highway. Boardman complained to the justice that Schroyer purposely blocked the road and would not get out of the way for the horse-drawn car to pass. Schroyer alleged that Boardman ran his car into Schroyer's mount. Then Schroyer cursed the driver. Officer Charles Hurd arrested Schroyer after Boardman had filed his complaint in Justice Burritt's court.

Treed by Bull Part of "Billy" Anderson's Vacation Fun

If anything in the way of a change from the ordinary routine is rest, "Billy" Anderson, superintendent of mails in the local postoffice, is having a fine rest at Fremont, Neb., where he and Mrs. Anderson motored late last week for a two weeks' outing.

The most radical change Anderson has experienced from the sport of dispatching mail appears to have been being treed by an angry bull while out on a fishing trip. The Fremont Evening Tribune of Tuesday says: "A party of Fremont fishermen encountered a red bull near Fried's lake, northeast of Fremont yesterday afternoon, and at the end of what followed the bull was still in possession of the pasture while the Fremonters were homeward bound. Will Anderson of Marshalltown, Iowa, whose automobile conveyed the fishermen to the lake, was the hero of the episode. Mr. Anderson engaged in a 100-yard race with the gentleman of the cowpasture and later made observations from the viewpoint of the man up a tree.

"Mr. Anderson had left other members of the party decorating the banks with their fishpoles while he went back after the crawdad bait which had been overlooked. He was half way across the field when the hostile attitude of the bull became apparent. "Remembering that he was wearing a red necktie, Mr. Anderson threw it away, but this attempt to mediate went unwarded. The bull kept coming. The race for a handy shade tree thereupon began. Mr. Man got there first and ascended. The tree proved too small for safety and another race to another tree was in order. In this Mr. Anderson was as successful as before and he was soon making faces at the angry Mr. Cow below. "It was estimated that the bull had Mr. Anderson treed for at least an hour, but Lon Wright declares that by actual count of time it was no more than eighteen minutes. He ought to know because he had the watch. While the bull pawed the dust under the tree the other members of the party escaped to the safe side of a barb wire fence. Later when the tumult around the tree had subsided Mr. Anderson joined them. Mr. and Mrs. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haman and Mr. Anderson, who is here from Marshalltown visiting, composed the party."

LISCOMB FARMER DEAD.

Thomas W. Thatcher Dies of Cancer at Home of Son in This City.
Death at 3:29 Wednesday afternoon claimed Thomas W. Thatcher, an old resident of Liscomb township, and a former living one and one-half miles north of Liscomb. Mr. Thatcher's death was due to cancer of the stomach with which Mr. Thatcher had been suffering for about a year. Last Wednesday Mr. Thatcher returned to this city from Colfax, where he had been taking treatment, and has been stopping at the home of his son, Grover P. Thatcher, 397 Woodbury.

Mr. Thatcher was a native of Valparaiso, Ind., where he was born Aug. 17, 1850. Thirty-seven years ago he accompanied his father, Jerry Thatcher, and family, to this county, and has since made his home in the Liscomb neighborhood. Mr. Thatcher's first wife was Nettie Fields, daughter of Mrs. E. Fields, 207 Woodbury street and the late Nelson H. Fields. Mrs. Thatcher died about twenty-five years ago, and on April 7, 1881, Mr. Thatcher took his first wife's sister, Mrs. T. B. Miller, of Liscomb, as his second wife. She survives, together with her six children, Blanche, Bernice, Warren, Harold, Gerald, and Jerry. The son at whose home Mr. Thatcher died was by the first marriage. Mr. Thatcher is also survived by his father, who lives at Liscomb, and his sister, Mrs. T. B. Miller, of Liscomb; two half-sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Melick and Mrs. George Tresler, of this city; and two half-brothers, Myron Thatcher, of Davenport, and Milan Thatcher, of Liscomb.
