Save One-Half Your Coal Bills

You can do even better than this with a Williamson New-Feed UNDERFEED boiler. Backed by a $1,000,000, twenty-five year old corporation, we absolutely guarantee you a saving of 1/2 to 3/4 in your coal bills when properly installed and operated. No other boiler can compare with the New-Feed UNDERFEED in securing clear, even, sanitary, house warming heat at such low cost. Soon pay for itself in any home, store, church or hall.

Cut Coal Bills 1/2 to 3/4. With the New-Feed UNDERFEED, coal is fed from below. Use either pea or buckwheat sizes of hard coal or cheap soft coal. Large quantities of coal are desired. The fire is always on top, burning up smoke and gases to make even more heat. And the red-hot flame is in direct contact with all heating surfaces. No other boiler can do this—no other boiler is such a money saver.

COME IN AND SEE This Wonderful Heater

The attention of a 14 year old boy twice a day for firing and once a week for removal of ashes is all that is required. Such a labor saving, time saving, economical furnace is worthy of your inspection. Let us show you how it works. Look it over, talk it over, but don't delay. Come in today.

IDLE RIVER TO WORK

SHIPPERS OF MISSISSIPPI VALLEY AWAKING TO PRESENT OPPORTUNITY.

WATER LINK MUST BE OPERATED TO GET RESULTS

Otherwise Iowa Shippers Will Be Handicapped by Opening of Panama Canal—Cities Asked to Provide Wharfage and Trunk Facilities For Handling Freight.

Special to Times-Republican.

Des Moines, June 17.—The opening of the Panama canal has impressed very forcibly upon shippers located at Mississippi river points the vital necessity of putting the idle river to work.

This is the statement of Irving C. Norwood, secretary of the greater Davenport committee, in a letter replying to inquiries sent out from here as to the work being done by river cities in developing the river traffic.

"The river has long been a rate basing point," says Mr. Norwood, "even in its oldest periods and shippers seem to have felt that as long as it had the effect of holding down their rates it was serving its natural purpose. But the operation of the Panama canal means an actual increasing hardship and handicap to shippers at Mississippi river points unless the water link to the sea is actually operated."

"Suppose, for instance, that a Davenport manufacturer wants to sell his product on the Pacific coast where he immediately meets the competition of eastern manufacturers. He must either pay the all rail rate from Davenport to the coast, which is practically prohibitive, or else ship his goods to New York by rail and thence to the coast by water. In the latter case the eastern manufacturer has the advantage by the amount of the rail rate from Davenport to New York.

Would Insure Joint Rates. "The actual operation of the Mississippi river and the utilization of New Orleans as a terminal port for the entire Mississippi valley would result in the publication of a through rate from any valley point to any west coast point identical with the all water rate from the east coast to the west coast, via the Panama canal. This is not merely a logical and theoretically correct statement. One of the steamship companies operating between New Orleans and the west coast has offered to put in such a rate as soon as freight originating on the Mississippi and destined for west coast points reaches a minimum of 10,000 tons a month. I have not at hand the figures for the river lower from St. Louis down but inasmuch as the in-and-out tonnage on the upper Mississippi between Alton, Ill., and St. Paul averages 3,000,000 tons a month, of which approximately 300,000 tons a month could and would be carried by water at the present time if terminals and equipment were ready, it is apparent that the small tonnage asked by the steamship company before the through rate is published, merely indicates the possibilities of water borne freight from Mississippi river points for competitive west coast points.

Mr. Norwood declares the principal difficulties which transportation companies operating on the Mississippi have to meet are lack of modern terminals at river cities, lack of boats of the proper type and lack of physical connection and working agreement between water and rail companies. He believes that when a sufficient number of terminals have been constructed by the cities to make the operation of a water transportation company economically possible, private capital will provide the boats and there is power in the law to force water and rail connections and co-operation.

PRAIRIE DOG TOWN IN IOWA.

J. A. Moody, of Page County, Has a Colony of About 2,000. Shenandoah, June 17.—J. A. Moody has a town by himself on his farm in Walnut township. It contains something like 2,000 inhabitants. This town has existed out there for nearly a quarter of a century. It is a prairie dog town.

Mr. Moody thinks a great deal of his prairie dog village and is trying to encourage the enterprising park trustees to establish a colony at Waubesa park in Shenandoah. He offers to furnish the dogs with which to start such a colony and the park trustees now have the matter under advisement.

Real Wonder-Worker For Wrinkled Faces

Those who have tried all sorts of so-called "wrinkle-removers" in a vain effort to lose those unwelcome traces of age, illness or worry, can scarcely find words to express their delight with the wonderful axolotl formula, since they have given it a trial. The success of this method is due not alone to its marvelous effectiveness—upon the deepest lines and crow's-feet, as well as upon the very fine ones—but also to its surprisingly quick action and its entire harmlessness. Its simplicity and its inexpensiveness are other commendable features, for one needs only dissolve an ounce of powdered axolotl in a half pint of water and bathe the face in this solution. At once a remarkable transformation is beheld. It is not only the effect on wrinkles and creases that is so noticeable, but facial contour is remarkably improved and the face looks much younger. One should be sure to ask the druggist for the powdered axolotl. The lotion, being so refreshing, is particularly grateful to tired faces these warm, depressing days.

Cedar Rapids. A scheme for swindling a sympathetic public has been uncovered when the police arrested Oshana W. Baboo, a Persian, on a charge of begging. Baboo is a partner of Daniel Joseph, who was arrested Friday on the same charge, but was later released. The two men were obtaining subscriptions from Cedar Rapids people for destitute widows and orphans in Persia. Baboo confessed that they purchased their "credentials" for $5 each, and so far as can be learned from Baboo not one cent of the money collected was ever sent to Persia.

A force of workmen came Monday from Hudson to erect a vitrified hollow tile silo of 375 tons capacity on the farm of Mohan Brothers, just north of Ruble, and also a cattle shed of 100 of the same material. This big silo will store sufficient silage to feed 100 cattle for one year. Mohan Brothers expect to put a hundred cattle on feed, raise calves therefrom and market them as baby beef. Dairying and beef raising is the silage system is certain to grow in favor in this section, as higher and more definite profit are thereby insured than from continual croppings.

When a young woman clerk in one of the department stores announced her engagement did it arouse any particular excitement or commotion? Not nearly the amount such an important event should, for the clerk in this particular store is rather blasé on the subject of engagements and weddings. A writ of attachment was filed against the Cleary-White Construction Company with the city of Cedar Rapids Tuesday by a St. Louis Iron company to recover $11,000, alleged to be due for materials furnished for the dam now being constructed across the Cedar river. It is alleged that the company purchased certain steel for the dam gates for which it failed to pay. While it is not known what the amount is the city owns the construction company, it is more than enough to cover the face of the attachment. The city is holding back 15 per cent of the construction cost until such time the dam is completed and accepted by the city. The attachment came in the nature of a surprise, as the Cleary-White company has been looked on as one of the most substantial concerns of its kind in the country. It was said Tuesday probably was some controversy over the price of the material, or that it had not come up to specifications. The matter probably will be threshed out in the courts.

In all there were about 120 contestants, of which twelve were from the local city schools and an average of four or five from each township. A departure from the custom of frequently having one word now down a long line of pupils, was to have the person missing a word eliminated from the contest, but the next following however would not be given the same word that his predecessor had failed to spell correctly, but would be given a new word.
