Officers Await Claims of Owners
Who Held Under $500 Bond For Selling Beer to City.

The new Iowa law it is a serious for a person to transport "wet" city into "dry" territory containing liquors, as William A. Schmitt, a colored laborer of this city to his sorrow in police court when he was arraigned on a charge of illegally transporting intoxicating liquors.

Right was held for preliminary arraignment under a bond of $500. The date of his hearing will be soon as he engages counsel, the first case locally under the new law.

Right said in court that he and other colored boys had "chipped" to buy a suit case of beer at a party at the home of a friend Sunday at the river. Court explained that the quart had been able to celebrate on the Courtwright was delegated to beer, and fell into the hands of Police Breckel and Officer Berg as he stepped from a street car Saturday evening, down with a suit case that was because of its weight.

Right declared that he "never" such a law before and, although he had failed to see any justice in the law.

Two Other Cases Posted.
Other liquor cases, one of them to the Courtwright case except that the important phase of a case is lacking, were posted by Police Breckel today.

Northwestern baggage room "checked" took possession of two which, upon examination, revealed the presence of about fifty pints of liquor. No one to claim the liquor, and the chief post-seizure, fixing July 19 as the date of a hearing on the seizure made. At that time, if no one appeared to claim the liquor, an order authorizing its destruction will be sought.

Other liquor case came thru the day the police and sheriff's office at the Frank McComber home at 4th Fourth street, where fifteen cases of whiskey were found hidden on the floor of one of the rooms. Sale could be proved no arrest made. A hearing on this seizure is set for July 26.

Other Police Court Cases.
As a variegated assortment of city that confronted Mayor Miller this morning's session of police court, that occupied practically the entire forenoon. Three of the eight prisoners were colored, one was a Mexican, and others were white.

De Rooker, O'Brien, a mulatto, rested in company with one Coleman and the Mexican in the part of town. All were charged disorderly conduct. The woman fined $50 and costs or fifteen days in jail or the alternative of getting out of town and remaining away. She is the latter, Charles Allen, the 1-man, left his gold watch as security for a fine of $1 and costs. The man Joe Flores, paid a fine of $1 and costs.

Hale, Roy DeLap, G. A. Hughes, and F. Flaine switchman, and F. were charged with intoxication. DeLap paid a fine of $1 and costs, DeLap to jail for ten days, Hughes was fined $100 and costs and went to jail for ten days, and Shaller arranged for the costs.

AMUSEMENTS.
At the Orpheum.
The fairly good vaudeville acts rise the bill at the Orpheum for half of the week, being the vaudeville to be shown there, as theater closes July 15 for repairs.

De Groffs, with a comedy wire offer about the best act on the program. They do the familiar black stunts with a bit of comedy, and in imparting a swing and go their act which is pleasing. Terry Elmer talk and dance with about same line of wares as other acts, but their dancing is particularly good. Billy Jones comes the bill with a musical act in which he introduced some comedy. His act is fair. The audiences Sunday at were of fair size.

At the Lyric.
Little Pal, a story of the Alaska fields, with Mary Pickford in the role, was shown at the Lyric Saturday and Sunday. The picture shows Pickford in a new style of role, one which does not give her much opportunity to exercise the vivaciousness and grace which have made her famous. The result shows her in a character which could be portrayed by any actress in as finished a manner as Miss Pickford. Her personality is suited to act the part of a half-breed Indian girl, who thinks much but says little. The camera men were tried to bring Miss Pickford to the front by showing many close views of her face, but her usual acting and acting are lacking. The story is well told, however, and the scenic effects are worth while. Miss Pickford's support cast also good.

Mrs. Diller's Funeral.
Many friends and members and employees of the soldiers' home attended the funeral services held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon for Mrs. William S. Diller, who was drowned Wednesday morning in the Iowa river. Rev. H. Pratt, chaplain of the home, had charge of the services, assisted by Rev. F. Hicks.

Among the floral offerings were tributes from the male employees of the home, the occupants of the girls' cottages, the Ladies of the G. A. R. and

W. F. C. of the home, the Anniversary Club, and the L. O. T. M. The flower bearers were Mesdames Ida E. Henderson, Henry Thompson, John Weber and May Brown, and Miss Beulah Straub.

The pallbearers were Louis Cant, Henry Thompson, John Weber, J. M. Johnson, Lee Robbins, and C. F. Cronin. Interment was in Riverside.

In attendance at the funeral from a distance were Charles Hummel, of Neola, Mrs. Diller's father, Mrs. Keene Evans of Cedar Rapids, a sister; Mrs. J. M. Brawner of Fairbury, Neb., a sister of Mrs. Diller, and Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Diller of Waterloo, the former a brother of Mr. Diller.

TRAMP FRIGHTENS GIRL.
Mnsoreant Chases Young Woman, and Officer Is Summoned.

Appearing near the John Rank home, east of the city, late Saturday evening, a tramp succeeded in frightening severely Miss Fay Rank, aged 17. The man escaped in the darkness, but the girl managed to elude her pursuer and notified her father of the incident. Mr. Rank called Deputy Sheriff Goodale, and a hot pursuit of the stranger was undertaken.

The direction the man had taken from the Rank farm was known, but before Mr. Rank could sound the warning the man had got so far away that he was out of sight of the officer. A thorough search was made, but the man escaped in the darkness.

At about 10 o'clock Saturday night a son of A. F. Schultz, also living east of town, reported that some man had attempted to hold him up in East Nevada street, near the school house that stands at the head of the street at the end of the city limits. Young Schultz whipped his horse and evaded harm.

The man who was seen at the Rank home is described as being six feet tall, and to be roughly dressed and unshaven.

NEW CENSUS COUNT TO CAUSE CHANGES

POLICE JUDGE WILL BE FORWARDED MARSHALLTOWN AS CITY OF FIRST CLASS.

WILL PLACE BRIDES IN CITY UNDER CITY'S CARE

City's Portion of Bridge Fund Will Go Directly to Municipal Corporation Instead of Being Handled by County—Problem of Linn Creek Bridge Is Thus Solved.

With the certification of Marshalltown as a city of the first class, following the completing of the present census, two new situations locally will result. One is that a police judge may be installed to handle the court now presided over by the mayor, and the other is that the city will have charge of the building and maintenance of all bridges within the corporate limits.

The duties of a police judge will be similar to those of the mayor insofar as his time is taken up by police court business. The police judge would hear all cases arising from violations of ordinances, and all criminal business arising from arrests by the police, the police judge having the same jurisdiction as a justice of the peace.

Bridge Fund to City.
The law concerning the operation of the bridge fund is interesting at this time, as the city now has up with the county the question of rebuilding the Linn creek bridge in South Third avenue, in order that electric cars may be operated over the bridge following the completion of the viaduct.

The law specifies that a city's share of the bridge fund shall be turned over to the municipality itself in the case of cities of the first class, whereas the fund is handled by the county in the case of cities of the second class. This will enable Marshalltown to build and maintain its own bridge after being certified as a city of the first class.

Finish Census by Evening.
Auditor Dobson said this morning that he expected by evening the work of taking the census would be completed. The only returns now being awaited are from the Second ward, where one enumerator is at work checking up and adding to the figures made in that ward.
