REJECT OVERWORKED HORSES. French Agents Refuse to Take Animals Worked in Harvest Fields. Special to Times-Republican.

Sloux City, Aug. 30.—Collecting horses in the country for shipment to large market centers, where army inspections for foreign governments are being held, is becoming unprofitable, according to men who have had experience under existing conditions.

far inferior in quality to those offered the foreign buyers at the beginning of the European war, and prices have dropped accordingly, brokers say.

Another adverse factor is that foreign buyers are gradually getting more strict in their requirements, and animals that previously would have passed are now being rejected.

Quite a few horses remain unsold on the Sloux City market, notwithstanding that receipts are comparatively light. Nearly all of the horses offered show by their poor condition that they have been worked hard in the harvest fields, and foreign buyers seldom take a horse in poor shape.

French representatives were the only ones to hold inspections here this week. Thursday they appeared at the yards. They operated through that day and the next. They were very careful in selecting their horses.

Several dealers bought horses on the Sloux City market and shipped them to other markets where British inspections were held. Reports indicate that the venture was not a great success.

HOME PATRONAGE WEEK

GREATER IOWA ASSOCIATION PLANS TO BOOST SALE OF IOWA PRODUCTS.

SECOND WEEK IN OCTOBER PROBABLY WILL BE DATE

Association Securing Pledges From Retail Merchants Agreeing to Display One Window to Display of Iowa Products—Club Women to Canvas For Patronage Pledges.

Clinton, Aug. 30.—Iowa is going to have a home patronage week according to the plans of the Greater Iowa Association. It will probably be set for the second week in October and the necessary details are being worked out at the headquarters today.

First, the association is accumulating thousands of pledges from Iowa's retail merchants each one agreeing to devote one show window to the display of Iowa-made goods, exclusively during that week. These names are then classified into the various businesses and occupations and sent to the manufacturers of Iowa. It is stated that the manufacturers will endeavor to co-operate with the Greater Iowa Association in furnishing the articles for display.

The matter is then clinched by a far-reaching campaign aided by the club women of Iowa devoted to securing pledges from the consumers of the state in which they agree to demand Iowa-made goods from their merchants. It is estimated that 60,000 heads of families will make these pledges, representing at least 200,000 individuals.

The crux of the consumers' pledge is that the agreement to demand Iowa-made goods is subject to the provision that the product must equal, in price, quantity, quality, style and convenience of package and sanitary precautions, goods made in other states and countries.

SWEET CORN OUTPUT REDUCED. Crop of Only 50 Per Cent Because of Drought. Vinton, Aug. 30.—The sweet corn men are feeling a little blue. Here it is the 7th of August, and not a wheel turned. It is expected now that the opening day will be Monday, Aug. 30. The plants have started so early and August 7, the average time is about August 15. By reason of the bad cold weather the corn fails to mature. It is impossible to tell what the yield will be. The secretary of the Iowa Canning Company said that he was fearful there wouldn't be half a crop. The average output of the Iowa company with its four factories is about ten millions of cans per season and that of the Vinton company is about 3,000,000. Probably not over 50 per cent of that output will be reached this season. It is expected that there will be an overdose of "nubbins" and poor ears, causing a great deal of waste. Not since 1911 has there been one of the industries of this section of the state has there been such a season as this one.

EXPECT RECORD ENROLLMENT. State University Authorities Are Predicting Banner Year. Special to Times-Republican.

Iowa City, Aug. 30.—Iowa university's 1915-1916 year promises to smash all records. The new year's work will be marked with "exams" of candidates for admission from non-accredited schools, etc., and will start formally five days later, on Monday, Sept. 20. The enrollment the past year reached 3,000—the latest official count being 2,996—and this, it is believed, will be surpassed greatly the coming year. Iowa is increasing its demands by lightening standards, and lengthening courses, but the severest strain on students in this way will not begin until 1917, and the next year is likely to see a rush on that account. The latest official publication by the university shows 1,935 men and 1,061 women—2,996. The college of liberal arts, of course, leads with 1,422 (746 men and 676 women), and the graduate college had 364. The third of the college of applied science had 254, and the colleges of law and medicine came next, with 191 and 145, respectively. The college of fine arts showed 136. No other college reached 100.

Twins in Double Wedding. Bernice and Bertha Elder, of Fort Dodge, Married at Omaha. Special to Times-Republican.

Council Bluffs, Aug. 30.—One of the most attractive wedding parties that ever strayed into Council Bluffs from the interior of the state was made up of a quartet of joyously happy lovers from Fort Dodge. The two couples combined their wedding trip with a sight seeing tour of the tri-cities after having secured their marriage licenses and were joined in a double marriage ceremony by Judge Crawford of the Omaha district court. The bride, twin sisters, looked so much alike that License Clerk Steubendorf, who is never anything if not precise and particular, felt impelled to ask one of the prospective grooms if he was sure that the girl by his side was the right one. Nels Nelson, aged 26, and Bertha Elder, aged 18, made up one group, and Dan Dewitt, aged 32, and Bernice Elder, also aged 18, was the other couple.

"Now you're sure this is Bernice, are you?" Clerk Steubendorf asked of Mr. Nelson. "Don't make a mistake and get the wrong one," he continued to advise Mr. Dewitt, who only smiled and wondered how any one could be so foolish as to imagine any mistake of that kind could be made. The two married couples returned to Fort Dodge after having visited all the places of interest in Omaha and Council Bluffs.
