WILL CHASE UNDER ARREST FOR COMPLICITY IN BUCK-ANDERSON ROBBERY.

PURSUING ONE ALLEGED THIEF; FIND ANOTHER

C. A. Wood, Northwestern Section Hand, Follows Man Seen With Supposed Stolen Copper Wire, and Comes Across Chase With Articles Identified by Owner as Stolen.

Pursuing one suspected thief and catching another with stolen property was the unusual means that led to the arrest of Will Chase, of this city, Saturday night for robbing the Buck-Anderson Company store at Lamolite, and the recovery of practically all of the stolen merchandise. It is believed that fear of discovery led to the last of the stolen coats being hung inside the door of the South Third avenue police station Sunday night.

While near the western limits of the city Saturday afternoon Charles A. Wood, 210 South Fourth street, section foreman for the Northwestern, saw a man making off with a roll of copper wire. Such wire had been reported stolen from Boone. The man dropped the wire and fled and Wood gave pursuit.

Runs Upon Chase With Mittens. The way led in the direction of the old tumbled down brick kilns near the right-of-way to the articles as stolen from his store Friday night. The last of the stolen mackinaws was found bundled on the floor just inside the door of the South Third avenue police station by Officer Stern early this morning.

Nichols told the sheriff he would file a charge against Chase. The latter is about 30 years of age and is a stepson of William Delap, living in Iowa street.

ASSASSINATORS INSTRUCTED. Auditor Cautions Assessors That They Must Be Careful. Twenty-nine of the thirty assessors of the county met with County Auditor A. W. Dobson Saturday afternoon for instructions regarding the taking of the annual assessment of personal property. The assessors were impressed with the necessity of using great care in transcribing their assessments from the assessment roll book on which it was taken to the permanent record, filed with the auditor. The auditor pointed out several instances when large sums representing taxes had not correctly copied by the assessors and would not have been assessed had they not accidentally been discovered in the office of the auditor.

MUSICAL BURLESQUE TUESDAY. Odeon Has the Famous "Crackerjacks" Tuesday Night, Jan. 11.

When they call the chorus here Tuesday night at the Odeon Theater with "The Crackerjacks," the handsomest chorus in burlesque, it is not a bit exaggerated, for they are truly prize winners. "The Crackerjacks" this season is surrounded by a cast that spells the best in burlesque, Phil Ott, the foppish good natured German, Nettie Nelson, a prima donna with a phenomenal voice, Anita, the musical marvel, May Leitz, and the acrobatic girl, one of the most marvelous acts on the vaudeville stage.

PRISONER SURRENDERS. Frank Miller, Negro Who Broke Parole, Gives Himself Up.

Frank Miller, a negro, surrendered himself to Sheriff J. G. Edgar Sunday after telling the officer that he was No. 2022 of the Illinois penitentiary at Joliet and that he had escaped in October. The negro, who is probably a quadron, said he had broken his parole while he had yet one and one-half years of his term to serve.

Miller told the sheriff that the dread of being caught had been the dream for him had preyed on his mind and that he wanted to give himself up to get rid of the constant fear. Miller said he was convicted of burglary. He had been working in a Boone hotel until a few days ago.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Casino.

Robert B. Mantell, one of the foremost Shakespearean actors of today, made his first appearance in the silent drama at the Casino Sunday night before large audiences, playing in "The Blindness of Devotion," supported by Genevieve Hamper and Stuart Holmes. Tragedy in its most tragic form is the keynote of the play, and Mr. Mantell is afforded considerable opportunity for facial expression and acting that is good.

Mantell as Count de Carney, a middle-aged man, marries Renee de la Croix, young and beautiful, who soon finds all desperately in love with Carney. Carney's adopted son, for whom Carney has done everything, Carney discovers his wife's unfaithfulness after considerable time has elapsed, gives her the poison she intended for him, then calmly choked her to death and throws her across the dead body of Cavareux, who has killed himself rather than face his father in his perfidy. Tragedy, in all its horror, is therefore unpleasant despite the excellent acting and very beautiful scenic effects. Mr. Mantell and his cast take their parts capably.

At the Colonial.

"The End of the Road," a Mutual masterpiece featuring Harold Lockwood and May Allison, pleased two large audiences at the Colonial Sunday night. The story is full of sensational situations. Paul Howard, the character portrayed by Lockwood, wears of the gay life of the city and seeks the Carolina mountains in search of rest and quiet. Instead of peace he finds excitement and action in abundance. He stumbles upon a band of counterfeiters, a search for a nest of moonshiners, and rescues Grace Wilson, a beautiful young woman, from a worthless lover. Howard fights the lover single handed to a finish, falls in love with the girl, and wins her. Miss Allison took the part of Grace Wilson. The other characters in the play were also taken very acceptably.

At the Odeon.

Owing to a failure in connections, only two vaudeville acts were presented at the Odeon for the change of bill Sunday. Cumby and Brown, colored comedians and dancers, failed to materialize, and there was no time to substitute another act. A third act, promised for tonight, of the performers who did appear, Herman's Pets gave a very pleasing performance. They are cats and dogs who do gymnastic feats on trapeze and bars with naturalness and ease. Madeline Sack is an entertaining violinist who complements the bill along with the moving pictures. Good-sized audiences were present.

Thankful For Relief
Remedy Brought Her

Says Fruitola and Traxo Possesses All the Merit That Is Claimed for It.

Mrs. S. S. Cole PHOTO BY BROWN

After completing the necessary treatment, Mrs. S. S. Cole, Lamona, Texas, was so well pleased with the results that she wrote the Pinus laboratories as follows: "Fruitola and Traxo, are all you claim. It removed a quantity of gall-stones and I feel sure it saved my life. I am well now and thankful to you for the great good your medicine has done for me."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs and one dose is usually sufficient to clearly demonstrate its efficacy. It softens the congested masses, disintegrates the hardened particles that occasion so much suffering and expels the accumulated waste to the great relief of the patient. Following a dose of Fruitola, Traxo should be taken three or four times a day in order to rebuild and restore the system that has become weakened and run down from constant suffering. It is a splendid tonic, acting on the liver and stomach most beneficially.

Fruitola and Traxo are prepared in the Pinus laboratories at Monticello, Ill., and arrangements have been made to supply them thru representative druggists. In Marshalltown they can be obtained at McBride & Will Drug Co., Main and Center streets, and 331 South Third avenue.
