

INTENSE ITCHING OF RED BLOTCHES On Hands, Went Up Arm to Shoulder, Then on Face, Awake Nights Scratching. HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"At first I noticed little red blotches on my hands, and they went up my arm to my shoulder and then on my face. My hands were rough and inflamed and the itching was so intense that I had to scratch which made them bleed. I used to be awake nights scratching all the time. I was not able to put my hands in water or do my work because it was so painful. My hands were disfigured something terrible. I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I thought I would try them. Two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Cuticura Soap healed me entirely." (Signed) Miss Herbertine Durkin, 5447 Auburn Ave., Chicago, Ill., July 14, 1915. Sample Each Free by Mail

DELAY IN CENSUS FIGURES STATISTICS AS TO POPULATION OF COUNTIES NOT YET READY FOR PUBLICATION. OFFICIALS ANXIOUS FOR COMPLETE COUNT Department Finds Checking Huge Task—Co-operative Creameries Indicate Prosperous Communities of State—Farmers Object to Public Right-of-Way to Transmission Lines.

Special to Times-Republican. Des Moines, Jan. 10.—Some of the Iowa counties are getting anxious for the population figures. They want to know officially how much population they have so they can determine whether or not the county officials' salaries are subject to any changes and to settle other matters which depend either directly or indirectly on the population of the county. In nearly all of these counties the reports of the enumerators have been on file for some time but owing to the fact that the entire state has not been checked over by the census department, the delay in announcing the official figures. Saturday the state executive council certified to the number of people in Sioux City, Woodbury county, at the request of public officials in Sioux City. An electric railway line there known as the Riverside line had an agreement for some time that it would be given the chance to negotiate a franchise as soon as the population of Sioux City reached 60,000 or over. The official census figures as certified to by the state executive council yesterday show that the city has 61,841. The officials of Woodbury county also wanted to know officially what the total population was in order to determine the salaries which might be paid county officials in that county. The state census department had expected to have the figures ready by the first of the year. The department says, however, it has been a big job to complete the checking. In many counties the enumerators failed to credit to the county the residents who were confined in state institutions. Other irregularities were noted by the department, that it has been a big job to get the figures complete and accurate. However, the larger part of the counties of the state have been checked and it is hoped to have the figures ready before a great while.

Boosting Creamery Business. Ben. H. Hilt, assistant dairy commissioner, addressed the Ida Grove Commercial Club Friday night on the subject of a co-operative creamery. Ida Grove has about completed arrangements for the establishment of such an industry. It is understood that the creamery will be a success. The dairy department insists that one of the most profitable industries for any Iowa community is a co-operative creamery. To insure its success, however, there must be enough of a supply of milk to turn out a profitable quantity of butter and unless a sufficient number of patrons with good-sized herds of cows are in sight, the department discourages the idea. A dairy can not run without its principal requirements, milk and cream, and in some communities the farmers do not take to dairying in any form. They make their money thru grain or stock raising. But where there is a disposition to do dairying the question is three-fourths solved, so the state department thinks. For there is a steady demand for good butter at fair prices and the output of a well managed creamery is almost sure of a market. The communities in which there are dairies are the thrifty communities of the state. There is always plenty of ready money. Then the upkeep of so much territory is an important factor. Since the law went into effect which requires a big centralized plant to pay the same for milk and cream in all localities, the small co-operative creameries have prospered in Iowa. Before that time the big centralizer could not bid a small creamery in any point in which it wanted to have a monopoly and thus put the small man out of business. But this practice was stopped thru the enactment of that law and since that time the co-operative creameries and the small creameries owned by individuals in this state have prospered.

Transmission Lines Objectionable. It is very probable that the next legislature will be asked to repeal the provision which gives electric transmission lines the right to use public highways, and its wires provided the state highway commission grants a franchise. The state highway commission has come out against it, the telephone companies are claiming that such high tension wires ruin their service and a good many farmers living along the right of way object to it. The state highway commission says such lines are dangerous and should secure a private right of way. Lines of this nature are getting quite prevalent over the state. A large number of such franchises have been granted in the last several months and scarcely a week goes by that the railroad commission does not grant from one to three such franchises. $11,000,000 For Bridges. Thomas H. McDonald, state highway engineer, says that the total amount spent in Iowa in 1915 on roads and bridges was over $11,000,000, or about the same amount as was spent in 1914. This was not shown in the highway commission's report as not all of the figures were in when the report was made out.

GET IT FIRST—NOT LAST When a cold grips your system it is convincing proof that your condition is weakened—remember that. It is risky indeed to simply trust your strength to throw it off, because neglected colds have brought more serious sickness than any other one thing, while weakening cathartics and stimulating syrups are often depressing and dangerous. The best treatment for any cold—the one so often relied on when others fail, is the powerful blood-nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the very sources of bodily strength to suppress the present cold and generate strength to thwart further sickness. Get Scott's first, not last—and insist on the genuine—always free from alcohol and injurious drugs. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

ICE CREAM MEN MEET. Iowa-Nebraska Association Convention at Council Bluffs. Special to Times-Republican. Council Bluffs, Jan. 10.—The Iowa-Nebraska Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers held their annual convention in Council Bluffs this week. The sessions were alternated between this city and Omaha. The food value of ice cream of late years has been an advertising slogan of much value to the manufacturers and the enormous growth of the manufacture, with the increase in the manufacture of ice and machinery, has brought the industry into great prominence. Among the speakers who are to be here are professors of dairying departments of Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and Missouri colleges. Other speakers will be Frank Armstrong, of Des Moines; Clarence Hartman, Nebraska food inspector, and Frank I. Ringer, of Lincoln. Such subjects as "Ice Cream Problems," by M. Mortensen, professor of dairying, Iowa State College; "Food Value of Ice Cream," by Prof. R. M. Washburn, University of Minnesota; "Advertising Ice Cream," by Frank Armstrong, of Des Moines; "Preparedness," by George M. Wrightman, secretary Iowa State Manufacturers Association; "The Stevens Bill," by George E. Mickel; "Organization," by F. I. Ringer, and "Theory and Practice," by J. H. Francis, University of Nebraska, will be discussed. B. B. Rossell, of Peoria, will conduct a question box.

NO INCREASE IN WEDDINGS. Same Number of Matrimonial Ventures in Story County in 1914 and 1915. Special to Times-Republican. Nevada, Jan. 10.—There were the same number of couples married in Story county during the year 1915 as during the preceding year, 210 each year. The comparison of divorces to marriages was not so favorable, however, there being eleven divorces recorded during the year 1915, while there were but eight during the year 1914. The divorce record does not promise so well during the coming year, however, there now being twenty divorce cases on file. Of this score of matrimonial malcontents, nine were female wives and five husbands. During the year 1915 there were decrees filed to eight wives and three husbands, desertion being given as the cause in six cases and cruelty in five. During the preceding year there were decrees filed to seven wives and one husband, five being for desertion and three for cruelty.

LIVERY BUSINESS PASSES. Horse and Equipment of Rockwell City Barn Sold at Auction. Special to Times-Republican. Rockwell City, Jan. 10.—For the first time in twenty-five years the livery barn at the corner of Lake and Fourth streets is locked up. Teams have gone out from this barn thru the years, and it has been one of the old standbys of Rockwell City. But the livery business has taken a much of the trade that formerly belonged to the livery barn that it is almost impossible to make the livery business pay. So everything was put up at auction Saturday and sold regardless of prices. Buggies were sold for $4.50 and horses for $15, while from $1 to $30. The barn will probably be torn down, and business buildings be placed on these choice lots.

HOTEL CHANGES HANDS. Callendar Landlord Becomes Proprietor of Rockwell House. Special to Times-Republican. Rockwell City, Jan. 10.—The Rockwell House, one of the old landmarks of Rockwell City, changes hands this week. Mrs. Hensley, who has conducted in a most satisfactory manner, will go to Sheboygan, where she will have charge of a rooming house. The new proprietor, Benjamin Bass, comes from Callendar, where he had charge of the hotel. He comes very highly recommended and no doubt will keep up the good reputation of the house.

FORMER IOWA BOY ENLISTS. Joins Canadian Troops and Will Go to War Zone This Spring. Special to Times-Republican. Iowa Falls, Jan. 10.—Fred Smith, a son of J. H. Smith, formerly lived northwest of here in Vernon township, has enlisted in the British army and will go to the front with the Canadian troops in the spring. The family moved to Alberta about twelve years ago. When Canada voted to raise a half million men to go to the aid of the mother country, young Smith enlisted.

Family Sorely Afflicted. Alden, Jan. 10.—An exceptionally sad case is that of the stricken family of Ernest E. Poley living on the Lewis Burton farm northeast of Alden, of which the husband and father was taken by death Friday noon after a short illness of typhoid pneumonia, and the mother and wife, very sick of the disease was taken to the hospital in Iowa Falls. The little children were scattered among relatives. Mr. Poley had purchased a farm in Minnesota and planned to move his family there in the near future.

Henry Moon, Sr., Dead at Zeeland. Special to Times-Republican. Zeeland, Jan. 10.—On Friday evening about 8:45 Henry Moon, Sr., passed away at his home northwest of town. He had been ill only a few days of pneumonia. Mr. Moon was 87 years of age and lived here on his farm about forty-five years, being active up till the time he was taken ill. His wife passed away several years ago. The funeral was held this morning at St. Gabriel's Mission at 10:30, with burial at Hubbard. He leaves four sons and five daughters.

LA BAR MAY GO FREE. MAN CONVICTED OF SWINDLING COYLE, OF MASON CITY, GRANTED NEW TRIAL. CHIEF WITNESS REFUSES TO TESTIFY AGAIN. More Than 400 Cases Filed For January Term in Story County. Special to Times-Republican. Nevada, Jan. 10.—The January term of the Story county district court opened today with Judge W. M. McCall, of this city, on the bench, and promises to be one of the busiest terms that has been held here for years. The docket is the largest on record, there being 405 cases filed, of which there are 110 new equity cases and jury cases. The Van Scoy cases from Ames, which has already been tried twice and has taken about three days each time, will come up for trial again this term. In this case the defendant is charged with the crime of incest. "Tex" Matthews, an Ames man, is being held in jail upon a charge of bootlegging and three more were brought over from Ames the last of the week upon bootlegging and gambling charges, all held to the grand jury. In the divorce division there are twenty cases filed and of these a dozen are old cases, some of them so ancient that there are "whiskers" on the filings. A number of these old cases will probably be disposed of at this term, either called for hearing or stricken from the docket.

OIL INSPECTOR DEAD. Thomas Chantland, of Badger, Succumbs to Heart Disease. Special to Times-Republican. Fort Dodge, Jan. 10.—Thomas Chantland, of Badger, state oil inspector, is dead at his home. Heart failure is given as the cause of his death. Mr. Chantland was 73 years old and had lived in Badger about forty years. His widow and four daughters remain of the immediate family. New Lookout. When a cold hangs on as often happens, or when you have hardly gotten over one cold before you contract another, lookout for you are liable to contract some very serious disease. This succession of colds weakens the system and lowers the vitality so that you are much more liable to contract chronic catarrh, pneumonia or consumption. Cure your cold while you can. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation. It is relied upon by thousands of people and never disappoints them. Try it. It only costs a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

REARMENT DENIED. County Attorney Rees said he had based his petition for a rearment on the fact that Coyle had refused to come to Minneapolis for a second trial in the case. The petition also asked the supreme court again to review the testimony of Coyle and of Sheriff Otto S. Langum and Deputy Sheriff Joseph Schutta. The supreme court had reversed the trial court for allowing the sheriff and duty to testify that Coyle had described to them, shortly after the swindle, a man answering La Bar's description. The supreme court ruled out that testimony as inconsistent with accounts of the swindle told by Coyle and by city detectives, who testified Coyle had never described to them a suspect answering La Bar's description. Charged With 1914 Swindle. Dan La Bar was charged with swindling E. W. Coyle, May 28, 1914, acting with three others in a fake horse race betting. He was tried before District Judge C. S. Jolley and a jury. A verdict of guilty was returned April 17, 1915. He appealed and the supreme court granted a new trial. Then the county attorney asked for a rearment before the supreme court. La Bar was missing from the city from August of 1914 to March of 1915, while the indictment was standing against him. He was arrested March 4, 1915, at the Great Northern railway station by Deputy Sheriff Joseph Schutta. La Bar was on an outbound passenger train when arrested. Edward Dixon, who had been jointly indicted with La Bar, skipped out, forfeiting $5,000 cash bail, while awaiting trial. He is a fugitive from justice.

She arrived in the city at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, and is now at the home of her mother, Mrs. E. M. Wesner, where she will be for the next few months, writing magazine stories, the material for which she picked up during her eventful trip thru the beleaguered lands. Miss Parker met notable persons during her tour. She was the first to interview Henry Ford in London and she met Doc Cook, the famous explorer, in Russia. Muscatine. With 33,000 volts of electricity coursing thru his body, George M. Moore, 22, well known in this city and an expert electrical worker, met almost instant death while engaged in repairing an electric wire at Payne, Tex., Tuesday, according to information learned here. The body of the young man was brought here last night, the remains being accompanied by his father, H. D. Moore, of 512 Linn street. Moore, who left Muscatine about a year ago for Texas, was working upon a pole bearing a number of electric wires, when the tragedy occurred. It is said that he accidentally grasped a "live" wire carrying 33,000 volts, said to be the highest number of volts that can pass thru a high tension wire. The shock hurled him to the ground forty feet below. Death was almost instantaneous. He was picked up by fellow workmen but all efforts to resuscitate him proved unavailing. Continue Grading Thru Winter. Special to Times-Republican. Des Moines, Jan. 10.—Grading of the capitol extension grounds to the south of the state house has proceeded without interruption thus far this winter. The weather has not been cold enough to stop the work. The ground does not appear to be frozen enough to cause the graders any trouble.
