CLOTHES COMPARISON

The National Woolen Mills Would Like You to Compare Their $15 Suits With $25 Suits Sold by Other Firms.

The National Woolen Mills goods do not come thru several middlemen's hands, and they also sell on a closer margin of profit than any other merchant. And for this reason they would like to have you compare their $15 made-to-order clothes with other merchants' $25 suits and they are sure you will find the value of the National clothes the greater.

You will naturally ask, how is it possible for us to sell for less than other merchants? The reason is this—by giving great unusual values for $15, we make a large number of sales. Our running expenses are practically the same whether we make 200 sales or 2,000 sales. Do you see the point?

We are always delighted to have you give our values a careful comparison, it means sales for us. Order now for Easter. National Woolen Mills, the quality tailors, W. L. Jones, proprietor.

THE TRIBUNE FEATURES SUMMARIES AND LOCAL NEWS

In developing Marshalltown's new paper, the Tribune's publishers are recognizing the essential difference between a weekly and daily papers. The two types of papers cover entirely different fields. The daily aims to give a complete detailed report of each day's happenings and rumors. The weekly gives nutshell summaries of what has actually transpired during the week.

In the realm of national politics, the Marshalltown Tribune publishes each week two letters from Arthur W. Dunn, of Washington, D. C., giving a non-partisan summary of the political progress of the week at the nation's capital. Iowa politics is covered in the same way for the Tribune by George Galliano, head of the department of municipal accounts in the state auditor's office at Des Moines. The Tribune is securing, thru the American Press Association, a splendid line of cartoons, drawn by some of the most clever cartoonists in America. Each week the Tribune publishes an interesting series of condensed news notes, giving in terms of a few lines each the gist of the principal events of the week all over the world.

The social and personal news of Marshalltown is being covered by the Tribune by Miss Jane Skegg, one of the War Kills Commerce. Here is an estimate of vessels withdrawn from this country's commerce since the beginning of the European war; German and Austrian ships entered thruout the world, 3,024 ships, 6,433,000 tons; British ships requisitioned, 2,900, tonnage not known; Russian ships requisitioned, number unknown, but about 900,000 tons. No reliable figures can be gained about the French and Italian ships taken for war use, but the number is known to be large. Perhaps the total number of ships lost to trade is 7,600. To this must be added the vast number that has been sent to the bottom since the war began.

Low Aim in Life. The man whose eyes are nailed, not on the nature of his act, but on the wages, whether it be money or office or fame, is almost equally low.—Emerson.

Worth-While Quotations. Instill in the minds of our young the necessity for building a character that will win the esteem of all, this is vastly more important than a great future.—Marshall Field.

Our Sawed-Off Sermon. What you say to some people seems to go in at one ear and out at the other. Probably there is nothing between to stop it.—Indianapolis Star.

Original "Canary Birds." Canary birds came originally from the Canary islands, and were not yellow, but olive green.

Not That Hungry. The evidence was conclusive against the old negro who was charged with stealing a chicken from his neighbors, says the National Monthly. The negro was a familiar figure to the judge, who addressed him reproachfully: "Now, Rastus, who did you steal that chicken?"

"Bekase ma pooh family wuz starving, yo' honor," whimpered the old man.

"Family starving!" said the judge. "But they tell me you keep four dogs. How is that, uncle?"

"Why, yo' honor," said the old fellow, reproachfully, "you wouldn't s'pect ma family to eat dem dogs!"

On the basis of the last statistics, there are 73,900 deaths due to cancer annually in the United States. The mortality has steadily increased from 63 per 100,000 population in 1900 to 73.9 in 1913.

Two-thirds water and one-third solids is the composition of the human body.

A New War Antiseptic. One of the most effectual remedies for wounds is found in a powder made by Dr. Felix Mendel of Essen, Germany. It consists of a mixture of ten parts bicarbonate of soda, nine parts acetic acid (vinegar), and sixteen parts sugar. Superficial wounds are covered with a thick layer of the powder, but deeper wounds are completely filled with it. As soon as the
