CAPTURED OUTLAWS ACT AS GUIDES

Camp of Bandits Believed to Be Twelve Hours March Inland - National Guardsmen of Three States to Be Mustered into Regular Army - U. S. Consuls Again Urge American Citizens in Mexico to Leave Country.

Marathon, Tex., May 11. - Major Langhorne with two troops of the Eighth Cavalry, crossed the Rio Grande into Mexico last night and are making their way rapidly southward today.

They have with them the three Mexican bandits who were captured by the employees of the Porto Rico de Boquillas mine to guide the column to the camp of the brigands, who are supposed to be about twelve hours march inland.

It is reported that J. Deemer is being held a prisoner in this camp. A company of coast artillery of approximately 150 men has been ordered here to guard the line of communication.

Guardmen as Regulars.

Washington, May 11. - Further indications that American army operations on the Mexican border are still indeterminate as to time were given today in official quarters. It was announced at the war department that the national guard of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico will be mustered into the army for the period of their state enlistment.

General Scott telegraphed the department that another conference with General Obregon was set for today at El Paso. Secretary Baker said there was nothing to report from reports that General Scott had served an ultimatum upon General Obregon for a final answer upon acceptance or rejection of the tentative protocol.

The war department had no report today on another incursion into American territory near Blocker's ranch near Eagle Pass, Tex. There were also official advices that the troops had actually crossed the border in the Big Bend region.

Americans Urged to Leave.

American consuls in Mexico have been instructed to again call attention of Americans to the state department's repeated warning that their presence in Mexico is undesirable.

The last census of Americans in Mexico taken by the state department six weeks ago, showed less than 3,000 throughout the country. Most of them are near Mexico City and the extreme east and west coasts, few remaining in Chihuahua and Sonora.

Officers Hurdled Thru School.

Officers assigned to various service schools, including the army war college, have been graduated far ahead of time and been hurried back to their commands.

The officers are now available for duty in the field either in connection with training of national guardsmen or with their regiments.

Villa Follower Arrested.

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 11. - Colonel Morin, a former Villa officer, charged with forming a plot for an uprising in this vicinity, was arrested nineteen miles south of San Antonio last night by United States Marshal Hansen taken to Kingsville today. Morin was heavily armed when arrested and important papers also were said to have been found on his person. He resisted arrest but was overpowered.

According to officials, Morin had been working out a plot among Mexicans in this vicinity for an uprising against Americans.

General Conference in Progress.

El Paso, Tex., May 11. - Negotiations looking toward a settlement of the Mexico-American military questions were resumed at 10 o'clock today between Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott and Frederick Funston, representing the United States, and Gen. Alvaro Obregon, minister of war of the de facto government, and Juan N. Amador, sub-secretary of foreign affairs in Mexico. The conference, which may be the last, was held in General Scott's private study.

Consider Mounting Infantry.

Major General Funston, commanding the southern department of the United States army, desires to strengthen the border patrol, by mounting 2,000 infantrymen on Texas mules.

FOURTEEN IRISH LEADERS SHOT

House of Commons Receives Report on Executions Due to Uprising.

SEVENTY-THREE TO PENAL SERVITUDE

Irish Affairs Occupy Attention of Parliament and Public - Liberals Seeking to Stop Executions and End Martial Law - Thousands Believed to Be Under Arrest - Recruiting For British Army Increases in Dublin.

London, May 11. - Fourteen persons have been executed in Ireland, Harold T. Tennant, parliamentary under secretary for war, told a questioner in the house of commons today. Twenty-three persons have received sentences of penal servitude and six of imprisonment at hard labor, the under secretary added.

Mr. Tennant said two others had been sentenced to death but the sentences had not been carried. The number deported from Ireland was given as 1,705. Those deported have not yet been tried and are still in the United Kingdom.

Irish affairs occupied today even a more important position in the public mind than they did at the time of the home rule controversy. Both houses of parliament are again engaged with them today.

John Dillon's motion for discussion of the executions in Ireland comes up in the house of commons and the house of lords is considering Lord Loreburn's motion expressing dissatisfaction with the Irish administration.

The debate in the house of commons is regarded as the more important, for there the government comes under the cross fire of the whole Irish party and of a large number of liberal members who are determined to not only bring an end to executions in Ireland but to martial law as well.

Arrests Number Thousands.

The execution of Thomas Kent, in County Cork, altho it came before Premier Asquith gave his assurance that no further death sentences would be carried out during the debate, has brought forth continued protests from the Irish members.

The number of arrests has not yet been made known but it must be several thousands.

The latest estimate of casualties in Dublin places them at about 1,000, of which 400 were killed. These figures include soldiers, insurgents and civilians.

Recruiting Increases.

The fact is noted in Dublin that since the insurrection there has been an increase in the rate of recruiting there.

Even while the controversy over the causes and manner of handling the insurrection is still in progress efforts are being made to reach a compromise on the home rule question.

Those who most desire this are urging that Lord Hardinge, after he has concluded his inquiry into the disturbances, shall be appointed lord lieutenant of Ireland.

Premier Asquith announced in the house of commons this afternoon that he felt it to be his duty to go to Dublin today.
