TRICKED INTO MOCK MARRIAGE--KILLED

STARTLING DEVELOPMENTS IN DEATH OF ANNA DANIELSON, OF GOWRIE.

DIED SUDDENLY JULY 15 IN SEATTLE, WASH.

Supposed Husband, Osteopath Physician, Admits Marriage Was Trick and That He Has Wife Living in Los Angeles--Miss Danielson Had More Than $50,000 in Her Own Name.

Port Dodge, Aug. 16.—Startling developments were disclosed today in the case of the strange death of Anna Danielson, the Gowrie young woman who died so mysteriously in Seattle on July 15—eleven days after she was supposed to have married an osteopath of Seattle, a Dr. Percival D. Allen by name.

The story of the mysterious death was published in the Messenger on July 21. At that time, however, little could be learned of the circumstances, it being known only that there was to be an investigation.

Here are a few of the latest developments in one of the most baffling mystery deaths in the history of Webster county.

Dr. Allen is being held by the Seattle authorities. He admits that he never married Miss Danielson—and that the ceremony which she believed made her his legal wife was only a mock ceremony. He is a prisoner on a vice charge.

The body of Miss Danielson was exhumed from the Gowrie grave and taken to Minneapolis where after an examination by Dr. John O. Taft of Minneapolis, and experts from the University of Minnesota two fresh scars of a hypodermic needle were found on her right arm.

Following this post mortem examination, Minneapolis authorities announced this morning that an investigation had been started.

Miss Danielson was worth more than $50,000 in her own name.

Strange Story of Romance. The story of Anna Danielson is a strange blending of romance and possible crime.

Anna Marie Danielson was born on the old homestead near Gowrie, thirty-four years ago. She grew to young womanhood in this county. Some years ago she went to Minneapolis where she obtained employment as a stenographer. Wealthy in her own name it was not necessary that she should work, but she preferred the life of a working girl in the city to the life offered on the farm.

According to Minneapolis dispatches, those who knew her in Minneapolis said that she was of a reserved nature and made but few friends. Her business affairs were handled by a Minneapolis firm of lawyers.

Well supplied with money, she left Minneapolis early this summer for a vacation trip to the Pacific coast. She reached the coast June 1. It was on a steamer bound up the coast from San Francisco to Puget sound ports that she met Dr. Allen, according to dispatches.

Love at First Sight. It must have been love at first sight for Miss Danielson. The osteopath's courtship was brief and on July 4 a ceremony was performed by which Miss Danielson believed she was made the wife of the doctor.

Dr. Allen, according to dispatches, confessed that he obtained a marriage license in Tacoma, that it was never legally used and that with the aid of this license he convinced the Gowrie woman that she was his wife.

It was eleven days after this mock ceremony that Miss Danielson was found dead in Seattle.

Dispatches to her brother, Gabriel Danielson, living near Gowrie, at the time of her death, said that his sister died of convulsions. Other dispatches received by the brother at this time said that the Seattle authorities were investigating the death. The brother immediately left for the west.

According to the information contained in the Seattle dispatches, Allen told the authorities that he found his pseudo wife in convulsions when he entered their flat in Seattle, July 15.

A physician who was called at that time told the Seattle police that the woman's body was still warm when he arrived but that she was already dead and that Dr. Allen told him she had died of convulsions.

This physician, dispatches said, refused to issue a death certificate at the time. Permission to move the body, however, was obtained for it was taken to Gowrie and buried July 24. The stomach's contents were analyzed in a cursory manner at Seattle, but nothing suspicious found.

Authorities Drop Case. The Seattle authorities apparently were unable to find anything irregular about the death and the matter was dropped.

Then Lieutenant Wilmot Danielson, United States navy, a cousin of the dead woman, began an investigation and asked exhumation of the body. It was taken from the grave at Gowrie and brought to Minneapolis last week for an examination at the University of Minnesota.

At Seattle police headquarters Saturday night Allen was confronted with a record of three previous arrests and with evidence of three marriages, in addition to his supposed marriage to Miss Danielson, and only two divorces. He broke down, the dispatches said, confessed that he had a legal wife living in Los Angeles and that he had only pretended to marry Miss Danielson.

The Los Angeles wife was located by the Seattle police, who placed a technical charge, involving immorality, against the osteopath.

Eldora News. Special to Times-Republican. Eldora, Aug. 16.—William Lingenbrink, of Mercedes, Tex., arrived in Eldora Tuesday from a trip thru the state of Michigan, stopping here for a short visit with his old friend, B. T. Mrs. Louise Frizzell, of Iowa Falls, has brought an action in the district court asking for a decree of divorce from her husband, Rush Frizzell. The petition states that the couple was married at Estherville in 1912, that the plaintiff alleges that the defendant has been inhuman and cruel to her and prays that she be given custody of the minor child, a son, and costs of suit.

Cedar Rapids. Cedar Rapids plans for an increase in its paving program next year. It calls for an expenditure of $150,000. Work will begin on the improvement as soon as the frost is out of the ground in the spring.

Cedar Rapids. Cleary & White, Chicago contractors who built the dam for the city across Cedar river here last year, have sued the city for $19,000, claiming that amount due them for rock removed from the dam site.

Sioux City. A lively shake-up in the police department is ahead of the force in this city. Revival of the crime wave which has lately swept over the city and the increase of bootlegging are among the reasons for the changes contemplated. Top many slackers on the force, is the laconic remark by the chief in discussing the matter.

Alton. Typhoid fever is raging in the vicinity of Maurice and Orange City. Eleven cases at Maurice were reported last week, two deaths occurring, and the situation is apparently not improving. At Orange City, Harriet Wiersma, the little daughter of William Wiersma, sheriff of Sioux county, is ill of the fever. The state epidemiologist has searched for the cause of the epidemic at Maurice, but has given out no report as yet.

Sioux City. Tons of grasshoppers destroyed by the use of traps baited with kerosene at Pierre, S. D., were thrown into the Missouri river. Catfish swarmed to devour the insects until the fish were so thick that they were thrown out of the water with pitchforks, but, curiously, every fish is inedible. Many citizens of Pierre procured the fish, and altho they were fed in the most approved manner, the taste of the oil was such that not a mouthful could be eaten.

Manchester. The Manchester Commercial Club thru its committee on amusements, has plans largely completed for the big three-day jubilee to be held on the Delaware county fair grounds Sept. 6, 7 and 8. The free attractions include Monday, Dubech with trained animals; Hamilton & Montrose, acrobats and trick jumpers; the Allet duo comedy acrobats; the Banvard Sisters trapeze performers; the Six Royal Russian Dancers; the Great Fowler, acrobats, and the Grace Ayer Duo, roller skaters, who will appear both afternoons and nights. Instead of fireworks the evening entertainments will conclude with

MORE RAIN IS NEEDED

CROP BUREAU DECLARES CORN CROP IS NOT YET SAFE FROM DROUGHT.

RECENT SHOWERS OF WIDESPREAD BENEFIT

Southern Section Where Crops Suffered Most, Gets Heavy Rains and Late Planted Fields Are Saved—Threshing Continues With Satisfactory Results—Apple Crop About Half.

Special to Times-Republican. Des Moines, Aug. 16.—The weekly crop bulletin says the long, continued hot, dry spell was broken on the 10th by a cool wave and fairly well distributed showers. Showers have been more frequent and better distributed and much more rain has fallen over the southern counties, where it was needed the most, than in the northern half of the state. The rains in southern sections were of great benefit to late corn, pastures, meadows, potatoes, gardens and fruit and have put the ground in a better condition for fall plowing which has begun. The rains came too late, however, to fully repair the damage done to early corn by drought and high temperatures. Many barren stalks appear and pollination was defective. In the northern counties where copious showers occurred during the previous week, corn is in generally good condition, but more rain would be beneficial to corn and is needed for pasture, potatoes and plowing. Threshing continues with satisfactory results.

The seed onion crop in Scott county is turning out better than was expected, and yields ranging from 150 to 300 bushels per acre are reported.

A summary of reports received by the secretary of the state horticultural society on Aug. 1 shows the condition of fruit to be as follows: Summer apples, 32 per cent; fall apples, 38; winter apples, 40; pears, 18; American plums, 37; domestic plums, 22; grapes, 52 per cent of a full crop. The average for all fruits is 31 per cent, or 10 per cent below the average for the last fifteen years for August. The grape crop is light in eastern Iowa, but nearly normal in the western section; the quality will be better than last year. The apple crop will be about one-half of what it was last year.

Grinnell and Vicinity. Special to Times-Republican. Grinnell, Aug. 16.—Prof. Holmbeck with comes to Grinnell to take the place in Iowa College made vacant by the resignation of Professor J. D. Duggs who goes to the University of Illinois. Professor Beckwith is a graduate of the University of California in 1908, where he afterwards taught in the department of economics and was an extension lecturer. He has been an examiner of the state of California. The accounting department of Iowa college is expecting a strong forward movement for the coming year.

The Grinnell-Brooklyn-farmer project of oiling a stretch of seventeen miles of the River-to-River road between Grinnell and Brooklyn is going on with thoroughness and reasonable rapidity. The only doubt about the efficiency of the work has been in the minds of some who had never seen the oiled road tested by a heavy rain. The heavy rain of the latter part of the week tested this stretch of road pretty well and the report of those who came over it from the east is that there was no trace of mud and no trace of damaging rain on the oiled portion of the track while the damage of the downpour was plainly evident on the downslope beyond the oiling.

The Swift & Co. poultry and egg buyers of this city utter a sharp warning to farmers and others who raise hens for egg production against carelessness in gathering the eggs when freshly laid, keeping them in a cool place, and marketing them very frequently in the extremely hot weather we have been having for the past six weeks. BEEES TAKE POSSESSION OF THIS FARM HOME. MUCH HONEY STORED

Perry, Aug. 16.—Thousands of bees, ten or twelve swarms in all, have taken their abode at the house on the Mrs. Homer Moody farm northeast of Angus and altho a great many of them have been driven out or killed they are still there in numbers sufficient to cause the occupants all kinds of grief. In fact they have almost complete possession of the home and the tenant is living there only on sufferance.

The farm is being run by Guy Livingston and when a swarm of bees settled under the eaves some time ago he thought little of their coming until they were joined by others. In a few days they became a menace, and efforts were made to dislodge them. Three or four men who were presumed to know all about bees and their habits were called upon but they were unable to drive the intruders out.

Howard Moody, Bert Dillingham and Will Reitz went out to the farm after word had been made that Moody and the bees had driven the family out of the upstairs rooms and they determined to get rid of the bees in some manner. A few boards were first taken off the side of the house and about fifty pounds of the honey secured. The men then took up a portion of the floor of an upstairs room and the space between a couple of joists and extending the length of the rooms was found packed solid with the finest honey any of them had ever seen. There was about 400 pounds of it in all, and it is possible that there is more there yet.

The bees have not yet been driven off the place, but insect powder and various other kinds of dope will be used in an effort to force them to leave. The Perry men reported that there were a large number of small holes in the shiping covering the side of the house, where the bees had eaten their way thru the boards. They seem determined to make their home in the house and they have become such a pest that the owners are open to any suggestions which will drive them out.
