AMUSEMENTS.

Posing Act Feature of "The Pace Makers" at Odeon.
The usual run of songs, dances and jests, offered by about the usual run of singers, dancers and jesters, was offered at the Odeon Thursday night when "The Pace Makers," the weekly burlesque show, performed before a good-sized audience.

Frank Damsel, "Manny" King, and "Jack" McCabe were the trio of fun-makers, assuming the names of Will Doem, Izzy Cohen and Mike Maloney during the performance, and carrying out the characters suggested by their names to perfection. As the sourette, Frances Farr proved lively and witty, while Lillian Smalley had a good voice, with plenty of power behind it for the "heavy" songs.

Featured in this entertainment was a posing act presented during the olio, which was worthy of special note. La Bergere and a group of handsome dogs gave an exhibition of posing which was certainly artistic. However, burlesque audiences are not always appreciative of "art for art's sake" and there is no doubt but that the audience thought more of the fact that the lady in question was clad in flesh colored tights which were very young than that she was presenting a number of artistic poses.

At the Strand.
Harold Lockwood and May Allison, two of the most popular "movie" stars in the business, were seen at the Strand Thursday night in "The River of Romance" an idyllic production, giving both the leading characters plenty of opportunities to show off their good clothes and good looks.

Little attempt at plot is made, but the story concerns the adventures of William Kellison, a young man who displeases his uncle and resolves to forsake the easy life of the idle rich until he can repay his relative for the damage he has done. Dressing up as a young engineer he runs a boat in the Thousand Islands, and happens to carry as a passenger, a young girl, who is going to a friend's house for the summer. A romance is promptly begun on the river, and the usual end is attained, although without several amusing details, which the large audiences enjoyed greatly.

Mr. Lockwood is little too conscious of himself, and his acting suffers thereby, as it appears more of a series of poses than natural doing of things. Miss Allison wears her clothes well and carries her light part as well as any one could. The rest of the cast is subordinated to the principals.

Party at Country Club.
The ladies of the Country Club will be entertained at an afternoon bridge and club party Saturday afternoon at the club house. All members cordially invited. Committee.

CINCO CIGARS
Now Five Cents Straight

Owing to the increased cost of production, the manufacturers of CINCO CIGARS, OTTO EISENLOHR & BROS., INCORPORATED, have advanced their selling price to the dealers, and, in future, this cigar will be sold to the consumer absolutely at five cents straight, instead of six for a quarter, as heretofore.

The CINCO Cigar has attained a national reputation, and through the maintenance of a high standard of quality, has become the largest seller in the world, and the manufacturers deemed it advisable to advance the price rather than sacrifice its long-established high quality.
