New Facts About Sun.
As one result of an exhaustive study of solar radiations by the director of the Smithsonian astro-physical observatory, it has been found that at the earth's mean distance the heat of the sun's rays is sufficient to melt in a year's time a layer of ice 426 feet in thickness. This, it is announced, indicates that the aggregate heat thrown off by the sun in twelve months amounts to the same as would be obtained by consuming 400 sextillion tons of hard coal. Incidentally, and most fortunately, only a small portion of this tremendous volume of heat reaches us, says Popular Mechanics, all but about four ten-billionths of it being lost in space. Another very interesting and important discovery, which is acclaimed the principal result of the investigation, is that the sun is a variable star. The heat emitted by it, instead of being constant in intensity, changes from day to day and year to year. It is believed probable that this has a direct bearing upon the climatic conditions of the earth. In the hope of gaining further enlightenment on this score, a South American expedition is to be undertaken this year for the purpose of making additional and more complete observations of solar variation. The work will be undertaken in the most favorable cloudless region.
Willing to Oblige.
John's father kept a candy store, and the little fellow often carried candy to school to divide with the other children. One morning the teacher noticed a strong smell of peppermint and began to investigate in order to stop eating during school hours. Unable to detect the culprit, she bent over small John and whispered:
"John, have you any candy?"
"No, ma'am," he replied.
"Have any of the other boys any?"
"No, ma'am."
As she turned away he touched her hand and said, "I will bring you some at noon."—Ladies' Home Journal.

MEDICINES, LIKE MEN HAVE CHARACTER

From their fine outward appearance, through the various elements of strength that go to make up the standing of a remedy, including the final and absolute test—does it "make good"?—does it cure?—Hood's Sarsaparilla and Poptiron Pills conclusively prove every day that they are medicines of the highest character.
Hood's Sarsaparilla originated in a physician's successful prescription. Poptiron Pills, named from pepsin and iron, include nux and other tonics. For scrofula, eczema, humors, boils, pimples and other eruptions—for loss of appetite, indigestion and dyspepsia—for kidney and liver troubles—for loss of appetite, that tired feeling—for brain-fag, nerve exhaustion, anemia, and poor, thin blood—Hood's Sarsaparilla and Poptiron Pills make the ideal course of medicine, the former before meals, the latter after.
