HOSPITAL WORKERS COMING HERE SOON

ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF EVANGELICAL DEACONESS FEDERATION AUG. 28-30.

SERVICES ALL TO BE CONDUCTED IN ENGLISH

First Business Session Wednesday Morning, Aug. 29—Among Social Features Planned is Trip by Automobiles to Mesquakie Reservation Near Tama.

Hospital workers of the Evangelical Deaconess society from all parts of the United States will gather in this city late this month for the ninth annual conference of the Evangelical Deaconess Federation of America. The conference will begin on Tuesday, Aug. 28, and continue through Thursday, the 30th.

This is probably the smallest city the federation has ever chosen as a meeting place, and this came about as a result of the magnificent hospital the society is maintaining here. Last year the conference was held in Cleveland, O.

Services in English. All of the services and meetings of the federation will be conducted in English. The meetings will be held at the Deaconess and at the German Evangelical church. The opening services on Tuesday, which will be religious in nature and held at the church, will be conducted by Rev. J. L. Haack, superintendent of the Deaconess hospital at Milwaukee, Wis.

The first business session will be held on Wednesday, beginning at 9 o'clock. Dinner will be served in the church basement at noon, and the business session will adjourn at 5 o'clock. At 8 o'clock at night another religious service will be conducted by Rev. F. Weber, of the Chicago Deaconess hospital.

On Thursday the business session will occupy the day. Plan Reservation Trip For Visitors. Rev. Karl Reet, superintendent of the local hospital, is planning, in company with A. A. Moore, chairman of the automobile committee of the Marshalltown Club, a trip by automobile for the visitors to the Mesquakie reservation near Tama. As so many of the visitors will be from eastern points it was considered that a trip of this sort would be a novelty for them.

Louisville Man President. Rev. G. G. Louisville, Ky., is president of the federation, which is composed of the different Deaconess organizations maintaining hospitals in different parts of the country. Rev. F. Jens, of St. Louis, is vice president; Rev. C. Hoffman, of Lincoln, Ill., secretary; and Rev. W. Meyer, superintendent of the Fairbank, Minn., hospital, is treasurer.

TO ORGANIZE WOMEN.

Branch of Iowa Division of Council of Defense to Be Formed. Preparations are being made for the organization of the women of Marshall county for work during the war. Miss Jessie Binford, of this city, has been appointed by Mrs. Francis E. Whitley, of Webster City, state chairman of the Women's Council of Defense, chairman for Marshall county. Miss Binford, in turn, soon will appoint a chairman for each township of the county, to begin the perfecting of a county organization.

The principal object of the council is to organize the women of the country for greater efficiency in patriotic effort. The council does not seek to disturb the distinctive work of any organization now engaged in patriotic work, or which is to enter the field, but rather to serve as a clearing house for women's efforts that they may work more intelligently and that their work may not be needlessly duplicated.

The work of the National Council of Defense is under government supervision and therefore has the sanction of the government in its activities.

Loveland Marshall Pioneer.

The death of Stephen Loveland at Alden, reported in the T-R's news from that place a few days ago, removes one of the pioneers of Marshall county, and a man who will be remembered by the older people of the city.

Mr. Loveland was one of the builders of Marshalltown. He was a mechanical genius and landed in Marshalltown in 1860 with a capital of 50 cents. He started out to clean and repair clocks. After he had been here a short time he entered the employ of Henry Anson, who owned a steam saw mill on what is now South First avenue. Later Loveland heard of a saw mill for sale in Marion township, bought it at a low figure, dismantled it, and brought the engine and machinery to Marshalltown. He secured from Reuben Webster some ground fronting Grant street, between Center street and First avenue, and was joined by William Battin in a new saw mill enterprise. Loveland created a building, and Battin secured the necessary timber land and began cutting logs. New machinery was added, and within a short time the new concern was making laths, shingles, broom handles, stair banisters, table legs, chair rounds, wagon hubs, and other articles that had a commercial value. When the Northwestern built in here in 1883 the saw mill concern sold out, and not long after Mr. Loveland moved to Alden, where he has lived for these many years.

RUNS AUTO AMUCK

Gladbrook Man, Giving Fictitious Name of C. R. Hanson, Runs Foul, Damaging Automobiles, and Gets Into Police Court.

An automobile, driven by a driver who was drunk, ran amuck among cars and trucks parked in South First avenue Wednesday afternoon with the following results: Six automobiles damaged to an estimated extent of $150; driver arrested and fined $50 and the costs. He gave the name of C. R. Hanson, which is believed to be fictitious, but his residence is Gladbrook.

Hanson, driving a Buick north in First avenue, was steering the car along a route that resembled a drunken sailor on a broad walk. Every time the car swerved toward the center of the street it struck the fender or radiator of a car. In this process it proceeded for a block, striking five cars en route. They were those of Hans A. Peterson, Rhodes bakery truck, and the cars of W. E. Nicholson, Charles Johnson, and J. F. Batsdale. Most of the damage done consisted of bent fenders and broken lights. Peterson suffered damage of about $25, and the Rhodes truck was damaged to the extent of $15. The harm done the other cars was less serious. Hanson's car was badly damaged, including a bent axle, to repair which it was estimated would cost $75.

Hanson got stalled in the sand in the boulevard at Second avenue and Riverside street and was caught by the police. He was arraigned in the municipal court Wednesday night and was fined $25 and the costs for being drunk, and another $25 and the costs for operating an automobile while drunk. It is understood he arranged to make good the damage done the cars.

No Soldiers' Home Concert. The usual weekly band concert will not be given this evening at the soldiers' home on account of the fact that several members of the band are on vacations.

Wants to Be Citizen. Nels Nelson, a plumber of this city, and a native of Norway, has filed his declaration of intent to become a citizen of this country.

PAROLE BOARD TAKES HOES.

Young Boy Held For Chicken Theft Taken in Custody. Fred Hoes, aged 17, the son of Fred Hoes, of this city, who was sentenced to a term in Anamosa for stealing chickens and was then paroled to the state board of parole, has been taken into custody by the board. It was understood by the local police that Hoes' conduct, since he was sentenced and paroled, was not satisfactory to the board. The agent of the board who came here took Hoes to Fort Dodge where, it is understood, he was placed in a cereal mill to work.

Hoes and Lierle Lemmon were arrested last March for stealing chickens. They pleaded guilty and Hoes was sentenced to serve not more than two years in Anamosa. He was then paroled by Judge Cummings to the state board of parole to obey its orders. Similar disposition was made of Lemmon's case.

Murray, Jeweler, over 116 East Main.

Two More Enlist.

Two young men were accepted at the regular army recruiting station here for the regular army. They were John L. Cunningham, of Toledo, who enlisted for the infantry, and Torjus Medhus, of Gilman, who enlisted for the signal corps. Both went to Omaha Wednesday.

In the Police Court. Bill Sparks, charged with being drunk, was fined $5 and the costs in the municipal court this forenoon.
