Addresses of These Soldiers Are Wanted

In order that the general committee in charge of the soldiers' fund can send to each Marshall county soldier a wrist watch and letter, the committee has been searching for the army addresses of local boys. It has been able to find a good many, but not all. Below is a list of soldiers from this county whose addresses the committee has not found. It asks that any one knowing the addresses telephone or write General Secretary J. B. Northcott of the Y. M. C. A., or if any one knows the nearest relative or friend of any of these boys who might know their addresses this information would help. The addresses wanted are those of Edward J. Knause, August E. Ethridge, Enos B. Hunt, Wallace Henry, Ernest J. Penn, Elmer E. Forno, Herbert L. Starbird, Gall B. Wilson, John I. Parker, William L. Gillespie, Edward S. Larwin, Clarence E. Tenney, Jesse M. NASTY MEDICINES BAD FOR CHILDREN

It is not often a child requires medicine of any kind. If the bowels are regular and promptly dispose of undigested matter absorbed by the stomach, the general health is very apt to be excellent. In any case, pills, powders, and nauseating or unpalatable compounds, should never be given to children. Free therapeutic virtue such remedies may possess is largely nullified by the youngsters' natural antagonism.

For most children a mild laxative, administered occasionally, is all that is needed to assure normal regularity and good health. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a pleasant-tasting combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. Free from opiate or narcotic drugs, and acts gently yet effectively; children like it and take it readily, so that it is the ideal remedy for the family medicine chest. It is sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

GUN FIGHT IN DARK

Police Stumble Upon Thief Who Gives Battle With Gun, Escapes Police Fusillade and Gets Away.

Police, patrolling the railroad district Thursday night about 9 o'clock stumbled upon a thief, who gave battle with his gun, escaped the fusillade of shots the officers poured at him, and got away in the darkness, without the brass he was in the act of stealing when disturbed. In the group of officers were F. C. Buckman and Thomas Markey, of the city force. Special Agent Kirby of the C. G. W. and Fred Lanz, an employe of the Marshall Telephone Company, who happened to be with the officers.

Going south of the building of the Light Draft Harrow Company, Fifth avenue and Nevada, the officers saw a light in a small building on the Northwestern right-of-way. Buckman was leading, with Markey nearby. Buckman went to the door, pushed it open, and threw his flash inside. When he did so a man stepped into the doorway and thrust a revolver against Buckman's stomach. The latter quickly pushed the gun to one side and shoved into the doorway with the man, who crowded by and out, then backed off to the corner of the building, covering Buckman as he did so.

When around the building, the thief ran into the darkness. In his flight the thief ran into Kirby, who thought at first it was one of his party, and nearly knocked him down. Once past him, the thief began shooting as he ran toward the east. The four gave chase, and the thief sheltered himself behind a pile of telephone poles near Seventh avenue and Nevada. From behind this barricade he continued shooting. The four officers replied, aiming in the vicinity of the flashes, but not directly at them, while they maneuvered for position. When they searched the pile and the nearby they found no trace of the thief. Returning to the shanty, which proved to be a small building in which supplies for the section gang were stored, they found the padlock had been broken and thirteen brass and rabbit car journals had been removed to just inside the door, ready to be taken away.
