

TO PUT IOWA OVER ON NEXT FRIDAY

DIRECTOR MILLER CONFIDENT STATE WILL ATTAIN ITS WAR SAVINGS QUOTA.

STATE'S APPORTIONMENT FIXED AT $48,000,000

Each Man's Quota Now Fixed on His Ability to Pay—Per Capita Idea Abandoned During Present Drive—Campaigns on in More Than Fifty Counties of State.

Special Times-Republican, Des Moines, June 24.—Friday is the big day. On that day Homer A. Miller, state director of the Iowa war savings campaign, expects to be able to make the following report to the treasury department at Washington:

"Iowa's quota of $48,000,000 in war savings stamps has been raised in cash sales and pledges."

Progress of the campaign in the fifty odd counties in the state in which a drive is being put on indicates there is little doubt of its being able to do it. Reports of a most optimistic nature are coming in from all sections of the state. Even in counties where the quota has been raised or lacks but a few thousand dollars of being raised plans are being made for the observance of national war savings day.

In an effort to clean up the state's quota of stamps at this time, county and city chairmen have abandoned the quota of $20 per capita. Each man's quota now is based upon his ability to buy. Those who are capable of buying the limit amount of $1,000 will be expected to do so. They will not be left with a $50 or $100 pledge as they were earlier in the campaign.

In nearly every community in the state special committees have sent out cards to all taxpayers notifying them of their quota. Persons so notified are expected to be present at meetings held either on Friday afternoon or evening and pledge the amount that have been assessed against them. Failure to attend means that solicitors will call upon them and collect the amount.

Homer A. Miller, state director of the campaign, has issued the following statement concerning the drive: "On June 23 Iowa is expected to give her answer to the government's call for $48,000,000 to aid in carrying on the war. That answer should be given in no unmistakable terms. We should assure our government once more that we can be counted on to make this every sacrifice to help win the war. I am confident we will do this."

Iowa is in the lead now to reach her quota in war savings stamps. We stand well up in the list of states in the purchase of stamps. From ninth place in April we will jump, as a result of our May drive, to second or third place. Going over the top now is merely a matter of awakening to the fact that we have work to perform and every one doing his share of it.

"This is no time for the man of means who has made a $25 or $50 purchase of stamps to sit back in his chair and say that he has done his part. He has not and he will not have done his full share until he has bought the limit of $1,000; the largest amount the government allows any individual firm to own.

"Iowa is rich in material wealth and patriotism. Both of these will answer the nation's call to make national war savings day a success. I am confident of Iowa."

Record Sales in May. Iowa established a record in May sales of war savings stamps which is expected to land her in second or third place among the states of the union. Figures prepared at the office of Homer A. Miller, state director show that the total stamp sales in the state for the month amount to $8,849,864.59 more than was sold in the entire five months period up to May 1. These figures are of actual purchase that were made during the month.

The government report of state standings for the month of May is expected to place Iowa way up in May sales. The splendid showing made during the May drive even may result in giving Iowa honor place for the month.

It is conservatively estimated that there is only about $13,000,000 to be raised in the drive which terminates on national war savings day.

Total sales to date amount to $13,261,857.67. Pledges in various counties are estimated to be close to the $12,000,000 mark. This makes a total of approximately $25,000,000. The entire quota for the state is only $48,000,000.

The April sales report showed that only fourteen counties in the entire state were up to schedule in cash sales. According to the report of sales for May, forty-two counties have raised their cash sales up to the required amount.

MAY REGISTER ALL MEN.

Plans Being Considered For Utilization of Manpower to Fulllest. Special Times-Republican, Des Moines, June 24.—According to A. L. Ulrich, state labor commissioner, every man in the United States regardless of age may be listed for military or industrial service. Plans for such a registration are now being considered in Washington, he reports.

Commissioner Ulrich has just returned from Washington. If the plans are carried out every man's name will be placed on a card which will make the index with a view to the proper distribution of the country's manpower either in the military service or work necessary for the winning of the war.

Iowa will be divided into districts under this plan and a supervisor of manpower will be placed in charge of each district.

DELEGATES SAVE CARFARE.

Will Go to Baptist Convention by Auto

of the convention has just announced as one of the big features a patriotic address on the afternoon of July 4, by the Rev. Reuben Sallens, of Paris, France, who is looked upon as the leading Baptist minister in that country. He is a native of the south of France and served as a volunteer in the ambulance corps during the Franco-Prussian war. He now has two sons with the allies at the front, and his message as to the probable outcome of the present conflict will be the predominant feature of the convention.

DOUBT HARD COAL REPORT. Des Moines Officials Not Apprised of Allowance to North Iowa. Special Times-Republican.

Des Moines, June 24.—Altho reports have been filtering in to some points of the state that a little anthracite coal would come to Iowa the state fuel administrator's office has received no word to this effect.

Fuel Commissioner Webster is expected back from Washington early this week, where both himself and Governor Harding have been in an effort to get some concessions in the order recently issued by Dr. Garfield, head of the fuel administration, barring all shipments to this state.

It has been reported in the news dispatches from Sioux City that word has been received there to the effect that word to the north would receive 80 per cent of their normal supply of hard coal. This report can not be confirmed here, however. Northern Iowa has no soft coal mines and has always used far more hard coal proportionately than central or southern Iowa.

While Iowa consumers are more generally storing soft coal these summer months than they did a year ago, yet coal is not being stored in anything like the quantities necessary to avoid a serious shortage next winter, the men in touch with conditions declare. It is absolutely necessary, they say, to store coal if it is possible to do so and it will even pay to store it out of doors, they say.

KILLED BY LIVE WIRE. Hunt For Wild Strawberries Fatal to Stanton Man.

Stanton, June 23.—Investigation of the death of Fred Flood, aged 27, who was found dead along the Burlington railroad right-of-way four miles east of Stanton, revealed an unusual circumstance. The only mark upon Flood's body was a burn on the head.

There is a deep cut at the point where the body was found and there is a narrow strip of ground between the fence and the cut. The high powered transmission line of the Red Oak Electric Company runs thru the cut. One of the poles having been burned down, had fallen toward the tracks and rested on the fence, leaving the live wire only five or six feet from the ground.

Circumstances indicated that Flood was walking along and looking down as he had been gathering wild strawberries, and that his head came in contact with the wire. How long the wire had been allowed to remain in that dangerous position and responsibility for it are things that may have to be settled in the courts. The deceased was well known. He was unmarried and lived with his brothers, Carl and John Flood. A coroner's jury found that Flood met his death from contact with the electric wire.

FARM HOUSE BURNED. Home of Harry Straight, Near Logan, Destroyed By Fire. Special Times-Republican.

Logan, June 24.—Harry Straight's farm house and contents, eight or nine miles east of Logan, were destroyed by fire of unknown origin in their absence, Saturday night at 11 o'clock. From a narrow strip of ground between the fence and the cut, the fire spread and to other farm buildings. Mr. and Mrs. Straight, children and friends were attending a meeting at Starry Point, where a service flag of the township was dedicated Sunday afternoon and were unaware of their loss until driving toward home.

Mr. Straight is said to have carried insurance.

Walks Far to Enlist; Rejected. Waterloo, June 24.—After walking all the way from Fairbanks, a distance of twenty miles, to enlist in the marine corps, Thomas J. Ethell had to be rejected for physical reasons. He knew just what a marine's duties were liable to be and he did not wish to waste any of it on railroad fare.

Ethell has no parents and but one brother, who is in army service. Disappointed but not discouraged, Ethell went away hopeful of being able to pass for some other branch of the army.

Two Soldiers Disciplined. Camp Dodge, June 24.—For refusing to obey orders when told to rake the grounds in front of his company barracks Private William E. Johnston, depot brigade, will serve two years in the disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Waterloo Boy in Wreck. Waterloo, June 24.—George Tardy, son of M. T. Tardy, 715 Bluff street, was with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, which experienced a disastrous train wreck early Saturday in Indiana. His father had received no word, however, which would indicate that Tardy was among the killed or injured. This was his first season with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, after having been with Ringling's circus for more than fifteen years.

BOOZE DROUTH ON MISSISSIPPI

STEAMSHIP OWNERS ENJOINED FROM SELLING LIQUORS ON IOWA BORDER.

PERMANENT WRIT IS ACCEPTED BY LINES

Action Follows Seizure of Large Quantities of Beer—Bartender on One of Boats Heavily Fined—Order Applies Only to Sales in Waters Bordering State.

Davenport, June 24.—The Wishard Line, owner of the steamer G. W. Hill and other boats engaged in Mississippi river traffic, was enjoined Saturday from selling intoxicants on board the boats while plying in the waters bordering the state of Iowa. The writ was issued by Judge William Theophilus in district court after Capt. D. V. Wishard Line had waived resistance to the issuance of a permanent order.

The injunction following a raid made on the Steamer G. W. Hill by state agents on the night of June 1 and the seizure of 10,000 bottles of beer. Captain Cassidy and members of the crew were arrested at the time on charges of maintaining a nuisance. These informations were dismissed Saturday by County Attorney Henry H. Jebens following an agreement between the county attorney's office and attorneys for the defendant.

Frank Burlington, a member of the crew and classed as the boat's bartender, pleaded guilty to the charge of maintaining a nuisance and was fined $450 and costs. The charges against the others were then dismissed by the state.

Beer Returned. The state agreed to return the 236 cases of beer seized by the agents, the satisfaction of the county attorney's office that the shipment was a bona fide one and was consigned to parties in East Dubuque.

The liquor together with the "race horse game" confiscated by the state agents when they raided the boat, was removed from the county jail Saturday and reloaded on the boat.

Federal charges are still pending against Capt. D. W. Wishard and Captain Cassidy. The former waived preliminary hearing some time ago before Commissioner A. G. Bush and was held to the federal grand jury.

MANY AUTO TOURISTS. Highways in All Directions Crowded With Overland Travelers.

Nevada, June 24.—Nevada, "where the trail divides" between the great Lincoln highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific and the Jefferson highway from the Gulf to the Great Lakes, is now the passing point of hundreds of tourists each day.

The tourist cars are now on the roads in great numbers. There are parties in mammoth, high-powered touring cars, bearing wealthy Indian people from the west with their chauffeurs at the wheel passing the Ford with its load of people from the plains of the west.

Following the mammoth expensive touring car may be a stripped Ford chassis fitted with an oldtime prairie schooner cloth top and possibly a trailer fastened to the rear. Oklahoma Indians are sharing the road with the wealthy and the Jefferson highway and all of them are kept busy dodging the thousands of scurrying Iowa farmers who are about their every-day business, probably hauling grain or hogs to market in the tonneau of their car or their truck.

There are more tourists on the road today than there has been for years and part of this is ascribed to the rise in passenger rates on the railroads and the necessity of quick travel among the interstate points.

Belmond News Notes. Special Times-Republican.

Belmond, June 24.—Ed Houck, a local citizen living in East Belmond, had a few barberry bushes in his yard. They were evidently got on the nerves of someone in this vicinity, for a few days ago Mr. Houck found two tags attached to the bushes, printed in red and reading "You are hereby ordered to destroy these barberry bushes. By order of the state council of defense," on one tag, while the other asked: "Are you a pro-German?" Mr. Houck was much hurt over the insinuation that he was a pro-German, and that he is unpatriotic, as he is a civil war veteran.

WHERE AUSTRIAN LEADERS ARE STAKING ALL ON DRIVE TO MAKE SHOWING AND QUIET TROUBLE IN MONARCHY.

Military experts believe that the offensive of the Austrian troops, now under way, is the final effort of Austria to make a noticeable showing in the war in an effort to repay the people at home for their sacrifices and suffering. Reports from Austria indicate that the people at home have tired of the war and internal trouble is breaking out all over the empire. Failure to gain ground or capture any strategic points in this drive will result in the dual monarchy dropping out of active participation in the war. It is believed, Figure 1 indicates where Austrians have struck a hard blow on the Asiago plateau in an attempt to go thru Val Stagna, down the Brent river to the plains. Heavy fighting has been reported in the Mount Grappa region, one of the strong natural fortresses held by the Italian forces. Rome officials state that Austrian troops crossed the Piave river but were driven back.
