CUMMINGS TO MAKE TALKS NEXT WEEK

SENATOR WILL ADDRESS PEOPLE IN FOUR CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

BEGINNING OF PLAN TO SPEAK IN ALL

Will Speak in Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth Districts During Coming Week—Convention Speech Distributed Thruout State—Other Candidates May Ignore Haver Challenge.

Special to Times-Republican. Des Moines, May 12.—Senator A. B. Cummings will make at least four important campaign speeches in his own behalf next week.

He speaks at West Liberty in the Second district, Tuesday May 18. He will speak at Iowa Falls, in the Third district, either Wednesday or Thursday. He will make two speeches Saturday, the 22d, one at Cedar Rapids, in the Fifth district, and one at New Hampton, in the Fourth district. This is the beginning of his plan to speak in every congressional district in the state at least once, possibly oftener, and to close his speaking campaign just before the primary with a speech in Des Moines.

Whether or not any one of the three contestants for the republican nomination for governor will satisfy Attorney General Haver's ambition to meet him in joint debate has not been publicly indicated by any of the contestants. The only subject definitely specified by Haver was his question of compulsory arbitration of labor disputes but he also indicates that he might debate other issues. Whether or not the other candidates will look upon the talking points which the attorney general has chosen to discuss in his campaign speeches as real issues or not remains to be seen.

It is announced here that Iowa headquarters at the republican national convention at Chicago will be opened in parlors 184 and 194 at the Auditorium Sunday, June 8, two days before the national convention. Iowa has no favorite son candidate before the convention but the delegation is going in instructed for Lowden and the Iowa headquarters will therefore be in charge of Lowden boosters. Fred Davis of Sioux City, secretary of the Iowa national delegation and T. F. Holloway, secretary to Governor Harding and sergeant at arms of the Iowa delegation, will be in charge of the headquarters.

OLD GRADS TO GATHER

Iowa University Class of 1870 Plans Big Reunion Year.

Special to Times-Republican. Iowa City, May 12.—The fiftieth anniversary of the class of 1870 of the university of Iowa will be one of the crowning features of the 1920 commencement at the university on June 14 and 15.

Fourteen members of the class of thirty-four graduates who took their degrees from the university in 1870 are still living. Of these Francis E. Nipher, now a professor in Washington University at St. Louis, and Justin Edwards Cook of Independence, the youngest member of the class, have written to say they expect to be present upon the fiftieth reunion. Amos Hilt of Ceres, Calif., once principal of the Iowa city academy, writes that he has not been very strong, but will come if possible. His grandson, R. Stewart Hilt, has graduated this year from the university's college of medicine. Special entertainments will be arranged in honor of the class of 1870 at commencement time as a mark of respect to these venerable alumni. Reunions are being planned for all classes graduated in years ending with '75' and '85'. The class of 1880, of which Senator O. L. Chapman, of Iowa City, and W. O. Finkbine, of Des Moines, are prominent members, is to be entertained at dinner on Monday, June 14, at the Byington home in Iowa City. John M. Grimm, of Cedar Rapids, is organizing the class of 1870 for a big reunion and the 1910 class, with Clifford Powell and Maurice P. Cahill as chief instigators, expects to observe its tenth anniversary with a lively celebration.

ALASKA HARD HIT BY WORLD CONFLICT

VISITOR IN IOWA SAYS BUSINESS IN U. S. TERRITORY IS STAGNANT.

GOLD MINING NO LONGER PROFITABLE

Industry Practically Suspended Because of the Low Price of the Precious Metal—War Took Everything Away and Left Nothing, Says Dr. Condit.

Special to Times-Republican. Cedar Falls, May 12.—Alaska is experiencing a period of great depression as a result of the war in contrast to the unparalleled prosperity of the rest of the United States, according to Dr. J. H. Condit, head of the Presbyterian missionary work in Alaska. Dr. Condit is visiting his brother, Prof. I. S. Condit, of teachers' college, while on his way to attend the national Presbyterian assembly at Philadelphia. He has lived in Alaska twenty years and has his headquarters at Juneau.

"The war took everything away from us and left us nothing," he said. "We need more population to develop our great natural resources," he added. One effect of the war on Alaska that is most noticeable was to practically suspend the gold-mining industry, he declared. The inflation of currency caused by the war reduced the price of gold one-half until it is no longer profitable to mine it except in the very richest placer fields, Condit says, and practically all the big quartz mines have closed down. The high cost of labor, too, has contributed to this, he added. Much Alaskan labor left there for the Pacific coast of the mainland where wages in the shipbuilding industry range from $5 to $20 a day. The gold mining companies could not compete with such prices.

CLARION WOMAN DIES

Mrs. L. R. Edwards, Wife of County Agent, Suddenly Stricken. Special to Times-Republican. Clarion, May 11.—The sudden death of Mrs. L. R. Edwards, wife of the county agent has left Clarion in sadness. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards had driven to Belmond to attend a firm bureau meeting Saturday and Sunday. They were returning to Clarion Sunday afternoon and at 10 o'clock Monday morning, at the M. E. church, services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Walker. Her body was taken to Betherville. She was only 25 years old.

Y. W. C. A. TO DANCE

Des Moines Association Lites Ban of Long Years

Des Moines, May 12.—The ban of dancing in the Young Women's Christian Association of Des Moines has been officially lifted. Danes will be a feature of the social program that has been arranged for the coming season.

The first dance will be held Saturday night when men will for the first time in the history of the local association invade the building to dance. The following rules have been laid down by the board of directors to govern all dances:

The West Point position will be followed closely. There will be no evening clothes. All wraps will be removed. No one under 16 years will be permitted on the floor. There will be no commercialized dancing. There will be at least four chaperones with large parties.

LABOR CONVENTION MAY 15

State Federation to Hold Annual Meeting at Fort Dodge. By Associated Press. Des Moines, May 12.—Much interest attaches to the annual meeting of the Iowa State Federation of Labor, which convenes at Fort Dodge Tuesday, May 18. Politics will take a more prominent part than labor questions, it is predicted.

The labor leaders are particularly opposed to Senator Cummings for re-nomination and also the nomination of Attorney General E. M. Haver for governor. It is also reported that there is an element in the federation that favors the labor party movement and that this element is stronger than surface indications signify. Many more particularly favor supporting the national labor party. There will be much discussion of candidates for president now being proposed by the leading parties.

"Ag" Carnival at Ames. Ames, May 12.—The "Ag" carnival, an annual celebration by the students in the agricultural division at Iowa State College, premises to be a huge affair this year according to those in charge of the plans, and with the date set for Friday, May 14, every effort is being put forth to make it a success. A carload of tents to house the evening shows and the midway have been ordered from Des Moines and will be set up in the lots between the veterinary buildings and the railroad tracks.

A monster parade in the morning will start the day's festivities which will continue with a full program of band concerts, feature dancing, riding contests and cattle shows until the last of the fireworks display to be given after the evening shows are over. An extra effort is being made this year to feature educational exhibits from the different departments and to put them on in such a way that they may be easily adapted to country fairs and carnival exhibitions. The scholastic high school meet and the baseball game between Ames and the state university will be added attractions for Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15.

animal? The Dubuque county board of supervisors could not answer the question and asked the legal opinion of the county attorney. On the decision depends payment to Leo Stell, 3 years old, of the value of his pet rabbit killed by a dog. The lad made claim on the county under the law which provides payment for domestic animals killed by dogs.

Grinnell and Vicinity. Special to Times-Republican.

Grinnell, May 12.—Mrs. Jake Bowman, of Brooklyn, a sister of Mrs. Bert Wooster, of this city, after a continued illness at her home, was brought to St. Francis hospital for X-ray examination and treatment. Beginning with June 1 and continuing until October or later the boys and girls of Potoshaw county will have a chance to show what they can do in caring for pigs as a specialty. Pig clubs are to be formed and any boy or girl between the ages of 10 years and 19 may enter the ranks of the contestants for the prizes. Reports must be made regularly to the county agent on blanks furnished by the farm bureau. The Grinnell Fair Association management is taking deep interest in the experiment in practical education of the children and offers desirable prizes. The Brooklyn Agricultural Society offers ten liberal prizes and the Potoshaw Association is also in the prize giving list.

Warrior Stocks and family have just moved into the new home at 1433 Main street recently bought of W. S. Kearney.

The Methodist Sunday school of this city surpassed all previous records of attendance on last Sunday, having a total of over 550. At the thank-offering meeting of the missionary society, addressed by Mrs. F. F. Lindsay, of St. Paul, the offering was over $400.

A good example of promptness in meeting financial obligations was given by the class of junior girls in the Congregational Sunday school who pledged $50 one Sunday to help in the inter-church work, which money was to represent personal sacrifices, each on either the head and shoulders or taking it from a fund saved for something else, and the following Sunday brought the treasurer's receipt for the full amount pledged.

The high school quadrangle track meet here is to be held in the forenoon of Saturday at Ward field and in the afternoon at 2:30 there will be a dual college meet, Missouri-Grinnell, the first between these two for the past fifteen years. The members of the local post of the American Legion are looking forward with pleasant anticipations to the meeting announced for May 22, when they are to be addressed by Dar. C. Newquist, formerly captain in the 168th infantry. He was wounded and sent home on the invalid list. He is given a reputation as an interesting speaker, well posted on his subject, which is to be the changes and benefits of the soldier insurance.

Mrs. Earl Dee, of Sheridan township, is reported as in good health at her home after some time in hospital at Marshalltown following an operation there.

Mrs. D. R. Snook, who was so unfortunate as to fall at her home on West street and break a leg, has spent three weeks at St. Francis hospital, but is now able to be moved to her home, where she must lie for three weeks longer.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Taylor spent Sunday with friends in Eldora.

Ben Schwarz is again at the home of Grinnell, having finished his year in Boston University School of Theology, and is resting briefly while he decides upon his future location for the long vacation.

In spite of the petting, chilly rain of last evening the attendance

Youthful Bandit Tells Boys to Take Advice of Mothers

Des Moines, May 12.—Rex Meade's mother wanted him to be a good boy. But he didn't listen to her.

Now Meade, who is 25 years old, and married, is behind the bars waiting trial on charge of burglary. He turned bandit three weeks ago, and was caught, following a gun battle with Patrolman Jim MacDonald, in which Robt Tracey, his pal, was fatally wounded.

At the city jail, Meade grows philosophical. He advises young men to stay away from pool halls; to avoid familiarity with strangers; to seek square friends, and to remember the advice of their mothers.

"I have a good mother at Spirit Lake," he says. "She tried to keep me straight, but I wouldn't listen to her."

The youthful bandit admits having stolen jewelry valued at several hundred dollars in Des Moines, but he says he's "willing to pay the penalty."

Meade ended four years' service in the navy last September. "Anyone can look over my navy records," he says. "It's A-36-1, and I'm proud of it. After my discharge last September I came to Des Moines. I became acquainted with a girl here, and married her. Her folks didn't like me, and they quarreled with me all the time. But I was straight; I was working and trying to make a living. I left home about a month ago. I had no friends, but the fellows in the poolrooms were friendly, and called me pal."

"I found I could make easy money selling stolen goods. Then I stole, too—it seemed so easy. But you can't keep that up. They'll always get you, when you aren't on the square. Tracey and I got caught. I was lucky; not to be killed."

When Meade's case comes up for trial Wednesday, he's going to plead guilty to all charges, and take the punishment meted out to him. Jailor Tom Cross says Meade is a good prisoner. "He just went wrong," says Tom.
