

KING'S TROOPERS FIRE INTO DUBLIN MOB, KILLING FOUR

More Than Sixty Others Wounded,
Some of Whom Will Die—
—Shooting Result of Gun-running Exploit of Nationalist Volunteers.

MORE RIOTING IS FEARED

Excited Crowds Through the Streets and Some of Men Are Armed.

Dublin, July 27.—Three men and one woman are dead and more than sixty persons are in the hospital wounded as a result of a battalion of the King's Own Scottish Borderers firing into a mob in the streets of Dublin yesterday afternoon. Seven of the wounded are expected to die. Among them are three women and a boy of 10.

The affray was the result of a gunrunning exploit of the nationalist volunteers, who are being aided by a mob composed largely of women and youths. A consignment of rifles, said to number 10,000, was landed Saturday night at Howth, nine miles from Dublin, from a private yacht.

MANY ARE WOUNDED.

The nationalist volunteers cut the telegraph wires and stopped travel on the Dublin roads, and, according to reports, sent away most of the rifles, together with 70,000 rounds of ammunition, in motor cars.

A battalion of the King's Own Scottish Borderers was ordered to capture the arms yesterday afternoon when the authorities heard the volunteers were bringing them into the city. The soldiers encountered a detachment of volunteers at Clonmell bridge and an outbreak resulted, but there was no shooting.

Soon a great crowd collected and followed the troops, jeering them and cheering for John Redmond, the nationalist leader, and home rule. Finally the mob began throwing bottles and stones, injuring several soldiers.

CUT TELEGRAPH WIRES.

To this attack the battalion replied with a scattered fusillade. In an instant the streets was covered with wounded, while terrified men, women and children ran in all directions.

St. Jura's hospital is situated only 200 yards from the scene of the fray and the wounded were quickly taken there, where four of them died.

The soldiers and police seized 100 rifles from the volunteers.

Excited crowds filled the streets of Dublin last night, some of the men carrying rifles. The borderers are confined to barracks to prevent the people from attacking them. A street car in which a soldier was riding was wrecked last night, but the soldier escaped. Further rioting is feared.

Among those seriously injured is M. J. Judge, a prominent officer of the nationalist volunteers.

ARMS LANDED AT NOON.

The arms were landed at noon yesterday instead of Saturday night, as was first reported. The yacht was a sailing vessel, the name of which had been painted over. A woman, or a man in woman's clothing, some persons say, commanded the yacht.

A thousand volunteers marched openly from Dublin to receive the arms, but declared they were making a practice march. Local police and the coast guard tried to prevent the landing of the arms, but were driven off.

When the Dublin authorities learned of the landing they sent sixty police to seize the arms. They were later reinforced by 200 others, under command of an assistant commissioner. The police were drawn on both sides of the road along which the volunteers were returning with soldiers in the center of the road.

MOST OF THEM ESCAPE.

When the volunteers saw the mobilization most of them got away with their arms, scattering through the fields. The police and soldiers tried to disarm the remainder.

In the resulting affray several revolver shots were fired by volunteers and a corporal and a private were wounded. The volunteers also used their rifles as clubs.

The soldiers fired and used their bayonets freely, inflicting many cuts. Then they had a running fight with the volunteers and the rapidly growing mob through the streets to their barracks.

A number of policemen have been suspended for refusing to try to disarm the volunteers.

After the troops had fired into the crowd, the angry populace in a spirit of revenge attacked individual soldiers and beat them brutally. Members of the Scottish borderers, who were riding bicycles along the quays, were pulled from their machines and beaten and the bicycles were thrown into the river.

The Cradell Roll.

Cards have been received by friends here announcing the arrival of a baby daughter, Arline May, born July 20th, to Mr. and Mrs. Bergthold of Sioux City. Mrs. Bergthold will be remembered by people here as Miss Mattie Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reese Hughes, who resided in this city about fifteen years ago.

Free From Care Day.

Ellsworth News: Free From Care Day is becoming one of the popular annual events in central Iowa. Since its inauguration, five years ago, every event has outclassed its predecessor and it is becoming known far and near as one of the real big days of the year.

The date has been set for August 20th, for this year. No one has ever been here on Free From Care Day that did not get more than his or her money's worth.

Ellsworth always believed in giving value received and if they could give $2.00 worth of entertainment for 50 cents, they always did so, without making any extra charges.

Ever since last year, the band boys have been saying that the "Original Bernards" would be one of the free attractions of the day. If they have not already made a date for August 20th, they will be here. They are one of the best companies—as well as the higher priced—on the road today.

Other free attractions have not been agreed upon, but one thing is certain, the little Susies Band will be resurrected again and if they cannot keep the crowd supplied with music, it is because the music will all be blown out.

An attempt will also be made to secure some prominent speaker for that day—and it is agreed among local boosters that the day will be a greater one than any previous one.

Goodrich-Barber.

A very pretty wedding was that Saturday evening at eight o'clock, when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goodrich, residing on west Second street, gave in marriage their eldest daughter, Galdys May, to Mr. Jerome Barber, son of Mrs. S. J. Barber, all of this city.

The wedding ceremony, which was performed by Rev. L. H. Sours of the Christian church, took place under an arch of bells festooned in pink and white, the bridal party forming during the playing of Mendelssohn's wedding march by Mrs. Ethel Boynton, cousin of the bride. The bride was prettily gowned in white mousseline with over dress of silver trimmed shadow lace, and wore a beautiful bridal veil. She was attended by Miss Mabel Owens and by her little sister, Lorna, who bore the ring on a gold tray. The groom was attended by Mr. Welba Craig of this city.

Following the congratulations, the forty-five assembled guests partook of a bountiful three course wedding dinner. The gifts from friends of the happy pair were varied and beautiful.

The young couple will for the present reside with the bride's parents, the groom having employment in the sieve factory.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Aquilla Wilson from Minnesota; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dayton and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dayton and son and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Holloway, all of Ft. Dodge; Mr. and Mrs. John Suer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goodrich and son and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Goodrich and two children of Lehigh.

A FORMER IOWA WOMAN MURDERED BY INSANE MAN

Mrs. Edna Williams-Mountain Slain
In Pasco, Wash., Buried at Perry.

Perry, Ia., July 27.—The body of Mrs. Edna Williams-Mountain, who was killed by an apparently insane man named Jacob Sentel at Pasco, Wash., was brought to this city and the funeral services were held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Williams, yesterday. The body was accompanied by her husband, W. T. Mountain of Pendleton, Wash.

Mrs. Mountain's death was a tragic one. She had been in Pasco for three days visiting with a friend and was on the way to the depot when she was attacked by Sentel, who fired two shots into her body, one of them passing through the heart. Sentel then turned the revolver upon himself, inflicting a wound which it was thought would prove fatal. The man was a stranger to Mrs. Mountain, and as no one saw the tragedy the reason for the attack will probably never be known. Mr. and Mrs. Mountain were married about a year ago.

BIG RAIN BREAKS HUMBOLDT DROUGHT

Good Corn Crop Assured by Fall of Three Inches.

Humboldt, July 27.—The long continued drought in this section of the state, which was beginning to show on the corn, has been most effectively broken by a rainfall of over three inches, one of the heaviest falling here in a long while. It has practically made the corn, while the pastures are picking up rapidly.

Late potatoes have been very materially damaged by the drought. The harvest of oats was done under most favorable circumstances, although the yield will not be heavy owing to the heat at the time the grains were forming, making them rather light. Fruit will be scarce about here.

Traveled on Old Number.

James McClanahan, who resides east of town, appeared before Justice Tucker Saturday evening on a charge filed by County Attorney Henderson for running his auto on the 1913 number. Mr. McClanahan pleaded guilty and was fined.

Operation is Successful.

Mrs. L. J. Wilson, who, in company with her husband and little daughter, went to Des Moines last week to consult a specialist in regard to the serious ear trouble she has been having, underwent an operation Saturday afternoon. Word received by friends here says the operation was a successful one and Mrs. Wilson is getting along as well as could be expected.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Mrs. Albert Winkle of Jewell was taken to Mercy hospital this morning where she at once underwent a minor operation.

Rex Willis, the brakeman who was injured in an accident in the Illinois Central yards a week ago in this city and since that time has been cared for in Mercy hospital, has improved so that he will return to his home today.

E. W. Wilson, who has been confined in the hospital for some time with a broken limb, will also be able to be returned to his home today.

Miss Irene Maywald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Maywald, underwent another operation at Mercy hospital this morning. Last winter Miss Maywald was very ill for about four or five months and underwent two surgical operations.

OFFICERS FIND NEW EVIDENCE THAT THE NURSE ENDED LIFE

Hypodermic Needle Wounds Found on Body of Woman at Marshalltown.

Marshalltown, Ia., July 27.—Later developments in the mysterious death of Miss Bertha G. Galdas, the nurse who was found dead in a local hospital Friday, strengthen the supposition of suicide.

A careful examination of the woman's body by the undertaker resulted in the finding of what is believed to be the wound of a hypodermic needle in the breast. Two small phials were found in the emergency room where the body was found and the contents of them are to be analyzed in an effort to find whether or not they contain poison. A hypodermic syringe was found hidden in the bed in the emergency room, but the needle has not yet been found. It is now believed that Miss Galdas died some time Wednesday night, and that her body lay all day Thursday, Thursday night and a part of Friday before being discovered. All efforts to find the woman's relatives have as yet been of no avail.

Pettit, head of the department of entomology of the Michigan Agricultural college. He explained that he based his estimate on letters received from farmers in the affected district.

Wreck on the Northwestern.

Ellsworth News: There was another terrible wreck on the railroad track just west of town Tuesday afternoon. He looked like a dope fiend and a Hamilton county farmer wouldn't have used his clothes to dress a scare crow with. The wreck asked us to give him something and we gave him $2.40 cents worth of advice and didn't charge him a cent.

Melon Crop in Danger.

Muscatine, Ia., July 27.—The Muscatine county melon crop is in danger of serious injury because of droughty conditions. The continued dry warm weather of the past week baked the plants and unless heavy rains occur in the melon growing regions within the next several days the melon supply will be cut short. The Muscatine island and the Conesville district supplies a great part of the midwest with melons and unfavorable weather here will curtail the supply generally.

That Whooping Cough Recipe.

A few days ago the Freeman-Tribune published a request from one of its subscribers for the republication of a whooping cough recipe which Mrs. P. H. Morris had published six or eight years ago. The recipe was brought to this office yesterday by J. R. Zeigler, and is as follows:

Four tablespoonfuls of whole flax seed, one-half ounce of horehound herb, one quart boiling water; steep three hours in covered vessel. Add juice from three onions and two lemons, tincture of lobelia and epicacuanha three drachms each, sugar to sweeten. Take a teaspoonful every two hours or when ever a coughing spell comes on.

Action is Regarded as Equal to Declaration of Hostilities—Italy Takes Stand—Will Act in Accordance With Relations With Triple Alliance.

THE DANUBE ENCOUNTER.

Vessels Conveying Austrian Infantry
Across River Are Fired On.

Vienna, July 27.—The sending of his passports to the Servian minister, M. Jovanovitch, by the Austrian foreign office yesterday is deemed equivalent to a declaration of war.

This action was taken yesterday, the report that the Servian minister left Vienna Saturday having been incorrect. He will depart immediately. The Russian ambassador will take charge of the Servian interests.

It is believed that there will be no formal declaration of war, as Serbia never subscribed to The Hague convention.

There were patriotic demonstrations throughout the day, although a heavy rain was falling. Great crowds gathered in front of the war office and cheered the officers who appeared. Processions with flags flying filled the streets.

A general mobilization in Montenegro is reported.

Italy has informed Austria that in event of armed conflict with Serbia she will adopt a friendly attitude in accordance with her relations with the triple alliance.

Proclamations have been posted ordering partial mobilization.

The Austro-Hungarian bank has raised the bank rate from 4 to 5 per cent and the committee of the house has decided to close the bourse Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The committee explains that its decision was actuated by regard for the public interests, to prevent an unwarranted disturbance of industrial interests and to counteract disquieting reports.

The Neue Freie Presse says the minister of finance will raise $65,000,000 for the government's immediate requirements, and adds that negotiations between the powers for the localizing of the conflict will continue.

In diplomatic circles there is a feeling of optimism that these negotiations will be successful, and it is said by one diplomat yesterday that "France has no intention to expose herself too much on Serbia's behalf."

Baron Giesl von Gieslingen, the Austro-Hungarian minister to Serbia, who left Belgrade Saturday night on the breaking off of diplomatic relations, arrived here yesterday.

The imperial decree Saturday gives the government enormous powers to insure the secrecy of its measures. The authorities are entitled to open all letters. Only telegrams approved by the censor can be dispatched to any point. Newspapers publishing details of military preparations or movements can be suppressed.

All the railways are guarded by sentries with orders to use their arms on any persons who fail to stop when commanded.

The prospect of war is not regarded here as child's play. The Servians put 400,000 into the field during the Balkan wars. Both officers and men are passionately patriotic. It is expected that Serbia will attempt to hold the front along the Danube and the Drina with only a weak force while the greater part of the army will be concentrated in the central district, probably near Nish or Kraguyevatz, and another strong force in Novipazar, which will be destined for offensive operations against Bosnia.

According to a Semlin rumor the first encounter between Austria and Serbia has occurred near Semendria, on the Danube, twenty-four miles southeast of Belgrade. Some vessels conveying Austrian infantry were said to have been fired on from the Servian side of the Danube and to have returned the fire.
