

'OPEN SHOP' PREVAILS HERE

Webster City Building Operations, so far as Carpenters Concerned, now "Open."

NO DEMONSTRATION

Action of Master Builders was Expected by Union Men.

Webster City building operations, so far as carpenter work is concerned, went to the "open shop" basis this morning without any demonstrations or untoward actions of any kind. The action was in no wise unexpected, following the action of the local union Friday evening in voting not to accept the proposed reduction from 87½ cents per hour to 80, it was a foregone conclusion that the Master Builders this morning would carry out their ultimatum of an open shop and an 80 cent wage scale.

Work Goes On.

The "open shop" basis did not in any way interfere today with any building work in this city. It is understood that one small job contracted for by John Hall at the old union scale is going forward at the old wage. Outside this one job, however, the "open shop" and the 80 cent wage scale prevails here.

The only place in the city where union men were working, outside the Hall job, was at the Willson hotel. These men were ordered off the job last week by the union, but refused to obey orders and are still working this week.

Union Not Unanimous.

It is understood that the members of the union are by no means unanimous in the stand against accepting the 80 cent scale and it is claimed by the Master Builders that several union men have destroyed their union cards and broken off relations with the organization. It is also said by the Master Builders that several union carpenters from Fort Dodge have asked for work in Webster City at the 80 cent scale. It is the intention of the Master Builders in Webster City to maintain the open shop on carpenters for the coming year.

Hughes Deputy Collector.

R. D. Hughes, of this city, formerly county treasurer, has accepted a position as deputy revenue collector under Collector Lars Bladine. Mr. Hughes will work in northern Iowa out of the Mason City office. He leaves for Mason City today and will begin active work next week. He will continue his residence in Webster City, however. Mr. Hughes will make an unusually competent man in the revenue department. He served as county treasurer here for three terms.

Williams Items.

Among those who attended the home talent play, entitled "The Prairie Rose," presented by the Dows Community Farm Bureau Friday night at Blairsville were Mr. and Mrs. Nesbitt, Misses Esther Morrow and Helen Kane, Bob James and Ray Franklin.

Miss Mary Watkins, of the State University at Iowa City, spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walker from Koryon, Minn., are visiting at the home of the former's brother, Martin Walker. Dr. Wilson is attending the state dental meet at Des Moines this week.

Glumski, the pitcher for the Williams baseball team this coming season, writes that he will be ready to start work May 5.

Miss Grace Hartly spent the week end with relatives in Fort Dodge.

Miss Margaret Meyers visited with her friend, Miss Odessa Lynd, of Blairsville, last Friday evening. Miss Lynd accompanied Miss Meyers back to Williams where they spent Sunday at the home of the latter.

Five members of the Wolf patrol enjoyed an outing Thursday and Friday. They pitched camp near the Iowa river, nine miles northeast of Williams. The fact that they slept only two hours during the night did not diminish the desire for another trip like it.

The occupation of an angler has commonly been considered as fit for lazy men only. However, our opinion has been subject to variation after having seen our most enterprising business pick their weapons of war and quietly steal away to the sunny banks of the Iowa river.

Love of nature, toasted marshmallows and "wienies," led the juniors and seniors of Williams high school to the now popular banks of the Iowa river last Friday afternoon. The outing was enjoyed by everyone.

FIELD MUSEUM TO OPEN SOON

Field Museum of Chicago, Which was First Planned 27 Years ago, Will be Opened.

SHORE LINE CHANGED

Museum Contains Wonderful Treasures From Expositions.

Chicago, May 2.—The Field Museum of Chicago, the greatest natural history museum in the west, will be opened to the public in its new home on the southern edge of Grant Park tomorrow, 27 years after the museum took root. It is one of the contributions that the great World's Fair of 1893 made to Chicago.

Launched in the Old Exposition building in Jackson park in 1894, the plans for the new building began as a sketch in 1902, reached the form of final working plans in 1906, and went under contract in 1911. The building was actually put under construction on the present site in 1915.

Change Lake Shore Line. When this site was chosen the waters of the lake covered the greater portion of it and the South Park commissioners had to make arrangements to fill this area and to obtain the consent of the war department to the changing of the lake shore line. The present location works in harmony with the city beautiful plans.

Wonderful treasure from the mines and mining building, the manufactures building, fisheries and transportation buildings, and other exhibits scattered throughout the spacious fair grounds were obtained. These precious collections have since been augmented by other exhibits acquired at the close of various expositions—Paris, San Francisco, St. Louis, etc.

The museum offers an exceptional opportunity for study and research and brings to industry myriad suggestions in design and color. It is intended to extend the service of the institution in a practical way into the economic, educational and industrial life of the community.

Distribute Minerals.

Through the school extension work provided by the late N. W. Harris, collections of birds and small animals, of plants, ores, rocks and minerals are being distributed to the public schools of Chicago and made an integral part of the educational facilities of the city. Economic collections also are circulated, useful in those courses which deal with practical phases of natural production and distribution, geography and commerce.

"Jiggs" Dinner.

A committee meeting was held yesterday afternoon to set the date and make plans for the "Jiggs" dinner, the plans for which first saw light at the "Jamboree" recently. It was decided to have the dinner May 12 in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, and that corn beef and cabbage would be served. The dinner will sell at $1 per plate and is open to all business men and women of the city.

The idea was started at the "Jamboree" with the sale of a head of cabbage for the benefit of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Fifty-five signed at that time for a share in the "Jiggs feed." Reservations can be made with the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

MICHIGAN SENATOR, SENTENCED TO PEN, IS FREE

murder of the defendant. No Power.

"Obviously the corrupt practices act applies to primaries, as well as to elections," said the decision, "but the one question for the court to decide is whether congress, under the limited exception in Section 4, Article 1 of the constitution, which gives congress the power to fix the 'manner of holding' elections, could give then actual power over the elections themselves." The court held that it did not.

History of Case.

The case of United States Senator Truman H. Newberry of Michigan and sixteen of his political associates reached the supreme court of the United States from the federal district court at Grand Rapids, Mich., where the appellants were found guilty March 20, 1920, of criminal conspiracy to violate the federal corrupt practices act.

The senator was sentenced by the district judge, Clarence W. Sessions, to two years imprisonment at Fort Leavenworth and fined $10,000. This, the extreme penalty of the law, was also placed against two others, the remaining sentences running down to a fine of $1,000.

The sentences of those found guilty with Senator Newberry follow: Frederick Cody, of New York, former superintendent of Detroit schools, two years in Leavenworth and $10,000 fine.

Paul H. King of Detroit, manager of the Newberry campaign, two years in Leavenworth and $10,000 fine.

Charles A. Boyd of Detroit, assistant manager of the Newberry campaign, two years in Leavenworth and $5,000 fine.

William J. Mickel of Oshkosh, Wis., former deputy state food and drug inspector in Michigan, two years in Leavenworth.

Allan A. Templeton, ex-president of the Detroit Board of Commerce and general chairman of the Newberry Committee, one year and six months in Leavenworth.

Rogers M. Andrews, editor of the Menominee Herald-Leader, one year and six months in Leavenworth.

Milton Oakman, Detroit, former sheriff, one year and six months in Leavenworth.

Richard H. Fletcher, Bay City, state labor commissioner, one year and three months in Leavenworth.

James F. McGregor, Detroit, one year and three months in Leavenworth.

Fred Henry, Flint, deputy state factory inspector one year and three months in Leavenworth.

Hannibal A. Hopkins of St. Clair, Mich., clerk in the U. S. Senate, Washington, one year and one day in Leavenworth.

E. V. Chilton, of Ann Arbor a republican national committee employee, one year and one day in Leavenworth.

John S. Newberry, Detroit, brother of the senator, $10,000 fine.

Harry O. Turner, Detroit, former chief deputy marshal, $2,000 fine.

B. Frank Emery, Detroit, former clerk in the Wayne county treasurer's office, $2,000 fine.

George S. Ladd, Sturbridge, Mass., former master of the Massachusetts State Grange, $1,000 fine.

All the convicted men have been at liberty on bonds since their indictment.

The specific charge against Senator Newberry was that between Dec. 1, 1917 and No. 5, 1918 he "unlawfully and feloniously did conspire, combine, confederate and agree with divers persons" to vindicate the Act of June 25, 1910, by contributing sums aggregating $100,000 toward the expenses of his nomination and election. It was not necessary, the government asserted, that Newberry should actually give this amount or that he should have had personal supervision of its expenditure, but it was sufficient if he had guilty knowledge that contributions to an illegal aggregate were being accepted for the purpose in view.

COL. BREWER TO COME TOMORROW

Will Meet new Officers and Men in Military Company.

Col. Guy A. Brewer today notified Maj. F. J. Lund that he will arrive in Webster City about noon tomorrow. He wishes, during the noon hour, to meet the new officers of Webster City's national guard company and in the evening at the Chamber of Commerce he would like to meet the officers and as many as possible of those who expect to enlist in the company.

The evening meeting will be an open one and as many as possible who expect to enlist, are asked to report at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 o'clock and meet Col. Brewer and the officers. The commissions to Capt. Mahoney and Lieuts. Meller and House have already been issued.

Arrested for Speeding.

It does not pay to race with the city manager—so thinks William Ankrum, who lives near Webster City. Mr. Long saw the young man driving an auto on west Second street at a fast rate of speed and in his attempt to catch him his car had to reach the forty-five mile mark on the speedometer. Ankrum was fined $5.

Chamber Board Meeting.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.
