

LOCAL NOTICES

New Carpet and Oil Cloths at Robt. S. Lytle's. Go to W. H. Higgins for clover, timothy seed, &c. FRESH BREAD and Cakes at all times at Dawson Bros.

PERSONAL

Miss Lizzie Cook, of Burgin, is visiting relatives here. Misses LUCY and SUE WARD BRADLEY left for Louisville, yesterday, to join their mother, who has taken charge of a Boarding House, at 125, West Chestnut Street.

LOCAL MATTERS

RINK to-night. Doors open at 7. It's all over town—the mud and slush. Dawson Bros. will be ready to take to-day. A NEW stock of Champion Steel Plows at W. H. Higgins.

very appropriate discourse. There was scarcely a dry eye in the house, and a more solemn or impressive occasion we have never attended. Preceded by the young men who were his associates and friends, marching in double column, the pall bearers, Col. W. G. Welch, Dr. I. F. Hoffmann, S. P. Stagg, and Drs. Brough, Peyton and Carpenter, accompanying the hearse, and a long procession of vehicles containing weeping friends following, the remains were borne to Buffalo Cemetery, and there deposited to await the resurrection morn.

RELIGIOUS

—Rev. Dr. Bellows, the eminent Unitarian minister, died in New York, Monday. —A temperance movement has broken out in Louisville, and red ribbon is in demand. —Mr. Barnes has entered upon the fifth week of his effort to evangelize Louisville. He has preached three sermons every day, and the ostensible results are 904 confessions and 524 anointings. —(Courier-Journal.)

LAND, STOCK AND CROP

—The mule market is exceedingly lively, but unfortunately, Lincoln has none for sale. —T. C. Jasper bought of Maj. Jones 150 acres of land two miles west of McKinney at $35, and sold to Charles Daugherty 100 acres near his store at $22 per acre. —At H. G. Week's sale in Woodford, milk cows brought from $40 to $60; grade Albany heifer calves $25 to $60; common ewes $4.50 per head; brood sows of 125 to 150 lbs. $11 to $14 each; corn in crib, $3.75; feather 35 cents per bush, and sheep at $2.50 per hundred bundles.

MARRIAGES

—REID—WOOD.—On February, 2nd, near Hustonville, Mr. John W. Reid, a young merchant, and Miss Mary, daughter of Cabell Woods, Esq., were united in marriage. —CASE—ON pneumonia, complicated with heart disease, on the night of January 31st, at 10 o'clock, Squire John Cash breathed his last, aged 74 years. Squire Cash was born in Rockcastle, and subsequently became a citizen of Pulaski, from which county he removed to Lincoln in 1851, where he has since resided, and where on account of his honest and honorable bearing, and his conscientious discharge of every duty devolving upon him, he has ever commanded the respect and confidence of his fellows. He has been a Justice of the Peace since 1858, and President of the Standard and Hustonville Turkeys Company since 1863, both of which he has held with honor to himself and to the satisfaction of those interested. He leaves six children to mourn his loss, two of whom are far away in Texas, who will perhaps learn of their misfortune for the first time through this paper. Squire Cash was for many years a leading member of McCormack Christian Church, and his influence for good was always fully exerted. A good man has been taken, and after life's faithful career, may he sleep well.

DEATHS

—CRIG.—Dr. Craig is dead. This heart-rending announcement was made about 10:30 Monday night, and although it was not unexpected, his friends, who were hoping almost against hope, were a-pled. They could not realize that the noble hearted fellow, who was so full of life and happiness just two days before, had been so suddenly cut down—so soon enfolded in the arms of death. But it was, alas! too true. The cruel hand that crushed out his life had been unerring in its precision, and after 48 hours of suffering, the restless spirit had flown. Dr. Samuel P. Craig was in his 35th year, and for one of his age, had attained a prominence in his profession that was truly wonderful. He commenced the study of medicine under his father, who was one of the most eminent physicians of his day, and at his bedside became a pupil of the late Dr. John J. Jackson, of Danville, subsequently graduating with distinction at one of the New York Medical Colleges. He returned to this, the place of his birth, about 1868, and has since commanded a practice which might have been very lucrative, but for his liberal dealings with his patients, and a repugnance toward pressing any one for money. In disposition he was frank, open hearted and generous, and as true to his friends as the needle to the pole. The poor found in him a faithful support. He never seemed to care whether they were able to pay for his services or not, and the love that clung about him was shown by many a tearful eye as he came from far and near to look at the lifeless body as it lay in the parlor of his hotel. They will miss him. We shall all miss him. The writer of this, especially, will miss him, for more than half his unoccupied hours was spent in this office, and the occasional assistance he gave us in local and other items that he would write up, seemed to afford him the greatest pleasure. He leaves a sister and a brother to mourn his early demise, Mrs. R. W. Lillard and Jas. T. Craig, and to them the sincere sympathies of the community go tenderly out. He loved them so fondly, and was so solicitous for their health and welfare. No wonder they give him up as if yielding up their very heart's blood. A noble young man has fallen in the prime of life, and his awful fate should be a warning to us all. Let us imitate his many good qualities and strive to steer clear of the rock on which his life boat was stranded. A large crowd was present to pay the last tribute of respect to the dead, and although the Christian Church in which the funeral sermon was preached, is very large, a great many were unable to obtain seats, but stood while Elder Joseph Ballou delivered a

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Sam Engleman sold to Will Roe, of Danville, a sorrel gelding for $140, and to Tom Daram a 2-year-old filly for $75. —Our long horse is taking to his work nicely. If the track continues muddy he will win the trial race in March without any trouble. He is selling one hundred to one in the pools now. —Soc Owens has sold the lot of fine cattle advertised in this paper a short time since. —Messrs. Carpenter & Hiff, of this vicinity, have bought of Messrs. Hamilton, of Mt. Sterling, four short horn heifers, said to be pure "Young Marys," two of which are yearlings, the other 2-year-olds, for $2,000. —Jim Avritt entered a staunch fighting dog against a thoroughbred wolf cat, a few days since. The dog decided that the cat's mode of fighting was contrary to "the code," and left in disgust. He is said to be meditating over the matter in solitude. The cat was killed, and proved to be a very large one. —Mrs. Lucinda Hooker—who has been bedfast at the residence of her son, Dr. S. G. Hooker, of Turnersville, nearly six months—was released by death last Monday afternoon. Mrs. H. was aged 78 years, and was probably the oldest living member of the Hanging Fork Presbyterian church. She had survived all her children and her husband, all her children but one, and nearly all the contemporaries of her youth.

GARRARD COUNTY

—G. Bright sold to a Madison county man 7 two-year-old mules at $120. —Dr. Jennings Price has been appointed guardian for a non-resident minor heir to the estate of Pat Flannery, a wealthy Irishman, who died here about two years ago. This was necessary to procure a decree for the sale of the estate. —Mrs. John T. Leavell, of Macksville, Washington county, was buried here Sunday. The news of Dr. Craig's death was received here with deep regret. Not to have been more intimately associated with our people his popularity was remarkable. —Rev. Geo. Dunlap and wife and Mrs. E. D. Potts returned from Chicago, Ill., Monday. Col. Mat. Walton, a former resident, but now of the Blue Grass, is here on business. Hon. M. J. Durham and J. S. Van Winkle, of Danville, were here at court this week. —Austin's attorneys informed me he is very anxious for a trial, and does not, as has been reported, want a change of venue. He will be ready for trial at the special term. He still persists that he is innocent, and his father and family believing this will stand by him to the last. —The Grand Jury is still in session, and seems to be doing its work thoroughly. The chances for the "guilty man" to escape indictment are exceedingly slim. The trial of Wm. Austin for murdering Miss Betsy Bland, was to have begun Wednesday, but the defense not being ready the case is continued for a special term to begin Monday, Feb. 13th. Judge Orsley informed the defense if it was not ready then he would transfer the case to Boyle county, and try it any how. The Sheriff has been ordered to summon 100 men from adjoining counties, and remote points of this county, so we may expect the trial to begin at the time specified. Circuit Court is still shoving things. Few cases of interest on the docket, however. A novel suit came up last week, in which Mrs. Ballou sued Ben. F. Hudson for deserting a family burying ground, on land which Hudson purchased from her, by erecting a pig pen, ash hopper, &c., in, or near the ground than Mrs. B. thought he should. The case elicited some splendid arguments from the opposing counsel, Hon. W. O. Bradley, for plaintiff, and Hon. M. J. Durham and George Deany, defendant. My statement is that the counsel in defense of Austin was appointed by the Court, seems to have been a mistake. I am requested by Austin's father to state that he employed the attorneys in the case.

PULASKI COUNTY

—A chromo and a card of thanks is due the jury in the Guiteau case. —New Waynesburg needs Crab Orchard's former efficient marshal. The little village was the scene of a shameful drunken brawl Saturday evening. A good deal of blasphemy and but little blood shed was the result. —The protracted meeting at Double Springs is progressing finely. Rev. W. T. Tyree with Rev. J. S. Reynolds, Nathan Singleton and Wm. Taylor are the preaching brethren, Bro. Tyree taking the lead. Souls are already crying: "What shall I do to be saved," and some have already confessed the Saviour. PRAISE THE LORD. —Mr. Editor, console thyself, and believe in this heart that the U. S. Mail agents on the L. & N. R. R. have fully discharged every duty incumbent upon them, but if thou hast a "cuss word" to spare, direct it we beseech thee to those bunglers handling mail on the C. S. R. R. Under the present management it takes only two days to get a letter from Waynesburg to this place, a distance of four miles directly on the mail line. Occasionally your readers at Waynesburg receive their Tuesday's INTERIOR JOURNAL on Friday or Saturday, and other mail equally as speedily. Can nothing be done to remedy this carelessness? —The trial of M. T. Morgan for breaking into Hunly Singleton's house, and attempting to shoot or murder him and his sister, Miss Clara, was postponed until Saturday next on account of the failure of Attorney Miller to attend here on the 28th inst. Mr. Morgan is usually a quiet, industrious citizen, but the day previous to his outbreak he visited the devil's kitchen at this place, and imbibed pretty freely of his eye water, and on his return home his work of sin, shame and degradation was fully exhibited. No doubt but the angels of hell rejoice to see this work of destruction to soul and body move on so continuously, while Christians everywhere mourn over those fallen victims of intemperance.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—Hanging Fork has been on a high even since Christmas. —The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous. —A little child of Alex. Prather, of color, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live. —Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up. —Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him. —Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back heart whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Mas Nodie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager. —John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end at the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

LANCASTER COUNTY

—