IN MEMORIAM.

A loving tribute to the memory of Miss Ella Florence Boore, born January 4, 1837, died April 19th, 1885.

"Lead by her" the roses tell,
The angel of death kissed the cold lips of my dear friend Ella and she closed her eyes in peaceful sleep forever. For her Sabbath marked the beginning of times it also marked the ending. The closing scene was a solemn and impressive one. Grouped around the casket were the faithful and devoted mother, the loving father, kind sisters and brothers and sympathetic friends, all of whom were deeply grieved as they saw the precious life of one so dear slowly ebbing away. It was a holy place. With almost her last breath she whispered the words "I am dying," solemnly she passed away. The golden chord of life was severed, and a world of sorrow and death exchanged for a glorified state of being. Truly it can be said of her that she "fell asleep in the arms of Jesus." While her precious life was laid across her pulseless breast to-day, while her form lies at rest in its new made tomb of clay in the Lancaster cemetery, her pure and noble soul has put on its wings of immortality and now floats upward, under the "star-bathed dome," and as the angels gather around the "beautiful gate stars" they will keep nightly vigils over the soul, wherever she "floats" in the steps that know no waking. On the night before her spirit took its flight, she said the family around her bedside, told them she fully realized her condition, that it did not excite her to speak of death and that she wanted to speak to them while there was yet time. She gave to each something as a keepsake and left messages for almost loved ones. Also requested that Rev. J. G. Livingston would preach her funeral as he had baptized her. She was anxious for the end to draw near and said she did not want to prolong the suffering she had endured for several long years. Although a great sufferer, she was ever gentle and patient, never murmuring. Her death hastened to meet her in an abiding and watch another's range was never felt. She was a universal favorite and ever ready and willing to give advice or words of encouragement to those who asked for either. Possessing a highly cultivated mind and a heart that knew no guile, she was fully capable of doing so. No volume of marble inscription is needed to perpetuate her memory. Though she is no longer with us, her memory, her influence will ever dwell in the hearts of those who enjoyed the sweet companionship of her society. Rev. J. G. Livingston, in his funeral discourse, paid her many virtues glowing tribute. To the bereaved parents and sisters, whose hearts are crushed and bleeding, I with many other friends, tender my sincere sympathies. To the dear sister who is far away in the West and denied the sweet comfort of being with Ella in her last hours, I am ever ready and willing to comfort. Amid the tragedy of mourning and the dreariness of bereavement any eye that has the privilege to endure this afflictive stroke, and be constrained to look forward with confidence to a joyful reunion with the dear one by the dark ether through which she has passed.

Ella was to me a true, firm and affectionate friend. Tenderly I loved and cherished her, and now cherish her memory. The quotation below, taken from one of her own poems aptly expresses my longing to see her yet once again.

"Longing to stand once more by her chair,
To lay my hands once more on her hair,
Longing it will only be, I can never stand there,
Longing in vain for the form near this bed,
For the dear, sweet face now hid by the lid,
For the angel one softly resting with God,
Longing in vain,
Longing in vain, oh longing in vain,
Why do I repeat it again and again?
For my heart is almost crushed with pain,
Longing in vain."
A Faithful Friend, MARGIE E.

Respectfully inscribed to Dr. and Mrs. W. N. Boore:

OUR LOVED ONE GONE.

Dear daughter! what sweet remembrance
Steal on with these saddest hours,
Of days when thy smile was the light of home,
And thy love its brightest flowers.

But, ah! like a sunbeam flitting past,
Is vanished that happy dream,
For the Angel of Death its shadow cast
Where the light of hope had been.

What sorrow lingers round the hearth
Where once her presence, sweet,
With sweetest music, with guileless mirth,
Made evening joys so pitea.

Ah! no more on earth to hear those strains
Sweet notes have died away,
With the flower that blossomed to fade so soon,
From us was taken away.

Sweet Ella! through hours of loneliness,
We miss thy voice, thy smile,
A thousand fond, fond memories
Filling our hearts the while.

Then angels bear our troubled hearts
Far to the realms above,
And we seem to see, among the blest,
The dear face of her we love.

So happy with that angel band
Where sins are all forgiven,
A star to light life's shadowy path
And guide us nearer heaven.

Tiden, Oh, sweet Ella, when life is done,
And we lay down its burden of care,
With love's glad greeting, I know you will Come,
And be first to welcome us there.

A Friend, M. S.

THIS IDEA OF GOING WEST

To Colorado or New Mexico, for pure air to relieve Consumption, is all a mistake. Any reasonable man would see Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup for Consumption in all its first stages. It never fails to give relief in all cases of Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, Pain in the Chest and all Affections that are considered primary to Consumption. Price, 50 cents and $1.00. Sold by McRoberts & Stagg.

No Pauper Counties.

Commenting on an article in regard to free schools and the pauper counties, Dishman & Tinsley's Real Estate Advertiser, Harboursville, says:

"It is true that hitherto our people all over Kentucky have shown a criminal neglect of common schools. We demur, however, to the old hackneyed idea that a majority of the counties draw out more than they pay into the treasury and that they vote for a school tax simply to put money in their pockets. Our experience is that the counties in whom this flag is directed pay more attention to common schools, taken as a whole, than the more wealthy counties outside the cities. It is all they have in the way of educational facilities and although but a small pittance grudgingly given by a great and wealthy State, yet they make the most of it and the common schools of the mountain portions of the State have increased in usefulness 100 per cent. in the last five years. Beside this on the question of some counties paying more taxes than others, we have this to say—that when the State Board of Equalization met last summer at Frankfort, while they increased the taxes on a good many low-lying counties, where they had put too low a valuation on their lands they decreased the tax on Real Estate in Knox 25 per cent and the same with a good many other pauper counties so called. Again, while Knox county pays less tax than the city of Louisville, yet her trade-business and resources go to make rich the city of Louisville and enable her to pay large taxes, and this may be said of all the other so called pauper counties. While we do not pay the tax directly, yet we contribute to those counties of our wealth and trade and enable them to pay them. This old cry of pauper counties has about played out. We are one State and one people and ought to be a great and prosperous people, but so long as the few set themselves up as the lords of creation and cry pauper at the many, our national interest will languish. If your neighbor is poor help him to get rich instead of trying to keep him poor. And this we say of Kentucky. Help us develop our resources; give us navigable rivers, macadamized roads as have been done in more wealthy localities. Give us the chances others have had and we will very soon show you where the wealth is and who pay the taxes. And we'll show a latent enterprise in the mountain people that will very soon place Kentucky where she ought to be in the great sisterhood of States."

Let us Have a State Fair.

Why can't Kentucky have a State fair every year as well as other States? The gross receipts of the Indiana fair last year were $24,429, and the expenses only $20,702. There is no doubt that Kentucky can excel the world in the perfection of all kinds of live stock, while the soil is capable of yielding as great profits as farmers enjoy in any other State. There is need of some greater incentive than now exists to improvements in farming. To-day the best live stock are confined to a few counties and really profitable farming is not general in this State. A great fair held every year might excite a rivalry among the farmers of various counties, leading many who are now careless to improve their lands, their crops and their farm animals. Doubtless there are many Kentucky farmers who are satisfied with their present attainments because they do not know how much better animals are bred by other farmers in the state, or how much more profitable crops are grown. Every great fair in this country includes displays of choice farm animals from Kentucky, and foreign buyers go to St. Louis, Springfield and Indianapolis to find good live stock that might be shown to more advantage within our own State. The first step toward securing such a fair as should be held in Kentucky is the organization of a State association of farmers. There are many reasons why such an organization should exist, some of which will be given in these columns from time to time.—[Lan. Commercial.]

The above suggestion is a good one and while on this subject why not have county fairs in every county in the State. A fair in Knox or any of these counties in south-east Kentucky would in two years improve our stock 50 per cent., especially cattle. It is just as easy to raise a calf worth $15 to $20 at weaning time as to raise one worth $5. If our farmers would only see this point and improve our stock of cattle the increase in its value would be remarkable. Some of our Knox county farmers had a project of this sort on foot a year or so ago, but we can't say what became of it. Get it up again gentlemen and let's have a fair. The thing once started in Knox, very soon other counties will take it up and we had as well be the pioneers in this business as any one else.—[Barbourville Real Estate Advertiser.]

Duration of Life.

Men unemployed live longer than those engaged in occupation. The average duration of life of these idlers is 68 years; of judges, 65 year; of farmers, 64 years; of bank officers, 64 year; of coopers, 58 years; public officers, 57 year; clergymen, 56 years; shipwrights, 56 year; batters, 54 year; lawyers, 54 year; rope makers, 54 year; blacksmiths, 51 year; merchants, 51 year; physicians, 51 year; butchers, 50 year; carpenters, 49 year; masons, 48 year; tailors, 44 year; manufacturers, bakers, painters, shoemakers and mechanics, 43 year; editors, 40 year; musicians, 39 year; printers, 38 year; and teachers and clerks, 34 year.

The "Divides" which have been in vogue in this county for almost a year, are now numbered with the things of the past. All the indictments against parties connected with the "divides" have been dismissed. The opinion of the court is that when any person or persons shall go from one person to another and take his name and money for a gallon of liquor and so on, and when enough is sold in this way to make up a barrel "divided," that this is equivalent to retailing and a violation of the local option law.—[Monticello Signal.]

An Oakland obituary notice referred to a deceased citizen as having "gone to a happier home." The widow is about bringing a libel suit. These Oakland women are too sensitive for anything.—[San Francisco Post.]

"Some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them," remarked a small man in the street car as a fat woman sat square down upon him.

MT. SALEM, LINCOLN COUNTY.

—A fine boy made his debut at J. L. Bastin's about a week ago.

—Mr. Joseph Fletcher has a fine mare that has had 4 colts in 3 years and none of them twins.

—A Sunday school was organized at Smith's school-house on last Sabbath with John M. Dye as Superintendent.

—The Adonis features of George Carpenter is now circulating freely around here ostensibly collecting taxes, but rumor has it that there is a woman in the case.

—Winter has at last laid aside her hoary mantle and spring has put on her beautiful robes of green. Farmers are busy out backward.

—Mr. D. S. Jones, of McKinney returned last Friday from a successful fishing excursion at Williamsburg. He reported a terrific hail storm on Thursday night at that place. T. C. Jasper just returned from Cincinnati.

—The readers of the JOURNAL will excuse the writer for scarcity of news this week. Just returned in company with W. C. Richards from a 10 days' fishing expedition amid the wild and romantic scenery of Point Burdette. We found the people there clever and hospitable, but soon found we were looked upon as green-horns, from the fact we were timid walking "boom logs," couldn't leap from one floating saw-log to another without being in danger of being ducked, and failed to manage a boat with the skill of a Cumberland river man. We found the mouth of the South Fork choked with water dogs which took W. C. Richards several days to clean out. After getting the channel clear and one day's successful fishing, a frightful wind, rain and hail storm struck us in camp last Thursday night which drove us from our position. Much damage was done to plowed land and planted corn. When we left the Cumberland was on a big high and still rising. There was a splendid tide for commercial purposes and timber rafts were floating down the river freely.

Barbourville.

In response to the many inquiries we are constantly receiving we would say that Barbourville is located on Cumberland River, 30 miles west of Cumberland Gap; 24 miles above Williamsburgh, where the Knoxville Branch of the L. & N. railroad crosses the same; 15 miles east of Woodbine, a station on the L. & N. railroad. It has an institution of learning, "Union College," a splendid brick college building with 130 pupils enrolled; 2 churches, M. E. and Christian or Reformed; good public buildings and a population of about 800. We have a dam across the river 8 feet high which gives us still water for six miles above, and a convenient body of water in which to construct booms for the purpose of catching logs. The town has an abundance of good pure salt water obtained from never-failing springs and wells. It is surrounded with low hills, is not subject to storm or flood and is very healthy. The streets are well paved and macadam'd with stone and are clean and wide.—[Dishman & Tinsley's Real Estate Advertiser.]

For sale by druggists. Price $1 and $1.50 per bottle. Send to Dr. Marchal, Utica, N. Y., for pamphlet, free. For sale by Penny & McAllister, Druggists.

Destroy that Sigh.

One may feel that he is getting old, but he naturally dislikes that anything about his appearance should advise others of the fact. Yet nothing does this so effectually as thin and falling hair. No woman wants to marry a man and business firms hesitate to employ a man who shows this fatal sign. Parker's Hair Balsam is worth to you, in this regard, more than its weight in diamonds. Use it and have plentiful and glossy hair. Many have had every trace of grayness removed and bald spots covered by using a single bottle.

Bucklin's Arnica Salve.

The best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fester Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Penny & McAllister.

An Eno's Bona Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years, my doctors told me that I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at 25c per bottle and Bucklin's Arnica Salve at 50c per box by Penny & McAllister.

A Startling Discovery.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Huron, Mich., writes that his wife had been troubled with acute Bronchitis for many years and that all remedies tried gave no permanent relief, until he procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which had a magical effect and produced a permanent cure. It is guaranteed to cure all diseases of the Throat, Lungs or Bronchitis. Trial bottles free at Penny & McAllister's.

Dr. BOSANKO.

This name has become so familiar with the most of people throughout the United States that it is hardly necessary to state that he is the originator of the great Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, the people's favorite remedy, wherever known, for Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all affections of the Throat and Lungs. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Sold by McRoberts & Stagg.
