Against the Road Law.
 [To the Editor of the Interior Journal]
 In the last issue of your paper Mr. R. C. Warren requests those having objections to the proposed road law to make them known to him at once. It is not my intention in this article to attempt a discussion of the many objectionable features of this bill. Were I to do this it would consume too much of your space. I will state, however, in all kindness to the gentlemen who composed that committee, that I can see but little difference in this bill, so far as it concerns the tax payers of the county, and the law now in force, and which has been objected to by so many. But it would be simple in me to raise my objections to the proposed law without offering some remedy. This I propose to do, recognizing at the time my inability to frame or even propose a road bill which would not meet with objections.

It was my intention to prepare a bill for publication in this issue of your paper, but not having the general statutes, nor the act creating the old law, the most of which act I proposed to use in the preparation of my bill, at my command, I shall merely give a synopsis of what, to my mind, would be a good, if not the best law, for the people of this county.

What I propose is this: First repeal the law now in force, the whole of it, and have the old law remastered, I mean the law which was in force before the adoption of the present one, and have this law amended, or that portion of it stricken out which gives to the owners of teams a remuneration for their work, and insert in its stead that the owners of teams working on the road in the district to which they belong, shall receive no pay therefor, but the driver of said team and all others whose duty it is to work said road and who does actual labor, shall receive therefor the sum of $1 per day to be paid out of the county levy.

The above is the principal change which I desire to make in the old law and the one which if adopted will, in my opinion, give more general satisfaction to the people of the county than would any road law now in force in the State.

I know there are those who will object to this change. The principal objections will arise from a pecuniary standpoint, for it is a well known fact that many of the tax payers of the county resort to the county roads for a reduction of their taxes. They claim to have filled up some dangerous mud hole, or to have done a great amount of work on their road. The claim is properly made out and certified to by the claimant and at the proper time presented before the justices of the county and allowed. This is law and must be complied with right or wrong, when at the time the county and the community in which the work is done, have not, in most instances, benefited one farthing. The same amount of work is to be done next year and the same credits entered upon the tax list. And for whose benefit is this unnecessary expenditure of money? Is it not for the benefit of the man who owns the team and who does his hauling over the very road in question? Should he not be willing to furnish the team gratuitously a few days out of each year, when it is for the purpose of working his own road? And when, too, if he is so fortunate as to own land adjacent to this road located exactly where he wanted it, perhaps in the bed of some rocky creek or over the roughest and most worthless land he has. And should not the man who owns no team with which to travel the road, and who is compelled to work this road be paid for his labor? He certainly should. I am aware, too, that there are those who will call this class legislation, but I contend that a law of this kind would in this respect, equalize the property holder and the poorer class of people who have no teams with which to travel the road.

By not paying the owners of teams for working, as I think for themselves, it will save the county a sufficient amount of money to work every road in the county, thereby reducing your taxes no small amount, which should be the object of every citizen in the county, property holder or not. Resp. L.

The annual review of the South's industrial progress, by the Manufacturers' Record, shows that 5,135 new manufacturing and mining enterprises were organized in 1889, against 3,018 in 1888, 3,430 in 1887 and 1,575 in 1886. The amount of capital and capital stock of the companies was $229,703,500 in 1889 and $108,801,000 in 1888.

Remarkable Rescue.
 Mrs. Michael Curtin, Pleasant Hill, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested the use of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles she found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at A. R. Penny's drug store; large bottles 50c and 75c.

Only see a bottle at A. R. Penny's drug store."

Well Developed Children.
 Dr. W. G. Anderson, of the Brooklyn Normal College for Physical Training, has published a book called a "Guide to Systematic Instruction in Physical Training." If the reports made by some teachers on the physical development of their pupils recently can be judged from, there is need of such a book.

In a room of fifty pupils, not more than five are free from physical defects, on the average. Many have one shoulder higher than the other, from a habit of standing on one foot. Many have one side developed better than the other, and these will be crooked. Round shoulders, drooping head and flat chest are among the most common deformities. It is not uncommon to find the hips thrown too far forward, and the legs and arms shaped like spindles or pipe stems; there are also many bow legs.

An occasional boy is found who is a specimen of perfect physical development, but a girl almost never. The finest types of children physically to be found in the schools are those of foreign birth. The best formed and healthiest are the Germans and Bohemians, the next best the Irish. From the west and south of Ireland, where the young ones run outdoors the year around, barefoot and hatless, living on the coarsest of food, come, according to our authority, the most exquisitely beautiful children. The puniest, scrawniest, worst shaped young ones are our own American city children, especially our little girls, who are sacrificed to that fatally misunderstood word, "ladylike."

The point Dr. Anderson makes is that systematic physical training, such as ought to be in every school, will correct the defects named. It has done so where it has been faithfully tried.

Idaho Wants In.
 Idaho and Wyoming will be the next two states admitted to the Union, most likely. They are knocking. If they do not get in this congress, it will not be their fault. Already their delegates have begun the ear chewing process with the president and members of congress.

The delegates are full of vim and information about their respective territories. From the Idaho delegate, Mr. Du Bois, we learn that this territory contains now 125,000 inhabitants. Of the fifty-five odd million acres of land in Idaho, 16,000,000 are good for agriculture. There are 10,000,000 acres of forest and 20,000,000 acres of grazing and mineral lands.

This year the agricultural population has increased 12,000. Young as Idaho is, the journalist is there. He is as faithful as the circuit preacher in following up pioneer populations. Delegate Lu Bois informed President Harrison that every county in Idaho supported at least two newspapers and most of them three. When one recalls the amenities of pioneer journalism this is indeed heroic of Idaho.

This year over $17,000,000 of gold and silver were taken out of the ground in the territory, and since 1862 the output has been nearly $158,000,000.

An electrical expert in Dusseldorf has succeeded in transmitting pictures by electricity. The sun's rays are allowed to fall upon a sensitized plate, prepared after the usual manner of photograph plates, with one exception. The plate itself is composed of the ends of a bundle of fine wires, smoothly fitted together and insulated. At the moment the sunlight falls on this plate of wires an electrical current is passed through them. The wires conduct the image that is formed to a similar plate at their other end. There seems to be in this discovery magnificent possibilities for the illustrated daily newspapers.

The experimenters at the Kansas agricultural station say that crops can be raised on arid lands without irrigation. The plan is first to plow deeply, pulverizing the soil to a considerable depth. This loose earth is supposed to hold the rainfall. After the seed is planted the whole top of the ground above is covered with matted straw. This lets through such rain as does fall, and prevents evaporation of moisture.

Plans have been published for no less a work than a bridge across the English channel from Calais to Dover. If ever completed, it will be thirty miles long. A tunnel under the channel was proposed long ago, and would have been built, only that the common people of England object to it, on the ground that France could easily invade the island in case of war.

A French chemist, Professor De Millefleurs, has discovered a process for solidifying kerosene. He makes it into bricks which can be cut with a knife, and yet can be handled easily. They burn slowly, yet perfectly. A fuel of the future.

Packers of porcelain and other fragile freight in Europe have found that the best material to prevent breakage in such cases is wood wool, so called—wood split into fine, hairlike shavings. Soft woods are used for the purpose.

The next great African enterprise will be the building of a railroad from Zanzibar far interior to the Victoria Nyanza. It will open an immense trade to the merchants of Europe.

You can now travel from New York to Yokohama, by way of San Francisco, in two weeks and a half.
