THEY say when it rains on Easter we may expect rain for seven consecutive Sundays. If it rained the past Sunday we would like to know where.—Richmond Climax. And this is another old sign shattered.

THE damage suit of J. J. Moore vs. the Stanford turnpike for causing the death of his daughter, Della Moore, while the troops were guarding the toll gate, will be tried at this term of the Danville circuit court.

IT begins to look like Kentucky's tin soldiers will find something a little more hazardous than guarding toll-gates. The chances are that at least two regiments of them will be called into service in the war with Spain.

THE Advocate says that Tom Raun, a Danville man, was arrested for tying barbed wire to a horse's tongue and hitching another horse to the other end to pull him out of a balk. The exhibition of cruelty indicates that the fib was a Spaniard.

TWENTY.—That is the number of our prettiest girls that Miss Harriet Wellington Glascock has secured for her Old Maid's Convention to be held at Walton's Opera House, May 3d. Already the entertainment is creating much interest and it promises to be the event of the season.

THE C. H. & D. R. R., through D. G. Edwards, passengers traffic manager, announces that W. W. Penn has been appointed traveling passenger agent of that company, with headquarters at Junction City. His territory will embrace Kentucky, Tennessee and adjacent country.

IN our notice of the death of Mrs. Ella Evans we neglected to say that it occurred at Mrs. Kate Miller's, where she had been for nearly a year and where she received the closest attention. The family certainly owe Mrs. Miller a debt of gratitude for all she did for their relative.

STOLE SWITZER.—John Goepf, a German, was placed in jail Wednesday afternoon in default of $150 bail for breaking into the cheese house of D. Levin, the peddler, and appropriating some of his Switzer. Both parties live in the Ottenheim section and Goepf is pretty hard on Levin, whom he terms "a Jew and bad man." E. Schanzbach at first went Goepf's bond but for some reason decided later to let him lay in jail till circuit court.

DISMISSED.—John Herzog, a Swiss, had his wife and his sons, William Clymer and Warren Atherton, the latter's wife and Mack Baugh arrested on the charge of larceny the other day, but at the trial before Squire J. A. Singleton, at Highland, Tuesday, the case was dismissed. Herzog married the widow Clymer, but failing to get along with him, she left him and with the above named carried away a portion of the meat, canned fruit, some dishes, &c., which the old man claimed.

WANTED—To pay cash for all kinds of country produce. Hiram Powell, Gilberts Creek.

NEW Wall Paper of the latest spring styles. Prices made to suit the purchaser. W. B. McRoberts.

DEAF MUTE KILLED.—The North-bound passenger, No. 24, ran over and killed Starling Goodin, between Grays and Corbin Tuesday morning. Goodin was a deaf mute and was walking along the track. His home was at Corbin, where he has a brother who is also deaf and dumb. His father was killed by a train several years ago.

THE Kingsville & Stanford Telephone line, W. L. McCarty, president, and J. H. Baughman, secretary, is rapidly being completed and Mr. Baughman tells us that by May 1, they hope to be able to talk over it. The line will open up a large territory for Stanford and as it will be connected with the exchange will be of great value to our citizens.

THOSE who have seen "Old Farmer Hopkins" unite in expressions of praise of the entertainment, which is full of fun, sensational and comic situations and specialty work. Mr. Davidson is a fine vocalist and the singing is a prominent feature. To-morrow night at Walton's Opera House he and his excellent company will hold the boards and give you many times your money's worth.

A FORGED check on "The National Bank of Stanford," for $1.25 for one hog, with Wood & Lynn signed, failed to pass the banks here, but money was obtained on it at Danville, where it was deposited. It was payable to Mart Padgett and J. W. Thompson endorsed it. It was a printed, red check, such as the First National used before its name was changed, some 12 or 15 years ago. Neither Messrs. Wood or Lynn knows either Padgett or Thompson, but they will make a strenuous effort to find out who they are and who forged their firm name.

STOLE HIS WATCH.—While Mr. J. Henry Fish, of this place, was spending the night at Henry Tharp's at Brodhead a burglar secured entrance, stole a suit of clothes and going into Mr. Fish's room succeeded in finding his watch and making way with it. It is a very fine, heavily engraved Hunter case, with the initials "J. H. F." on the outer case and "R. A. Fish to her husband, Sept. 1, 1893" on the inner. A heavy, twisted link chain was attached with a horse head charm and his wife's picture on the inside. Mr. Fish prizes the watch very highly and will give a liberal reward for its return.

MARRIAGE.—When Mr. P. B. Smalley, the Harrodsburg newspaper man, was here last week helping the Old Fellows in their initiation work, he gave us no clue to what was to happen less than a week after. But we are on to him now, if he did come up in the night and near the hour when churchyards yawn, seek the residence of Eld. F. W. Allen and his assistance in consummating his happiness. He was accompanied by Miss Nora May Green, a beautiful maiden now of Junction City, but late of this county, and by Mr. Shannon Cloyd, County Clerk G. B. Cooper had to be awakened to issue the license, but he didn't mind that when $1.50 goes to him in such cases, made and provided, and the coveted document was soon in Mr. Smalley's possession. The knot was neatly tied in the presence of Mrs. Allen and Mr. Cloyd and the couple returned to Junction City and then went to Harrodsburg, where we hope they will find life together a long and happy day.

THERE are different reports as to what occurred between Gov. McCreary and John B. Thompson at Danville, but all agree that the governor came out at the big end of the horn. One statement is that the governor said in his rejoinder that "Mr. Thompson has told so many lies on me" and that Mr. Thompson threatened to hit him with a gavel, "if you say I lie." Thereupon Gov. McCreary calmly put his hand in his hip pocket and faced Thompson saying as Gilbert jumped between, them, "Mr. Thompson, sit down. I listened to you and you must listen to me." Another report has it that the governor said: "Now it is said, I entered into a conspiracy with Mr. Evans, a republican; I say that that is a lie." Mr. Thompson jumped to his feet and grabbed up a book that lay on the speaker's table and said: "Do you mean to call me a liar?" Gov. McCreary, running his hand down into his right front pant's pocket, quietly replied: "I did not say that you were a liar, I said the charge was a lie." "I was informed so," said Mr. Thompson. "Then your informer was a liar." By this time Mr. Gilbert had gotten to Thompson and took hold of his arm to lead him back to his chair. After quiet was restored Mr. McCreary resumed speaking. He explained that he referred to the authorities quoted by Mr. Thompson, rather than to Mr. Thompson, when he used the words objected to, "But," he said, "I want it understood that I am in this race to stay, and am able to take care of myself at all times and under any and all circumstances."

Do You Know? W. H. SHANKS. That I have a big stock of shoes, That I am selling them away down, That I have those stylish short corsets, That I have some pretty perca's, That I have the latest thing in ladies' collars, That I am showing a big line of nice handkerchiefs, That I have some pretty men's shirts, That I have a nobby line of men's pants, That I sell a paper of good pins for a cent, That I sell a paper of good needles for a cent, That I buy for cash and sell for cash, That I sell floor oilcloth for 20c a yd, That I sell table oilcloth for 12j cents a yd.

WHIPPED SPANISH SYMPATHIZER.—Jam Goodbody, an Irishman living near Kingsville, was in that town the other day boasting about the Spanish navy and telling how quickly it would do up the United States. He further remarked that in the event an effort was made to free Cuba the Catholics in this country should make war on the Americans. Edmond Murphy, who is something of a patriot, couldn't stand this and jumping on the son of Erin, gave him a thrashing that he will not soon forget.

"OLD FARMER HOPKINS" is one of the best of the rural dramas. Confident of its merits its producers do not attempt to draw a crowd to it by brass band and other performances on the streets, but invite the people to the theatre where they guarantee an entertainment full of sentiment, sensation and merriment. Mr. Frank S. Davidson, who appears as the Old Farmer, is ably supported by Miss Alice Southwick and a splendid company. Don't fail to go to the Opera House tomorrow night, 23d. You'll be amply repaid or it wont cost you anything. Reserved seats at W. B. McRoberts', 75c.

SENSATIONAL SUICIDE.—Miss Annie McAfee, 20, daughter of Mrs. Neeley McAfee, of Boyle county, committed suicide at the St. Clair Hotel, Cincinnati, Monday night, leaving this note: "Please don't send my remains to my poor mother. She is not able to care for me. Please publish these letters and have as little said as possible about me on account of my family." Among her effects were found several letters from Nick McDowell, Jr., of Danville, son of the late commissioner of agriculture, and his photograph and $3.70 in money. The Cincinnati papers say she wore diamond ear-rings, and when she entered the hotel was dressed in the height of the fashion.

The letters she desired published were evidently a lot of love letters. They contained no address and all but one had the signature torn off. The one on which the signature was intact was dated at Danville, Ky., February 28, 1898, and is signed "Nick McDowell, Jr." It read as follows: "Will be out to-night for a little while; will come about 6:30 or 7 o'clock, and will go wherever you say. Yours, &c., Nick McDowell, Jr." The other letters—the love letters—are apparently in the same handwriting. They are in the usual style of love letters and contain avowals of the most lasting and fervent devotion. The writer speaks of her as his "own sweetheart," and refers to plans for their future. He upbraids her for past sins, and says that he will forgive her if she will swear to be true to him in the future. The writer also states that while they "can never be more to each other than they are now," he always expects to be true to her. Mr. McDowell denies that he wrote to the girl and says he met her only incidentally. He is sure that the photograph is not his. Rumors are however afloat that McDowell was accustomed to visiting the girl secretly, that he was deeply in love with her and really expected to marry her.

The Advocate says that the deceased was about 25 years old. She was a daughter of the late Dr. J. H. McAfee, a native of Mercer county, but later a resident of Hopkins county. She was an attractive young woman. The sympathy of every heart that can be touched by sorrow will go out to those who mourn her death. The remains were brought to this city.
