

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1906.

NO. 99.

GENERAL PERCY HALEY,

Who makes Governors and U. S. Senators at his will. By far the greatest politician of his day and time. The man who does things.

MATRIMONIAL.

N. H. Bishop and Miss Josie Coffey were married this week.

Marriage license was issued to J. E. Martin and Miss Beattie McWhorter. They reside on Green river.

Rumor says that a well-known young man who formerly lived here, but now a resident of Danville Ill., will be married to a Lexington lady in the near future.

Countess Boni de Castellane, formerly Anna Gould, has entered a plea for divorce in Paris. Representatives of the Countess and the Count appeared before a Judge, who, according to the French law, endeavored to arrange a conciliation before allowing a definite suit to proceed. It is said that the Judge's efforts were not successful and that the suit will proceed.

A Card.

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. Cures the grippe cough and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Contains no opiates. The genuine is in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. Penny's Drug Store.

Defies Time.

One the most beautiful women in America defies the ravages of time by simply keeping her blood purified with Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin. It will do the same for you. If taken at the least sign of bowel, liver or stomach trouble, it will prevent all kinds of sickness, keep your circulation clear, and your skin and complexion as fresh and pure as in childhood. Sold by G. L. Penny, Stanford, and C. W. Adams, Hustonville, at 50c and $1. Money back if it fails.

CORNS CURED.—Corn Exit will positively remove corns in four days. The treatment is simple and pleasant and we absolutely guarantee to refund the money to each and every customer whose corns are not promptly removed with entire satisfaction. A bottle of this great preparation only costs 15 cents and nothing if a perfect cure is not speedily effected. G. L. Penny, druggist, Stanford, Ky.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years although I am now 91 years old." Penny's Drug Store.

A majority report declaring Hon. Thomas Drewery entitled to his seat in the General Assembly from Louisville was adopted by the House after a minority report had been defeated.

NEWS NOTES.

Fire at Independence, Mo., destroyed property worth $75,000.

Because he was out of work, Jesse Taylor, of Owensboro, shot and killed himself.

Thomas A. Hendricks, who was shot while acting as peacemaker is at the point of death.

Eight persons, all Negroes, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed a frame house at Curtis Bay, near Baltimore.

Andrew Nolan, night watchman at the new Capitol site, Frankfort, was found dead near his tent. He was badly burned and frozen and his death is a mystery.

Rev. Dr. George H. Simmons, formerly of Louisville, was found dead at Peoria, Ill., having taken his own life to avoid the disgrace of exposure which confronted him.

Thomas Clark, charged with the murder of Zion Brown, and three other prisoners have escaped jail at Harlan. They used a false key and let themselves out at the jail door.

Secretary Metcalf has approved the report of the Special Committee appointed to revise the regulations under which Chinese may enter and reside in the United States.

The President sent to Congress the report from the Interstate Commerce Commission relative to the connection of the Pennsylvania railroad system with other roads.

Midshipmen Richard Laurens De Sassure, of Charleston, S. C., and George H. Melvin, of Geneseo, Ill., were formally dismissed from the Naval Academy, for hazing.

In a vigorous speech in the Lower House of Congress on the Railroad Rate Bill, Representative Bourke Cochran charged the railroads with favoritism, corruption and fraud.

Mrs. Kate Ross is dead at Baltimore, aged 71. Mrs. Ross was the daughter of Lewis Collins, who was the editor of the Maysville, Ky., Eagle, one of the pioneer newspapers of the State.

Captain James B. Clay, one of the most prominent Confederate veterans and thoroughbred breeders of Fayette county, was found dead in his sleeping car berth on a C. & O. train near Baltimore Wednesday morning.

In the Mann perjury trial in New York, a handwriting expert testified that the "O. K." and "W. D. M." on the Ward letters appeared to correspond with the admitted handwriting of the editor of Town Topics.

Two engines and a caboose collided with an extra freight train on the Norfolk and Western railroad at Rippon, Va., causing a serious wreck. One man was instantly killed, and Harry L. Wood, fireman, was badly injured.

James R. Rash, of Earlington, Ky., has given to the trustees of South Kentucky College, at Hopkinsville, Ky., $10,000, to be used in erecting a building in memory of the donor's son, Ben L. Rash, Jr., who was a student at the college.

Members of the congregation of the Rev. George H. Simmons, who committed suicide at Peoria, Ill., with damaging charges against him, are divided as to the propriety of allowing his funeral to be held from his late church.

Commander-in-Chief Tanner, of the G. A. R., who has accepted an invitation to go to Atlanta and address the reunion of Gen. Wheeler's Confederate Cavalry, is being deluged with protests from G. A. R. posts against his proposed action.

At the Packers' trial in Chicago, District Attorney Morrison made the direct assertion that C. M. McFarlane, office manager for Morris and Company, and the only witness examined during the day, was not telling the truth in his answers.

We are glad to know that the president looks with disfavor on the $25,000 gift proposed by the Cuban government for a bridal present for Miss Alice. He evidently believes with the rest of us that there are too many poor on the islands to waste money on those who will swim in wealth and the good things of earth.

Judge A. E. Richards, the city attorney of Louisville, gave an opinion in which he holds that the recent decision of the court of appeals in the Marion National Bank case does not apply in the city of Louisville, and will have no effect on the collection of taxes. The decision would have cut the city out of $125,000 a year had it been applicable.

Counterfeiting lamb chops is an industry of the Yankees just discovered. Any kind of old meat is attached to lamb bones in some way and sold for the real article. The government bureau of chemistry discovered the fraud. The Chicago Daily News man, after taking a look at the Illinois Legislature, said: "It is easy to understand why so many of our laws are unconstitutional." It is different in Kentucky. Our Legislature is so full of constitutional lawyers that no unconstitutional law could pass muster before it, that is to say, not many of them.

FIRST BRICK HOUSE BUILT IN KENTUCKY.

In Lincoln county, about three miles from the famous Crab Orchard Springs, is an interesting old brick house, said to be the first built in the State, says the Larue County Herald. It was erected over 115 years ago by Col. William Whitley, the intrepid Indian fighter of Revolutionary days. On a high hill commanding a splendid view of the surrounding country, with the foot hills of the Cumberland mountains in the distance, sits this two and one-half-story structure built of plain and glazed brick. In each end of the house the bricks are placed in diamond shape, giving a peculiar effect. Both the interior and exterior are lavishly supplied with fancy wood work, all of which were carved with a pen-knife.

The partition walls are of wood elaborately carved, and the stairway has cut on it 13 eagle heads to represent the original colonies and States, and on the mantel in one of the rooms are 13 S's to signify the same.

The doors, made of two layers of wood with sheet iron between, hang upon the old-time leather strap hinges. This monument to early-day architecture was often the abiding place of Boone, Kenton, Clark and early pioneers, who were the honored friends of their host.

Though remarkably preserved, time has left its mark on this old structure and, ere it is too late, this home of a brave and fearless pioneer, built in the wilderness during the days of stirring scenes, should be purchased by our State and restored to its former condition. The valorous deeds and ancient homes of those who served our grand old State should not become a memory, a dream, and live only in tradition and story, but should be so revered and preserved that each generation will be inspired to emulate the sturdy patriotism of their early heroes.

Col. Whitley was not only a soldier of daring and renown, but a true sportsman, having at all times fine horses, fast hounds and game chickens.

In front of this house is an old race track, three-fourths of a mile in length, believed to be the first made in Kentucky. It is at the base and surrounding a tall knob, known as Sportsman's Hill, and by mounting this eminence the spectators could see the horses throughout the entire race. Once the Colonel's opponents so "doctored" his entry that, like Mark Twain's famous bull frog, it was unable to move. This so enraged the old gentleman that he renounced racing for good and all, saying: "It must be done on the square or none of it for me."

Collins' History in its description of the battle of the Thames, which occurred in 1814, gives Col. Whitley as the slayer of the great Indian chief Tecumseh. This fact is corroborated by all the evidence obtainable, though the impression that Col. Richard M. Johnson killed him has long prevailed. Whitley invariably loaded his musket with two balls and it was found that death came to Tecumseh through two balls entering identically the same spot. The Indians were ambushed near the Thames and Gen. Harrison selected 30 of his best men. There was only one survivor of this battle—the Col. Johnson who is said to have killed the chief. Col. Whitley fell on this field covered with wounds and glory, an honor to himself and country.

There are now in the possession of his great-granddaughter, Mrs. Buchanan, not only the house of her noted ancestor, but many valuable relics of those bygone days. Among them is the musket still retaining the flint which created the fire to ignite the powder and send the two balls on their mission of death and destruction, and the old powder horn, on which is inscribed by the Colonel's own hand the following:

William Whitley, I am your horse;
The truth I love, a lie I scorn.
Fill me with the best of powder,
I'll make your rifle crack the louder.
See how the dread, terrific ball
Makes Indians bleed and Tories fall;
You with powder I'll supply,
For to defend your liberty.

Lame Back.

This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief, bind on a piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relief is almost sure to follow. For sale by Dr. W. N. Craig, the popular druggist, at Stanford, Ky.

Samuel O. Foster, an inmate of the Confederate Home at Pewee Valley, recently read his obituary and a description of his funeral, as printed in a Paducah paper. He denies that he is dead.
