

WANT LILLARD TO FULFILL HIS PROMISE.

Boyle County Democratic Committee Addresses an Open Letter to Him.

Danville, Ky., Jan. 28, 1908.
Hon. E. W. Lillard,
Frankfort, Kentucky.

Dear Sir:—
The undersigned duly authorized members of the Democratic Committee of Boyle county, who constitute the entire membership with the exception of three, one of whom is in Florida and another in Frankfort, and the third, Vernon Richardson, who refuses to sign, have been directed to address his open letter to you and make a few suggestions to you regarding the manner in which you are assuming to use the party's vote and deal with the sacred trust committed to you by it in this county. We desire to remind you that you do not own the vote that you have arbitrarily assumed the right, on two occasions, to cast for Hon. Jas. B. McCreary in the contest between the Democratic and Republican nominees for the United States Senatorship. You seem to have overlooked the fact, that your choice for the Senatorial nomination has long since bowed to the will of his party expressed in the primary election, and can not feel honored or complimented by your refusal to record the vote of our party for its nominee. You asked your party in this county to accord you the honor of representing it and casting its vote for its nominee, ex-Gov. Beckham, knowing its intense desire to have a representative in the nation's Senate, and you were granted this honor by it upon private promises made and public pledges both made and authorized by you to cast the party's vote for its declared nominee. Side by side you rode and stood with ex-Gov. Beckham, at two of the largest mass meetings ever assembled in our county to greet and welcome the nominee of any political party, and heard him declare that "a vote for Lillard was a vote for Beckham," and accepted that utterance made in your behalf, which was loudly applauded by all of those who heard it.

The 1,500 Democrats, who cast their votes for you and trusted you to record their vote for them in the senatorial contest, still reside in our county, and are as true and loyal to Gov. Beckham today as they were, when they recorded at the November election their vote for you, upon your pledge and assurance to them, that you when thus trusted by them, would cast it for ex-Gov. Beckham.

At these two mass meetings in our county, and at the polls in November, our party gave expression to its confidence in and esteem for the gallant leader and nominee of Democracy, and pledged him the party's support in the Senatorial contest. It pledged him the party's support, but thus far you have failed to discharge the duty entrusted you. In all kindness to you we deem it but right, speaking for our party, to say that you owe it to yourself, to Gov. Beckham and to the Democratic party in Boyle county to surrender the commission of confidence and trust imposed in you, if you are unwilling to perform the trust and comply with your party's wishes. You should at least give it the opportunity to send a representative from Boyle county who will cast the party's vote for ex-Gov. Beckham. You have no right to hold the vote of the Democracy of Boyle county and use it against the party's nominee, and thus, not only defeat the purpose for which it was given to you, but also violate your sacred pledge to the Democrats who gave you their loyal support. Had you contemplated doing so, you should have made this known before, and not after the November election.

With only five others, out of a Democratic representation in our Legislature of nearly three-fourths of a hundred men, you are by your action causing a blocking of legislation, and the consideration and passage by the Legislature of measures of moment to the people of Kentucky and our county and of some of its institutions particularly, and are causing a danger to the party in the possible loss of a representative of the party in the councils of the nation at a time when our State and country are much in need of Democrats on guard at its Capital.

We can not be forgetful of the result of the bolting only a few years since of the party's nominee for United States Senator which resulted in the election of Deboe as one of Kentucky's Senators at Washington.

We have in the past, do now, in the present, and expect in the future to loyally fight the party's political battles, in county, State and national politics, and on the eve of the national contest, this is no time for you to assume to represent your party, when you refuse to cast the party's vote, as you were directed to cast it, and as you gave your sacred pledge to cast it.

It is a time when our duty demands that we call your attention to these facts, and that we ask and insist that you do not further trample upon our rights.

As the result of the recent raid of night riders in Dawson Springs, a house was allowed to burn down in the town without a hand being turned to save it. It is customary to give an alarm of fire by firing a pistol, but that is also the customary way for night riders to notify the citizens of their presence and desire for everybody to stay indoors. So when the night watchman fired off his pistol several times in rapid succession to arouse the volunteer fire department and such other citizens as would turn out and lend a hand, his efforts had directly the opposite effect, and not only did the volunteers remain abed, but pedestrians skurried to the nearest doorway and a fine residence burned to the ground, while citizens lay trembling in their beds, anxiously awaiting the dawn when they could learn what the night riders had done.

A Chicago physician throws some light on the problem of why we sleep in church, supposing that we do.

If ministers want appreciative audiences, says the Chicago doctor, let them ventilate their churches. Give the deacon some fresh air to breathe, such as he is accustomed to on the other days of the week, and he will stay awake during the sermon on Sunday as easily as he does during the horse trade on Saturday.

There is much truth in it. A church should be ventilated for the same reasons that a schoolroom should be ventilated—in the first place, for the bodily good of the auditors, and in the second place, because the speaker wants the intelligent attention of his audience.

A lawyer in Rochester, N. Y., has been investigating British judicial methods, and he told the New York Bar Association that 23 English judges, for a population of $2,000,000, dispose of as much business each year as 98 judges of the Supreme court of New York, who try cases for only 8,000,000 people; and, in addition to this, the English judges do as much business as all the Federal judges in the State of New York. What is true of New York is doubtless true of Kentucky. Our judges ought to have more pay, but at the same time they ought to do more work.

A prominent pastor tells this story: "I visited a certain school one day where Bible instruction was part of the daily course, and in order to test the children's knowledge, asked some questions. One class of little girls looked particularly bright, and I asked the tallest one: What sin did Adam commit?"

"He ate forbidden fruit."

"Right. Who tempted Adam?"

"Eve."

"Not really Eve, but the serpent. And how was Adam punished?"

"The girl hesitated and looked confused. Behind her sat a little eight-year-old, who raised her hand and said: 'Please, pastor, I know.'"

"Well tell us. How was Adam punished?"

"He had to marry Eve."—Harper's Weekly.
