TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS.

Who Will Be Crowned the Most Popular Young Ladies In This Part of Kentucky

Just Eleven More Days To Answer This Momentous Question So If You Are Ambitious or This Month Prized Honor And The Prizes That Go With It, You Must Make Every Moment Count. Be Up and Doing With Might And Main For We Are Nearing The Home Stretch AND YOU Will Need Every Vote To Make You a Winner.

HUNDREDS OF SUBSCRIBERS

ARE Pouring Into The I. J. Office As The Many Friends Take Advantage Of The Best Offer Of The Contest Which Comes To a Close at Nine O'Clock Tonight.

"Who will be the winners of the Interior Journals Great Prize Popularity Contest which comes to a close on June 29th?" Is the question almost everybody is now asking. The answer to this question will all depend on what efforts the contestants and their friends put forth during the next eleven days. The great race is growing more and more exciting every day and from all appearances the outcome will be in doubt up to the last minute for there are many strong candidates who are working with might and main for that $350 piano. Never in all his years of experience in this work, has the manager ever seen a contest where the indications point to such a close race at the finish. It certainly is going to be a highly prized honor to win that $350 piano for this is by long odds the greatest campaign ever attempted by a country newspaper in Kentucky.

Open Until 9 O'Clock Tonight.

The office will be open this evening so that the contestants and their friends may turn in the subscriptions to apply on the best offer of the contest which comes to a close at 9 o'clock tonight.

Will Your "Favorite" Win

Friends, relatives and acquaintances, it is up to you. Are you going to let your favorite lose that $350 piano just for lack of a few subscriptions? But still she may lose by a few thousand votes which she might as well have had, if you had stood by her. Let every father, brother and sister, aunt and uncle friend and acquaintance put forth their most active efforts during the next two weeks in behalf of their favorite for what you do now will probably spell SUCCESS OR DEFEAT for your candidate. Drop everything if need be, to make your favorite a winner. Don't let anyone wrest the honor and glory away from her. Don't let vain regrets possess you, when the judges have made their final decision but make sure that if your favorite loses, you at least have the satisfaction of knowing that you have done all that you possibly could do. A little help given your favorite now is worth all the consolations in the world while the contest is over.

About The Coupons.

No coupons will appear in the paper hereafter during the contest. All coupons clipped from the paper must be mailed before June 22nd, or they will not be counted. We do this to clear the boards for the judges when time comes for the final count. Vote ballots issued on subscriptions are good at any time up to the close of the contest and need not be mailed until the last day if you do not wish to do so.

Pay Up Your Subscription

After the contest is over, subscribers who are in arrears will be cut off the list. If you are in arrears, why not pay up your subscription and give some contestant the benefit of the votes? The I. J.'s subscription will be strictly cash in advance to all alike hereafter.

The dainty little lady who salutes you here is one of our youngest contestants but she is making a most active campaign that would do credit to one many years older. She has a wide circle of friends and admirers and we look for them to help her win a big prize at the close.

Miss Minelle Pruitt. District No. 1

This is Moreland's "Favorite" in this big race for glory and prizes and the good people of Moreland should be proud of her for she is doing everything possible to put this little town on the contest map. With the continued assistance of her many friends, we hope to see her among the winners on June 29th.

Praise For Wesley Embry

Reviewing the Blue Grass League, a writer in the Louisville Herald said Sunday: "The Frankfort team is one of heavy hitters and they are fast fielders as well, which would hold them up even with a mediocre pitching staff. Manager Gferrer seems to have a find in the youngest addition to his list of pitchers. Embry, the former high school lad, has won five straight games for the Lawmakers, and has never been hit hard."

Middleburg.

The formal opening of Golden Dawn Hotel Thursday June 6th, was a success in every particular. There were some 200 hundred people present and the scene presented something of a 4th of July picnic. The McKinney band was on hands as per arrangement and furnished the best of music, and was highly complimented. A good ball game was played by the Hustonville and Middleburg teams which resulted in the defeat of the Hustonvillians by a score of 4 to 3. Jason Lawhorn the proprietor of the Springs was quite unable to look after all of his guests as he wished, but Mr. G. W. Thomas, of Somerset, was there and assumed some that of the role of nine host, and made it pleasant for all present. Lincoln county sent down a good delegation. Among which were Mr. and Mrs. William Moser, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Singleton, Misses Ophelia Mobley and Virgie Davidson. The Liberty people came up in automobiles buggies etc., to help to swell the number. The best of order prevailed and all had a good time. Some persons took supper with Mr. Lawhorn and the day was profitable to him.

One of the little twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William North, of Mt. Salem, fell while at the Golden Dawn opening and broke her arm near the elbow. Dr. C. B. Creech was present and dressed the fracture and Mrs. North took her home. Jesse Herron and Dallas Reed are said to have done a land office business with their automobiles, bringing people to Golden Dawn on opening day. They made several round trips to Liberty, bringing a good load each trip.

Danville K. P. Officers.

At regular election of the Danville Knights of Pythias lodge last week, the following officers were chosen: M. J. Farris, Jr., C. C. Herman Mayes, V. C. W. C. VanPelt, P. H. J. Perry, M. W. T. H. Wright, M. F. W. S. Fitzgerald, M. E. J. C. Davis, K. R. S. George Gentry, M. A. G. T. Aldridge, J. G. Tharp Shaw, O. G.

CHILDREN'S DAY

At McKinney Christian Church Proves Very Enjoyable Affair.

McKinney, June 17. One of the most successful and enjoyable occasions here in many a day was the Children's Day exercises at the Christian church on last Sunday night. The house could not hold the crowd and many had to stay on the outside on account of it. The program was very interesting, consisting of several drills and recitations and songs. The committees are to be congratulated on their good work in training the little ones. The drill by the small boys was extra fine also the little girls' songs. Mrs. E. O. Gooch and Miss Catherine Murphy rendered a very beautiful duet in their impressive way and all enjoyed the service very much. Mrs. D. S. Riffe has returned home from Chattanooga where she has been, last week visiting her children.

Miss Elizabeth Humm is the attractive guest of Miss Isabelle Reynolds this week.

Mr. John Tanner and wife of Richland, Oregon, is on a visit here to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Tanner.

Edgar Leach, of Ludlow, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Z. P. Smith this week.

Mr. Mat Cohen, of Lexington, and Mrs. Richard Tasker Lowndes, Jr., of Danville, were callers at the barn of R. S. Scudder this week inspecting Mr. Scudder's fine string of youngsters he is grooming for the fair circuit this season. Mr. Scudder's reputation for breeding and handling high class show stock is second to but few men in the country.

Misses Mary Dee and Lena Beck entertained the Embroidery Club on last Thursday at their beautiful country home. A very delightful lunch was served and the colors pink and red showed up to a good effect as decorations and all enjoyed a delightful hour with the charming young hostess.

It is worse than useless to take any medicine internally for muscular or chronic rheumatism. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment for sale by Penny's Drug Store.

BOYLE COUNTY STRONG FOR HARVEY HELM

Congressional Candidates Meet in Joint Debate And Local Man Takes all the Laurels.

That Congressman Helm is first in the hearts of the democrats of Boyle county, as well as those of the big majority of other counties in the Eighth district, in the race for the nomination for congress, was demonstrated beyond all doubt, when he met his two opponents, Hon. Jere Sullivan, of Madison and Col. Jack Chinn, of Mercer, in joint debate at Danville Saturday afternoon. From beginning to end, it was apparent to the most biased observer that the big crowd was with Mr. Helm and the easy style in which he handled his opponents, made him still more friends, and convinced his admirers still more strongly that it were a great mistake to refuse him a renomination.

Mr. Sullivan spoke first. He opened his speech by saying that as he was a comparative stranger in Boyle county, he did not think it amiss to say something of himself. He told of his extreme poverty in boy and young manhood, of the hardships endured and the many sacrifices he was compelled to make in order to secure an education. He finally graduated and then took up the profession of law, in the practice of which he told his hearers he had been very successful. He laid much stress upon the good of the present school law, which he went to the legislature for the especial purpose of passing; of his long and successful career in the conduct of the democratic party in Madison county, of the many honors unanimously bestowed upon him by his home people, of the effort made to get him to take charge of the campaign last fall, which, on account of poor health he declined. Mr. Sullivan said that it was at his suggestion that Hon. Rufus Van Sant, now chairman of the State Central Committee, was selected as chairman of the democratic campaign committee last fall. Mr. Sullivan spoke for an hour and closed his effort by claiming that it was through him that the direct primary act has become a law; that he drafted it, and he called upon Mr. Helm to show what he had done for his people. He was liberally applauded.

"My fellow Democrats" said Mr. Helm, when he arose to speak. "I am thankful that this is an audience to which I need no introduction, for almost without the sound of my voice, stands an humble home where I first saw the light of day." The pathos in his words touched a responsive chord in his audience and a round of applause followed. The speaker then launched into defense and account of his work in Congress and in answer to Mr. Sullivan's charge that he had done nothing but draw his salary, he pointed with pride to the hands-on Federal building in Danville and asked by whose efforts it was erected. He charged that the salient effects of Mr. Sullivan's much boasted of school law was to make the citizens pay more taxes for the purpose of keeping up two normal schools, one of which is located at Richmond and giving negroes the right to vote in the white school trustee elections.

"No man is more heartily in favor of good schools and educational facilities than I am," said Mr. Helm "but I do not want a northern school system pushed upon the people of a southern state."

As chairman of the committee on War Department Expenditures, Congressman Helm told his hearers of his work and of the successful fight he had made in putting a stop to the millions of dollars yearly expended by appropriations, which had been secured by some. Congressmen to establish army posts in their respective districts, nine-tenths of which the speaker said are and, were useless and simply the result of corrupt political "pull". He told of the effort to blot out the wasteful habit of discarding certain styles of shoes and clothing in the navy and army, before any of them were beginning to show wear, thereby necessitating the purchase of new materials and the millions of dollars lost by the government when the out-of-date materials are thrown away. Mr. Helm said he had given all of his energy and time to stop this leakage and in a great measure had succeeded.

He made numerous strong and well taken points and the audience cheered him to the echo. At times the speaker grew sarcastic, and spared neither of his opponents. His description of the meeting at Louisville in which Mr. Chinn and Mr. Sullivan participated was exceedingly amusing, but the climax was capped, when pointing at Mr. Sullivan the speaker dramatically exclaimed:

"And you claim to be the daddy of the primary law, when there you sat at Louisville in a dark lantern scene with half a dozen others, trying to name a candidate for Congress in the Eighth district. Does that look like he wants the people to have their choice?"

Round after round of applause swept the building and Congressman Helm then closed his effort with an eloquent appeal to be returned to his seat in the House of Representatives. Col. Jack Chinn followed Mr. Helm in a 15 minutes talk, saying that so many laws are now being passed by congress that the people can not keep up with them and he thought it was best that the lawyers like Messrs. Sullivan and Helm be kept at home to interpret those laws to their people and send a farmer like himself to Congress to repeal a few of them. He poked a little pleasantry at his opponents, but was not feeling in the best of health and made but little effort to hold the crowd, which showed a disposition to leave after Mr. Helm had finished. The day, the crowd and the debate, dissolving it all into one, was a signal victory for Lincoln county's candidate, and so sure as August 3rd rolls around, Boyle county will hand in a handsome majority for Mr. Helm. Scores of leading citizens waited in the court house yard after the speaking, to shake his hand, congratulate him upon his timely effort and assure him of their support.

PHILLIPS HAS RIGHT TO BUILD PAVEMENTS

Where Contracts Were Given Him Before Conley Got City Work. Says Judge Hardin.

The concrete sidewalk controversy which has been waging more or less vigorously in Stanford since the contract for new pavements was let to Conley by the city council, reached a climax when the question of which contractor has a right to build certain pavements was carried into the Circuit Court last week through an injunction suit brought by the City Council against Phillips Bros., of this city. The city sought to enjoin Phillips from building certain pavements the contract for which had been let to the Conley firm, of Somerset. The contention of the city was that the property owners had been given ample time to have the work done by private contract, and that work had not started within the time allowed, and that after the contracts had been awarded and the work started by the city's contractor, it was too late for the private contractor to step in and claim the right to do the work.

On the other hand, it was shown by the testimony of several of the councilmen who were introduced as witnesses, that the council had not expected that the pavements would be laid within the time specified by the city fathers, but that the property owners would ask for further time for the work. Mr. James Phillips testified that he had made his bids for the city's work with the reservation of his private contracts, which he was now attempting to fill, when enjoined by the city.

Judge Hardin held that the property owners had the right under the circumstances to have Phillips Bros., carry out the contracts which had been made before the city's contract.

An injunction suit against the city to prevent the cutting down of a number of trees along the sidewalks, will be tried before Judge Hardin at Lancaster Saturday.

Chappell's Gap. The farmers are all through planting corn.

Miss Annie Brinish was the guest of Miss Martha Anderson Sunday.

Miss Mamie Pike spent Sunday with Miss Tillie Chapell.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Green were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Dishon Sunday.

Bell, James and George, twins of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carson, Ruth and Ralph, twins of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cundiff.—Liberty News.

GREAT FIGHT ON AT CHICAGO TODAY.

Roosevelt Claiming Nomination By 42 Majority—G. O. P. Split Beyond Repair.

Tuesday morning on the eve of the convention, reports were rife that a big block of the southern delegation, instructed for Taft, would bolt their instructions and vote for Roosevelt. Senator Dixon, Roosevelt's campaign manager claimed that Roosevelt would be nominated with 42 majority.

The test was expected to come right off the reel at the opening of the convention at noon, when Chairman Rosewater, of the national committee, who calls the convention to order, would be asked to throw out the temporary roll of delegates as prepared by the national committee, and substitute a roll prepared by Roosevelt and his friends.

Editor Sam Roberts, of the Lexington Leader, who is on the ground, and who has led the fight for Taft in central Kentucky, writes to his paper, that it does not seem the republicans can win in November, no matter who is nominated, so badly split are the members of the party at Chicago.

The arrival of Roosevelt in Chicago to lead his followers and the handing over of Texas, Virginia and the state of Washington to Taft by the National committee, constituted the leading events at Chicago on Saturday. Previously the committee had taken one of Roosevelt's delegates in the 11th district of Kentucky, and given it to Taft, and two in California. Plain stealing and treason were charged against the Taft machine by Roosevelt's friends and the scenes were the most exciting ever witnessed at a national convention in a quarter of a century.

Judge Bethurum To Fight. Judge B. J. Bethurum, of Somerset, who was unseated at a delegate from the Eleventh district to the Republican National Convention, is in Chicago and will carry his fight to the floor of the convention. He wired Senator Dixon he would not allow the people who elected him to be robbed without a protest on his part. Judge Bethurum was one of the first to advocate the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt in the Eleventh district. He was joined in Louisville by his brother, Judge L. W. Bethurum, of Mt. Vernon, who is a strong Taft man and a delegate from the Eighth district.

Hustonville. Miss Lucinda Lutes was the guest of Mrs. Geo. Tucker Wednesday.

Mrs. Bettie Fowler is the guest of Mrs. Uriah Dunn.

Mrs. M. F. Herring spent last week with her sister Mrs. Newland at Stanford.

Messrs. Josiah Bishop, and Nat Hicks attended court at Stanford Tuesday.

Mrs. Eugene Dunn and Miss Annie Dunn visited Mrs. Daniel Traylor at Stanford last week.
