T. A. Rice, out on the Danville pike, sold a couple of heavy 1,100 feeders to Ike Shelby last week for which he will get 5 3-4 cents a pound. They will be delivered on the 15th of October, at which time they will be weighed up.
Ras Allen, of King's Mountain, bought a sow and pigs from Corey Francis of the same community, for which he paid $20. From Mrs. Carrier he bought a 100-pound sow for $6.50.
L. P. Thompson of the Preachersville neighborhood, paid Sam Anderson $7.50 a hundred for 16 extra nice grazers. He also got a dozen of the same kind of heaves from Schooler, of Garrard, at the same figure.
J. H. Goggin, the Hubble mule and stock buyer, purchased two coming four-year-old mules and one two-year-old hybrid from Oasher W. M. Bright, of the Lincoln County National Bank, last week. Mr. Goggin will ship them south.
Frank Smith, who has just sold his farm to John G. Lynn, last week delivered 45 ewes to B. D. Holtzclaw, for which he got $4 a head.
Mr. Smith has sold quite a quantity of Red Fultz seed wheat this season. He sold 90 bushels to Mr. Lynn at $1.25 a bushel, and has disposed of about 300 bushels in all this season.
The Scott Bros., in the Goshen section, added to their farm holdings this week when they bought 71 acres of land from Dan Traylor at $60 an acre. There are no improvements on the property but the land all lies well and will make a nice addition to their already comfortable farm.
The Fulton Mo., Gazette said last week: R. L. Hubble, of Lancaster, Ky., a kinsman of Lee brothers, of Mexico, was in Fulton stock sale, dya looking for a load of cotton mules and succeeded in buying five. He told a representative of the Gazette that too many local mule buyers were after long-eared fellows for him to get all he wanted.
Wilson Alexander, of the Hubble neighborhood, who is buying mules extensively now for the southern market, paid Solon, of Crab Orchard, $135 for a good cotton mule on Monday. Mr. Alexander has recently rounded up about 10 feeding mules in Pulaski, which cost him an average of about $150.
Dr. Henry L. Casey, the Danville veterinarian, had to shoot a fine brood mare for Clarence E. Tate last week. She had gotten out of his pasture on the Hustonville pike, and made her way into the cemetery grounds. Some one threw a rock a rock at her and broke a leg. Mr. Tate thinks. Anyway, one of her legs was so badly fractured that Dr. Casey thought there was no use in trying to save her. Mr. Tate valued her very highly. He had been offered $135 for her next foal, in the event it was a mare mule, and her get had always brought top figures. She was easily worth $250.

J. H. Murphy, out on the Hustonville pike, sold to B. D. Holtzclaw a bunch of nine hogs, for which he got $8 a hundred.
Lost—Wine colored steer; weighs about 650 pounds and had horns. Reward for return to Pool Peekins, Lancaster. 74-2p.
W. P. Givens, the progressive and scientific farmer of the Shelby City neighborhood, told an Interior Journal man the other day that he intends to continue putting new ground in alfalfa each season until he has his entire farm in the production of this profitable hay. He had 20 acres in alfalfa last season and is preparing five more acres at the present time. He uses great care in the preparation of the ground, and in consequence, always gets a good original stand. He says there is nothing he can raise on his farm which will return him more profit as he cuts from seven to eight tons per acre a season, and gets $20 a ton for it.
Cashier W. M. Bright, of the Lincoln County National Bank, is another scientific Lincoln farmer who is rapidly increasing his acreage in alfalfa. He has recently prepared four acres. He first gave each acre a treatment of four tons of crushed limestone; then put on Tennessee phosphate and after that thoroughly inoculated the land with inoculation right from the U. S. department of agriculture. His alfalfa was then planted and is up now and doing nicely.
Arthur Coffey, the hustling young son of Squire W. A. Coffey, near McKinney, took a pen of his thoroughbred Barred Plymouth Rock chickens to the Somerset fair last week, and took the blue ribbon over strong competition. There were more entries in the arched Rock classes than any other variety of fowl at the show. Mr. Coffey has several prospective blue ribbon winners on hand now, but of full growth. He expects to enter them at the Louisville Poultry show this winter. He has just received an order from a poultry fancier in Alabama for five exhibition pullets which will be exhibited at the Alabama state fair. Mr. Coffey leaves this week for Lexington where he will take a special course in agriculture at the State University.
J. W. West, also out on the river, has been doing some scientific farming this year, and is making his land yield its fullest under careful management. He sowed 13 acres in barley, from which he derived about $30 worth of grazing and sold $325 worth of barley. He then planted a corn crop on the same tract, which is now looking mighty fine. A short time ago he sowed barley a second time, which is now up on will make a crop soon after the corn has been cut, thus practically making three crops off the land this season. Mr. West recently sowed 18 acres of corn which he has sold to Pence and Cordier to be fed down to hogs, for $500. All of white goes to show that there are no more progressive farmers anywhere than right here in Lincoln.
