CIRCULATION—OVER 3,000 THE LARGEST OF ANY COUNTRY NEWSPAPER IN THE STATE OF KENTUCKY.

FOUNDED 1860. 53d YEAR. NO. 82

STANFORD, LINCOLN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1912

TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS.

THIRD DOUBLE TRAGEDY ENACTED WITHIN YEAR.

John Saylor, L. & N. Foreman at Crab Orchard, Kills His Wife And Then Himself.

The third tragedy in which a man killed his wife and then himself, to be enacted in Lincoln county within a period of less than a year, took place at Crab Orchard Wednesday night about half past seven o'clock when John Saylor, an L. & N. foreman shot his wife to death and then sent a bullet through his own brain.

The first of this series of fearful events was when the notorious negro Anderson Carr, killed his wife and then committed suicide, after being arrested for the crime. This was early in the year. A week ago Matt Singleton returned to his home in the southern end of the county, and slew his divorced wife, who, he had heard, was about to marry again.

Saylor shot his wife to death at the home of his brother, Jim Saylor in Crab Orchard, where she had fled after he had given her a severe whipping that morning. He returned to his home after his day's work and not finding her there, went to the home of his brother, where she had gone with their five weeks old baby. He asked her, it is said, if she intended to return home with him. She replied that she would not go with him unless he would promise to treat her right. Thereupon Saylor pulled a pistol out of his pocket and fired point blank at her. The bullet struck her in the throat, and she fell over dead instantly.

The husband looked at her a minute, and asked if she was dead. On being told that she was, he turned the pistol to his temple and fired. He lived a few hours only.

The tragedy occurred in the presence of Saylor's aged mother and his brother, who, it is said, sought to shield the woman from his attack. The mother is said to have attempted to catch his arm as he pulled the pistol, but he was too quick for her, and threatened to kill her, too, if she interfered. He then fired, and when the other members of the family rushed to the side of the victim, he coolly asked if she was dead and then ended his own life.

Saylor and his wife had been married but a year or so, it is said. He is said to have been married before to a girl from Oklahoma, but they separated and she went back to her home. The wife whom he slew was from Williamsburg.

Coroner Geo. P. Bright went to Crab Orchard early Thursday morning and conducted an inquest over the bodies of the man and his wife and had a jury return a verdict in accordance with the facts.

NARROW ESCAPE

For Prominent Hustonsville Man When Street Car Hit His Auto

Charles K. Wheeler, the well known merchant of Hustonsville, had a narrow escape from being killed, when a street car struck his automobile as he was coming out of a garage in Lexington Tuesday. As it was, he was thrown out and very seriously bruised and hurt, while his car was smashed into kindling wood. One of his hips was broken and he was otherwise badly hurt.

Quite a number of people witnessed the accident, among them being Mrs. W. W. Hays, of this city, who was standing in another garage close by, and saw Mr. Wheeler as his car was struck. Mr. Wheeler was given medical attention at once, and was able to return home, but was badly contused and shaken up.

The Lexington Leader had this story of the accident to Mr. Wheeler:

Mr. Charles Wheeler of Hustonsville, Ky., father of Dr. C. L. Wheeler, of 487 West Third street, sustained a fractured hip Tuesday afternoon as a result of a Chestnut and Dewees street car colliding with an automobile which Mr. Wheeler was driving, going east. The accident occurred on East Main street, opposite the Phoenix garage which Mr. Wheeler had left immediately before the collision. The city car was in charge of Motorman Holland and Conductor Doggins, both of whom claim the automobile came out of the garage at a rapid rate, and that it was impossible to stop the car in time to avoid the collision. The automobile was demolished and was carried about fifty feet after being struck by the city car.

Mr. Wheeler was taken to the home of his son, where medical attention was rendered. His condition is regarded as serious. Mr. Wheeler, accompanied by his wife had motored to Lexington Tuesday.

What John R. Yeager, of Boyle says

John R. Yeager, a well known Boyle farmer, advertised a farm for rent in the Interior Journal a short while ago. He was in Stanford the other day and remarked to the editor:

"You people must have the biggest circulation of any paper anywhere. I had answers to my advertisement from Wisconsin, Virginia, Arkansas and West Virginia, besides scores from Kentucky points, and they all said they had seen the ad in the Interior Journal. I have taken the I. J. for many years and always look for it first for I find your farm and stock news column an interesting feature, and not to be found in other papers."

And it's true. There's probably no country paper in Kentucky that covers anything like the territory that the I. J. reaches and every man who has something to sell, and is onto his job, is going to take advantage of its immense circulation.

Fox-Daughter

Miss Elizabeth Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Fox, of Lincoln county, stode a march on her parents and she and Mr. James Daugherty, also of this county, were married in Cincinnati last week. They will make their home in Danville, and have the best wishes of many friends.

Lincoln Court is Affirmed

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the case of Modie C. Vaughn's administrator against the Modern Brotherhood of America. Vaughn carried a policy in the society for $1,000 for the benefit of his wife, who died a few months before Vaughn did. When the question arose as to who was entitled to the policy the society paid the money into court and it was adjudged that Mrs. Vaughn's relatives were not entitled to any part of the money.

The Billing Trophy.

Mr. C. K. G. Billings, of New York, the man who, at his own expense, took the World's Champion Trotters to Europe and exhibited them without remuneration for the purpose of showing foreigners the merits of the American trotter, has given to the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders Association a magnificent gold cup, which will be presented to the owner of the horse trotting the fastest heat in a race during the Lexington Meeting, Oct. 8-19, and this prize will probably go to the horse who wins the Transylvania, The October Prize, or the Free-for-all. Last year it was won by Charley Mitchell 2:04 1-4, after which the horse was sold to Mr. Billings himself. The man who owned the winner last year is now the owner of Baden, one of the grandest race horses the world ever saw, and if he wins this cup ever again, it will be something that few men have accomplished in the history of racing.

A member of the Ohio legislature made a full confession of the wholesale bribery of members, which has been going on for years.

SAYS BECKHAM WILL GO TO SENATE TO SUCCEED BRADLEY.

New Castle, Ky., Oct. 8.—In introducing former Governor J. C. W. Beckham to an immense crowd here yesterday, State Senator W. B. Moody predicted that Mr. Beckham would be the Next Democratic Senator from Kentucky. He spoke of the primary, in which the people named Mr. Beckham, and then told of the alliance of the whisky Democrats, which ended in the election of W. O. Bradley, saying:

"The people gave this honor to Beckham, and they will restore it in August next, when the primary is held. For eighteen days Mr. Beckham was deprived of election by a coalition of whisky Democrats with the Republicans, and finally four men went over and Mr. Bradley was elected. Now his term is soon to expire, and the people of Kentucky will see that Cripps Beckham is given his seat in the Senate. During the deadlock Beckham could have won at any time had he sacrificed his honor to make a deal with the whisky men. He refused to stultify himself and was beaten. (Great Applause.)

"The voters will now have an opportunity to rectify that wrong, and I predict that he will be named by the primary next August and triumphantly elected by the Legislature."

Mr. Beckham then spoke for an hour, and was given hearty applause throughout.

WILSON TO SPEAK TO VOTERS HERE MONDAY

Judge Sam Wilson, of Lexington, One of Ablest Democrats Organizers to Open Campaign

The first gun in the campaign to roll up an unprecedented majority for the democratic ticket in Lincoln county, will be fired here Monday afternoon at the courthouse when Judge Samuel M. Wilson, of Lexington will be here to speak for the Wilson and Marshall ticket.

From then on until the campaign is closed on election day, a vigorous campaign will be waged, lead by Chairman W. L. McCarty, and it is believed that Lincoln will return in this election, the largest vote ever given a democratic presidential candidate.

Judge Wilson is one of the ablest and most convincing speakers in Kentucky today, and all who desire to hear the issues of the campaign presented by such a man should hear him. He is a brilliant man, in fact; and no clearer exposition of the good old democratic doctrine will be given on the stump here in the present campaign.

Everywhere the tide has set in irresistibly toward the democratic ticket in this campaign. It is conceded all over the country that Wilson and Marshall are certain winners if the democrats will only go to the polls on election day and resist their votes. Judge Wilson will give ample reasons why every citizen who wants to see better things should be on guard, and see that his vote and that of his neighbor are put in the box on November 5th.

Judge Wilson will speak at the court house, beginning at half past one o'clock. He will be introduced by Congressman Harvey Helm and a big crowd of democrats is expected to be in to hear him. It is interesting to note that Judge Wilson was one of the original Woodrow Wilson men in Kentucky, and has been his ardent champion throughout the whole campaign.
