

SOUND OF THE HOUND

IS HEARD IN THE LAND National Association of Fox Hunters Begins Annual Meeting at Crab Orchard

Crab Orchard, Ky., Nov. 12.—The 19th annual meeting of the National Fox Hunters' Association began its session here Monday morning at historic old Crab Orchard Springs hotel, with sportsmen and sportswomen and their blooded animals present from half a dozen states. The array of hounds at this meeting is said to be the finest that has been seen in a number of years.

Reversing the usual order of the program, the all aged stake was carded before the Derby for the puppies at this year's meeting, so the older dogs were led out for the first heat Monday. About 45 entered in the initial race, the principal entrants being Gen. Roger Williams, Lexington three hounds, Col. Jack Chin, Woodford county, three; Arch Walker of Garrard two; George Hess, of St. Paul, Ind., two; T. G. James of Mississippi, two; J. H. Lane of Alabama four; Joe H. Smith, of Lexington three; T. B. Scott, of Camp Nelson one; Sam G. Storey, of Georgia, two; J. H. Wilder, of Vincent, Ala., four; Dr. Casper, of Louisville, two; W. K. Herrius, of Clarksville, Miss., one; W. J. Leavell, of Camp Nelson two; C. C. Maupin, of Madison county two; Stanley Plake, of Cynthiana, four.

The first run was made through what are known as the Cedars on the old Cook place towards the knobs. A fox was started soon after the chase but no capture was made. A rather stiff wind prevented more than fair work being accomplished by the dogs, and the chase was not continued long. It is expected that all of three days may be required for decisions in the aged stake, by the judges who are R. Z. Mass, of Camp Nelson, Hayden Leavell, of Lancaster, Peyton Parrish, of Preachersville, L. B. Dickerson, of Nicholasville, and Wm. Turner, of Winona, Miss. They followed the dogs closely Monday and took many notes of the performances.

The indoor feature of the meet the annual bench show will be held at the Springs on Wednesday. That evening the annual hop will be given which is always made a delightful society event. The derby for the younger hounds is expected to be started Thursday.

Girl Who Often Visited Here Hurt

Miss Mabel Dunn, of Nashville, Ind. who has visited Miss Anna Chancellor for several weeks in the summer was shot and very seriously wounded last Friday night. She was visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Owens at Maysville. A party of young men and women went out in autos on a moon hunt, and while passing Best Gault's place near Maysville, he mistook them for Hal Lowe's marauders and shot at them, the ball struck Miss Dunn in the back, going through a sweater and imbedded itself in her breast. The last news received here was that she was thought to be improving slowly.

Hardin—Hutchins.

A pleasant surprise was given her host of friends in this community when news was received last Thursday of the marriage of Mrs. Bessie Farris Hardin to Mr. E. E. Hutchings, of Carlisle. The nuptials were solemnized at the Seelbach Hotel in the presence of a few intimate friends. Mrs. W. S. Denham was her only attendant. Rev. J. B. Briney, pastor of the Christian church, said the words which made the twain one. The bride was very queenly and handsome in a blue tailored suit with hat to match. Mrs. Denham, her matron of honor, wore a suit of brown. After a short stay in Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchings returned to Stanford, where they were given a most cordial greeting and showered with good wishes and congratulations from their host of friends. AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL

To Be Held at McKinney Four Days Next Month.

McKinney, Ky., Nov. 11—An agricultural school of four days will be held in the school house at McKinney on the 3, 4, 5 and 6 of December. The school will be conducted by a number of the professors from the Kentucky State University at Lexington, assisted by a man from the government department. This is a rare opportunity for the farmers and business men of this section of the state. Every man within ten miles of McKinney ought to attend this school. If you are not able to come from your home each day it will pay you to come to town and board in order to attend the school and hear so able men as we will have.

The school is absolutely free to everyone that cares to attend. All it costs you is your time while attending. It does not matter if you have lived on a farm all your life you have not learned quite everything yet and if you will attend this school I think you will find that there is yet much to be learned about farming that will raise your barn to grow fuller and your horses, cattle and hogs, to grow fatter and your pocket book to grow bigger; and above all your life will grow sweeter and more enjoyable. Every one that wishes to attend this school will please send their names.

OWE IT TO BECKHAM

Bowling Green Paper Says Democrats Should Make Him Senator

(Bowling Green Times-Journal)
"Now that the all-absorbing Presidential campaign has closed, and the tremendous victory has perched upon the banner of Democracy, the eyes of the public may again be turned to State affairs. Following up trend of Mr. Wilson's pleading during the campaign to back his administration with a Democratic Senate and House it now resolves upon Kentucky to send a democrat to fill the desk now occupied by Senator Bradley at Washington. But two years separate the time of such an election, and choice must be made by the party at a primary long before that time. Without disparaging the claims of other candidates, or men in the party who may aspire to this honored office, the Times-Journal is of the opinion that ex-Governor Beckham is the most logical candidate. It is due the Democratic party to right the wrong committed by those vampires and leeches in the party's ranks, when the present Senator was elected.

"Mr. Beckham was robbed of his rights by the perfidy of those traitors and the whisky combine. He could have easily won his fight by selling his honor and birthright to this whisky combine which had so long controlled politics of the state. But Mr. Beckham was a true Southern gentleman; one in whose early training were inculcated the seeds of 'honor above life, above all things.' Defeat of his ambition was sweeter to him than dishonor. That nomination, fairly won by him in a Democratic primary in which the people declared him their choice for the United States Senate, still remains unredeemed and a most damnable blot remains upon the fair name and virtue of an honorable Democracy and the good people of this great Commonwealth.

"Mr. Beckham has bided his time to recover his stolen property. Last year he would not enter the race in opposition to Senator James, when no doubt he could have obtained this coveted toga for himself. He desired to receive his stolen property from the source from whence it was taken, thereby vindicating his party from the stain inflicted upon it by the injury done him. This ungracious conduct will not go unrewarded by Kentucky's good people as a whole. The honor of Democracy is at stake; the party must redeem its pledge to him, and confer this Senatorial toga upon him. Mr. Beckham will be a candidate, and the people will right the wrong and victory will be supreme, as without such action it could not possibly be."

Serious Accident Narrowly Averted

As Hubert Carpenter and Miss Berta Jean Penny were rounding the narrow and steep S. Curve on the Preachersville and Crab Orchard pike where so many accidents occur Sunday afternoon, they came upon a horse and buggy containing a man, woman and 3 children. One of the children fell over the right side of the buggy and under it while the mother attempted with a child in her arms to jump out on the left side, they also landing under the buggy. The horse began to back and it seemed they would surely be badly mangled. Mr. Carpenter had his R. C. H. Machine under control and brought it to an instant standstill, while Miss Penny saved one of the children from the horse's heels. Had it not been for this and the fact that the horse was not frightened the few bruises, cuts and torn clothes would not have told the tale. This should be a warning to the public at least not become frightened when meeting an auto until the horse does.

Kentuckian for the Cabine?

The Cincinnati Enquirer last week said: There is considerable talk that a Cabinet position will come to Kentucky. Former Governor Beckham, Urey Woodson, former Secretary of the Democratic National Committee; Judge Alex P. Humphrey, Judge Samuel Wilson and Johnson N. Camden are spoken of in this connection. At the Baltimore convention Gov. Beckham's name was mentioned for Cabinet honors, but those close to him say that he prefers a seat in the United States Senate. Ollie James also is spoken of as a Cabinet possibility, but James would be sure to decline it if it was tendered him.

MANY DEMOCRATS ARE LOOKING FOR THE "PIE"

Quite a Number "Mentioned" For Hustonville Postmaster—New Entry for Collectors

Applicants for postmaster at almost every town in the 8th district are casting eyes of love toward Congressman Harvey Helm just at present and some tall scrambling for the plums that will drop when the new president goes in, will undoubtedly be seen. Congressman Helm, it is understood, has made mighty few promises and he has a pleasant word and hearty smile for all. Edgar Blanton, of Richmond, who is one of the best known young democrats in Madison county, was here last week, and there is a strong tip out that he is being very strongly considered for the postmastership there.

A bunch of good democrats is said to be casting longing eyes at the job in Hustonville, which John A. Blain has held so well for some time. Among those whose names are being "mentioned" by their friends are George D. Weatherford, A. J. Adams, John Riffe, W. L. Evans, Miss Mack Logan, George Bradley, Miss Mole, he Austin and may be others.

It is understood that over in Danville friends of Logan Wood have started a boom for him for postmaster there. Meanwhile the names of H. C. Bright, George W. Mahan, W. H. Roberts, and others are being mentioned by their friends.

The Collectors of this district is naturally a plum many are seeking. A new entry now mentioned is S. E. Booth, of Lawrenceburg, general manager of the Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse Company's big distillery plant in Anderson county. Lillard Carter, of Anderson, is also "mentioned". It appears that Shelton Saunley, editor of the Interior Journal, is to have the united support of the Lincoln democracy for the place, which, of course, very gratifying to him. Quite a number of leading democrats from neighboring counties have also assured him that they are strongly for his appointment.

Death of Mrs. McGill

Mrs. Missouri McGill, wife of Samuel McGill, of the Turnersville section, died at her home on Sunday morning after a lingering illness of consumption. Deceased was in her 38th year and during all her life had been a devoted Christian, willing and ready at any time to pass into the great beyond, for her she had no fear of death. She frequently told of her readiness to meet her Savior but prayed to Him for life, that she might raise up her little children to glorify His name and to become good and useful citizens. Her husband and four children are left to mourn the loss of a faithful wife and fond mother and to them the sympathy many friends goes out in their irreparable loss. On Monday afternoon the remains were taken to the Hustonville cemetery and at 3 o'clock were consigned to their last resting place, after a short service by J. C. McClary.

Col. I. M. Dunn, the popular president of the People's Tobacco Warehouse, was here from Danville Monday, announced that its opening sale will be held Thursday Nov. 21.

A Peculiar Accident

Forestus Reid, of Danville, sustained a peculiar accident while riding horseback on the pike near his farm in this county, a couple of miles out on the Hustonville pike. He was riding along a hedge fence, when his horse suddenly was stricken with blind staggers and fell over against the fence, topping completely over, and throwing Mr. Reid off in a field. Luckily he fell away from the horse, and was not hurt and but little jarred by the fall. The horse seemed to be somewhat injured by his fall as well as the attack of blind staggers which had affected him.
