Political Announcements

The announcements in this column are of candidates for office, subject to the action of the Democratic primary. No announcements will be made, unless paid for in advance:

- For Representative: VIRGIL M. MULLIN. For Sheriff: M. K. BAUGHMAN, B. W. GIVENS, J. G. WEATHERFORD, T. J. HILL, J. W. GIBSON, T. A. RICE, M. F. NORTH. For Judge: PEYTON FARRISH, GEORGE DEBORDE, DINK FARMER, WILLIAM H. HESTER, W. A. CARSON. For Assessor: F. L. BECK, S. M. OWENS, E. H. BRONAUER, F. C. SADDIDGE, H. HOON, W. G. GARNER, L. A. BOGARD, W. D. LYON. J. T. GRIFFIN

There is considerable talk going around of "postoffice primaries." to learn who are the peoples' choice for postmaster in various communities. Of course, this is a nice thing to think about, but would hardly be so nice if carried into general practice, with the ensuing squabbling, and hauling and pulling, not to mention buying, of voters that would result. Congressman Harvey Helm has taken the position that he is simply able to find a good postmaster in each town in his district, and will not try to dodge the issue in any case. He naturally will endeavor to take care of those who have been his friends, distributing the "pie" as best he can and in the fairest way possible. As the only democratic congressman in the southeastern end of the state, his endorsement is going to be a valuable asset to any office-seeker. They are coming thick and fast after him, but he is proving himself competent to handle a difficult situation with the utmost tact and diplomacy. Those who have been his friends may rest assured he will not forget them. The Danville Messenger aptly expressed the situation in the following editorial this week: "Every gentleman who has approached Hon. Harvey Helm on the subject of getting an office has been treated with the greatest consideration, no matter how small the job asked. He has likewise been assured that his claims will be given a most careful consideration. All say Mr. Helm has made no reckless, off-hand promises, which fact in itself bespeaks great wisdom upon the part of the Lincoln county statesman. Many men, in position to dictate appointments, have been known to promise everything at hand to anybody and everybody in sight, and then go square back on that promise, but as the Messenger stated in Mr. Helm's canvass, he has never been known to violate a promise or turn down a friend."

The tip is out that Senator James will endorse Josh T. Griffin for collector at Owensboro, Chariton Thompson for District Attorney in the Eastern district, and George H. Peters for Surveyor at Louisville. We hope the last is true anyway. James had had no better friend anywhere than the clever young man who writes under the nom de plume of Argus on the Louisville Herald. He is a democrat true and tried and nothing is too good for him.

Senator Ollie James spent a couple of days in Louisville early in the week, and was besieged by seekers after federal office plums. To all he gave a courteous audience, and said he would decide upon no endorsement before talking the matter over with the president and the Congressmen of the territory affected. He left for Washington Monday. No man will have more say about the patronage in Kentucky than James.

Col. W. P. Walton, former editor of the I. J. is being mentioned as the prospective postmaster of Lexington. We hope that he can land it. No better postmaster could be found nor democrat who more truly deserves such recognition. He has fought for years for the party he loves so well without thought of reward or office.

Following the general custom, the I. J. has issued but one paper this week in order to allow its employees to celebrate Thanksgiving in the proper way. Tuesday's issue was skipped but we make up for it by giving our subscribers eight pages today.

The lady suffragettes are having a great jollification in Philadelphia over their victories in several states where they obtained the ballot at the recent election. It won't be long till the ladies are voting in Kentucky. No doubt of it; it's coming sure.

Beckham Man of the Hour

The News, published at Pine Knot, in the new county of McCreary, is another to join the rapidly increasing list of papers over the state which are demanding that the democracy make good the nomination for U. S. Senator stolen from him in 1908 by four traitors in the legislature. The News says: "No citizen can question the administration of Hon. J. C. W. Beckham, as Governor of Kentucky, and no good democrat approves the treachery of four democrats of the legislature who took a mess of potage and gave the Senatorship to a republican, W. O. Bradley. Their potage is demonstrated by the fact that those four got beds under Senator Bradley, and thus the Hon. J. C. W. Beckham, was defeated for the United States Senatorship. Since that memorable session of the legislature, Ex-Governor Beckham has been all the while in private life, working quietly for the success of the democratic party, working and making speeches in democratic congressional races, Gov. McCreary's race and for the ticket, and time has proven the wisdom of his stand in the Louisville gubernatorial convention, and last but not least he has been the personal and political friend of that candidate for the presidential nomination, who was nominated by the Democratic party and elected president of the United States. Beckham is the statesman of the hour in Kentucky. There is an undercurrent for him for the next United States Senatorship which will sweep the state, at the next August primary."

Says Beckham is True Blue

The Harrodsburg Leader, the leading Progressive newspaper in Central Kentucky prints the following: "About the warmest contest that will loom up in the near future is that of a successor to Senator Bradley. While we do not propose to take any part in the fight and have nothing against any of the prospective candidates, we are impelled by a sense of fairness to 'render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's,' and cherish the hope that Gov. Beckham may receive the endorsement of his party. At one time we were doubtful of Gov. Beckham's sincerity, in reference to the liquor traffic, but having been in close touch with him for several years since and watching and weighing him in this respect, as well as others, we are impelled to pronounce him 'true blue.' He not only deserves it from his party, but he deserves it as a man. We have differed politically, but this difference was not bitter or bigoted. There are few more courtly or kindly men in Kentucky, than Gov. Beckham and his refusal to enter into any trade with the 'interests' in his senatorial fight with Senator Bradley shows a truer metal than is usual, and even if he was defeated he carried with him the consciousness of having done right, stood firm for principle and was really the victor in the fight. The time has now come when his party can honor him as he deserves and we believe it will. There is no question about his popularity with the rank and file of the Democratic party in Mercer county and the man that beats him here will know that he has had a race."

Another Paper for Beckham

In approving a recent editorial in the I. J., the Bowling Green News has this to say: "Seven years ago by the perfidy of four Democratic members of the Kentucky Legislature, ex-Gov. J. C. W. Beckham was beaten for a Seat in the United States Senate after having been nominated by the party at a primary. Those four men refused to abide by the will of the party and voted for W. O. Bradley a Republican who has almost filled out the Senatorial term that belonged to Beckham. The Democracy of the State has never recovered from that theft and never will be satisfied until the wrong has been righted and the only way to do it to elect Beckham at the next August primary. This the Democracy of the State demands and this is our judgment will be done no matter who may be the candidates for the honor. We most cordially endorse the editorial on that subject taken from the Stanford Interior Journal, and believe that a large majority of the Democracy of the State will endorse it."

SATURDAY NIGHT

one of the best numbers of this season's

Lyceum Course LAURANT & CO.

admitted by all to be one of the most notable of the present day.

Mr. Laurant carries two assistants, a musician and a large amount of baggage for scenic effects, enabling him to give the highest class performance ever seen in STANFORD.

Laurant's programme is divided into three parts, and the actual entertainment runs for almost two hours. The first feature is a flower prelude. Following this prelude, Mr. Laurant introduces his latest features of slight of hand, etc., occupying almost 30 minutes.

His new startling illusion is "The Soldier, The Priest, and The Devil." This is his latest mystery and is said to be the most baffling act ever undertaken by a magician. It is a combination of effects during which Mr. Laurant assumes three characters at almost the same time. An escape is made in full view of the audience and instantly an appearance is made in the appearance of the Devil. It is wonderful. In the "Wizard's Supper" which Mr. Laurant presents the audience is treated to many dishes of magic cookery.

These Lyceum entertainments are the highest class attractions that have ever visited Stanford, and unless the people patronize the remaining attractions this season, it will sound the death-knell to shows of this character in the future.

A number of seats are sold, so if you want a good seat, go to G. L. PENNY'S Drug Store and have them save you one. Prices 35c and 50c.
