We noticed in some of our exchanges that Dr. Pearson, of Chicago, was about to "endow Berea College," for the purpose of creating a new department. We called the attention of President Frost to the items and we give his reply as follows: "Reporters and newspapers have said a good deal about what Dr. Pearson is going to do further for Berea. Dr. Barton, one of our Chicago Trustees who was here at Bro. Fee's funeral, saw Dr. Pearson last week, and he said that while he believed in Berea as much as ever, he had made no such statements as those reported.

Besides those otherwise mentioned the following were among those present at the memorial services of Rev. John G. Fee. Miss Sallie and Robert Burnam of Richmond, Mrs. Goodloe of Whites Station, Miss Mary Robe, Miss Mary B. Overstreet, Sophie Hodges, Camp Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jackson, Lexington, Mr. and Mrs. W. A GREAT KENTUCKIAN.

Funeral and Memorial services OF JOHN G. FEE.

The funeral and memorial services of Rev. John G. Fee occurred on January 15th. The news of his sudden but peaceful death on the evening of January 11th had been conveyed by letter and telegram to a wide circle. The fact that his death occurred in the midst of the winter, when a number of Berea's graduates and friends are engaged in teaching and religious work which tied them to their posts of duty diminished somewhat the attendance on the day of the memorial exercises. But in spite of all this the audiences embraced a large number of people, and many of eminence and distinction.

The day was perfect, and the arrangements of the somewhat complicated program highly satisfactory.

Tuesday morning classes met with their teachers to talk of the history of Berea and be prepared to take intelligent part in the services of the afternoon. After chapel at nine o'clock the students marched in several processions, representing the different departments, to the church near Brother Fee's residence, where the body lay in state.

At one o'clock there was a service in this church, conducted by Rev. H. J. Derthick. The church was beautifully decorated, and the hour given largely to personal tributes. There were present Mr. Fee's daughter, Mrs. Laura Fee Embree, and two of her sons and one daughter; his son E. S. Fee, of Clarksburg, Indiana, with his wife, son and daughter. Another son resides in California.

There were 36 pall bearers: 12 citizens—Josiah Burdette, W. P. White, Samuel Hanson, Alfred Titus, J. C. Teeters, J. C. Jackson, James Bicknell, James Earley, B. R. Robinson, R. Royston, Fay Hanson, Thomas Pearl; 18 students—Messrs. A. Beatty, D. R. Smith, Howard Ernst, W. P. Chapman, O. H. Venner, P. Shrock, J. E. Ewers, W. H. Humphrey, J. M. Racer, B. P. Allen, H. M. Racer, W. S. Mason, W. A. Battle, John Chapin, F. A. Ewers, W. B. Beatty, H. Kliema, M. K. Pasco, Jr.

At the close of the funeral exercises, the body was borne to the College chapel, where Memorial Services were held, presided over by Pres. Frost. After singing the hymn, "The Son of God goes forth to war," prayer was offered by Rev. G. A. Burgess, the new pastor of the Berea Church; and Rev. J. H. Derthick read the account of the translation of Elijah, II Kings 2: 1-15. As the body was being brought in, the entire audience arose, and the Harmonia Society sang "Servant of God, well done." The first memorial address by Prof. Dodge, was a personal tribute to Brother Fee, with whom he had been associated for twenty-six years. President Frost then gave an historical sketch of the life of Brother Fee, giving the facts published in THE CITIZEN this week. Rev. James Bond, of Nashville Tenn., a trustee of the College and graduate of the class of '92, gave a very beautiful and eloquent address on the work of Brother Fee in promoting harmony between the white and colored races in the South. Hon. C. F. Burnam, one of the most prominent citizens of Kentucky was the next speaker, and his address was of the most touching character. Hon. Goodloe was then introduced, and gave a brief address of great beauty and weight. Mrs. Laura Fee Embree, Father Fee's daughter, spoke briefly regarding his work at Camp Nelson. The concluding address was by Dr. W. E. Barton of the class of '85, from Chicago. We hope to give our readers extensive extracts or some of these addresses in full at some future time. At the close of Dr. Barton's address persons who came in late were given an opportunity to view the remains. The procession then formed and marched to the cemetery.

While addresses were being given in the Chapel, another large audience gathered in the Baptist Church, here Prof. Dinamore, Dean of the Normal Department, presided. Speakers were conveyed from the Chapel to the Baptist Church, at the close of their addresses in the chapel, with the exception of President Frost. Prof. Eliza H. Yocum gave a sketch of the life of Brother Fee at that meeting, and the interest there was little less than at the chapel.

As the procession passed the Baptist Church, students and citizens from there fell in, so that the procession stretched for nearly a mile along the Richmond Pike. At the grave there was only the reading of Scripture by Rev. G. A. Burgess, prayer by Rev. H. J. Derthick, and benediction by President Frost.

Among the distinguished visitors we noticed upon the platform Hon. W. B. Smith, of Richmond, Hon. J. D. Harris, and many others. At night the visiting and resident trustees, members of the Fee family, and the Faculty met at the President's House for fireside reminiscences of Father Fee.

Wednesday morning in Chapel Dr. Barton addressed the college students and Rev. Mr. Bond the students of the Normal Department and Model Schools.

This outline of the day's exercises can convey but a faint idea of the deep moral and spiritual impressions which were made upon all hearts. Brother Fee's body is laid to rest, but his soul is marching on.
