BEREA, KENTUCKY

Berea and Vicinity.

GATHERED FROM A VARIETY OF SOURCES

Ernest Shoekley is visiting his grandfather in Rockcastle county.

Rev. Mr. Messier of McKee was a business caller in Berea Tuesday.

Elhanan Muncy from Illinois, is spending a week at his mother's on Jackson street.

Dr. Cook is expected to preach at the Union Church next Sunday morning on "The Immanence of God."

Mr. Anthony Burnell's peaches are extra fine this year, just ready for market, and the public is invited to call and buy.

Mrs. Smith on Center street, Miss Jennie Hanson and John Muncy are reported as having typhoid. Mr. Short and daughter have malarial fever.

Mrs. Lydia Whyland left last Wednesday for Greenwood, Ky., where she goes to take charge of the primary department of Greenwood schools.

Miss Prentiss and Miss Clarke, teachers in the Cleveland Normal Schools, and Miss Monks, who teaches in the Public Schools of Cleveland, who have been spending about three weeks here, returned to Cleveland on Saturday.

Mr. W. Todd Moore has returned recently to his home on the Walnut Meadow Pike, after a five weeks visit with friends and relatives in Kansas and Indian Territory. He reports a good time and a fine country, but was very glad to get back to his old Kentucky home.

A recent letter from Rev. L. E. Tupper, formerly editor of the Citizen, now busy as principle of the Academy in North Craftsbury, Vermont, sends regards to all his friends. Mr. Holliday arranged for the sale of some property belonging to Mr. Tupper, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Logsdon entertained a few of their friends Tuesday evening at their pleasant home. Sherbet and wafers were served. Mr. Shadoin with violin, and Miss Margaret Wallace at the organ, added to the pleasure of the evening, which to all was a most enjoyable one.

When the Hair Falls

Then it's time to act! No time to study, to read, to experiment! You want to save your hair, and save it quickly, too! So make up your mind this very minute that if your hair ever comes out you will use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It makes the scalp healthy. The hair stays in. It cannot do anything else. It's nature's way. The best kind of a testimonial— "Sold for over sixty years."

College Items

HERE AND THERE

Little Elizabeth McLaren is quite ill with malarial fever.

Prof. Edwards returned last week Wednesday, from his work in Ohio.

Mr. McLaren has been sick with malarial fever, but is much improved.

E. F. Fowler left last Thursday for his home in Kirksville, where he takes a short vacation.

Miss Phillips, Secretary Gamble's clerk, returned Saturday to resume her duties for the coming year.

Miss Cameron, matron of the Dining Hall, returned last night to take up her duties for the coming year.

Professors Edwards, Lewis, Rumold and May attended the County Teachers' Institute in Richmond last Wednesday.

Mr. Ernest Powers, of Falmouth, Mass., arrived last week, and is now working in the Printing Department. He will be in school during the year.

Jonas Doleh, a former Berea student has returned from Cincinnati, where he has been since leaving Berea and expects to enter school in September.

Mrs. G. A. Evans and Miss Curraleen Smith, of Richmond, and the Misses Mary and Bessie Buckwater, of Winchester were interested callers at the College last Thursday.

Because of the illness of Nanny and Myrtle Click, Mr. and Mrs. Cartmell, who had planned to spend their vacation at the Click home at Kerby Knob, returned Saturday after only a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Grosvenor returned to Berea last Thursday, having spent about ten days in Amelia, O., the home of Helen and Herman Frenger; a week with their daughter, Mrs. Crowther, who lives near Cincinnati, and divided the remainder of the time at Pleasant Ridge, Price Hill and Union Bethel.

C. E. Townsend writes telling of the change of his address, from Radical to Rogers. He states that he has a contract to put in about three million feet of timber on Swift's Creek, Wolf county. This will prevent his entering school during the fall term. He sends regards to all teachers and friends.

Mae Reece entertained a small party last Wednesday night at Ladies' Hall. Miss Reece's resources in the way of entertaining seemed almost endless, being mostly original and very delightful, especially the initiating the young men of the party into a sewing society. Now they know what "running the gauntlet" means. Another time they will probably not be so hasty about deciding to join a sewing circle.

Union Church at 3 o'clock. Hymns selected by members of the family, were sung by a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Gamble, Miss Wood and Mr. Dick. Rev. Mr. Pasco made a brief address. The fourteenth chapter of John, a favorite one of Arthur Hunt, was read. Mr. Osborne read a short description of his life, from which we publish the sketch below.

Dr. Cook preached the sermon from the text Heb. 11:13, 16; "These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them and greeted them from afar,—wherefore God is not ashamed of them to be called their God, for he hath prepared for them a city." The services were concluded at the grave.

The pallbearers were Geo. Dick, James Young, John Welch Cleve Wolfe, Seward Marsh and Howard Clark. The church house was filled with a host of sympathizing friends.

Sketch of Arthur Hunt's Life.

The dreadful event of last Saturday, which took from our midst one of the noblest and most promising of our young men, has been in the minds and in the hearts of every citizen of our village, and many are the tributes that have been spoken by loved ones and friends regarding those noble qualities that were so beautifully lived by our dead friend.

Arthur Hunt was born in a Christian home, growing up under these beautiful influences until at the age of ten years he was converted, baptized and joined the Methodist Church in Carter county of this state.

Five years ago next November, he came to Berea and entered as a student in the College. Naturally of a cheerful and sunny nature, he soon ranked as one of the most popular young men of the institution. He was the soul of honor, whether on the football field, in the literary society, or in the recitation hall. As a Christian, new duties were revealed to him, and as he took them up one by one, in the Young Men's Christian Association, in the Christian Endeavor Society, the Sabbath School, first, as a pupil, then as a teacher it was apparent to all that Arthur Hunt was "growing in grace and in the knowledge of Christ."

But we love best to think of him in his home, to think over the splendid qualities that were so beautifully exemplified here. It is a precious heritage—for wife, mother, father, brother, or sister—and it is well calculated to inspire us all to imitate Arthur in the choice of that good part that shall never be taken away.

OHIO NEWS.

HAMILTON
Hamilton, O., Aug. 18, '06.
Editor Citizen:—Will you allow a few lines to my Kentucky friends, Meredith Reynolds, my father, J. L. Gabbard, and I left our home in Owsley county, Ky., August 10, and arrived here Aug. 11. We are visiting relatives at this place. A good many of our Kentucky people are here, working in the various manufacturing establishments. The Champion Coating Paper Co. at this place is one of the largest paper companies in the United States, and furnishes employment for over 300 persons. Its a very striking experience to one who never saw a paper making establishment to go through this mill, and see all the machinery in full operation. Hamilton has also one of the largest tool factories in the United States, the Niles Tool Factory, which covers over one block, and employs about 1,500 persons. There are several other big factories in Hamilton which help make it a popular business city.

Hamilton is situated on the Miami river which divides it into two parts. It has a population of about 34,000. The worst fault we can find with Hamilton is that it has quite a number of saloons and many that partake of the strong drink.

Very respectfully,
JAS. R. GABBARD.

MISS ROBINSON'S MESSAGE.

Interesting Letter From Miss Robinson Concerning Her European Trip.
Geneva, Switzerland,
August 1, '06.
My dear Mr. Cook:—I was very glad to receive on my arrival at Geneva, The Citizen, for July 2. I did not receive that for July 5, and as I leave here for Basle today, and the one for July 19 has not come, I fear I shall miss that.

I will tell you briefly where I have been and what I have seen since I wrote you last.

In Naples we had a drive about the city. Our steamer was so late that we missed not only Pompeii, but also all art galleries, etc. We saw Vesuvius, which was smoking a little on that day, and the beautiful harbor, the public buildings and monuments, and visited a few stores. Beggars were everywhere present.

In Rome I saw as much as possible in my two and half days there. I visited St. Peter's and the Vatican galleries and museum, the Coliseum, Forum, Mamertine Prison, followed Paul's footsteps out of the city on the Ostian way, and visited the magnificent St. Paul's outside of the walls of Rome which is supposed to be situated where he suffered martyrdom. I saw remains of the old walls of the city, of the Roman aqueducts, visited the Catacombs of San Sebastian and drove along the Appian Way. I went to other churches and galleries and saw pilgrims toiling up the holy stairs on their knees. It was when Martin Luther was going up the same stairs in the same way in order to earn forgiveness for sons that he seemed to hear the words, "The just shall live by faith." I visited the excavations being made in the palace of the Caesars, and before I left the city went to the fountain of Treve and drank and cast in a coin, as is the old custom for departing visitors, for the tradition that so they will return again. At Florence I saw the cathedral and the wonderful treasures of art in the Uffizi and Pitti Palaces.

In Venice I rode in gondolas and fed the pigeons in the square of St. Mark's, visited the Doges' Palace, with its Bridge of Sighs, and delighted in visiting the shops, and the lace and glass making. At Milan I saw the cathedral, the most beautiful building which we have visited, and saw the painting of "The Last Supper," copies of which are so familiar, though none give an adequate idea of the wonderful original.

We came through the longest tunnel in the world, the Simplon, to pass the Alps. I find Geneva the pleasantest place yet. Yesterday I visited Chamonix and saw Mt. Blanc. The day was an exceptionally good one. I have attended several sessions of the Christian Endeavorers' Convention. I have many things to tell of my travels, and am anxious to get back to Berea and my friends.

Sincerely,
J. A. ROBINSON.

LAUGHED OUTRIGHT.

Murderer Fitzgerald Takes His Death Sentence Easily.
Barbourville, Ky.—Jesse Fitzgerald, who, with Annie Henson, was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Robert Broughton, was sentenced to hang September 21. The woman was sentenced to serve 15 years in the Kentucky state penitentiary at Frankfort. Fitzgerald laughed outright when he heard his sentence. He continues to make small noones of twine and present them to soldiers as souvenirs.

John Hobson's Motive.
Louisville, Ky.—In the preliminary trial of John Hobson it was developed that his motive for fatally stabbing Wallace Barnett was because Barnett tossed a tin bucket at him. He was held in $5,000 to answer to the grand jury.

"Brighten Up"

"Brighten Up" time is here—the time to clean up about the house, renovate and make the old things look neat and clean again. We can help you in the work with our line of Sherwin-Williams Paints and Varnishes.

It is really surprising what a little paint or varnish will do toward brightening up dingy surroundings. Take The S-W Family Paint, for instance. This is a linseed oil paint specially prepared for home decorating and painting. With it any one can renew the appearance of a hundred little things that now look worn and old. It dries with a good gloss and will stand scrubbing with soap and water. Comes in 20 attractive shades.

The S-W Floorlac is another splendid household brightener. It is a stain and varnish combined and can be used on old or new woods equally well. Imitates the natural wood and gives a most pleasing effect.

These offer a few hints for you. Come in and have a "Brighten Up" talk with us and learn more about how we can help you in your fall cleaning. Our line has a paint or varnish for every purpose. Remember, we sell
