The Southern Educational Association met in Louisville, Ky., Nov. 28

The attendance was not as large as hoped and the membership of the association for the year coming will not exceed seven hundred and fifty. Most of the important schools of the South, however, were represented by one or more members.

The Association is doing a great work in bringing public attention to the problems of education peculiar to the South. Thru its insistance we are now fully alive to the fact that the population of the South is largely rural and that the South's problem is one of rural education. A glance at the program of the session will show that the dominant note was education as a preparation The members of the "Student for life and life in rural communi-

THE THANKSGIVING GAME

An ideal day, an enthusiastic crowd, two evenly matched teams, both int nding to win made the Thanksgiving game, between the College and Academy one of unusual interest. The fairness and promptness of the referee, John Welch, added much to the interest and spiciness of the game and was commented upon by all who understand football.

On the Academy team the tackling by McGregor and Jones was excellent and Saxton did the strongest work of the game in bucking the line. A weak line formation made it impossible for the Academy to strike their opponents with the snap and vigor that good line work demands.

On the College side Clinton Jones, Douglas and Robinson did splendid tackling, while Muntz at Center by repeated lunges over the Academy line worried their quarter and half backs, causing many fumbles and much uncertain playing

Both teams were rather weak in offensive play. Generally the interference was in fair form but was easily broken up and was rather slow.

The College kicked off in the first quarter and kept the ball in Academy territory, time being called with the ball in the possession of the College team and on the Academy twenty-five yard line,

The College team opened the second quarter with a fake play between Hoffman, the quarterback, and Jones, the right half. The entire College team dropped into position for an end run by Jones. The Academy team rushed in and broke up the end play, tackling Jones vigorously, but left an open field thru which Hoffman, after a feint to pass Jones the ball, carried the pig skin back of the Academy goal, making the only score of the entire game. Chambers failed to kick goal leaving the score 6 to 0 in favor of the College.

In the third quarter the Academy kicked off and kept in College territory most of the time. Neither team secred.

The Academy had the best of it this style of play and this standard thruout the fourth quarter. At one time they were within about three yards of their opponents goal, but the ball went to the College on downs and was punted into somewhat safer territory. The game closed with the line up close enough to the College goal to keep the interest of the crowd at a high pitch, and to hold the College department in tense anxiety. College. Academy R. E. J. Jones Douglas R. T. Murrell Batson Cromer R. G. Wilson Muntz C. Vogle Parker L. G. Click Anderson L. T. J. O. Bowman
