Win First Game of the Series From Indians.

Cairo Goes Into Second Place Over Jacksonville and Threatens Vincennes.

LEADERS SHUT OUT MATTOON.

Teams Standing.

Team	W	L	Pct.
Vincennes	48	29	623
Cairo	39	36	520
Jacksonville	40	38	513
Paducah	37	38	493
Danville	35	43	449
Mattoon	30	46	395

Yesterday's Results.

Danville 3, Paducah 2.
Cairo 8, Jacksonville 4.
Vincennes 2, Mattoon 0.

Today's Schedule.

Paducah at Danville.
Cairo at Jacksonville.
Mattoon at Vincennes.

Danville, Ill., July 21.—The Soldiers outfit the Indians but made nearly as many errors as hits, and while the locals were scoring on hits, fast base running brought in two runs for the Indians.

Fleming seemed to be in good form, and the boy who was knocked out of the box at Paducah on the last circuit held the Indians down to four measly bingles today. South worked for the Indians and the Frankfurt boy was not in good trim, it seemed, or else the Soldiers had on a batting streak.

The Indians are crippled and not so strong as when the locals were on the circuit and met them on their home grounds.

The score: R H R

Danville	3	10	6
Paducah	2	4	2

Batteries—Fleming and Johnson; South and Downing.

Cairo Coming Some.

Jacksonville, Ill., July 21.—The Hash Slingers, encouraged over their rise from the grave, are playing fast ball, and defeated the locals yesterday in a game where the odds in hitting were against them. They ran bases like fends and with fewer hits took the game. They were assisted by four big errors by the Belites.

The score: R H R

Cairo	8	9	1
Jacksonville	4	12	4

Batteries—Way and Quessier, Ames and Lotshaw.

Hostlers Goose-egged.

Vincennes, Ind., July 21.—The locals defeated the Hostlers today, shutting them out. Farrell was himself and allowed but two hits. The locals made four errors but they did not count. The game was close and exciting, the Hostlers scoring on singles bunched.

The score: R H R

Vincennes	2	7	4
Mattoon	0	2	1

Batteries—Jokerst and Johnson; Farrell and Mattison.

Dope.

Quigley has got his one or two bingles ever since he has been on the circuit. His fielding and hitting have been features of the games. Quigley is a comer in the Kitty, and although he may not have hit well with Evansville in the Central league will have a fat batting average in the Kitty if he keeps up the gait he is going.

Dick Brabie or any other pitcher would have yielded to the Hash Slingers when they had on the battling clothes they wore two days ago.

Perry is still out of the game. The Indians have been unlucky. Groh's hitting and fielding on the infield would have been big factors in the Indians winning. His absence is felt.

Cairo fans are taking a lively interest in baseball now that they see how near they came to losing out.

That meeting in Paris, Ill., is now unnecessary.

Those who predicted the Kitty was going to pieces before the season ended are still figuring.

The Indians are now three games behind Cairo. It was a see-saw affair between the two teams when the Indians played at Cairo.

The Hostlers have not got such a cinch on that first place as the papers in the Hoosier city would have the fans believe.

"Rough-house" McCarthy has been playing third base for Mattoon since Armstrong deserted. He seems to be an all-around man.

Henline, who plays center field for Danville, is said to have played one season in the American league with Washington, D. C.

The Cadiz and Eddyville baseball teams will play a match game today at Eddyville where a big picnic and speaking is being held.

Woodring, who beat Paducah 10 to 0 for Cairo this week, and who allowed the Indians but three hits, beat the L. A. L. team in a game pitched for Mound City by a score of 3 to 2. He allowed five hits in this game, but he did not have good bidders behind him.

George Shaw Le Fevere, who was recently elevated to the English house of lords on King Edward's birthday, made his maiden speech in the house of commons in connection with the escape of the Confederate cruiser Alabama from the Mersey. He was vigorous in denouncing the gross carelessness of the officials intrusted with the duty of detaining the Confederate cruiser, and predicted that sooner or later Great Britain would have to pay heavily for the neglect.

Rev. Dr. W. H. S. Demarest, the new president of Rutgers college, is a remarkable example of the transmission of hereditary traits. He is the fifth of his name who has been identified with the government of the college, his father, his grandfather, his great-grandfather and his great-great-grandfather all having been trustees of the institution.

Winston Churchill, the young English statesman, is said to be one of the most eccentric of persons. His odd and unconventional doings furnish the tea parties of Vanity Fair with much subject for talk. Apparently, he takes after his distinguished father, the late Lord Randolph Churchill, in more ways than one.

Accurate tab has been kept on Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador, since he arrived in Washington, and nobody ever saw him without a cigar in his mouth or in his hand just ready to put into his mouth, except when he was at a state function or dining, and then he always smoked between courses.

Judge J. T. Fleming, of Oklahoma, is unique. He served in the Confederate army, voted the first time in his life for Grant and the last time for Harrison. He believes that every Union soldier should get a pension of $50 a month, inasmuch as he helped save the greatest union of states on earth.

Eyeglasses slightly tinged with an orange yellow are said by a French expert, Dr. Motals, to be peculiarly agreeable and soothing to feeble over-sensitive eyes. Patients who cannot use blue or smoked glasses see well with these.

A miner who lost his life 2,000 years ago has been taken from a copper mine in Chili recently. Copper oxide had mummified his whole body. The mummy is in a fine state for preservation.

A wonderful pearl bearing the exact likeness of the late Queen Victoria of England was found in a fresh water mussel in the Mississippi river near Davenport, Ia.

Sealing wax is not wax, nor does it contain a single particle of wax. It is made of shellac and resin melted with turpentine.

"PANHANDLE" GETS A NICKEL'S WORTH

Jangling Silver Wears on the Nerves of Pete.

Starts After His Debtor With Rocks and Causes Hurred Flight of Wagon.

LIVELY SCENE IS WITNESSED.

"Panhandle Pete," not the Pete of the comic section of the dailies, but the "real thing," amused employes of the Paducah Saddle company and others in the immediate vicinity of Fourth and Jefferson streets this morning at 7 o'clock. The exhibition was short, but it had more features than many regular affairs. There was a sprinting match, a rock throwing contest and exhibition of expert tumbling and dodging and Pete made things hum for awhile.

"Panhandle Pete" is a negro and is employed as night driver of the Palmer Transfer company's baggage wagon. Saturday he loaned another man of his color 25 cents. He did not know his companion's name but did know his face and when the man passed Pete this morning and jingled some change in his pocket, Pete became tantazed to such a degree that he threw discretion to the four winds and started in for satisfaction.

Pete collected several "alley guns" in the chase and when he neared his mark let one go. The mark dodged safely and sighting a flat-bed transfer wagon with a friendly driver, jumped aboard and took refuge in front of the driver. The driver began to beat his horses to outdistance the fast flying Pete but several other wagons in advance made this impossible.

Pete heaved another rock and his mark made a desperate dive for the ground and did a complete "flip," alighting on his feet and making for the head of the team. The driver had fallen to the bed of the wagon and was lying flat on his stomach when the next volley of "alley guns" was turned loose.

Pete became disgusted and quit. "What caused the trouble Pete?" some one inquired as the negro returned and gave a few hitches to his beltless trousers to keep them from falling off.

"Dat niggah owes me two bits, and passed beah jus' now and jingled it." "What yo' gwine toe do, take it out of his hide?" another darkey inquired.

"I sho' is, but dat ain't but a nickel's worth," was Pete's rejoinder, as he shambled into the stable and grabbed up his coat, which had been abandoned so hastily a few minutes before.

He Ran for Lawyer.

A man from Pennsylvania went to Vinceland on a business errand, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The town was strange to him, and he was unacquainted with the man (a lawyer) he had gone to see. The directions he received were so indefinite that he found himself on the edge of the town without having come to the house he sought. Then he met an old negro and asked the way of him and learned that the house lay about a quarter of a mile farther down the road.

"The man I want to see is a lawyer," he said to the old man. "Is this Mr. Dash down the road a lawyer?" "He ain't a lawyer that I ever heard tell of," answered the negro. "You're sure?" "The old negro scratched his head in deep thought. Then a gleam of remembrance lighted his eye. "Now I think of it, boss," he said, "pears like I do recollect he run for lawyer one time."

Webster's Retainers.

Edward M. Nason, superintendent of buildings for the state of New Hampshire, tells the following anecdote of Daniel Webster:

One day a man came to Webster's office and consulted him in regard to a prospective lawsuit. At the close of the conference he paid the attorney a retainer of $100 to look after the matter. Upon returning to his place he found that his partner had already settled the suit, obtaining the sum demanded without an attorney. He thought $100 was altogether too much for an office fee, so he dispatched his clerk to look after the subject.

"Mr. Webster," said the young man, "my employer thinks you should return a part of your retainer. That case has been settled." "Young man," said the lawyer, "you go back and tell your employer that a retainer is something to be retained."—Boston Herald.

Ten feet five-tenths is the stage here now. The river rose one foot in the last 24 hours. Rainfall was 1.24 inches. Weather threatening and business at the wharf brisk.

The Ruth No. 2 arrived early this morning from Ironton, O., on the way to Florida. The trip will cover between 600 and 800 miles. The Ruth No. 2 draws only 17 inches and is built of Oregon fir. It has 25 state-rooms. Parties in Florida purchased this boat and Capt. E. L. Ma gruder is carrying it on the long trip. When the boat gets into the Gulf of Mexico the shore must be closely hugged and the weather carefully selected for making the trip. Balmbridge, Florida, is the destination.

The Wash Honshell left yesterday for Colbert shoals below Florence, Ala., to bring back some barges which sank there last year.

The Lyda left yesterday afternoon for the Tennessee river after ties. The Lyda received repairs here for a week.

The Dunbar will arrive Sunday night from Nashville and lie over until Monday noon before leaving for Clarksville.

The John Hopkins was the Evansville packet today. No Evansville packet Sunday.

The City of Sallito will arrive probably tonight from St. Louis on the in-trip to the Tennessee river.

The Dick Fowler left at 8 o'clock this morning for Cairo with good passenger and freight business.

The Kentucky will leave this evening at 6 o'clock for the Tennessee river well-loaded. Business in the Tennessee river is good now.

The Savannah will arrive out of the Tennessee river Sunday on the return way to St. Louis.

John Reynolds will resume his position on the Kentucky as chief engineer today after an absence of a month. William Hemphill, of Metropolis, who has been assisting on the Kentucky in his absence will return home.

The correct distribution of the boats chartered to fill the places of the Fowler boats when the water gets too low for them, is this: The Dudley and Henry Harley in the Evansville trade now filled by the Joe Fowler and the John Hopkins, and the Dunbar in the Cairo trade now filled by the Dick Fowler. The Fowler boats were repaired last year so unless arrangements are made in other streams for them, they will lie up until good water.

The Ohio river surveying party which recommended the survey of the Ohio river from Owensboro to Cairo three weeks ago is now below Evansville. The low water of the past two weeks has done much to expedite their work and make it easy for them, says the Evansville Courier. Captain Creelius who has the party in the incline in charge came down from the quarter-boat yesterday on the small river "stern-wheel boat" Willow Point, to get ice and provisions. He is optimistic over the report his party will make on the topography of the river. "The nine foot stage is a sure thing," he says.

The Courier-Journal says: The Louisville and Cincinnati packets have done more business and been more successful in the last two years than they have for years before.... Capt. Bob Manning is in command of the W. W. O'Neil and Capt. Walter

A leaky pipe and a lighted match caused the trouble.... Capt. Frank M. Carter is paralyzed in a New Orleans hospital.... A single steamer on the unimproved Ohio and on the lower Mississippi, the steamer Sprague, handled in one tow 70,000 tons of freight, which would make a solid train fifteen miles long. The cost was one-third of a mill a ton less than any other waterway in the world. This cost included the return of the empty barges. The trip was a profitable one for the steamer and barge.

Save the Buffalo.

Saving the Buffalo, or more exactly, the bison, from extinction is a work which appeals to the sentiment of persons familiar with the conquering of nature on this continent. Nobody can read the story of the settlement of America without coming to have a feeling for the animal which, ranging in great herds about the plains took such a part in the existence alike of the Indian and of the white. Filling no commercial need, the bison has seemed to have small chance of continuing to decorate the planet. Although his flesh resembles beef, and his hide is much more valuable than that of any domestic kind of cattle he seems likely to be exterminated.

Although by cross-breeding with certain other animals a new and valuable farm animal, with a thick coat of fine soft hair, yet small reliance can be placed upon commercial arguments for his preservation. He must be saved by science and history, and the instrument most likely to be successful is the government. Individuals and private associations are a frail reliance for the centuries. Steps, therefore, are being considered by the American Bison society, recently organized in New York, toward inducing the governments both of the United States and of Canada to take part in the work of preservation.

The honorary president of the association is Theodore Roosevelt, the honorary vice-president is Earl Grey, governor-general of Canada, the active president is William T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological park, one of the vice-presidents is Dr. Charles S. Minot, president of the Boston Society of Natural History, and the board of directors is made up largely of men well known in science and education.
