 "Strike straight from the shoulder and make no apologies."

ARE WE RESPONSIBLE?
 Lawlessness begets lawlessness, nothing else. The terrible scenes enacted in Atlanta are but the natural and certain result of mob rule. Too long we have coquetted with violence in the garb of chivalry, and in Atlanta, where one newspaper enunciated the hideous doctrine of the mob and defiantly gloated in its triumph, the city is turned into a veritable slaughter pen. It requires no fine reasoning to discern the honorable motives that sometimes impel commonly law-abiding men under stress of peculiarly great provocation to commit deeds of violence in defense of their woman; but such cases only are even remotely excusable when done in hot blood, and when redress by extreme penalty of the law is doubtful. Such conduct goes beyond the law, and becomes license when winked at. License is the privilege of the baser sort as well as the best citizens. The effect of such license were the victim only concerned, in many instances would be only beneficial to the community. But it brutalizes the man who participates in it. The situation in Atlanta is a typical product of the brutalizing influence of the mob spirit. Had the mob, formed under the guidance of cool headed leaders, sought out and slain the perpetrators of outrages on white women, few would have moralized on the occurrence, save to deplore conditions that induced such summary justice. But the Atlanta mob can lay claim to no such justification. The better citizens met and denounced the conduct of the rabble, but the harm is done, and it lies in this—we have been pointing out to the negro the lesson of the lynch law and commending him to obedience. Innocent law-abiding black men were slain in the streets of Atlanta. The confidence of the negroes must be shaken. They see that protection promised them by the white man taken away from them. Hatred is the offspring of dependence and distrust. It is not the reprisals of the blacks, had as they must be, the people of Georgia have to fear, but a deep instilled sense of injustice, abused confidence and suspicion of the law. There is a lesson in this terrible chapter for both races, perhaps, but we should give heed to the one for the white man. Suppress the mob, uphold the law even when our spirits struggle against its strictures. Did some of our best citizens always exert themselves as much to enforce the law as they do sometimes to break it, there never would be occasion for mob justice. The jury dodger can not tell how far he is responsible for the situation in Atlanta.

Booker Washington
 Advises Negroes of Atlanta Not to Retaliate.

New York, Sept. 26.—"As a rule I never discuss mob violence except when I am in the south, but in this case I make an exception," said Booker T. Washington, referring to the riot in Atlanta. "I will state that in my address in Atlanta to the National Negro Business League a few days ago I spoke plainly against the crime of assaulting women and against resorting to lynching and mob law as a remedy for any evil. I would strongly urge that the best white people and the best negro people come together in council and use their united efforts to stop the present disorder. I would especially urge the negro people of Atlanta and elsewhere to exercise self-control and not make the fatal mistake of attempting to retaliate."

KILLED DAUGHTER.
 Then Told Brother She Was Better Dead Than Living.

Powder Springs, Ga., Sept. 26.—Discovering that his 16-year-old daughter, Ruth, was to become a mother in a few months John Bullard, a planter, who lives near here, this morning shot the girl to death. He fired six bullets into her body. Bullard, immediately after committing the crime, went to his brother and informed him of what he had done. "Ruth is better dead than living with such shame upon her," said Bullard.

Cost Comer $8,499.60.
 Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 26.—B. B. Comer, successful candidate, today filed his campaign expense account with the secretary of state. He spent $8,499.60.
 Dr. A. H. Flower, of Boston, Mass., will arrive tonight to visit the family of Mrs. J. M. Buckner, Eighth and Jefferson streets, for several days.

the transcendent possibilities of the modern day pageant. Times change and manners change with them. What would those old-fashioned courtiers have thought of a fleet of modern vessels of war, in their triple plate armor solemnly performing the knightly duty? Some Austrian warships are coming to make a call on us in acknowledgement, according to international etiquette, of our visit a year ago. It was ever with the mailed glove nations saluted each other, even in a social way, and the warship is no mean successor to the knight of old.

Before New York has succeeded in digesting government ownership of railroads, she is called upon to swallow Hearst's yellow journal system of political economy. It's a nauseating mess.

Paul O. Stensland was lined up in police court with a lot of pickpockets in New York yesterday. There is little regard shown for the feelings of a common pickpocket by city police.

That 506-pound octopus caught in Mississippi Sound is small compared with the billion dollar octopus Secretary Moody is after.

If this rain is the result of two storms from opposite directions meeting here, we are glad they both came this week.

We are waiting to hear some sparkling epigram, expressive of his pleasure at coming home, fall from the lips of Stensland.

Out at Colorado Springs they are celebrating the memory of Col. Pike. He was the man who said, "Pike's peak or bust."

IOWA IDEA.
 Governor Cummins Still Clings to Tariff Revision.

Churdan, Ia., Sept. 26.—Governor Cummins last night opened the Republican state campaign here, speaking to a large audience of 1,500 business men and farmers. His address was devoted largely to setting right his attitude towards the tariff. Gov. Cummins said in part: "I retract nothing that I have said with regard to the tariff. My views are unchanged and within the ranks of the party I will labor, as earnestly as I can, not for a general revision of the schedules, for that I have never favored, but for reducing certain duties which our experience during the past nine years has shown to be excessive."

"My contention has always been that the revision of the schedules must be in harmony with and based upon the protective policy; that our duties that are too high should be lowered, but not so as to impair their efficiency as protective duties."

CHILD CONVICTED OF KILLING.

He is the youngest defendant on this charge ever tried in the state.

LIGHTNING'S PRANKS.
 Strikes Pond of Water and Mr. John Moize.

Jackson, Tenn., Sept. 26.—The lightning played an unusual freak on the farm of Alf Moize in the Tenth district last Saturday. During a thunder storm the lightning struck a pond of water, and glancing off, struck Mr. John Moize in the heel, three hundred yards away. It also struck Miss Jessie Moize on the arm. She was further away than John. The same bolt of lightning killed two hogs near the pond.

JAMES GRAHAM WILL WORK AT EDDYVILLE.

Placed in Charge of Willis Mount, Another Paducah Prisoner—Feels Better.

Jim Graham, the "lifer" who was yesterday taken to Eddyville to begin a life sentence for the murder of Claude Bass for $45, is a waiter in the dining room department and does not take his lot so hard as at first. "Graham was rather depressed when we were taking him to the prison yesterday," Fire Chief Wood, one of the guards, stated, "but when we got there his spirits were revived by his reception. The boy was a pitiful sight. All during the trip we 'jollied' him up and when the prison was reached the boy was placed in the dining room under Willis Mount, foreman of the dining room. Mount, you know is serving a 17-years' sentence. He helped cheer the boy up and I think he felt much better after the prison was reached."

BAILEY RETORTS
WITH STATEMENT

Denies Every Charge Generally and Specifically.

Says He Is Not Employed by Standard Oil Company and Never Has Been in His Life.

TELLS TENNESSEE EPISODE.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 26.—The following statement was made public tonight by Senator Joseph W. Bailey in reply to criticisms of him and his record which have been circulated during the past few days: "The Democrats of Texas have not forgotten that exactly this same kind of a fight was made on me when I first elected to the senate six years ago. After I had won the senatorship in a fair contest before the people, a coterie of dissatisfied politicians made a desperate attempt to defeat my election by the legislature. The present agitation was largely inaugurated by the same men, with some outside assistance, and is predicated upon exactly the same transactions."

The Tennessee Central.
 "The first step in this campaign of malevolence and detraction was to have a purported interview with the Hon. Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois, assailing me sent broadcast over the country. Mr. Sullivan promptly denounced that interview as a falsehood made out of the whole cloth."

"The next step was to circulate the story that the Tennessee properties for which I am the attorney, belong to the Standard Oil company; and they sought to impose this falsehood upon the fair-minded and Justice-loving Democrats of Texas. Some of the men who are circulating that story know, and all of them could have learned with very little inquiry, that the Standard Oil company had no interest in or connection with these properties and that they were owned by H.C. Pierce, J.C. Van Blarcom, W. H. Thompson and many other leading business men of St. Louis."

"The third step in the process was to pretend that the testimony given by Mr. Pierce disclosed a secret employment of me in connection with those properties. Some of the very men engaged in this movement have been complaining for months that I was the attorney of these very properties, and they knew all about it a year ago."

"The statement, so industriously circulated by some, that I 'put $13,000,000 worth of securities in my pocket, to do with them as I pleased' is little less than ridiculous. I did not have $13 worth of securities in my pockets."
