

NOT TO SENATE

ROOSEVELT WILL GO SAYS A CORRESPONDENT.

President Frankly Decided That He Would Not Accept Seat From New York.

Washington, Feb. 15.—What will President Roosevelt do after his present term expires a little more than a year hence? This is a question which many have asked, and which no one is able to answer. The president himself cannot answer it, for the simple reason that he does not know.

But there is one point as to his future as to which he has finally and definitely made up his mind. He will not accept a seat in the United States senate. Within the past forty-eight hours the president has told personal friends of his decision as to this.

There has been a great deal of talk of the president going to the senate as the successor of Senator Thomas C. Platt, of New York, who will step down and out the 4th of March, 1909. For a long time the president himself looked upon this with favor. Without at any time reaching a conclusion the idea appealed to him, and he talked it over with his friends, some of whom advised him to go to the senate, and some of whom are radically opposed to the suggestion. Until quite recently it has been strongly believed by those in the confidence of Mr. Roosevelt that when the time came for a decision on this score—it either did come—the president would consent to wear the toga and sit in the "American House of Lords." Unless Mr. Roosevelt again changes his mind this may now be regarded as out of the question.

Most Dangerous Animal.

"What is the most dangerous of all the wild animals that I have encountered? The rhinoceros," said John R. Bradley, one of the big game hunters of the world.

"In equatorial Africa you will find the rhinoceros almost everywhere—in the high land and in the low land, in the open country and in the brush. You will find him when you least expect him, and most often when stalking through his habitat, wholly unconscious of his presence, you suddenly hear his 'chug, chug!' Then God help you if you are not provided with a rifle of large caliber and carrying steel bullets. Your only chance is to do a swift sidestep, and even then you have only three shots that will count—the brain, the neck and heart shot. When he is charging head on, it is impossible for you to reach either one."—Chicago Journal.

Precious Metals in Culebra Cut.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 17.—Ores containing gold, silver and copper have been found in the celebrated Culebra cut of the Panama canal. This has been ascertained by chemical investigation at the laboratory of Col. H. C. Deming, consulting state geologist in this city. Three lots of the ore were sent here for determination, and in every one of them the three metals were found, one of the samples being considerably richer in the precious metals than the others. Larger quantities are to be shipped to ascertain what the profits will be when ores are properly worked up in bulk. The belief here is that all the returns of the rich find will inure to the United States government.

TICK OF CLOCK

HEARD AFTER BEING DEAF FOR TWENTY YEARS.

Jamaica Plain Turns Up a Modern Miracle in Mrs. Weller's Case.

Boston, Feb. 17.—There seems to be no let-up in the tremendous interest that has been aroused in this city and vicinity by L. T. Cooper, the young philanthropist, who is introducing his preparations to Boston people. The remarkable results accomplished by him in the past two weeks are daily becoming more manifest. Some of those who purchased his medicine in the early part of his visit are now calling at his headquarters, the Jaynes Drug Store, 50 Washington street, to report results.

Yesterday was a record-breaking day, and many present were anxious to tell what Cooper's preparations had done for them. One of these was Mrs. W. Weller, living at 2567 Washington street, Jamaica Plain. Mrs. Weller had previously been treated for deafness, which, according to her story, had afflicted her for twelve years. She can now hear any ordinary conversation. In relating her experience Mrs. Weller said:

"For twelve years I have been afflicted with catarrhal deafness, and heard no word during that time. I have seen many physicians and taken much medicine, but for all the good it did me it might have been so much water. I read a great deal about these Cooper medicines, but paid little attention to it until I read of a man in Cambridge who had been relieved of catarrhal deafness after twenty years. I then came here and bought the medicine, both for local application and to be taken internally.

"At the end of a week I heard the clock in the dining room tick. I had never heard it before, as we bought it since I became deaf. I also heard street noises and some conversation. Now I can hear so much better that I am absolutely astonished. I no longer have head noises, and the drooping in my throat has altogether ceased.

"The New Discovery has also cured my husband of constipation, although he has been taking medicine all his life for it without relief. He has no trouble of that kind at all since taking the medicine. We both consider these medicines to be perfectly wonderful in what they accomplish."

Statements such as this from sources of unquestioned integrity have firmly established public confidence in Cooper's ability, and although some members of the medical profession scoff when the subject is brought up in their presence, the faith of the people generally remains unshaken.

CLOSE CALL

PASSENGER TRAIN DERAILED NEAR LOUISVILLE SUNDAY.

Senator J. Wheeler Campbell and Clem Whittemore Were Among the Passengers.

Louisville, Feb. 18.—Nearly two hundred passengers on the Illinois Central train from New Orleans, due in Louisville Sunday morning at 7:35 o'clock, had a hair-raising experience about twenty-five miles west of here. A frightful catastrophe and loss of life were only narrowly averted.

The train was approaching Muldraugh, just beyond West Point, and just as the locomotive passed onto the trestle the forward trucks of the tender were derailed with a jolt that threw the passengers from their seats. In great alarm they clung to seats and woodwork as the train continued to bump across the trestle with a succession of jars and jerks.

Just beyond the trestle the train was brought to a standstill, and the crew spent nearly two hours in getting the engine trucks back upon the rails. First the engine was uncoupled and the slow process of "jacking" the big tender was begun, while the passengers stood by and watched the work. Among them were Senator Wheeler Campbell, of Paducah, and Clem J. Whittemore, of Mayfield, and Simon A. Dreifus, of Louisville.

The trestle at Muldraugh is over a series of gulches and is 190 feet high at one point. When the passengers realized that they had bumped across this elevation with the tender wheels derailed they recovered from their fright sufficiently to marvel how the rear cars remained on the track, and to return thanks for their narrow escape.

Engineer Tried to Stop.

The engineer said that he felt the tender wheels leave the track and attempted to slow down in crossing the trestle, but was unable to lessen the speed of the locomotive within such a short space. He, too, was devoutly thankful that the accident was nothing worse.

The verdict was returned before Judge Landis in the United States district court. The penalty to which Miss Grey is subjected under the finding is eighteen months imprisonment in the reformatory or a fine of $500 or both, although the court may make the punishment less in its discretion. Arguments for a new trial will be heard March 2. Miss Grey will remain at liberty under bonds given after her indictment.

"THE PROOFS"

What basis is there for the statement that there has been no real treatment for kidney disease?

The medical term for kidney disease is NEPHRITIS, which means inflammation of the kidneys, and till recently there was nothing that would allay kidney inflammation.

But there are many kidney medicines so-called, and many people with kidney trouble get well! Because it commonly gets well at first.

Medical writers now declare that kidney disease develops so unconsciously that, as a rule, it is far advanced before it is discovered (see "Medical Brief," p. 802.)

They admit that in the secondary stage they have no specific for it (see same authority, same page).

That this is true is also shown by the enormous growth of the census deaths from kidney disorders—now over 170 per day.

How then can any of the old-time kidney medicines be considered "cures?"

After two years of quest and experiment the late John J. Fulton was the first man in the world to discover a compound that by direct action on the kidney tissues allays kidney inflammation.

Fulton's Renal Compound, as it is called, is controlling kidney disease, both in the first and second stages, that were never known before to respond to medicine.

The Splendid New Serial Story

Satan Sanderson

Satan Sanderson is the true embodiment of the requisites that make a really great story. It gives the reader a look into a little world of action where all of the emotions that make or mar life—and lives—are set in swift, exciting play—one against the other. Incident follows incident with quick succession, and a vivid panorama of intrigue, mystery, love and strange adventures kindles the interest to the fusing point.

Written in a charming style, brilliant in coloring, picturesque in background, faithful in characterization and intensely dramatic, with stirring climax, Satan Sanderson is by all odds the best story of the year.
