CHURCH TIME

Quaint Ways of the Early Dutch Settlers in the New World.
As early as 1659 the Dutch settlers at Kingston, N. Y., erected with their own hands a little church building and dedicated it the following year. When a regular minister arrived from Holland the same year, writes Mrs. Nellie Urner Wallington in "Historic Churches of America," he found himself a dominion with a membership of but sixteen souls and a salary paid in wheat, which was then a legal tender among these humble toilers of the soil.
In 1694 a bell was imported and gave such pleasure to the members of the little parish that they used it to announce the hours for meals for the farmers of the neighborhood.
The observance of one quaint custom was reminiscent of their former life in Holland—the announcement by the gray-haired sexton between the ringing of the first and last church bells that the hours for service had arrived.
From door to door he traveled, rapped loudly and cried, "Church time."
Notices of all kinds, whether of funerals, christenings, weddings or merry makings, were handed first to the sexton, who in turn gave them to the clerk, who stuck them on the end of the bamboo pole which he kept for that purpose and reached them up to the dome.
At the termination of the service, as in other Dutch churches, the deacons took up the collection with long poles having little velvet bags hung on the ends and a tinkling bell to wake the sleepers to the responsibilities of a contribution.
Sailors Tattoo.
The American sailor is setting new records for decorating his body with fanciful tattooed designs, according to a report made to the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery by Surgeon A. Fareholt, of the navy.
Out of 3,572 cases, the first enlistment records show that 23 per cent were human picture books. The enlistment records showed that the habit had become so popular that 54 per cent had taken it up.
There is no limit to the size, intricacy and position of the designs. A composite picture of the whole crew wouldn't leave a patch of skin as large as a postage stamp without some device or other.
"Letters, mottoes, initials and allied devices head the list," says Surgeon Fareholt, "and constitute about 26 per cent of all ink marks. Coats of arms and national emblems follow with about 25 per cent, then flags, anchors, etc. One in every three men tattooed selects a design, some part of which there is a female figure. Less than 1 per cent show indecent subjects; almost invariably such designs have been covered by other work. Among the types are apprentice knot; pig on dorsum of foot, supposed to shield its possessor from death by drowning; crucifix, which, in case of death would insure Christian burial in a Christian country and 'Jerusalem Cross,' which would answer the same purpose on Moslem shores. Of the latter there were 14, all in reenlisted men. One man was adorned with a sock covering each foot and extending above the ankles; another with a fox-hunting scene, the dogs in full cry over the abdomen, over the shoulder and down the back. The entire back was covered in one case by a large Masonic column and globe. 'Little Egypt' figured in two cases and a copy of a beer trade-mark in one. The following designs were found to be more popular on reenlistment than among those who came directly from civil life: Goddess of liberty, ships, eagles, pigs and apprentice knots."
"I suppose you expect to receive a golden harp and crown some day," said the wandering evangelist.
"Oh, not necessarily," replied the druggist, "but I expect something just as good."—Chicago Daily News.

HARRY G. TANDY DIES AT DAWSON

Well Known Newspaper Man and Politician.
Mrs. Joseph L. Friedman Buried This Evening—Funeral of John Sugars.
JOHN GRAHAM MILLER DIES.
Harry G. Tandy, formerly a well known newspaper man of Paducah, and a prominent member of the Beckham administration, died last night at 10 o'clock at Dawson Springs, where he and Mrs. Tandy were staying for the benefit of his health.
Mr. Tandy's death came without warning to relatives of Mrs. Tandy here. Mrs. Edmund P. Noble, a cousin of Mrs. Tandy, went to Dawson for Sunday and took little Elizabeth Tandy, who had been staying here attending school, but Mr. Tandy was not considered to be dying, or relatives would have been there. He and Mrs. Tandy were expected here the last of the week to stay with Mrs. Noble, as Dawson had ceased to benefit him.
Mr. Tandy had been ill of heart trouble and dropsy for eighteen months. He was first afflicted at Frankfort and went to Dawson. His recuperation at that time was slow, but he finally recovered in a measure his health and last November he returned to Frankfort to live. A few weeks ago he became ill again.
Mr. Tandy was born at Hopkinsville, where he was reared 35 years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Tandy. His mother is dead and he is survived by his father and two sisters and two brothers. His father and one sister now reside in Mississippi. Mr. Thomas Tandy, a brother, and until recently clerk at the Palmer House, is in Cuba or on his way there, and another brother is in the Philippines.
Twelve years ago Mr. Tandy was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Segenfelder, of this city, and one little daughter had blessed the union. She with her mother survives.
Mr. Tandy learned the printing trade as the best means of entering his chosen field, the newspaper, and for a long time was identified with the editorial staffs of the Standard and the News in this city.
Early in his career he developed a talent for practical politics, and his geniality won him influential friends. He was the close friend and advisor of Governor Beckham and held responsible positions at Frankfort. He accompanied Governor Beckham on his canvasses in the western part of the state.
Mr. Tandy's body will be brought to Paducah this evening at 6:20 o'clock from Dawson and will be taken to the residence of Mrs. Ed P. Noble on the Broadway road, where the funeral will be held.
The funeral of Harry G. Tandy will be at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

SPEAKER CANNON'S BIRTHDAY.
Seventy-Two Years Old Yesterday—Towns Send Greetings.
Washington, D. C., May 8.—Speaker Cannon, who Illinois Republicans—some of the mat least—profess to believe will receive the presidential nomination at the Chicago convention, was seventy-two years old. The house was well aware that this was "Uncle Joe's" birthday, for he was kept busy receiving the congratulations of friends and admirers at the capitol and wherever he chanced to meet them. The speaker is looking remarkably well for a man of his years and to all appearances would be physically able to withstand the strain of a summer campaign, should he decide to take to the stump. Several of the Illinois cities and towns, where they believe Mr. Cannon will be the next occupant of the white house, sent him birthday greetings.

Bars which closed have been reopened for the sale of these. Several days ago the city council took up the matter.
