MANY FLOATS

Carnival Procession Will Be the Greatest Ever Held.

Further Arrangements Made Last Night—Committees Appointed.

Six men started out today to distribute all kinds of advertising matter for the Carnival here October 26-7, and will visit all sections of the country.

A meeting of the committees and citizens was held at the Palmer House last night.

About forty floats are being made for the parade, and several steamboats have been entered the parade. There will be about 100 private rigs in the parade, and many saddle animals as well.

The following gentlemen who own some of the most beautiful of rigs, will appear in the parade with their handsomely decorated, accompanied by ladies:

It is desired that everybody who has a rig will enter the parade, and make it one of the drawing cards of the festivities. All others who desire to do so will call on the committee relative to the securing of flowers, etc., for the occasion.

A novel feature of the parade of the parade will be a flambeau procession of sixteen members of the Printers' Union of the city.

A committee of six ladies were appointed to work up an interest among the ladies of the city in the flower parade, which will be a beautiful feature of the carnival. The ladies appointed were: Mesdames T. C. Leech, Cook Husbands, R. B. Phillips, J. Wallerstein, A. N. Clark and Miss May Terrell.

Another committee of six ladies was appointed toward the illumination of the streets along the line of march. They are Mesdames J. A. Rudy, Jas. Welle, King Brooks, J. E. English, Lloyd Roswell and Miss Ann Reed.

The above committees are urgently requested to accept their appointments and to enter into their duties at once.

The meeting adjourned to meet again tonight at the same place at 8 o'clock.

One of the most beautiful and attractive features of the carnival will be the flower parade, which will be in the procession of the floats which contain the displays of merchants of the city, and will also take part in the grand parade of the fine floats secured from St. Louis.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Probably showers tonight, Wednesday cooler.

GRAND LODGE

Many Visitors Are in the City to Attend the L. O. O. F. Grand Lodge.

REPORTS THIS MORNING.

Something of the Work Done During the Year as Shown By Reports.

WORK TO LAST SEVERAL DAYS

The Grand Lodge of Kentucky Odd Fellows, with about 300 delegates in attendance, convened at Morton's opera house this morning at 9 o'clock. County Judge Tully delivered the address of welcome in behalf of the city of Paducah, and it was responded to by Judge Thomas R. Gordon, of Louisville. After this the grand lodge convened, and the committee on credentials reported. After this the deliberations were behind closed doors.

The forenoon up to 12:30 o'clock, was consumed in hearing reports from the grand officers. The lodge then adjourned until 2 o'clock when other routine business was taken up.

Grand Master J. White Procter, of Bowling Green, read his interesting report soon after the lodge got into working shape, all committees being ready to report. He said among other things:

I welcome you to the annual meeting of this grand body. To me it is a time of considerable interest as well as pleasure. I feel that this time is also one of some sadness and disappointment. When assuming the duties of grand master one year ago little did I realize the full responsibility I was then taking upon myself, and as I look back over the past year and consider the many trying difficulties through which I have passed it is with some pleasure that I realize the time has come for me to return to you the trust then placed in my keeping. It is also with much pleasure that I can look back over the year and find so many pleasant associations connected with my office, and know that in many members of the order in state have tried to assist me in my efforts for its upbuilding, and that these efforts have been so largely crowned with success, and yet I feel some disappointment in reaching the close of my official year in that more has not been accomplished and that much has benefited undone that might have been done for its upbuilding, but I trust that we may put aside any disappointments over lost opportunities and at this session we may renew our determination to so legislate as to place our beloved order in the very foremost rank in fraternal circles in old Kentucky, a position that the objects and aims of our order so justly deserve. I therefore submit to you for your consideration, in as concise a manner as possible, a report of my administration, and trust that you will appreciate any efforts I may have put forward for the "good of the order" and throw the cloak of charity over any errors I may have committed.

At the last annual session the brotherhood in Kentucky was much gratified to learn of the increased interest as shown by the membership in the year then just past, the order in Kentucky making a handsome increase in membership, and in studying the work then accomplished, the question arose, can we equal what has been done? And with a determination to reach if possible that splendid showing an appeal was made to the brotherhood, and with much pleasure I can refer you to the following statistics, furnished by our grand secretary, showing that our aims have been reached and that the order in Kentucky has placed on the right side of the ledger another handsome increase in membership.

During the past year it has been my good fortune to visit the Widows' and Orphans' Home several times—my last visit on September 24th. I now fully realize the wisdom of our order in establishing this great institution. I am glad to report to this grand body that the home during the first year of its existence has been well cared for and managed. These in charge of it have rendered faithful and efficient services. I am clearly of the opinion that the matron, Mrs. Clay, is especially adapted and suited to the important position she holds. I have at all times found the children and widows under her charge with bright happy faces and giving every evidence that they were being well disciplined and cared for. It seems to me this home should be the pride of every member of the order in the jurisdiction. I am exceedingly anxious to see the time come when every Odd Fellow in Kentucky can say that he has made a voluntary contribution to this splendid enterprise. In order to arouse interest and enthusiasm that is desirable in the order for the home our membership must be brought into contact with it, and the in-masses, I would therefore urge every member in the jurisdiction, who can possibly do so, to visit the home the first opportunity; this visit will make you a friend to the home and a better Odd Fellow. In order to get as many of our members as possible interested in this great charity, I suggest that this grand body arrange to hold one of its annual sessions in Lexington as early as a date as may be thought practicable. For detailed statement of this fraternal home I refer you to the report of the local managers which will be presented to your body at this session. Under the head of recommendations I make suggestion that certain money taken up from a defunct lodge be turned into the treasury of the Widows' and Orphans' Home.

And now brethren, in conclusion, I would return to each and every member of the order in this jurisdiction my sincere thanks for their many kindnesses extended to me during the year, and to our worthy grand secretary I extend my thanks for his constant willingness to assist me whenever called upon, and notwithstanding his work this year has been heavy, he has responded to every call on his time and service which made.

I feel that we should, in some appropriate way, return our most hearty thanks to the brethren of Paducah, and the citizens generally, for the hearty reception and good will shown on every hand. The lodge in Paducah, the past year have done finely, and I trust that our meeting with them will end to a largely increased interest in the work of our beloved order.

And now, in surrendering to you the trust given me one year ago, accept my sincere thanks for the same, and rest assured one of the bright spots in my life will be the year devoted to this grand brotherhood and its upbuilding.

The report of Grand Secretary R. G. Elliott, of Lexington, followed and was full of interest to the order.

The grand secretary's report was full of facts of interest to the brethren. In his opening remarks he said: "One year ago a handsome increase was reported, and again this year we are gratified with another good showing, bringing our membership July 1, 1899, to 9,419 members. Is it too much to ask the membership in Kentucky to put forth extra efforts for the coming year and aim to increase our membership to ten thousand?"

The condition of the order on June 30 gave as follows: Number of lodges 177, four being instituted during the year, with a membership of 9,419, an increase of 619 during the year. He gave the total receipts during the year as $122,049.45 and the disbursements as $106,305.46, the relief disbursements for the year being $59,734.98. The report is an explicit showing of the work of the body during then and no fact of interest seems to have been omitted. Among other things mentioned the secretary tells of the Rebekah lodges, of which there are 44, three more than last year, with a membership of 1,626, the financial condition being good. He also refers to the widows and orphans home and its excellent condition, but leaves to the report of the controlling board the details relative to the home. A good part of the report refers to the removal of the secretary's office to Lexington and the conflict between the archives of the order, but all statements are clear ones.

Then came the report of Grand Treasurer George W. Morris, of Louisville, which, though brief, was satisfactory. It shows a balance on hand Sept. 1, 1898, of $9,656.12 and receipts of $12,348.26 additional, with disbursements of $18,347.71.

The local members are doing all within their power for the pleasure of their guests. The ladies of Leebek are looking after the visiting ladies. Tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A. all the visitors will be entertained at a luncheon by local brethren. This will be one of the happiest parts of the session. There will be some fine addresses on this occasion.

The welcome address of Judge J. C. Tully was in a happy strain. The response of Judge Thos. R. Gordon, of Louisville, was most appropriate.

There were 120 past noble masters present to receive the grand lodge degree, which was conferred by representatives Claude Buckley, Thomas James, W. M. Morris and W. H. Cox.

The officers of the Grand Lodge are: J. White Procter, grand master, Louisville; C. P. Hess, deputy grand master, Louisville; Thomas Reed, grand warden, Covington; R. G. Elliott, grand secretary, Lexington; Geo. W. Morris, grand treasurer, Louisville.

The appointed officers are: Stanley Milward, grand marshal, Lexington; John Jones, grand conductor, Bowling Green; L. C. Klee, grand guardian, Henderson; J. T. Gosnell, grand messenger, Leitchfield; M. H. Davis, grand herald, Mayslick; Rev. Geo. W. Dunlap, grand chaplain, Independence.

The lodge will likely be in session for several days. Tomorrow the work of electing officers will come up.

A reception was held in the lodge room at Fifth and Broadway last night from eight to ten o'clock, which was presided over by Mr. Charles Zarbrast, of the city.

Short addresses were made by C. G. Johnson, Claude Buckley, W. C. F. Hobbs, Jacob Schubinski, of Lexington; R. R. Perry, Winchester; L. Barbour Russell, of Maysville and several others. After these refreshments were served and a general handshaking indulged in. About 200 were in attendance.

This afternoon P. G. Sire M. J. Durham, chairman Widows' and Orphans' Home committee read their report of the work done by them the past year. Among other things this showed that there are now 15 wards and that the L. O. O. F. W. & O. home duty was not only paying its own expenses, but that it was yielding a good dividend besides furnishing the home with plenty of pure Jersey milk and butter.

Among the delegates present are: Newport—C. F. McHenry, W. A.

Transvaal Government Gives England An Ultimatum Showing Fight.

"TAKE YOUR SOLDIERS AWAY"

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Daiziel's cablegram from Pretoria, marked "urgent," says the Transvaal government has handed a note to Gougham Greene, the British diplomatic agent, containing explicit assurance that the British troops will be withdrawn from the Transvaal border within 48 hours and also that the reinforcements landed in South Africa since the Bloemfontein conference be returned home.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A Reuter telegram from Cape Town confirms the latest dispatch from Pretoria to the effect that the Boer ultimatum has been delivered to Gougham Greene, demanding withdrawal of all British troops from the Boer frontier. The reported ultimatum has not been received at the foreign office here.

LORENZO, Marques, Oct. 10.—The British cruiser has gone to intercept a German steamship which is en route here with ammunition for the Transvaal government.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The text of the Boers note under date of yesterday and comprising their ultimatum was received this afternoon from Sir Alfred Milner, high commissioner at Cape Town. The Transvaal complains that while negotiations were proceeding between the two countries Great Britain was massing troops on the Transvaal border, which was regarded as a threat against its independence. This massing of troops necessitates the assembling of the buffers for defense of the country.

The note then calls upon England to agree to arbitration or conference concerning all points in dispute. It demands that "British troops on Transvaal borders be instantly withdrawn and one-third of all the British reinforcements sent to South Africa since July 1 also be withdrawn."

If the demand is complied with Transvaal also agrees to withdraw its troops.

"Immediate and affirmative answer is demanded of Great Britain by five o'clock tomorrow afternoon, else Transvaal will be compelled to regard the action of Her Majesty's government as a formal declaration of war and will not be responsible for consequences."

The ultimatum is signed by Botha, secretary of state of Transvaal. The ultimatum will probably not be answered, thus letting the Boers begin the hostilities. Meanwhile war preparations will be pushed.
