

SOME MOTHERS

Have found it hard to please themselves in Children's Clothing. This is particularly true of those who have never tried our kind. Our long experience has demonstrated that much invisible merit is possible in Clothing. We insist on having that sort. For all-around value—correctness in style, honest of quality, careful workmanship and finish, and low price ours has no equal.

ADJUDGED INSANE.

MRS. MARY E. SNIPES OR DERED TO THE HOPKINSVILLE ASYLUM.

Mrs. Mary E. Snipes, aged 48, was tried before County Judge Tully this morning in the county court on a charge of lunacy and adjudged of unsound mind, and ordered to the Hopkinsville asylum. Mr. Miles Futrell was deputized to take her.

She is a widow, and went crazy about ten years ago when her husband ran away with another woman from the city. She was released about four years ago and has now become insane again, and at times cannot be controlled.

The following poem was written by a charming Paducah maiden, not by any means an old maid, and was published in the Benton Tribune:

AN OLD BACHELOR'S DREAMS. Dedicated to the bachelor of the Benton Seminary. A beaming smile, a countenance bright, With a wealth of hair as black as night.

Two rows of teeth as white as pearls, Lips like a rose leaf, which slightly curls. A face more fair than the lilies that grow, Oft times reflected by red poppies, I know.

Eyes that were windows of a soul so pure, Were framed in silk lashes which curled back, I'm sure. A brow broad and white, too plain must be keen.

The throne of intellect which, indeed, must be keen. Her voice was like music which floats on the air. Of a balmy summer midnight, when all nature's fair.

Notes clear as a nightingale, yet soft as a dove, Divine as an angel wafted down from above. I saw she was perfect and fell at her feet; Implored her to wed me, my life make complete.

She gazed in compassion on my pleadings so vain, And in her dark eyes was written "refusal" too plain. Then, in one short moment, I realized the truth: My "ideal" I had found of my long perished youth.

Could I, who was sought for, be rejected at last! Who had flirted and flirted a score in the past. Mothers had been charming for daughter's dear sake; Damsels had blushed when their hands I would take.

I stretched forth my arms in passionate appeal: "I beg you, fair maiden, life's paradise to seal." My eyes grew dim, a phantom she seemed.

A mere vision of bright colors like I often had dreamed. I clutched at her wildly: "Pray stay yet awhile; Love, oh! love of my heart, life's darkness beguile;

"Be queen of my bowyer, my own darling wife. Be an angel to guide me through earth's cares and strife." A face full of laughter now upward was turned, And waved an adieu—my proposal was spurned.

Like a fairy she glided, quick out of my sight, And leaping after her rashly I awoke with fright: "Twas a bright golden dream of my ideal love, Who stole to me gently in my dreams from above.

Like Luna's faithless rays she's left me here to weep, Praying but again to see her vision in my sleep. AN OLD MAID IN PADUCAH.

The Golden Age is the GOLD DUST Age that emancipates women of all ages from the tyranny of hard housework. GOLD DUST Washing Powder is the greatest boon of the century to woman, since it lightens her heaviest work. Large package is greatest economy.

OUT OF THE GINGER JAR.

FORESIGHT. Come, take a day off; don't you see It freshens body, mind and heart? But that you may be truly free Do two days' work before you start.

GETTING TONED UP. Two simple things will banish care afar. As all the world may plainly see, A man finds solace in a good cigar And woman in a cup of tea.

CONFESSION NOT NECESSARY. Why have humorists never organized into clubs? "Because the law doesn't require any man to incriminate himself."

HIS FASCINATING WAY. "I wish I had that $5-Skitts owes me." "Why don't you ask him for it?" "I'm afraid to go near him for fear he'll borrow more money of me."

HOW FINE DAYS COME ON. Oh, what an acrobat is jayous spring! A rush, a scurrah, and she's in the ring. March is made of many moods: One day flirting with the duds, Making, next day, as she flies, At the ice-cream, 50c-100c eyes.

SUNSHINE MOONSHINE. A most little speech was gotten off at a banquet held here recently. The banquet was not at strictly temperance, however, and there were several incidents that would have roused Mrs. Nation to righteous anger. There were a number of young fellows present, and snarls notably before the toasts were made some of those were not in a condition to behave decorously. In fact, several speechmakers were interrupted by a song from the inmates to the effect "Let a little sunshine in."

ON THE FIRING LINE. A Chicago merchant of experience places more stress on the constancy of the advertiser than on the striking character of the advertisement. He declares that "the ad" that is always on the firing line, through thick and thin, in season and out of season, is the "ad" that will win its share in the division of trade. The "ad" that is run at intervals must enter the lists each time as a new competitor."—Pittsfield, Mass., Journal.

When a doctor tells a woman to diet she eats less at the table and more in the pantry.—Emma Carleton.
