DAILY THOUGHT.
It is for you to decide whether you will go through the world as a malaria-breeding mosquito or as an invigorating breeze bearing balm and health upon its wings.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

DEMOCRATIC BLUFF GAMES.

The Republicans expect to get out their vote tomorrow. Every man who has not registered must do so. A great many, as shown by a comparison with former registrations, have neglected his important duty, and are reminded of it again. The Democrats have adopted various plans for "bluffing" the colored voters. One is to ask them indiscriminately insulting questions about having been in the penitentiary. This is done in many instances simply to intimidate. The Republicans want no ex-convicts registered, but they protest against the unwarranted bluff game put up by some of the Democratic ward heelers on the first registration day. The proceeding was not an honest effort to prevent illegal registration, but a subterfuge to keep colored voters away from the registration polls. The colored voter has the same rights as a white voter, and there is no more reason why a law-abiding, respectable colored man should be asked, or should like to be asked, if he had ever been in the penitentiary, than there is that a white man should. We all know what would happen if those inquisitive challengers should undertake to ask every white man the same questions they put to nearly every colored man who presents himself to register. And rather than be pried with such questions by bullying, overbearing Democratic challengers who screen themselves behind the law, many voters remained away, which is what it was done for.

Another thing that will be carefully watched is the attempted bluff about poll taxes not having been paid. A man doesn't have to pay poll tax in Kentucky before he can vote, and no one has a right to ask the question whether poll taxes have been paid or not, as a qualification of the voter. Paducah has a tax collector whose duty it is to collect poll tax. The polls, on registration day, is no place to collect them, or to remind voters of their failure to pay. While every man should pay his poll tax, he does not have to pay it before he can register and vote. And when a Republican voter goes in to register and a Democrat steps up with a book and asks him if he has paid his poll tax, the inference is the latter knows the voter has not, and is trying to bluff him into not registering. There are some of the mild forms of intimidation that have been employed to keep Republicans from registering in Paducah, but they will not work again. The Republicans have caught on to the game and will see that it is not employed again tomorrow.

Bishop Potter of New York addressed a meeting for the advancement of labor at San Francisco the other day, and said: "We will never solve the question of labor until the organizing minds, the guiding hands and employing managers are identified with the unions with which they are employed. There should be a mutual understanding between employers and their help, and both should be animated by a common idea of brotherhood and fealty. The laborer and employer must be brought closer together. You may legislate as you please, impose taxation as you please, or by any other process react just the conflicting elements of modern society, but if you are not your heart in the work you will fail utterly. The solution of the labor problem consists in the awakening in the heart of the employer of deep concern for the welfare of those who are in his employ. Their aims and hopes should not be antagonistic. They should mingle together and observe the laws of social contact. Their aims being identical, their methods should be harmonious if these aims are to be subserved."
After reading what Bishop Potter has to say, it becomes obvious that if his plan is the only plan, the differences between capital and labor will never be settled.

Lorenzo Snow, President of the Latter Day Saints church at Salt Lake City, was known to many Kentuckians, who enjoyed his hospitality on the recent jaunt of the Kentucky Press Association. Mr. Snow extended to the Kentucky party on invitation to visit his residence, the historic Beehive house and on their arrival there received them personally, and with great cordiality, shaking hands with all and expressing his pleasure at meeting them. As a special courtesy the Kentuckians were permitted to have a group photograph taken on the front porch of the Beehive. Mr. Snow himself occupying a place in the group. The Kentuckians who met him regretted very much to learn of his death.

The report that Hon. John W. Yerkes will probably be given a cabinet position in the course of a probable reorganization, will be good news to his many friends in Kentucky. Mr. Yerkes is one of the ablest Republicans in the party, and is a gentleman of sound judgment and great ability. He is a man who never fails to impress those with whom he comes in contact, and who enjoys the respect and esteem of all who know him. In respect of politics, President Roosevelt could find no better or more trustworthy man anywhere to place in his cabinet, and the Republicans of Kentucky know of no man they would rather have there.

Patterson, N. J., comes to the front with an alderman who has filed suit against a newspaper for $25,000 damages for calling him a "Democrat." It would be a matter of interest to know what amount he would have sued for if he had been called a Kentucky Democrat. It is evident however that there is little hope for him, for the Republicans all side with the newspaper, and the Democrats would never admit that a man is entitled to damages for being called a Democrat. The maligned alderman must accordingly get a hung jury or he'll lose.

Pat Crowe, the alleged kidnapper of the Oudaby boy, is a very accommodating fellow, after all. Having successfully demonstrated that the police and detectives of the country cannot catch him, he agrees to surrender the $50,000 reward in withdrawal. The police department declined the proposition, probably because it's the reward and not Pat, that's wanted.

Fumigation must hereafter precede all church rummage sales at Wooster, Ohio. The schools have twice had to close on account of scarlet fever epidemics, and it is claimed that each time the outbreak was due to the purchase of toys at church rummage sales.

Former Congressman D. G. Colson has been nominated by acclamation by the Republicans of the Ninety-third district for the legislature.

All voters who have not registered must do so tomorrow or be shut out for a year.

Tomorrow is the last day on which to register.

SHIPMENT OF STOCK.

MR. A. S. THOMPSON SELLS BY CONSIGNMENT AT LOUISVILLE.

Mr. Gus Thompson, the proprietor of the stock yards, made a big shipment of cattle yesterday to Louisville. The shipment was made up of three cars of stock, two cars of hogs and one of cattle. The hogs numbered 210 and the cattle 30. All the stock was regularly inspected by the local inspector, Dr. A. Hessig.

FATAL MISHAP.

Robert Thompson, Near Hampton, Injured By Barrels of Water.

HENRY HANNON ARRESTED.
Hillyard Harris Was Found in an Apple Tree After Three Years Absence.

FROM LIVINGSTON COUNTY.

Smithland, Ky., Oct. 14.—Robert Thompson, the distiller at Joy, near Hampton, this county, was seriously injured last Saturday while hauling water. He was in the rear of his wagon when three barrels of water rolled off, all passing over his body. According to the last report received here from him he was not expected to live.

Henry Hannon, who was arrested and lodged in jail last week on the charge of stealing a jug of whiskey belonging to Dave Council and Joe Mayhugh, was held to answer before the grand jury. J. F. Wayne, who was on his bond in the case against him for shooting at Blockwell, surrendered him to the court.

It is said that another warrant will be issued against him and another man charging them with robbing a man at Grand Rivers of $30 several months ago. The victim was chloroformed when the robbery was committed. He has just discovered the identity of the men, who in this manner, he accuses of relieving him of his money.

Mrs. Eva Webb has returned from Paducah. Contractor James Rouse, of Paducah, began work on her new hotel today.

Hillyard Harris, a young white man, was arrested Saturday near Hampton by Deputy Sheriff Bob Culver and brought here and lodged in jail. Harris had been dodging the officers three years and has been in Missouri. He is under indictment on the charge of stealing two suits of clothes from the store of Joe Wright at Hampton. The accused said he did not want to give bond and declared when he was released he would avenge his arrest by slaying his enemies. When arrested he was in the top of an apple tree and at first refused to come down when requested to do so by the officer.

A great deal of petty thievery is reported as going on in the town. During the absence of the family of the Rev. Randall, the residence was entered and several articles of value taken besides his coal house and corn crib were visited. A lot of finishing lumber was carried away after dark from the residence now being erected by Mr. T. D. Pressnell for his sister, Mrs. Joe Connor.

The cool weather has caused the enterprise in the town butcher to manifest itself. He will slaughter a hog this afternoon and Wednesday will supply the hungry citizens with beef. The next bloody work he will perform will be about Friday. In the meantime he will hide from his customers.

LOWER WATER.

WILL BE AWAITED BEFORE RAISING THE HULL OF THE CUMMINGS.

The Victor returned yesterday from the wreck of the Cummings. Captain Dan Finney has decided to wait until the river falls at least a foot more in Tennessee river before he undertakes to raise the hull of the Cummings, which he bought from the St. Louis and Tennessee River Packet company. When he brings it here he intends constructing the finest and largest excursion large that ever handled excursion people out of Paducah, besides he will have it so arranged that he can handle all classes of freight during the business seasons.

MEETS IN NOVEMBER.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE FIRST DISTRICT EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

The arrangement and program committee of the First District Teachers Association met at Princeton Saturday to prepare for the meeting here Friday and Saturday, November 29 and 30. Miss Hattie Wilson, of the city, is on the committee, and among the prominent educators to attend will be Chancellor Kirkland, of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.; Prof. McDonald, of Huntington, Tenn.; Prof. Charles Evans, of Marion, Ky.; Prof. T. J. Coates, of Princeton, Ky.; and Prof. Mink, of Hickman, Ky.

A report from Sept. J. C. Gluck, reform school, Pruntytown, W. Va., Oct. 15th, 1900: "After trying all other advertised cough medicines, we have decided to use Oley's Honey and Tar exclusively in the West Virginia Reform School. I find it the most effective, and absolutely harmless."
J. C. Gilbert.

THE FIRST DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH.

That delightful artist, Mrs. Sarah Cowell LeMoine, played to the largest and most representative audience of the season at the Kentucky Saturday night. The production was a treat. Depicting in the most realistic manner, court life during the time of Queen Anne, and with a splendid support, Mrs. LeMoine interpreted the role of the shrewd and haughty Duchess of Marlborough in a truly artistic style. She is considered the best elocutionist on the American stage, and blended with her superb artistic work, is her excellent stage presence, and her unsurpassed naturalness. Frederick Paulding as Robert Harley, the courtier, schemer and politician, and enemy to the Duke and Duchess, is second in merit, and into the drama are introduced the historic characters of Jonathan Swift, Dick Steele and Handel, the musician. The play ends with one of the Duchess' victories, and does not report the historic subsequent loss of favor, and expulsion from court and favor. The play was greatly enjoyed, and each act was followed by a curtain call. Manager English is to be congratulated on his excellent judgment in securing Mrs. LeMoine. Mr. Allen, the manager of the company, is a brother to Viola Allen, the noted actress, who is starring under the same management, and will be here later in the season.

H. CLAY KING.

GOVERNOR OF TENNESSEE BEING URGED TO EXERCISE CLEMENCY.
Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 14.—Reverend efforts to secure the pardon of H. Clay King, with some probability of success, are being made. Confederate organizations throughout the state are urging the governor to exercise clemency. Many citizens and county officials are also petitioning for clemency. It is asserted also that King's health is failing and that he is losing his eyesight. The board of pardons recommended clemency some time ago.

A POPULAR ATTRACTION.

One of the most popular attractions of the present day is that beautiful and interesting drama entitled "The Village Parson." The piece has scored an immense hit wherever produced, and its success has been achieved long since. There is an attractive ring in the title, which calls the attention of all classes of amusement goers to the theatre. The play deals with the affection of the heart, and is one wherein human emotions and pathos are strongly depicted. A very strong company has been engaged, each with reference to the part assigned, and it is confidently believed that this pretty play is rendered in much better style than is usual with travelling companies. Handsome special scenery has been painted expressly for this production by well known artists, and unique effects also assist in the finished performance. "The Village Parson" appears tonight at the Kentucky, and should have a big house.

DELEGATES TO PRISON CONGRESS.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 14.—Gov. Beckman has appointed the following delegates to the National Prison Congress to be held at Kansas City, November 9 to 13: Col. George V. Green, Hopkinsville; Jesse T. Olive, Edinville; Col. Sebastian Gunther, Louisville; and Hon. John H. Pouch, Frankfort.

"THE VILLAGE PARSON."

The production of "The Village Parson" at the Kentucky this evening promises to be one of the best plays ever seen here. The piece has made a most pronounced success in all the cities visited, and has received the highest praise from all sides, including many of the leading dramatic critics. "The Village Parson" is a play of the most interesting kind, depicting human emotions and sympathies holding the closest attention of the audience. The scenery is new, bright and correct. Special pains have been exercised in selecting the players, each member having been selected carefully to bring about a finished performance.

"Whiskey will make a man rich quicker than anything else in the world," a well known saloon keeper remarked. "A young man from a neighboring city walked into my place of business several days ago and ordered whiskey. I sold him the drink, and he departed. Several companions entered with him the next time he came in, about fifteen minutes after the first visit, and a round of the same was ordered. The bottle was kept pretty busy for more than an hour, and the original young man began to tell the crowd how rich he was. I believe he started out with a bank account of $5,000 and two farms, and with every drink he would raise his bank account about double its former size, and also would add a few more pieces to his real estate. Before he finally subsided he was worth more than Rockefeller and all the other millionaires put together, and there was nothing too good for him. He purchased three cigars at the 'three for a dollar' price and departed. The next I heard of him he had been 'nipped' and in the police court the next morning got $1 and costs for the offense of 'plain drunk.' He had thirty cents and a pocket knife when arrested, and had to send home for enough money to pay the fine. He was the richest man for the time being I ever heard of."

OF POPE COUNTY.

Observations ...at Random
Mr. Sebree Halo, clerk on the steamer Tennessee, has perhaps one of the oldest bills of lading in existence. The paper was made out in 1824, and is almost worn out. The ink on the paper is so dim that it can hardly be read. The paper was made out on the steamer Rocket at New Orleans, and the freight was billed to T. K. Wyatt at Randleburg, Tenn. A station now unnotified by the steamboats. The bill of lading called for several hundred pounds of freight at the rate of $1.50 per hundred in Tennessee currency.

NEWS FROM METROPOLIS.

Disaffection at Clinton Over the Failure of the Grand Jury to Act.
REAR ADMIRAL FROM GOLOONDA.
Metropolis, Ill., Oct. 14.—Captain Henry Glass, of the naval service, by the retirement of Rear Admiral Schley, under the age limit, this week goes on the list a rear admiral of the navy. Captain Glass is the son of Mr. Henry Glass, of Golconda.

OTHER MATTERS OF INTEREST.

The race horse which fell at the Golconda fair with its rider and broke its leg was given to James Abbott by the owner, he thinking it would probably have to be killed. Mr. Abbott had the limb reset and now the indications are that the animal will recover. It is a valuable one.

The eight year old son of Mr. Levi Billington, near Temple Hill, Pope county, was seriously hurt Wednesday morning. He was sent to the barn on an errand and a piece of timber fell on him, breaking both thighs. The fractures are so near the hip joints that it may render him a cripple for life.

It is claimed that there are more acres of apple orchards in Clay county than there are in any county in the world. Some of the orchards this year will harvest at least 1000 barrels. Many will make from 500 to 600 barrels.

Word has been received stating that George Daly and a Miss Dora Allison were married in Many, La., Sunday, October 6. They will make their home in Many for the present.

THREE MURDERS.

NO INDICTMENTS.
Clinton, Ky., Oct. 14.—There is much popular discontent over the fact that there have been three murders committed in Hickman county since the May term of circuit court and yet the grand jury was unable to get a single witness to appear before it and testify concerning any of the offenses, two of which were of the foulest nature—those of young Lucas at the railroad tank, above town, and old Toney Grey, the negro fisherman, below Columbus.

SPOTTED FEVER IN GRAVES.

Mayfield, Oct. 14.—An epidemic of spotted fever is reported raging in the Pilot Oak section and several deaths have occurred from the disease. Great alarm is manifested among the people of that section, and every precaution is being taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

There is a great deal of superstition among the actor folks, and the assertion was illustrated here on the opening night of The Kentucky. One of the chorus girls of The Burgomaster Co. was walking along Broadway when she saw a horse shoe in the street. She stepped out and picked it up. Smilingly she informed a curious inquirer that she intended to hang it over her dressing room door, as it would give her and the theatre good luck the season through. She said that when an actor found a horse shoe on the opening day or night of a new opera house that he would always pick it up, if a true actor, and "up to snuff," and hang it over his dressing room door, and that it invariably brought a successful season.
